REGINA, Sask., Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—At the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers is held in Regina from today until the 17th it is expected that the eight hundred delegates will petition the Dominion government to establish a wheat board in time to handle the 1922 crop. The feeling is said to be strong that Saskatchewan farmers should fall in line with the organized farmers of Alberta and Manitoba so that the agricultural interests of the three provinces will present a solid front when application for the formation of a board is made in Ottawa. The United Farmers conventions in Calgary and Winnipeg passed almost unanimously resolutions urging that such a board be appointed in an attempt to solve their marketing problems.

An important address on the subject recently by J. B. Musselman, general secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, at Watrous. "If," he said, "we cannot get the wheat board under all its old powers it becomes the duty of the government to guarantee farmers a reasonable minimum price for their wheat. If we can't get the wheat board or the guarantee of a minimum price, then God help us!" Mr. Musselman said he believed wheat today was at a "reasonable normal price", probably as high as could be expected in peace times. He emphasized the necessity of reducing transportation charges and putting the difference into the farmer's pockets.

Resolutions submitted by locals upon the convention to go into provincial politics as an organization have reached central office by the dozen, it is stated, and the debate on this subject promises to be full of interest. The convention last year did not take decisive action in the matter, and the Farmers as an organization took no part in the provincial election of 1921. Interest is added to the situation by the fact that J. A. Maharg, who is president of the Grain Growers, resigned from the Saskatchewan government during the recent federal election campaign after Premier Martin had made a speech which Mr. Maharg interpreted as an attack on the Progressive movement. Incidentally several resolutions have come from the locals asking endorsation of Mr. Maharg's action in this respect.

More than 200 resolutions have been received and several ask that the name of the association be made "The United Farmers of Saskatchewan", to make it conform with farmers' organizations in sister provinces.

Was Sick For Years Found Health Again

AND GIVES THE CREDIT TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

J. Bte. Langlois Now Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer or Are in Bad Health.

Lac St. Marie, Que., Feb., 13.—(Special)—Simple and direct is the story J. Bte. Langlois, a well-known resident of this place, tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Here it is:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills produced in my case very satisfactory results. For five years I tried other medicines and got no better. For six months I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills. Now I am well.

"To all who suffer or are in bad health I say take Dodd's Kidney Pills. They will help."

Dodd's Kidney Pills will help because they put the kidneys in condition to strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease out of the blood. Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Ask your neighbours if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound, healthy kidneys.

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, BEAUTIFUL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Series Still Open.

The three major series of the open Bonspiel are undecided yet. Mild weather and the interference of other games has prevented the play-offs, and it is not likely they will be played off within ten days or two weeks. The Oshawa Bonspiel has drawn the participants there, and next week there is the Vice-Skips' Bonspiel. With the prospect of soft ice again looming up, the difficulty of getting the finals in the Morrow, Matthews-Blackwell and Waddell trophies decided becomes greater.

Three Peterborough rinks are entered in the Oshawa Bonspiel that opened at 11 a.m. to-day. Two principal events, the McLaughlin Cup and the Eaton Trophy, figure in the two days' 'spiel. The following are the local rinks playing:

W. H. Taylor, A. R. Moore, T. H. Hooper, W. G. Morrow.

R. M. Waddell, F. C. Weber, J. Brightman, R. G. Sturgeon.

H. F. Foote, J. N. Bacon, R. B. Hamilton, J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

LET WALTER JOHNSON TELL YOU

The person to correctly answer the question, "What is a pitcher's greatest asset," would necessarily have to be one who has been through the mill—who knows the answer through experience.

That's where Walter Johnson, veteran hurler of the Washington American baseball club, comes in!

He knows what he's talking about when he talks pitching.

And that's why his stories, answering the "asset" question, and a heap of others—as well as discussing many phases of the pitching game—are to appear in The Examiner.

If you want the low-down, the high-up and the all-around on hurling, follow Johnson through his stories.

A Query a Day

(BY BILLY EVANS)

Why doesn't the infield rule apply with only first base occupied?

The infield fly applies with first and second, or first, second and third occupied. The rule was so made to protect the baserunner from being doubled up, by having the fielder trap the ball.

With only first base occupied and less than two out, there is no chance for a double play, if the batsman will run out his hit. He is supposed to do that, hence there is no reason for the infield fly to apply in such a case.

WALTER JOHNSON, IDOL OF BASEBALL

A Little Sporting Gossip

Everything is set for the skating races at Brock Street Rink tonight under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. A good sheet of ice is available, and as the programme will get under way at 7 o'clock, there will be plenty of time for skating and boys in the junior, juvenile and midget classes, and the entries already received indicate some good sport. Jack Aldpath of Lakefield is among the entrants, and others are Harry Doughty, Jack LeBarr, Wilfrid LeBarr, Grace Fielding, Cora Moore and Florence Muir. Competitors and officials are asked to be on hand early.

A football game on ice will be a real novelty, so that the match arranged by the Peterborough Football Association for next week should prove an attractive drawing card. Fans are hoping the fastest sheet of ice of the season will be available, for slippery going would add considerably to the comedy element.

The Star Weekly publishes an interesting story of how Referee Lou Marsh stuffs his ears with cotton batting so that he cannot hear the crowd yelling at him. A lot of people always thought Lou couldn't see very much out there handling a game, but this is the first intimation that he could not hear either.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"There may be some kicking about hockey, but wait until you see soccer on ice."—Fred Sutcliffe.

With Ray playing for the Bankers and Lornie for the C.G.E., that second game in the City League tomorrow night will look like the War of the Roses.

While Belleville did not get as big a lead on Port Hope last night as many people figured, three goals should be enough to carry the Quinte outfit into the semi-finals. The Ontarios put up a gallant fight last night, and will not yield the honours at home without a desperate battle, but Belleville look good enough to go through on the lead they set up last night.

All four City League teams promise to be at full strength for tomorrow's double-header. And the games should be the best of the season. The leadership of the second section depends upon the second game, between Bankers and C.G.E., while in the first game, between Wm. Hamiltons and Lakeviews, the former must win to stay in the race.

As the Bankers play in the second game tomorrow night, the first City League game should start sharp at 8 o'clock.

Following are the events for the city skating championship tonight: Midget—100 yards, boys 12 (under); 100 yards, girls 12; 220 yards, boys 12; 220 yards, girls 12. Juvenile—220 yards, boys 16; 220 yards, girls 16; 440 yards, boys 16; 440 yards, girls 16. Junior—440 yards, girls 20; 880 yards, boys 20; 220 yards, boys' backward (open); 220 yards, boys' hurdle race (open); 100 yards, boys' barrel jumping (open). The officials are as follows: Referee, Geo. A. McDonald; judges, Messrs. Kenneally, Hanson, Curtis, Convery, Father Costello; time-keepers, A. Cranfield, D. Loucks, G. Miller; scorer, Fred. D. Craig; clerk of course, Jerry Coughlin; starter, Walter Smaill; patrol judges, Messrs. Bolton, Brown, Munroe, and Steer.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE WON'T RESTORE DRAFT

Opening Games in Northern Part of Circuit Fixed for May 30.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—The International League of Baseball Clubs Monday adopted a resolution rejecting re-institution of the draft, even at the increased selection price of $7,5000, as suggested by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, Commissioner of Baseball.

The action of the International League was similar to that taken recently by the Pacific Coast League and the American Association, other Class A.A. circuits.

Adoption of the 1922 schedule was postponed until today, but President J. O. Toole, announced that the League would open its season April 19, with Rochester at Baltimore, Toronto at Reading, Buffalo at Newark, and Syracuse at Jersey City. First games in the northern cities of the League will be played May 30.

It was stated that a proposal to transfer the Jersey City franchise either to Providence, R.I., or Montreal, was not discussed.

FIFTEEN BOILS ON NECK AT ONE TIME

Any one who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job.

There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Nowadays no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming.

What you have to do is take BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS and the blood will be cleansed of all its impurities, and then every boil will disappear.

Mr. Roy McSwain, High Bank, P. E. I., writes: "I was troubled with boils for some time, and had as many as fifteen on my neck at once. After taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters they commenced to get better, and after I had taken two bottles I was relieved of them and felt much better. I think B. B. B. is a grand blood medicine, and can recommend it highly."

For the past 45 years B. B. B. has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CONTROL IS THE BEST ASSET OF THE PITCHER

Walter Johnson, Famous Star of American League, Says Most Twirlers Have Mistaken Idea of What Constitutes Control.

(BY WALTER JOHNSON)

WHAT is a pitcher's greatest asset?

There is probably a considerable difference of opinion on that question.

However, I am very frank to say, that I have always regarded control as a pitcher's greatest asset.

No matter how much stuff a pitcher may have, he doesn't get anywhere unless he can get the ball over the plate.

During my career in the big league I have seen hundreds of promising pitchers come up to the majors, only to be shunted back to the minors because they lacked control.

It doesn't make any difference how much speed a pitcher may have, or how fast his curve breaks, he is helpless unless he has control.

Don't get the impression that control merely means getting the ball over the plate. That is only one form of control, although it is the most essential.

The master pitcher is the fellow who cannot only get the ball over the plate, but can also use his control in working on the weakness of the batters who face him. He is the pitcher who can keep the ball low and outside, if that is the kind of pitching that worries the batter, or high and inside if he doesn't like them there.

Control in a broad sense means keeping the ball where you want it. Of course, there are times when the greatest of pitchers fail to make the ball obey their intent.

With a few pitchers control is a natural gift, with most pitchers it is an acquired art. Control can be attained by the wildest pitcher if he makes the proper effort in the correct direction.

Most pitchers make the mistake of warming up in a haphazard fashion. When I warm up before the start of the game I have a purpose back of each ball I throw. I work for control constantly no matter what I am doing.

FISTIC FACTS

Sid Barberian, Detroit lightweight, has jumped into the sporting spotlight, by holding Rocky Kansas to a draw in a 10-round bout.

Joe Benjamin is such a good looking chap that fistic experts fear it will handicap him in his ambition to some day be lightweight champion.

If Dave Shade fails to wrest the welterweight title from Jack Britton, Johnny Karr of Cleveland, is certainly entitled to the chance.

Fred Fulton's inability to make any headway against Bartley Madden makes it look as if Fred is about through as a heavyweight possibility.

Billy Roche, who discovered Gene Tunney, says the big fellow is Tommy Gibbons, Harry Greb or Georges Carpentier.

Ted Lewis, former welterweight champ, is certainly getting the thrill of taking a whirl in every class. He is now matched to meet Georges Carpentier on April 7 at London, England.

Alex Hart, the Ohio boy who was going so well, suffered a severe setback in the knockout handed him by George Chaney. Hart wasn't ready for so tough a boy as Chaney. More bad management.

Bob Martin is said to have entirely recovered from the injuries received in an automobile accident, and is in training again.

Wills certainly doesn't look like a contender for Dempsey's title. Recently the best he could do was to win from poor old fat Sam Langford in 10 rounds.

BOY HAS FIVE OCTAVE VOICE

Robert Murray, twelve years old, has a voice range greater than any known singer, according to experts before whom he has demonstrated his remarkable vocal abilities. In technical terms the range of his voice runs from C 128 V. P., below middle C, over five octaves to 6827 V. P. S. (or over the top of the present pianoforte), and as high as the Galton's whistle, the tone tester, which is higher than any known singer's record. The boy sings in French, English and Italian with the greatest ease and renders difficult arias in the original keys and languages, with difficult intricate traditional and original cadenzas, running to G in the A altisimo, or the end octave of the pianoforte. Here he is shown at practice with his instructor, Frederick Haywood, of New York.

MUCH PERTURBED.

DUBLIN, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Michael Collins is perturbed over the suspension of the evacuation of British troops, and is going to London to ask the British Cabinet the reason.

"In spite of undermining at home," he said, 'and enemies abroad, I mean to see the contract carried out."

HOPEFUL AND COURAGEOUS SPIRIT NOW DOMINATES THE BRITISH TRADE

Industry Rapidly Gaining Its Pre-War Footing, Declares Lieut.-Col. Molson, Who Recently Arrived From the Old Country.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 14.—(C.P.R. Press Bureau).— Lieut.-Col. H. Molson, of Quebec, one of Canada's prominent financiers and also one of Canada's most enthusiastic sportsmen, arrived in this city Sunday aboard the C.P.S. Melita from London, where he had been spending several weeks in pleasure and business combined. Colonel Molson had but little to say regarding business conditions as he found them in the Mother country. He said, however, that he could see but little cause for the pessimistic view in reference to business affairs there, which seemed to have possessed some recent traveller from the old country. Industries and business in general were surely and steadily emerging from the chaotic mass in which the world war had left them, a hopeful and courageous spirit, he said, predominates in all branches of trade and industry, and they are rapidly gaining their pre-war foothold. The spirit that impells the leaders of the British business world is the kind that leads to ultimate success. They are going forward with an energy and steadfast purpose that will assuredly bring the desired results.

Canadians Wonderful.

"It takes the Canadians to show the British how to play the great game of hockey," said Col. Molson. "The Oxford team is composed wholly of Canadians, and they have been making a clean-up of all teams with which they have competed. Not only is this true in England, but on a visit to Belgium and Switzerland, for a series of games, the Oxford seven defeated everything they met. The dash and pep displayed by the Canadians in this great game was the wonder and admiration of all who witnessed the various contests. They have added new interest to the game, and have made it much more popular in the Mother country.

Col. Molson admitted that he got into action himself and played a game on a team of which his son was a member. On the opposing team was a famous British general and his son and these teams were known as "Dads Teams." He declared that he was naturally pleased with the results as his team was victorious.

Seen Enough War.

Among the passengers disembarking from the C.P.S. Melita Sunday was Major A. D. Tennant, who after an absence of nearly eight years, is en route to his home in Vancouver. Major Tennant was connected with the Headquarters staff during the world war, and for eighteen months prior to the Irish truce was in command of troops, both in North and South Ireland. He said to-day: "I have seen enough of war for a while, and when the Irish truce came I saw my opportunity of getting out of the army and returning to my native country."

Major Tennant said affairs in Ireland are in a terrible condition. He stated that all that has been said of conditions there are true, and in some instances more horrible than have been reported. He is of the opinion that troublesome times in Ireland are not yet at an end. There are certain jealousies existing, which no treaty can obliterate. Ulster is not satisfied, and if Ulster wants to fight, the British cannot stop it."

The withdrawal of the British forces from Cork, according to Major Tennant, has caused a great depression in the business life of the city. The presence there of the troops made the city a lively, bustling and business like centre. He instanced the fact, in support of this statement, that a certain club in the city, sold about one year ago for $8,000, but with the withdrawal of the troops, the owner of that club could not obtain an offer of $500 for the property.

Most Seaworthy.

The C.P.S. Melita is one of the most seaworthy liners on which I have ever crossed the Atlantic," stated J. Kirkpatrick, representative of John Barran and Sons, Ltd., of Leeds and London, on his arrival in St. John from England. "The trip was a splendid one, and I don't think that the courteousness on the part of the officers and employees of the company could have been surpassed."

Mr. Kirkpatrick, who is on his third trip to this country in search of fresh markets, declared that an extensive market is available in Canada and the United States for British clothing. A vast number of Canadian retailers were manifesting a strong preference for many of the finer grades of English clothing, but many of the consumers felt that in order to secure such clothing, it was necessary to purchase from London custom tailors.

In sketching the developments in the high grade, ready-made clothing industry in Great Britain, Mr. Kirkpatrick stated that it was naturally in its infancy, but that there was an increasing demand there for high grade ready-made clothing. In the past, the average Englishman looked down upon the ready-made and would only take it as a secondary matter. The situation was now the reverse.

While the American products has contributed to increase a finish and workmanship in the British garments, still in the opinion of Mr. Kirkpatrick English manufacturers have added numerous things to the garment to make it more acceptable. He referred to the fact that the types of woollens and trimmings going into the clothing were of the lasting long wearing nature.

World Markets.

"Though Great Britain, by its very nature, must look to world markets," declared Mr. Kirkpatrick, 'we feel that for certain lines of novelties we can cater to the American trade and it is with no intention of dumping merchandise on the American or Canadian market that we have entered the field. Throughout the world there are increased opportunities for the sale of high grade ready-made clothing, and with that in mind the firm of John Barran and Sons, Ltd., has been overhauling its organization, weeding out the inefficient workers and employing wherever possible more efficient labor. During the entire slump period the loss of business to this organization was largely on the low end of the trade. Our super grade or better grade workmanship has been constantly in demand. During the war owing to the increased demand for uniforms by the Government, the output of our plant was increased three times. Consequently, we have been for the past three years looking for new markets to take up this output, and in doing so we realize that increased markets can be developed through constantly increasing the finish and workmanship of our garments. In increasing ready-made clothing sales in the world trade, English manufacturers have an added advance, due to specialization."

At the Capitol to-night and to-morrow.

AT THE THEATRES

CAPITOL—Big 9 reel sensation "Saturday Night"—a De Mille picture—with Conrad Nagel, Theodore Roberts, Julia Faige, and Edith Roberts. Also comedy and other features.

ROYAL — Lionel Barrymore in "The Great Adventure". Gareth Hughes in Garments of Truth" Larry Semon in latest comedy.

GRAND —Final appearance Rex Stock Co., in George Cohen's International Comedy success, "Stop Thief".

REGENT—The famous screen beauty, Marion Davies in "Buried Treasure". Also Jean Caprice and George Seitz in "The Skyranger".

AT THE GRAND.

A packed house greeted the performance of "Stop Thief' at the Grand Opera House last night, the Rex Stock company is winding up a very successful season here, and they could hardly have hit on a better vehicle to leave a lasting impression on the memories of audiences who have watched and enjoyed them through a varied repertoire for the last six months.

'Stop Thief" is a continual laugh from beginning to end, from the moment when the absent-minded parent drops a mignificent pigeon-blood ruby ring carelessly into his forgotten overcoat pocket and places a broken length of lawn hose carefully in a secret drawer, to the last rollicking episode of the astonished clergyman drawing a stuffed money-wallet from his coat- tails.

The thief and his girl who intend to make one more haul, so they "will have enough money to go straight" the crook who poses as a detective, and is engaged by the despairing bridegroom to watch him lest he exercise his supposed kleptomaniac fancies; the droll father who takes an inventory of his possessions, and heads the list with "one telephone, one door knob, and one bridal bouquet"; the frantic lady with the disappearing ear trumpet; the bride in full regalia who rushes in and out in search of missing jewelry which turns up in the most unexpected places; the three who confess to the hiding of the missing chocolate-pot; the policeman who hates "shushing" they all gallop their way through a series of comical misadventures, which ends with the thief dominating the situation and a command to put their "hands up". And there is a real satisfactory conclusion.

Rex is the thief, Jack Doogen, who dominates the situation through out with his role of a detective, and Zana Vaughn is Nell, the maid, his sweetheart. William Yule has a part that suits him down to the ground; the absent-minded parent who trusts everyone; William Mitchell is the bridegroom, James Cluney, Hazel Williams has a fetching part as Joan Carr, Florence Winters is a striking Mrs. Carr, and Gloria Mahcan makes a lovely bride. William Seymour and A. J. Cole give excellent characterizations, and Chas Hannah has a busy times as Mr. Jamison, demanding his "bonds', as Joe Thompson, the 'rube' detective, and as a domineering sergeant of police.

WALTER SCANLAN COMING.

Walter Scanlan, who appears here next Saturday, February 18, in "Irish Eyes", is not only a great singer, but an excellent actor as well. In both arts, he is an outstanding figure, making love like a true son of the Emerald Isle in lyric measures and with eloquence of speech and gesture, and presenting his different beautiful song numbers with a wealth of feeling and understanding, a sweet, rich tone, that captivates his audience, and brings him back time and again for repeated encores.

With his beautiful songs and splendid acting, Mr. Scanlan's role includes selections on the piano and the Irish harp, while the Irish bagpipes are introduced to round out a typical Irish comedy of fun, humor and pathos.

He is supported by a company of experienced players, among whom are numbered Olive Meehan in the double role of Eileen and Peggy, Frederica Going as Kathleen and Lida Kane as Judy. Charles W. Dingle as John Brady, Clay Cody as Captain Danforth, Pacie Ripple as the Earl of Bray, Bennet R. Flinnas the butler, and Albert West as Shane O'Brien, are numbers of the male contingent.

Miss Bertha Crawford, the Canadian prima donna, who spent seven years in the war areas in Poland and Russia, will be the soloist at the concert to be given in the Grand Opera House on March 31 by the Peterborough Male Voice Choir.

Miss Crawford only returned to Canada a few months ago. She possesses a true coloratura voice—that is to a voice so light, flexible and resonant that it can compass the very difficult ornamentation of old-fashioned music—the runs, the trills and roulades which only a few are able to master—the kind of music which has the lightness of bird-song and is to that extent hardly human, but on which the fame of the great singers like Jenny Lind and Adelina Patti and late Amelita Galli Curci is based.

AT THE ROYAL.

Sometimes a stimulant is given to a doubtful horse before it enters a race to help it along. No artificial help, however, is needed to make today's programme at the Royal win public approval. The two specially selected features are the brightest and most amusing seen in this city for months. Th Great Adventure tells the story of a successful Englishman who, for his success, good looks and wealth is pursued by girls intent on marriage. He tries to hide in various cities from these women. Returning from Madrid to London with his valet, the later dies suddenly after arrival. As his valet greatly resembles him, the artist, the later takes the place of his servant and the deceased is buried as the artist. From the organ loft of Westminster Abbey the artist watches his own funeral, that is the obsequies of the valet. The dead (?) artist's cousin takes possession of the former's estate. Eventually the artist marries a widow under the dead valet's name. The pair for a time have hard luck but an unforseen circumstance leads to an unexpected and happy termination. A strong plot whose seeming impossibility is proven possible. Lionel Barrimore in this play is seen at his best. His comedy is irresistible and every action is tinctured with humor of a contagious kind. Garments of Truth is another feature that conveys a subtle irony on human nature, conveyed so that an audience is kept guessing between laughs how the plot will end. The tenth episode of Breaking Through is most exciting, with Bettina in more thrills. Larry Semon is also present in another of his laughter-breeding comedies.

AT THE REGENT.

One of the most highly entertaining pictures shown here in some time is "Buried Treasure," the Paramount-Cosmopolitan starring Marion Davies, which was presented last night at the Regent Theatre. Adapted from the engrossing story of the same name by F. Britten Austen, the English author, which caused nation-wide comment when it was published in Hearst's Magazine, the screen adaptation is replete with romance and spirited action. The heroine, the daughter of a Wall street capitalist, goes into a trance from which there develops a story of old Spain, of pirate ships, mutinies and battle, the character in her own life being but reincarnations of those of long ago. The girl guides her sweetheart to an island where he locates buried treasure and they are married. Norman Kerry plays the hero splendidly and Anedrs Randolf is the cruel father to perfection.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Cecil B. De Mille's big nine-reel production, "Saturday Night", is the attraction at the Capitol Theatre for the first three days of this week. A drama modern from first to last, its main theme is the contict between "oil and water", the impossibility of the final blending of contradictory mental and spiritual types.

In it, Dick Prentiss, the aristocrat, heir to the Prentiss millions, becomes infatuated with the gum-chewing, jazzy waif, the daughter of the washerwoman, little Shamrock O'Day, " a touselled bit of Irish sunshine." Tom McGuire, a chauffeur, and Iris Van Suydam, "one of the petted pampered rich" make the other corners of this angular mix-up, and their interchangeable loves form the basis of a very interesting picture.

Temperament and impulsive action characterize a production brimful of rapidly-moving situations. Dick becomes infatuated with the impoverished young girl when he sees her dancing with a cushion in the hall, and in short order, marries her and takes her home to his aristocratic family. And Iris marries her chauffeur.

So we find them transplanted, Shamrock losing her head and disgracing her family at a gorgeous carnival with wonderful scenes of revelry and mirth, and Iris trying to learn to cook for her Tom. Tom and Shamrock go to Coney, where it is Hallwe'en and "Saturday Night", and they become involved with a stationary ferris wheel, that keeps them imprisoned until morning. A resulting fight between the two husbands, a spectacular fire scene, and a courageous rescue of the forgotten Iris, finally culminate in a resolution on both sides that winds up another "Saturday Night" with a changed cast, a finale that stamps this production as distanctly ultra-modern, but leaves the beholder wishing that older methods were still the fashion.

'Snub' Pollard and Marie Mosquini have a very entertaining comedy, where the husband is left far fifteen minutes' "rest" by his devoted wife, and continuous action results thereafter, with an unfriendly bear and a series of chases to liven matters up for him.

his car. He also stated that he had never taken Mrs. Marangos to his mother's home.

Mr. Lennox: 'If Mrs. Marangos was going out, she certainly wasn't going out with you?" "That's right."

"Apart from seeing her at the juvenile court, then, you have not seen her for over a year?" "No, sir."

Cross-examined, Harold stated that in his store he had been assisted by a girl. She had been with him since she was fourteen years old. He then admitted that up until August he had owned his grocery store and his automobile.

Deeded Store to Girl.

Mr. Elmore: "Following your visit to the juvenile court in August you deeded your store to the girl who was working for you?" "Yes."

"Why?" "Because I had promised it to her some time ago."

He then explained that he had given her the building, but sold her the stock and auto, she paying him for the later with a check for $1,500.

"Previous to your trip to the juvenile court you were worth $6,000?" "Yes."

"But now you are working on salary for the girl?" "Yes."

He stated that he had turned his business over to the girl as a matter of honor. She had been working for him for some ten years at small wages and he felt that he owed her this consideration.

AFFAIRS SATISFACTORY AT MARK ST. CHURCH.

The Quarterly official board of the Mark street Methodist church met last evening with an attendance of 12 members, two being absent on account of illness.

The regular routines, and reports to the board disclosed a very satisfactory condition of affairs with regard to the church finances, with no debts, overdrafts, nor financial obligations of any sort outstanding.

The board then by a unanimous vote, invited their pastor, Rev. G. E. Ross, to remain in charge of the circuit for a fourth term.

Mr. Ross expressed his thanks to the board for this expression of esteem and confidence, but stated that he would, as ever, leave the matter in the hands of Conference.

The meeting, held at the parsonage, was concluded by the serving of dainty refreshments by Mrs. Ross, after which a pleasant social hour was spent.

BLAZING WAY TO OUST THE DOUBLE LAWS

Investigating the Laws of the Various States--Summary of Code.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.— The "double standard," in law as well as morals, must go!

Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, league research secretary of the National Woman's Party, says so.

"There is still one set of laws for man and another—and harsher one—for women," she declares.

Mrs. Matthews is investigating the laws of every state in the union to see exactly how they deal with women. Her probing is preliminary to the Women's Party campaign for an equal rights amendment to the constitution and for state equal rights bills, which will introduce into all our laws a single standard for men and women.

Mrs. Matthews summarizes some of the ways in which the laws are unfair to women as follows:

MRS. B. S. MATTHEWS.

"Marriage does not alter a man's legal status in any way, but it works havoc with a woman. An American girl becomes an alien the minute she marries a foreigner.

"Government reports have pointed out that women are the drudges of the government service. They usually get less money and fewer promotions.

"Woman finds herself in many states considered by the law in a class with children and the insane, as being incapable of full responsibility for her own property and money.

SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO WARRANT ARREST

Sensational Developments Expected in Delorme Murder Case.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Sensational developments in the Delorme murder case are expected following the inquest before Coroner McMahon this afternoon, and it is being authoritatively rumored that an arrest will feature the proceedings. Detectives working on the murder are unanimous in declaring that their chain of evidence is now practically complete, and that they are prepared to lay before the Coroner certain facts which will make further adjournments of the inquest unnecessary.

The police force of the city is also optimistic, and although no official has made any definite statement, it is understood that from their point of view, sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest has been procured.

FOUR ARRESTS IN ALLEGED SWINDLE

CHICAGO Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Investigation of the dealings of the Western Land Operators' Company, believed by the authorities to have swindled foreign-born citizens of more than one and a half million dollars, is under way by Government agents. Within three days alleged swindles totalling six and a half million dollars were disclosed with the arrest of Raymond Bischoff, and arrests yesterday of three employees of the Land Operators' Company and three employees of the American Novaculite Company. Leslie Harrington, said to be the principal in the latter company, and Charles Urnich and Charles Phillips, of the Operators' Company, are being sought by the police.

The police believe that Bischoff, Harrington and Phillips worked together in the huge swindle.

BELFAST, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press). — The Most Rev. "We must co-operate," he adds, "each in his own sphere, with all who are working for the restoration of order, and for the well-being of the whole people of our land."

HIGHWAY OF PROVINCE A BIG BURDEN

MEET IN KINGSTON

KINGSTON, Feb. 16.—(Special).—Delegates from twelve counties of Eastern Ontario met at the Court-House here yesterday afternoon and passed unanimously a resolution calling upon the Ontario Government to re-adjust the heavy payments on the Provincial highway in the Province of Ontario, so that the municipalities may be relieved of a portion of the heavy burdens placed upon them. At the same time, arrangements were made for a deputation, composed of representatives from all of the municipalities, to wait upon the Government at Toronto in March. A permanent executive committee was formed, composed of Reeves Melville Drew, Frontenac; Harry Phillips, Brighton; R. J. Hannah, Lennox and Addington, and H. Russell, Renfrew. J. A. B. Clarke, Reeve of Kingston Township, was appointed secretary.

At the conclusion of the business the visitors were entertained by Warden Drew, of Frontenac, at dinner in the Prince George Hotel and at the Grand Opera House.

Crippling Municipalities.

Melville Drew welcomed the representatives from the outside counties and municipalities on behalf of Frontenac County, and Mayor S. S. Corbett welcomed them on behalf of the city. Harry Phillips, Reeve of Brighton, was elected chairman, and in outlining the work before the gathering, he said that the financing of the Provincial Highway was a question that concerned them all. Northumberland and Durham Counties had been endeavoring to deal with it because of the rapidly increasing costs, and they found that it was a question that had to be taken up by all of the counties in order to determine whether they should pay the cost or whether it should be paid by the Government in its entirety. They looked upon it as a national undertaking, as all parts of the Province were benefiting from the highway. The heavy charges, he said, are crippling the municipalities, so that they are unable to maintain their township and county roads that are of immediate concern to the people.

Warden Drew, of Frontenac, told of what had been done by Frontenac County to secure exemption from the highway assessment. Some of the townships had obtained relief, but three were saddled with its cost. "I am prepared to help the other counties, as I believe that it is an unjust tax," said he. "Our taxes have been increasing every year, and I believe that all of the other counties are in the same position. Many of the townships cannot pay."

Get No Benefit.

H. Russell, Warden of Renfrew County, proposed placing the whole question before the Good Roads Convention shortly to be held at Toronto. The people of Renfrew received no benefit from the Hydro, and they were in the same position respecting the highway. He favored placing the matter in the hands of the members of the Legislature.

N. Allen, Northumberland and Durham, told of waiting upon the Government three years ago, when the Government was asked to fix the assessment upon a seven per cent. basis. "The people of my township cannot even see that this highway is a necessity, and the Government should pay for it," he concluded.

W. Kelly, Leeds and Grenville, told of the route of the highway through the townships which are not served by it. The cost thus far is $131,000, or ten mills. We have no idea how much it will cost or how long it is going to last, he said. Mr. Kelly suggested that every consideration be shown the Government in approaching it on the matter.

For Through Traffic.

J. A. B. Clarke, Reeve of Kingston Township, said there was no use going to the Government unless there was some prospect of it taking the matter up. He contended that

Shopping Comfort

You were going shopping to-day, weren't you, to look for a comfortable rocker for the living room and price that good-looking willow bird cage you saw last week.

But it is such a horrid day, it is snowing and the wind whistles and howls around the house so that you half shiver as you hover near the cheery fire.

So you yawn and curl up comfortably in your favorite chair, thankful that you are not compelled to go out, but regretful that your shopping will not be done as you had planned.

You skim idly through the pages of the paper, what's that you see?—a fireside rocker, almost new and at such a price?—about half of what you had expected to pay.

Five minutes at the telephone and the coveted article is yours—"That's a modern shopping expedition for you," you murmur to yourself as you take up that new book to enjoy a quiet afternoon to yourself. Shop through the Want Ads. of the Examiner, and you shop in comfort.

$50,000 FOR LOWEST NOTE

This Is Amount Former Chorus Girl Is Seeking From Her Husband — Hardly Enough.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—She didn't want to be a discord, so she brought a court action to keep in tune!

Thirteen years ago Edith Kelly Gould was a $25 a week chorus girl. Today she is a leading lady and her pitch—lowest note—is $50,000. So she is bringing suit for that amount against Frank Jay Gould, whom she married in 1909.

"My financial pitch really is more," she says. "But I hope soon to be earning enough money myself."

How much does she spend?

Clothing, underwear, shoes, etc., $18,000.
Apartment, $6,000.
Food, $5,000.
Entertainment, $5,000.
Dancing and music lessons, $4,000.
Auto, $4,000.
Doctor, $2,000.
Dentist, $1,000.

How much does she make?

Several hundred dollars a week.

It is the increase from the chorus to the leading role—

But it is hardly enough for a Gould.

"The joint personal expenses of Mrs. Gould and her husband," her counsel said, "have been more than $700,000 a year."

Edith Kelly Gould smiled.

"That would have sounded like a fabulous sum if I had heard it years back."

She had been a chorus girl in London and New York. When "Havana" was the hit of the season, she was the famous "Pensacola Girl."

Frank Jay Gould, who had obtained a divorce from his first wife, fell in love with her. They were married in Scotland and then moved about between New York and Paris.

For eight years they lived in luxury. Then they found themselves incompatible. Court action was started in France. The wife failed to defend the suit, claiming American citizenship. She is now carrying the fight into the courts here.

"With my marriage my mode of living became different," she said.

"My pitch of living was changed. I started living in a higher key. We had estates, chateaux, everything—

"I can't get keyed down now.

"I can't live as I did when I was a girl.

"Of course, no one should marry for money—love is the only thing.

"But we must all live in harmony with ourselves.

"However, if you want to be happy, don't place your financial pitch too high!"

She was busy. She had to go on with her part—the lead in "Pins and Needles," an English revue now in New York.

She went off—

Singing as she did when she was in a lesser role—

But in a different key.

GUNMEN ARE STILL BUSY IN BELFAST

Two More Victims Added to the Death Toll Today —Ulster Hall Commandeered.

IRISH SITUATION

BELFAST, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Death through the medium of gunmen claimed two more victims of disorders here today. A workman proceeding along Seaford Street was shot dead and a five-year-old child, who received a bullet while playing in the street yesterday, succumbed to its injuries.

The authorities to-day commandeered Ulster Hall, a commodious structure on Belford Street, used for for assemblages, for the use of the troops now engaged in combatting the disorders.

At ten o'clock this morning, the deaths since Saturday had reached thirty-four.

OPPOSE PARTITION.

DUBLIN, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Notice has been given by Keevin O'Sheil, legal secretary to the Provisional Government, that at the meeting of the Ard Feis next Tuesday he will move a series of resolutions pledging support to the "fellow-citizens" in the six counties in the Ulster area, and calling on the public representatives in these counties to formulate a policy which will defeat the movement for partition.

Resolutions also urge the Dail Eireann to resist the attempt to destroy the unity of the Irish nation.

COLLINS HAS RETURNED.

LONDON, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Michael Collins' return to Dublin, after a twelve hours' stay here, and his admission that he was not dissatisfied with his conference with Winston Churchill, is taken to mean that the British evacuation of Southern Ireland will be resumed forthwith and carried out without interruption.

WOMEN MUST GO TO WORK

Compulsory Work for "Town Women" Imposed by Bulgarian Peasant Government.

SOFIA, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Compulsory work for the women is to be imposed by the Bulgarian Peasant Government. Peasant women who do manual labour, says the partisans of the law, will take pleasure now in "seeing aldies take pleasure now in "seeing ladies in silk stockings" rustle about a bit.

Premier Stamboulsky, justifying the law, said peasant women often do most of the manual labour, and asks, what does the town ladies do?

"She walks and chats and does not give birth to children," he says. "We must at least compel her to labour for the State."

COUP D'ETAT NOT LIKELY.

LONDON, February 16 (Canadian Press). — The prediction that the coup d'etat in Ireland which resulted in the setting up of a Soviet Republic would ruin Ireland's cause for a century, was made by Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, in moving in the House of Commons to-day the second reading of the Irish Free State Bill. Such an occurrence was not at all likely, however, in the opinion of the British Government, he said.

Cameras Drilled to Shoot at Princess on Her Wedding Day

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Rehearsals by newspaper photographers in Westminister Abbey is a novel feature which will precede Princess Mary's wedding to Viscount Lascelles.

For the first time in history, press photographs will be taken of a ceremony in Westminister Abbey, attended by members of the Royal family. Rehearsals were decreed so that when the ceremony is held, the business of "shooting" the bride and bridegroom will create the least possible commotion. "Clickless", silent cameras will be used to make the pictures.

Because of the world-wide interest in the marriage, it was decided to violate tradition and permit the photographers to be present.

Last Time in Print—Maybee

The above picture is of Mrs. L. M. Fine of Chicago.

Ever see it before? Whether you did or not, take a good look now—for this is the last time it's to be printed—maybe—

Why? Well, just because.

When Mrs. Fine was little she was pretty. As she grew she became beautiful. Photographers delighted in snapping her, and her face soon became familiar in many ads.

Then she was married.

Friend husband found her staring him in the face from calendars, soap wrappers, street car ads and billboards.

Now he's peeved. "Never want to see it again," he declares.

"Tell the world I never got a dime out of it. I support my own wife."

TONG WARS

Lazy New York Chinatown Know Better Than to Start Anything—Electric Chair Waiting.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—An old Chinese, veteran of tong wars of other days, sat drowsily against the doorway of his curio shop in Manhattan's Chinatown, and stroked the head of a pup at his feet.

His attitude was typical of the quarter. Chinatown was too lazy or perhaps too uninterested, to get excited over the news that tong wars had started in several sections of the Pacific Coast, and that the Chinese quarter in San Francisco was in a ferment, fearing that it would be drawn into the battles.

"Chinatown is a joke—not enough pep to chase a cat."

Patrolman Abt has been walking through the narrow streets of Pell, Doyer and Mott for more than 10 years. He first was sent there in the exciting days that followed the killing of Elsie Siegel, and the shooting of Mock Duck, those bloody days of war that ended in the signing of a treaty among all the tongs.

"Yep," said Abt, "pep is all gone. The only fighter left in Chinatown is Georgie Lee. He is a bantamweight and goes up to Madison Square Garden to scrap.

"Five years ago there still was a lot of queer doings down here, but Doyer street now is like a sidewalk in Woodlawn Cemetery.

'Opium? Not enough to fill a pipe.

"Gunmen? Well, they may come down here, but they don't operate on my beat, see!

"What, me got a soft job? Say! I have to be a doctor, lawyer, undertaker's man, spiritual adviser and what not for these people.

"The reason they quit their tong wars was that they learned that Sing Sing and the electric chair could hold Chinese the same as anybody else. That's what scared the bad men.

"Why there's a dead chap up in No. 12 right now, but nobody'll touch him—afraid of the spirits. I'll have to lay him out myself. When they want a doctor they come to me, and I have to call him. When they want—"

At this juncture a Chinese boy came running to Abt, muttering angrily. It developed he had had a dispute with a Jewish merchant around the corner. Abt settled the argument, and came back to his post.

"Know these people pretty well?" he was asked.

"Nope. They don't tell you anything until they've known you 25 years. I've been here only 10."

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Police Chief O'Brien's threat to raid all tong headquarters, and deport every tong man at the first indication of violence here, has stilled the first murmurs of impending trouble in San Francisco's Chinatown, tense with anticipation since tong outbreaks in other cities Sunday night took a toll of two killed and three wounded.

Peace negotiations attended by 40 delegates from all the tongs of the United States, in an effort to banish tong troubles have been halted. All members of the Hip Sing and Bing Kong tongs, the warring secret orders, have taken to cover, the Chinatown police squad reported.

No further reports of tong outbreaks had been received from any Pacific Coast cities early last night.

PUPILS MUST HAVE CERTIFICATE BEFORE THEY CAN RETURN SCHOOL

School Inspector A. Mowat has received the following letter from the Deputy Minister of Education:

"Dear Sir,—I am directed by the Minister of Education to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 11th, and in reply to call your attention to Section 19 (2) (a), page 76, of the Public and Separate School Regulations, which state that the Principal shall exclude from school any pupil who has been reported to him by the school medical officer or school nurse as having symptoms of smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, chicken-pox, mumps, whooping cough, or other communicable disease. Section (2) (a), sub-section (iii.) stated that the pupil so excluded shall not return to school until he presents to the Principal a certificate in writing, signed by the Medical Officer of Health or other medical practitioner that all danger from contact to other pupils has passed. The regulation does not limit the powers of the School Medical Officer in respect to the number of times he may exclude the pupil. If upon the child's return to school, and a thorough re-examination of the case, in his opinion symptoms are present of any of the diseases mentioned in (2) (a), he may again report the pupil to the Principal for exclusion."

URGED TO GET AFTER WEALTHY

Marry Rich Wives Is One Solution Offered For the Unemployed at Meeting.

A small and orderly crowd collected on the waterfront here to attend the demonstration of unemployed, which, according to some sensational advance notices, was likely to consist of tens of thousands of desperate men who might loot restaurants and plunder food warehouses.

There was no suggestion of violence and the police under Inspector Underhill had a quiet afternoon. Many plans for solving the unemployment and poverty were put forward by speakers who called on Mayor Hylan to induce his Palm Beach friends to house the unemployed in their Fifth Avenue mansions, advised the unemployed to contract judicial matrimonial alliances and demanded that the Federal Government institute great public works on which millions might find jobs. Isidor Amter, Secretary of the Unemployment Council, addressed the crowd, saying:

"There are plenty of houses in which you can sleep. Open them up. They tell us they are building houses. Who are building houses? The bosses. Who are building palaces? The bosses.

"There are closed up houses on Fifth Avenue whose owners are at Palm Beach with Mayor Hylan. Let him get them to open them up."

He said that 80,000 families in this city were in need of homes and that the whole country was suffering for the lack of great constructive enterprises which the Government should start now.

He demanded that a large part of the fortune of John D. Rockfeller and other rich men be taken away from them by a direct tax. The next speaker was A. Goldman, who said:

"There was recently a story in the daily press of a young laboring man who married a rich woman much older than himself. I suggest that all of you find women of wealth and marry them."

"Where are they?" shouted a voice.

Mr. Goldman told the crowd that although there are vast numbers of unemployed men and women, they had failed to make their influence felt, because they were unorganized.

"Organize, organize, organize!" he exclaimed.

Cards were passed after the meeting to take the names and addresses of those present in order to knit them into closer organization. It was announced that 300 names had been registered, but about 50 per cent of the addresses were considered to be "phony."

FOUND GUILTY.

BRACEBRIDGE, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—George Cyr, a young French Canadian, was last night found guilty of murder of George Withers. Justice Middleton will pronounce sentence later. Cyr also faces a charge of murdering Mrs. Andrew Solave.

TEN POUNDS SAUSAGE COST FRITZ $24.55

Was Convicted of Stealing Weiners From His Boarding House.

In Police Court to-day Patrick Fritz, was found guilty of theft of 10 pounds of sausages from Mrs. Mary Ann Clarke, 251 George street, on Feb. 3rd, and for his indiscreet action, paid no less a sum than $24.55, made up of a ten dollar fine, costs and restitution to Mrs. Clarke. "Such a bill and I only had three or four of the weiners," he lamented to police officers as he was led out of court.

Fritz boards at Mr. Clarke's, and was in the kitchen of the house when the sausages were delivered. The sausages were placed in the refrigerator, but when the woman of the house went to get them ready for dinner they were gone.

In spite of enquiries in the neighborhood the mysterious disappearance of the weiners was not cleared up till yesterday when, through channels of gossip it was found that an identical parcel of sausage had been presented to a resident of Sherbrooke street by none less than Patrick Fritz himself. Evidence was produced in police court to-day that the wrapping paper was the same, the inside was Swift's and the outside the popular brown stock. They were evidently Mrs. Clarke's sausages.

The evidence made a bad case against Fritz. This he admitted, but he resented his little present to a friend becoming public knowledge and having all the neighbors talking about it. He certainly never stole the sausages, he said. He couldn't remember where he bought them. In an apparent attempt to make out he was slightly unbalanced, he said he got them in an aeroplane, but in his quick recollection of the fact that Magistrate Langley used to pass him every day when he was "a hard working man" at the filtration plant, he belied any mental deficiency. Fritz said he was out of work and Mrs. Falconer's husband was out of work. He was just making them a little present.

Accused wanted the case settled quietly and the reflection on his good name cleared up. The gossips in the neighborhood should be fined he claimed. Not to have it go any further he was ready to pay all damages. His defence was that he was a "hard-working" and a 'good" fellow and he didn't care who knew it.

Magistrate O. A. Langley reprimanded accused in regard to his alleged complaints of hard treatment by the Magistrate in an assault case he was involved in some time ago. "I was not hard with you, I think those who are around my courts know that my judgments lean the other way. If I err it is on the side of leniency. This is the sort of case Mr. Fritz you should be sent to jail on, but I will give you the option of paying a fine or one month in jail, in default of that.

Fritz said he would just as soon pay the fine. He could get the money.

Magistrate Langley said he was giving him a chance. They didn't want to mack a jail bird out of him, although theft offences generally met with penal sentences. "You don't seem to realize the situation. You're the guilty party. You may think you are innocent, but I think it is apparent to all you are guilty. I hope you stop that sort of thing. You must be honest whatever else you are."

JURY TODAY VIEWED THE FATAL PUNT

SCENE DESCRIBED

KITCHENER, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The jury in the Ahrens murder trial viewed the punt from which Mrs. Ahrens met her death on November 16, here this morning. The Crown then rested its case. For the defence, A. McDonald stated that he had slept with Ahrens on the night of the tragedy at the latter's house, and they had talked of the accident. Carl had said that he would like to have an inquest as he thought it would satisfy the girl's father.

He also told of receiving a 'phone call that night informing him that something had happened. McDonald described his going with the doctor to the scene of the drowning and efforts made to revive the victim.

Loaning of the Boat.

Norman Weber in his testimony told of Ahrens coming to his house on the night of the tragedy and asking to use the boat. He said Ahrens had his wife with him, and they were going to the cottage across the river for lunch. The witness told of hearing a splash and a yell in the river, but he could not say if it was a man or woman that cried out. He stood on the lawn several seconds and imagined someone was wading in the river. He did not wish them to think he was spying on them. He went around to the back door, and was entering when Ahrens came in the front. As Ahrens came in Weber asked: "Where is your wife?"

Ahrens gasped and said in a low voice, "She is gone."

THE WEATHER

The temperature was down to five below zero last night. While the nights are fairly sharp the days are pleasant, and the winter has not been a hard or disagreeable one. The days are lengthening quite perceptibly and the sun's rays are becoming much more powerful. It is beginning to look as if spring, like prosperity, were just around the corner. The snowfall this winter has been light, but there is time enough yet, as the heaviest falls of the winter are usually the latter part of this month or the first two weeks in March.—W. P.

GET OUT OF VOLIVA'S CLASS

Out in Zion City, Ill., they teach in their schools that the earth is flat and surrounded by a rim of ice to keep adventurous mariners from tumbling off into oblivion.

In taking such an extreme position, contrary to the well established facts in the case, overseer Voliva of Zion City has confessed himself considerable of a fool.

While we should hesitate to place those who do not accept the osteopathic theory of healing by adjustment, in the same category as Mr. Volivia, we would most respectfully suggest to them that osteopathy is no longer a theory, but a demonstrated FACT in therapeutics, as they can readily ascertain, if they care to investigate the evidence; or, better still, by giving it a trial themselves.

Osteopathic colleges are as well equipped, their course of study is as long, and as complete, and as thoroughly taught as the very best medical colleges.

This fact rather sharply differentiates OSTEOPATHY from other so-called adjustive systems of healing.

"And what we promise, that will we also do."

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"

"No more is Peterson," grinned the American; "at least not on that book. See here, Captain, it's pretty clear what's happening. In any country to-day you've got all sorts and conditions of people with more wind than brain. They just can't stop talking, and as yet it's not a criminal offence. Some of 'em believe what they say, like Spindleshanks upstairs; some of 'em don't. And if they don't, it makes 'em worse: they start writing as well. You've got clever men, intellectual men—look at some of those guys in the first-class general lecturers—and they're the worst of the lot. Then you've got another class—the men with the business brain, who think they're getting the sticky end of it, and use the talkers to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for them. And the chestnuts, who are the poor blamed decent workingmen, are promptly dropped in the ash-pit to keep 'em quiet. They all want something for nothing, and I guess it can't be done. They all think they're fooling one another, and what's really going at the moment is that Peterson is fooling the whole bunch. He wants all the strings he'd got 'em there. He's got the money—and we know where he got it from; he's got the organisation—all either red-hot revolutionaries, or intellectual windstorms, or calculating knaves. He's amalgamated 'em, Captain; and the whole blamed lot, whatever they may think, are really working for him.

Drummond, thoughtfully, lit a cigarette.

"Working towards a revolution in this country," he remarked quietly.

"Sure thing," answered the American. "And when he brings it off, I guess you won't catch Peterson for dust. He'll pocket the boodle, and the boobs will stew in their own juice. I guessed it in Paris; that book makes it a certainty. But it ain't criminal. In a Court of Law he could swear it was an organisation for selling bird-seed."

For a while Drummond smoked in silence, while the two sleepers shifted uneasily in their chairs. It all seemed so simple in spite of the immensity of the scheme. Like most normal Englishmen, politics and labour disputes had left him cold in the past; but no one who ever glanced at a newspaper could be ignorant of the volcano that had been simmering just beneath the surface for years past.

"Not one in a hundred"—the American's voice broke into his train of thought—"of the so-called revolutionary leaders in this country are disinterested, Captain. They're out for Number One, and when they've talked the boys into bloody murder, and your existing social system is down-and-out, they'll be the leaders in the new one. That's what they're playing for—power; and when they've got it, God help the men who gave it to 'em."

Drummond nodded, and lit another cigarette. Odd thing he had read recurred to him: trade unions refusing to allow discharged soldiers to join them; the reiterated threats of direct action. And to what end?

A passage in a part of the ledger evidently devoted to extracts from the speeches of the first-class general lecturers caught his eye:

"To me, the big fact of modern life is the war between classes. People declare that the method of direct action inside a country will produce a revolution. I agree . . . it involves the creation of an army. . . ."

"An excellent man! Send for protected tour."

The note of exclamation appealed to Hugh; he could see the writer's tongue in his cheek as he put it in.

"It involves the creation of an army." The words of the intimidated rabbit came back to his mind. "The man of stupendous organising power, who has brought together and welded into one the hundreds of societies similar to mine, who before this have each, on their own, been feebly struggling towards the light. Now we are combined, and our strength is due to him."

In other words, the army was on the road to completion, an army where ninety per cent. of the fighters—duped by the remaining ten—would struggle blindly towards a dim, half-understood goal, only to find out too late that the whip of Solomon had been exchanged for the scorpion of his son.

"Why can't they be made to understand, Mr. Green?" he cried bitterly. "The working-man—the decent fellow——"

The American thoughtfully picked his teeth.

VALENTINE TEA LAKEFIELD W.A. A HAPPY EVENT

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16.—The ninth annual Valentine Tea of the W.A. of St. John's Church was held in the Sunday school room on Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. The room was decorated with hearts, arrows, cupids and spring flowers, and was most home like. The attractive appearance of the room called forth many admiring comments from the visitors, Mrs. (Rev.) F. Vipond and Mrs. Graham received the guests.

A special feature was the autograph quilt hung in a conspicious place. The material was the gift of Mrs. F. H. Lingwood, and the scheme for quilting it was designed by Mrs. Northcott. With 320 local names, it was much admired. Miss Atwood and Mrs. Mahood were in charge of it and sold tickets for the drawing which took place at the close of the tea. Mrs. S. J. Charlton with No. 61 was the lucky winner.

The candy table was in charge of Mrs. Wm. Watson Jr. and Miss Hampton and so great was the demand for their tempting wares that they were sold out before the hour for closing. The home cooking table was in the capable hands of Mrs. Northcott and Mrs. Barker. The fancy work table was in charge of Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. John Sanderson, who had a variety of pretty things to sell and which they disposed of during the afternoon. The tea room was in capable care and teh ladies in charge spared no pains to serve everyone. The following ladies were in the tea room: Mesdames S. E. White, Trude, Waldon, Robt. Payne, A. Wannamaker and Marling. The financial returns, which amounted to $117.05, far exceeded the expectations of the ladies, who deserve congratulation for their enterprise and industry.

Personal Mention.

Mr. E. T. Shevin was in the village from Apsley on Tuesday.

Mrs. Langley and Miss Dorothy Langley have returned home from an extended visit to friends in Oakville and Toronto.

LONG YEARS CONFIDENCE OF VILLAGE

Dr. J. R. Fraser Retires From Lakefield Education Board—Gets Warm Eulogy From Colleagues

COUNCIL MEET.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16.—The Board of Education met on Friday evening February 3rd, in the Council Chamber. There were present Trustee J. W. Ridpath in the chair and Trustees Charlton, Galvin, Gibson and Graham.

A communication was read from Mr. S. Sutton, asking for the school account for the Sterling Bank of which he is the local manager. The matter was left open for consideration.

The Finance committee recommended payment of the accounts: Mr. W. Sherin, insurance $110.00; Mr. W. Sherin, express and cartage, $1.60; Miss Ray, advertising, $3.10. Total $114.70.

To Save Fuel.

Capt. W. Scollard waited on the Board asking for a trial of the Burnall appliance which reduces the fuel expense.

Moved by Trustee Gibson, seconded by Trustee Galvin that the board allow Capt. Scollard to install a Burnall appliance on the furnace at the school under a test, with the understanding that it reduces fuel expense by at least 20 per cent; and if it does not do what guaranteed, that he take it out, and leave the furnace in the same shape that he found it; without any expense to the Board. Carried.

Services Appreciated.

The following resolution was moed by Trustee Gibson, seconded by Trustee Galvin, Resolved; that in view of the regretted retirement of Dr. J. R. Fraser for this Board, on which he has served for thirty consecutive years, and first we wish to place on record our deep and sincere appreciation of his services both as member and as presiding officer during that long period of time.

We know the exacting duties of his professional life, how faithfully and untiringly he responds at all times and seasons to the call of suffering; and we are well aware that only the deepest interest in the educational life of the children of our village would have held his devotion to this unrequited, and indeed often thankless task during so many years We also realize the inadequacy of mere words to express our keen sense of th loss to the Board entailed by his withdrawal

A man constantly overworked, whose duties seldom permitted him even reasonable hours of sleep and yet always alert and ready to confer with and assist with his wise council and sane judgment, his colleagues on the Board of Education, cannot well be spared. And his retirement leaves a gap which will not soon be filled.

It is therefore not only with deep regret, but with sadness as well, that we acknowledge the severance of the ties which have bound us together for so long.

In submitting this resolution to the Board, we would ask that the Secretary be instructed to forward a copy to Dr. Fraser, and also to convey to him our heartiest good wishes for many years of usefulness, attended by the consciousness of duty well done; with the assurance that his able and consistent service is enshrined in perpetual rememberanc,

COUNCIL MET.

KINGSTON, Ont., February 15. — Forty-four years ago a prominent citizen of Kingston, who died two years ago, loaned a friend the sum of $400.00. The man who got the money suddenly disappeared after he got the loan, and although every effort possible was made to locate him, he could not be found.

Ulster Restrains Reprisals.

LONDON, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—Replying to Sir John Butcher, Mr. Churchill said last night he saw Mr. Collins' message to the American Association for recognition of the Irish Republic, but in his opinion it did not call for comment. Whereupon the Unionist members cheered derisively.

Sir John asked whether Mr. Churchill would inform Mr. Collins that a threat of war by Ireland against Britain was not conducive to good government in Southern Ireland or to good relations between the North and the South. The Colonial Secretary answered:

"I take it that the whole problem of Mr. Collins' statement was to facilitate acceptance of the treaty. In any case, I do not think we want to make more of it than is necessary."

Fears in Both Camps.

Mr. Churchill said messages he had received indicated that there was great apprehension in the North that there might be some violent incursion from the South, that large numbers of the Irish Republican Army were accumulating in villages in County Monaghan and that there might be an attack. On the other hand, he said, there were consider-

Wage Reduction in Hamilton Expected To-day.

HAMILTON, February 15. — The Dominion Power and Transmission Company will put into effect to-morrow morning, a cut ranging from 12 to 16 per cent. in the wages of all its employees, including those of the Hamilton Street Railway Company.

Because the company has not waited for a report of a Conciliation Board, the unions have made an appeal to the Hon. James Murdock, Labour Minister, asking him to see that the reduction does not become effective until the Board has held an investigation.

C.P.R. OPPOSES FREIGHT RATES

Denies That Present Rates Are Unreasonable — Mountains Can't Be Levelled.

OTTAWA, February 15 (Canadian Press). — Denying that there had been any discrimination against the Province of British Columbia, or that the freight rates at present in effect was unfair or unreasonable, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company began its opposition to-day to the application of British Columbia's Attorney-General for an equalisation of the freight rates.

W. B. Lanigan, freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, who was on the stand during the whole of the first day's hearing, said that in effect the British Columbia application asked that the mountains be levelled, or in the drawing up of rate/

CAMPBELLFORD WON THE GAME

Trent Valley Fixture Played in Havelock Last Evening—Score Was 4-1

HAVELOCK, Feb. 16. — In a Trent Valley fixture played here last night Havelock lost to Campbellford by a score of 4 to 1. The Campbellford team were the heavier in some respects and they checked hard. The ice was in splendid condition and the play was fast in spots. For Havelock Douglas Laing did splendid work in goal. The lone tally for the losers was scored by Glen Wright, the centre player.

Interest in the game was as keen as the ice on which it was played and the large turn out of local fans was augmented by a couple of sleigh loads from Campbellford.

The line up:

Referee, Lou Hagerman.

Oh, mammy FRY'S does taste so good when you're hungry!

Mothers! Just try this—let the children have a cup of delicious, warming and invigorating FRY'S Cocoa when they come home from school. It is such a "hungry time," and such a long wait from dinner to supper, whereas a cup of FRY'S is easily made and every drop is nourishment of the finest kind.

If your child is nervous, pale and not strong, you will find a regular afternoon cup of FRY'S a wonderful tonic food because it contains every element a child needs for growing. Of course, everyone likes FRY'S, its flavor is so delightful, and really, it is one of the most economical foods you can buy. Of course, remember

DR. REYNOLDS' ADDRESS.

Elsewhere in this column today The Examiner draws attention to what it considers the need of a better understanding between urban folk and country dwellers. In this connection it is interesting to note that Dr. J. B. Reynolds, M.A., President of the Ontario Agricultural College, is to discuss this particular matter before the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening, his subject being advertised as 'The Desire for Closer Relations Between Urban and Rural Districts." Dr. Reynolds, by reason of his important position, is peculiarly filled to supply some useful advice on the topic under discussion, for he will be able to view it from the standpoint of a city man who is closely in touch with the farmers, who knows their difficulties, their aims and their condition as few urban dwellers are permitted to know them. It is to be hoped that a very large audience will be able to hear Dr. Reynolds, and that the meeting will bear fruit in the launching of a movement that will bring city and country together in a working alliance that will benefit the whole district. Dr. Reynolds is a most fitting person to give the preliminary message in this connection.

THE COUNTY'S SHARE.

It is unfortunate that in view of the fact that the County Council's grant to the Children's Aid Society has been cut down to $200 the society has been compelled to notify the Council that unless the amount paid last year, $600, is again granted the county will be billed for the maintenance of county children. Economy in public affairs is all right if it be not carried to the point of parsimony, but in cutting the Children's Aid Society grant to $200 the county government has apparently lost sight of the fact that it costs the society about four and a half times that amount each year to take care of the children from the rural districts who have to be harboured. A large amount of the society's work is done in the county districts, and the $200 grant does not begin to cover the expenses involved. There was no other course that the Children's Aid Society could follow under the circumstances than to warn the county legislators of their intention to hold the county responsible for the maintenance of neglected children. In doing so there was no intention of holding a club over the heads of the county body, and probably the latter, after re-considering the matter, may decide that it would be more economical in the long run to pay a grant of $600 than it would be to have to foot a bill of perhaps $1,000 for maintenance.

NEED OF CO-OPERATION.

While they did not succeed in securing the prize for Peterborough, the citizens who endeavoured to bring the big Provincial plowing championships to this city deserve general thanks for their gallant endeavour, made as it was in the face of a virtual rebuff from the City Council. The event will be held at Lindsay, although it is difficult to see how this selection is justified in view of the poor accommodations for visitors in Lindsay. Thousands of people from all parts of the Province are expected, and it will be a difficult matter to take care of them in the town chosen for the matches.

The fact that Peteborough has been passed over illustrates the necessity of a better understanding and co-operation between urban and rural residents of the county. Had the city and county unitedly pressed for the Provincial meet, by means of a joint organization, there seems little doubt that the effort would have been successful. The desirability of city folk and their brothers in the country reaching a common ground of understanding and appreciation of each other has been recognized in other sections of Ontario, and Chambers of Commerce and other bodies have been instrumental in arranging a number of get-together affairs that have had splendid results. There is need of a similiar effort in Peterborough, for there are many problems in which both classes are mutually interested, and there is no reason why they should work at cross purposes in endeavouring to reach a solution.

A HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The establishment of a proper department of health in Peterborough with a doctor in charge who would devote his whole time to the duties of his position, is a development that ultimately may have to be adopted. Certain it is that the present system is not giving satisfactory results. During the last two or three years we have had an epidemic of small-pox that took nearly a year to run its course, and just now we are suffering from an outbreak of scarlet fever and diphtheria that has been an annoyance and a menace for many months. It is not only costly and a nuisance, but it is fraught with danger as well. A short time ago a Bowmanville woman came to Peterborough to visit her sister here, and she ran into a death trap, falling a victim to scarlet fever. Had the present epidemic been stamped out at the beginning this unfortunate woman would have been alive today. And hers is not the only death that has resulted because the outbreak has continued month after month.

It is not because there are not enough agencies enlisted in the fight to protect the health of Peterborough. There is a Medical Officer of Health, a Health Officer for the schools, a Sanitary Inspector and the Board of Health, to say nothing of such organizations as the Health Association and the Well Babies' Clinic. But there is no co-ordination, no team work, nor can a full measure of co-operation be expected until all these activities are centralized into a department of health. The experience of recent years surely, at least, justifies an investigation into the situation with a view to devising more effective machinery for protecting the health of our people than we have now in operation.

The dressy woman who used to put everything on her back has a fashionable daughter who doesn't.—Columbia

PARTY AND COUNTRY.

Whatever may be the outlook of the moment one still believes that the British two-party system is the best system that has been devised for the government of a free country. So far as one can discover, all attempts to get rid of the evils of party have multiplied and aggravated the evils of government. Mr. Michael MacDonagh, who has written with insight and knowledge of the party system in Great Britain, has said, "In truth, party preserves us from political degeneracy. I am convinced that, should the spirit of party ever lie dormant in the country, the House of Commons would become but the meeting-place of cranks and faddists and nothing would be heard there but the murmur of bees in the bonnets of daft members."

Through extent of territory and diversity of population there are natural racial, religious and sectional differences in Canada. Within a national party which must make its appeal to all the provinces and to all elements of the population these differences can be abridged and restrained in the common interest, while all such natural differences are sharpened and aggravated by class or group or sectional organization for political objects. It has often been said that this is a hard country to govern. It was hard to govern with two parties even under such leaders as Sir John Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it will be harder to govern with three parties, with obligations increased tenfold, with definite class and sectional organization for political control and with all the old traditions and associations shaken by the passing of old loyalties and the fervor of new appeals.

While we may have gained something, we have surely lost something by the decay of inherited convictions and prejudices. There was joy in the old controversies and comfort in the old traditions and associations. Augustine Birrell has declared that whatever may be said of the Roman Catholic Church it has the capacity to breed saints. National parties have the capacity to breed statesmen and there is strong support for the belief that the safety and unity of the State are best assured and maintained by national leaders acting through national political organizations.

Democracy is a hard taskmaster and a shabby paymaster. It is a curious notion that men should be grateful for the privilege of beggaring themselves in the public service. But the people seem to feel that they confer a supreme favor when they send men to Parliament to do their business at heavy sacrifice of time, of money and of social and domestic comfort. There may be men who get rich in politics, but they are not numerous and even most of those who do would have been richer if they had let politics alone. Moreover, whether we believe it or not, in most men who enter public life there is an inborn desire to serve their time and their kind. If it were not so, few men would submit to the misunderstanding, misrepresentation and ingratitude which too often are the only reward for faithful and laborious public service. One's children may rejoice in a flattering obituary, but why should we praise so grudgingly until the hearse is at the door.

Lord Rea said to Sir David Ramsay, "Well, God mend all!" But Ramsay's reply was, "Nay, by God, Donald, we must help Him mend it." We need as never before in the public life of Canada all that we have of organizing and governing ability, but there is danger that we shall not get it and it is certain that we shall not deserve it until we abandon man-hunting as a political pastime and show decent gratitude for faithful service. Speaking at Oxford University not long ago, Lord Curzon said: 'Among the aspects of the post-Victorian Age there is none which this university, and I believe every section of the public, regards with so much abhorrence and disgust as the gross and gratuitous defamation of the character of public men." The statement has significance for Canada. Probably there never was before such a confusion of voices and such a conflict of social and political teaching. More and more press and platform give themselves to sheer propaganda and propaganda is the nursing mother of intolerance, of malice, envy and all uncharitableness.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

The Speech from the Throne reads like the familiar war buletin: "All is quiet on the Western front."

One hundred and eight applications for divorce have been filed at Ottawa. It looks as if the Senators will earn their indemnity this session.

Another American politician proposes that the portion of Canada lying south of the St. Lawrence should be purchased by the United States. Evidently, like Senator King, he has failed to read the "Not For Sale" sign.

The big plowing match goes to Lindsay so that the city fathers will be able to keep the freedom of the city to donate to some other body.

Secretary J. J. Morrison of the U.F.O. has been "shot" for the movies. But a phonograph record would give a better representation of the power behind the throne in the Farmers' movement.

LITERARY GEMS.

THE BARD COMES INTO HIS OWN.

That Shakespeare is as thoroughly human, alive, dramatic, tragic, comic, as any other playwright might be, has suddenly dawned upon many a youngster. This new interest should be strengthened by every means possible. A few years of encouragement among the rising generation not only will benefit the youth, but the stage as well. A declining interest in the classics has meant a swift falling off in the number of young men and women who have been ambitious to play them. Nothing will bring into being a new line of Booths, Mansfields, Marlowes, Sotherns and others of their high standards, so quickly as a new generation of audiences.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

LIVING JUMPED TO HIGH LEVEL.

Increases Twenty - Four Per Cent. in Vienna.

VIENNA, Feb. 15.—Living costs in Vienna increased 24 per cent between January 1 and 15 according to official figures, and some articles rose above world prices.

Apparently the announced determination of the finance minister, Dr. Guertneler that he will at least force all government monopoly prices to world parity is extending itself automatically throughout business.

The newspapers say that suitings, coffee, hour, coal furs and stockings are now above New York prices and that a meal in an ordinary middle or lower class restaurant here costs more than it does there. Good tailors demand from £11 to £15 Sterling for a suit or overcoat.

The jump in prices that set in just before the holidays continues, it gravely affected the Christmas trade and many shops are still stocked with the season's goods Customers are few and the rising prices have materially thinned out foreigners drawn here by cheap living or for speculative buying.

The best illustration of the chaotic state of affairs is found in automobile cost. A six cylinder car of the type that in America sells at from about $2,700 to $3,000 could have been brought here in the summer for $2,400. The same car was offered this week at a price in kronen equivalent to $4,000.

The government is resorting to every expediency to raise money to meet its increasing cost. A form of treasury script known as kassencheine up to denomination of 100,000 kronen is now in circulation to offset the scarcity of regular currency but is expected to be retired when the new 50,000 kronen notes are ready for issue. The refusal of many merchant to accepts the script caused further confusion in the generally confused state of business.

Industries have been badly hit by the increasing cost of production, particularly those which must import most of their raw materials, so that many factories are reducing their payrolls and thus throwing the discharged men back on the government out of work dole and subsidized bred.

DR. J. B. REYNOLDS WILL SPEAK HERE FRIDAY

The last regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, prior to the annual meeting in March, will be held Friday evening, February 17th, at 8 p.m.

The business of the meeting will include the election of a nominating committee of five to bring in a slate of the coming year's officers and executive council, and also the appointment of five judges of election, this being held on March 7th.

Through the efforts of Mr. R. B. Rogers, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber, arrangements have been made to have Dr. J. B. Reynolds, M.A., President of the Ontario Agricultural College of Guelph, present at the meeting. Dr. Reynolds' address will be on "The Desire for Closer Relation Between Urban and Rural District."

Other matters of civic and national importance will also be considered.

FARMERS INCENSED AT EXPLOITATION.

Grain Growers' Secretary Emphasizes Need of a Wheat Control Board:

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 15 — The Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Convention undertook this morning the discussion of grain marketing.

J. B. Musselman, secretary of the association, read a statement advocating the establishment of a control board which, he believed, could secure for the farmer a larger share of what Europe paid for wheat. He believed, however, that prices for wheat in Europe would not go much higher—they were now about at normal.

The abominable exploitation of the western wheat farmer must cease, declared Mr. Musselman. So long as farmers' products alone were back to pre-war valuations, so long would present conditions continue. Freight rates must come down to pre-war figures. Wholesalers, manufacturers and retailers all were in league to keep up prices. Mr. Musselman thought a permanent solution of the wheat marketing problem rested in something which the farmers could do for themselves, but it was not possible at this time to form a voluntary pool and he thought a measure of relief could be found in the proposed government board.

Mr. Musselman read a legal opinion from C. E. Gregory, counsel for the association, that he was inclined to think that effective legislation providing for the compulsory sale of wheat through a government board could be arranged only by joint action of the provincial legislatures and the federal parliament.

The Council of Agriculture was to meet in Regina in a couple of weeks, and he expected that a committee will be appointed to interview the federal government in regard to a board. He hoped that a representative of each of the governments of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan would join this committee and he hoped that when they got to Ottawa "the man who won his election largely on the statement that he would support this board, would head this board."

He believed Hon. Mr. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, would take that course.

A resolution was then introduced urging the reinstatement of the wheat board 'to handle the Canadian wheat crop of 1922 and until such time as world conditions again became normal.

There was a recommendation that James Stewart be invited to again head the board.

DEMANDS HOME RULE FOR SCOTLAND, NOW

The Scottish Home Rule Association has sent a manifesto to the Government, offering congratulations on the Irish settlement, and calling on the Government to give immediate attention to the question of Home Rule for Scotland. A measure of self-government "suited to the needs and circumstances of Scotland, and satisfactory to the Scottish people," is demanded for that country. One of the main reasons why the "Land North of Tweed" should have self-government is the saving annually to the Scottish members of Parliament travelling to and from London.

LABOR TO CONTEST THE SPEAKER'S SEAT

But British Party Finds Itself Embarrassed By Precedent.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The labor party is in a position of some embarrassment over their anxiety to contest Speaker J. Whitley's seat in Halifax.

The speaker, whatever constituency he represents or whatever party he is nominally associated with hitherto has held his seat by courtesy immune from opposition. The Halifax laborites, believing that if general political factors alone are considered the seat might go labor, have asked the National Labor Party what they ought to do. They have been told to first find a candidate and then the position will be further considered.

The local caucus is not resolved to contest the seat although they freely admit that it is doubtful if a suitable candidate will be forthcoming.

A bill has already been before parliament for making the Speaker merely an ex-office member of the house thereby avoiding virtual disfranchisement of the constituency which he now represents.

Delegates From Peterboro and Northumberland Met in Kingston Yesterday.

KINGSTON, Feb. 16. — "That we as delegates assembled in meeting representing partially the municipalities east of Toronto go on record of the advisability of readjusting the heavy payment on the provincial highway in the province of Ontario, that of the proportion of the percentage charged to the different municipalities."

This was the substance of a resolution unanimously adopted by delegates from the counties of Northumberland and Durham, Glengarry Stormont and Dundas and Frontenac, who met in convention at the court-house here yesterday afternoon for the purpose of seeking relief from the burden of their proportion of the provincial highway cost.

A delegation to which all the municipalities will be asked to send representatives was arranged to meet in Toronto sometime in March with the object of bringing the matter before the government.

CHURCHILL IS HOPEFUL

able movement of armed constables north of the border, causing similar fears in the South. He had, therefore, proposed the formation of impartial commissions, each having several British as well as officers of the forces of the opposing sides.

With reference to the disorders in Belfast, Mr. Churchill said he had received messages concerning the trouble both from the provisional government and from Premier Craig. The message of the provisional government communicated a complaint from persons in Belfast, citing a number of murders, including a bomb thrown among some children, of whom seventeen were in a hospital in a mutilated condition.

Sir James' message also cited numerous outrages, adding that he feared the intense bitterness would be difficult to allay until the kidnapped Unionists had been returned to their homes unharmed.

End Inhuman Conditions.

Mr. Churchill said he thought it was the general opinion on both sides that the time had come when everyone having influence on either side ought to set to work to remove every obstacle of temporary vexation and quarrel in order to end the "truly inhuman and unchristian state of affairs."

If the provisional government's efforts to obtain the release of the kidnapped Ulsterites proved successful he trusted "a similar spirit might be looked for in the North in releasing certain persons whose continued detention, although there was no serious crime against them, was undoubtedly one of the causes of the trouble."

Ulster's Forbearance.

Thomas Moles, of Belfast, asked if it was not a fact that the prisoners in question were caught proceeding to a football match with twenty bombs, revolvers and ammunition. Mr. Churchill replied that no such evidence had been forthcoming and that if it were true he did not think the Northern Government would have announced its willingness that the football players should be released on bail. He added that he wish to pay tribute to the strenuous and intense efforts of the Northern authorities to prevent reprisals for the kidnappings.

In answer to another question, he said the Government would proceed to-morrow with the Free State Bill.

Evacuation Resumed.

BELFAST, Feb. 15. — Arrangements for the evacuation of the British troops from southern Ireland were resumed to-day after a suspension lasting two days. At Dublin preparations were made for the embarkation of 400 men.

Total Dead 30.

Up to five o'clock this afternoon the total number of casualties since Saturday night had reached an even hundred, of whom thirty were killed.

CHICAGO GRAINS STILL CLIMBING.

Reports of World - Wide Scarcity of Wheat Pushed Up Prices.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. — Canadian Press. — New climbing of grain prices took place here on Wednesday notwithstanding the transient setbacks due to a decline in prices at Liverpool. Estmates which tended to confirm the reports of a world-wide scarcity of wheat had much to do with the fresh ascent of values here. The Chicago wheat market close was unsettled, 1 3-8 to 2 5-8c net higher, with May at $1.41 to $1.41 1-8, and July at $1.23 1-4 to $1.23 1-2. Corn gained 1 3-4c to 3 1-4c and 2 3-8c; oats 1 to 1 1-2 and 1 5-8c and provisions 7c to 30c.

At first the dominating influence in the wheat pit was news of a drop in the British prices. General selling resulted and opinions were ventured in some quarters that the recent advance on both sides of the Atlantic had been overdone. After the Liverpool market had closed, however, numerous unfavorable advices which were current here began to attract more attention and enlarged demand for flour acted as a further stimulus to the buyers of wheat. At the upward swing which ensued in the price of wheat was accompanied by a decided broadening out of the volume of trading, with many dealers attaching special significance to an authoritative statement that purported to show little if any margin between wheat requirements of importing countries and the expected world shipments this season.

Active speculative demand gave independent strength at times to corn and oats. Both cereals scored new high price records for the season. Buyers took the position that ten cents a bushel advance for corn of late was inadequate after the corn market had been going down for two years.

The provision market was governed chiefly by fluctuations in the value of grain.

him with the murder of Raoul Delorme and was signed by Coroner McMahon.

When Father Delorme opened the collar of his overcoat, it was noticed that he still wore the Roman collar. He wore a suit of dark material.

Smiling, the priest spoke to the Court officials. He walked around the room for a short period, and then said he wished to make a statement.

"In a few days I will find something to clear me of this charge. I demand that the enquete be held immediately. If it cannot be held at once, I want it as soon as possible. Could it be held on Friday or Saturday?"

It was explained to Father Delorme that this would not be possible.

"I have four lawyers," announced Father Delorme, "and before the date for the hearing is set I would like to consult with them."

An attempt was made by the Court officials to get in touch with one of the lawyers, but none of them could be reached, as they were waiting for him in the usual Court room. Father Delorme was informed of this fact.

Judge Cusson then set the date for the enquete to be held on 21st February. He informed Father Delorme that if this date was not suitable to his lawyers it could be changed.

The commitment order sending the priest to Bordeaux Jail was already prepared. Judge Cusson signed it, and the priest, accompanied by Chief Lepage and Chief Lorrain, was taken to the jail in the automobile of the Chief of Detectives of Montreal.

Pretty when she wakes up

Cleopatra's way

With a world of ancient beauty arts at her command, she depended on cleansing with Palm and Olive oils to protect, improve and preserve the freshness and smoothness of her skin.

This beautifying was not confined to face alone. The bath was a daily ceremonial with all ancient peoples, palm and olive oils the cleansers used.

Bathe with Palmolive and keep your skin smooth and white. It is a luxury all can afford.

This is the real test. The girl who wakes fresh and radiant, with a clear, smooth skin which has no defects to conceal, need not worry about her looks. She possesses the greatest of all attractions — the one which outshines all others.

This need not discourage the girl whose complexion is not so good. Proper care will soon transform a bad skin into one admired for its perfection.

Get rid of the clogging accumulations which cause coarseness and disfiguring defects and you will soon be complimented on your fresh blooming complexion.

The secret is simple and about 3,000 years old. It was discovered in ancient Egypt and practiced by Cleopatra.

Simple—Beautifying

The remedy for a coarse skin, for one disfigured with blackheads or ugly blotches, is daily cleansing with a lather blended from palm and olive oils.

Such a cleanser is so mild and soothing that it softens the skin and keeps it smooth. But it removes the accumulation of dirt, oil and perspiration which are responsible for most bad complexions.

You can't neglect your skin and expect to keep it blooming and alluring. The powder and rouge you use to conceal defects deceive no one.

The soothing cleanser

Palmolive is the modern combination of the same beautifying cosmetic oils Cleopatra used in the days of ancient Egypt. It is just as valuable today as a safe soothing cleanser.

Massage its smooth, creamy lather softly into the network of tiny pores which compose the surface of your skin. It will remove the clogging deposits which enlarge these pores, cause blackheads and invite blotches.

Dry skins are benefited by cold cream after cleansing. If unusual dryness is your trouble, apply a little cream before as well as after washing.

Popularity—Low price

Judge Palmolive by other soaps and you will expect to pay at least 25 cents a cake. But the popularity which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night naturally reduces cost. Quantity production is always economical.

Thus this finest facial soap is offered at a very modest price—a price all can afford. You can economically use Palmolive for every toilet purpose, for it costs no more than ordinary soap.

FOR MIXED WEATHER

(BY MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—If there is a season during which the woman of fashion must tread lightly along the ways of the smart it is at that period when she selects the wardrobe for her stay at a nearby winter resort.

Her desire, of course, is to be the essence of summer smartness—but even at the resorts there are cold days, and for those one must be prepared.

Thus one suit which affords some warmth with its smartness goes along with the vacation wardrobe. This Claire model is the type that is being shown for such a purpose. Very chic in the straightness of its line, slimly lovely it quite fills the need of the between-weather day.

The medium for the suit is sand colored tricotine. And notice, the long straight jacket is equipped with three graduated pockets.

A FELINE STORY

Nigger is a coal-black cat with stubby ears and a chopped off tail. He has about three inches of this appendage left, and this, with his absolute inkiness, his small yellow eyes, and fat paunch, makes him look like a fat tiny black bear. When he wants anything to eat, he rolls over and over, and in consequence of the cuteness of this manoeuvre and its accompanying refreshments, has come to assume barrel-like proportions.

He lives in the same house with Ouija, a dignified feline, striped grey and white, with large green eyes, stately and remote, and they have no conversation whatever, contenting themselves with arching up and spitting at each other at safe distances.

Then there is the little six-months-old kitten who lives in another house, a grey pussy with spotless white vest, who loves a little old withered mock cherry tree, and has great times rolling the little cherries and itself down the front stairs. This kitten is always ornamented with a big red bow. He hated it at first, and used to fight it, but since the day he came in with it in a most bedraggled and soiled condition, and got cuffed lightly for his misadventure, he has resigned himself to his fate, and now bears himself with a proud air. The ribbon has a bell attached to it, a sportsmanlike habit which should be cultivated by all pussies, to give warning of their approach to thoughtless birds and mice.

Anyone who has had much to do with cats will remember the "touchiness" of their tails. On reading an article recently describing the "cat organs" of the seventeenth century, where cats were placed in a box and their tails pulled to produce various sounds, we just wondered if this was the reason they take such care of them now, and hate to have them pulled or stepped on.

Must Provide Wife With Entertainment

A gentleman living in Chicago has just been sentenced by a judge to take his wife every Saturday night to the "movies" and to escort her to church on Sundays. It is not expressly stated that he is obliged to sit through the theatrical performance, nor to attend worship. Possibly he may find a loophole and let it go at taking her to both places, but if he doesn't do this, he may be fined the sum of $250.

The complaint of the lady was evidently based on his neglect of her in these regards, but she may have had more ground than the Canadian woman some years ago, who asked for a separation on the ground that her husband would not accompany her to the "movies," preferring to remain at home and smoke. Sympathy was felt for both contestants, but the couple—he 53 and she 23—finally divided and went their several ways. He might smoke in peace and loneliness, and she might attend all the "movies" she wanted to, under the same conditions.

CHINTZ.

These Social Affairs Helpful and Pleasant

The Home and School Associations, which do so much good work in bringing together the different elements represented in the home, the school and the child, have been active of late on different occasions, in providing social evenings for their members and friends, at which helpful addresses are given on interesting subjects, and enjoyable musical programmes provided.

The Queen Mary Home and School Association is holding a valentine tea on Saturday afternoon of this week in the main hall of their school. There will be a musical programme and sale of home-made cooking, the proceeds of the afternoon to be devoted to relief work. The ladies have many calls for this sort of work in connection with their school activities.

Another entertainment which has the same purpose for its aim and object will be the entertainment on Friday next put on in their school by the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association.

These entertainments are pleasant, sociable affairs, and have as much value from a social point of view in bringing together the mothers, the teachers and the pupils as they have from a financial standpoint.

BROOMS.

It costs no more to have two brooms and divide the use between them than it does to have one and use it constantly, thus it saves the housekeeper many steps if there is a broom and dust pan on each floor of her house.

Women's Canadian Club Arrange An Interesting Series of Lectures

Problems Directly Affecting Women Will Be Discoursed—First Lecture on Friday, Feb. 24th

The Women's Canadian Club of Peterborough, have arranged an interesting series of lectures for the coming season. On Feb. 24th, Professor Morrison of Queen's University, Kingston, will deliver an evening lecture before the club, and on March 13th, Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, will speak.

Those who heard Miss Charlotte Whitten of Toronto, last week, in her address to the club on "Some Aspects of Citizenship," will remember her interesting discourse on problems directly affecting Canadian women. In economic problems such as the building up of an export trade, railway questions, the bringing of immigrants to the country, the steadying and coalescing of our Canadian life into a sane citizenship, in all of these women can be of inestimable value, "although our contribution, perhaps, will be more one of quantity than quality."

But the child was regarded as the woman's greatest problem to-day as always, 'for the child is the centre of all problems in community and social life."

Miss Whitten emphasized particularly the proper conditions surrounding the mother as being of first importance. Referring to the bill introduced into the Ontario Legislature last year, which was later withdrawn, "and wisely so,' the speaker said that this bill contained a clause making it a penalty to employ a woman for some time prior to child birth, but made no provision for her maintenance.

A terrible indictment on Canada during the year of 1917 was the fact that in seven provinces, excluding Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, more children died in that one year under twelve months of age, than the number of casualties among Canadians in France, proving that the average soldier on a French battlefield had more chance of life during that year than a baby under one year of age in its Canadian home.

This year's unemployment said the speaker, will reflect on infant mortality during this year's summer months, when families are unable, through lack of funds, to purchase the necessary ice and refrigerators to keep the baby's milk in proper condition. Miss Whitten instanced the case of a child encountered during social service work eating a sausage and a dill pickle from either hand, because, as its mother explained, it liked these things better than the doctor's prescribed diet.

The cementing of family ties was dwelt upon, with the outward signs of modern disintegration of family ties in the prevalence of the evils of easy divorce, a wife desertion and of children born outside the bonds of wedlock

The attitude of the girl who marries because she considers a man "something to be capitalized," and the ineffective training for homemaking of the girl of to-day were referred to, and the cementing of family life in the things which centre about the child and the home were regarded a woman's prime contribution to the state. 'Many of our laws are wrong because men have for years been trying to solve the woman question, from a man's point of view, working away, poor deluded things, most stubbornly or through pure cussedness, but because men, desiring the best, have done the worst."

STRIKE INVOLVES THE LEGISLATURE

Premier Urges Workmen to Settle Their Disputes Without Interference of Foreign Bodies.

QUEBEC, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— Denunciation of International Typographical Union was delivered in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Taschereau in connection with the strike which took effect yesterday of all International Union men employed in printing plants. The Premier said they were facing a situation where the International Union is in a position to hold up Parliamentary work possibly for a month. 'But if necessary," he said, "we shall begin all over again and we will dispense with International Unions." He urged workmen to settle their own differences with employers without interference of foreign bodies.

NO COUNTER PROTEST

KINGSTON, Ont. Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Brig. Gen. A. E. Ross, M.P. elect, whose election has been protested by the Liberals, and his counsel T. J. Rigney, K.C. both emphatically announced today that there would be a counter protest.

IVORY AND SHELL.

Ivory and white bone bangle bracelets are being worn much with ivory or bone necklaces. Jade and tortoise shell are also in again. The later is being used for vanity cases and purses.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicine I have taken during the last fifteen years. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles with excellent results."

Right Food For Growing Child A Need of the Present Century

Address by Miss Margaret Davidson Conveyed Timely Food for Thought on This Question

"Food for the Growing Child" was the subject of an address delieverd by Miss Margaret Davidson to the members of he Brown Home and Schol Association of Toronto, on Monday of this week.

That milk and green vegetables are the most necessary articles of diet was the lesson emphasized by the speaker, who based some of her remarks upon the report of the school nurse who had previously stated that, out of 1,00 children recently examined in Brown school, only 58 were ten per cent under weight. The light weight of these boys and girls was attributed, not malnutrition, but to lack of rest, and it was srongly urged that children should be sent early to bed. All children under seven years of age, it was declared, required twelve hours sleep in every twenty-four, and those of seven years and over need ten and eleven hours. The reason why children so often do not eat a good breakfast is because they waken too late to permit such being served before the departure for school.

For many years England had fed the children of the board schools, Miss Davidson said, and since 1918 even infants had been fed, so far-reaching were the evil results of undernourishment deemed to be, and so imperative the need of conserving child life. Among the evils contributing to physical weakness among Canadian children were lack of food, the wrong kind of food, lack of sleep and bad housing.

I.O.D.E. Bridge Tea For Worthy Causes

The Otonabee Chapter of the I. O. D. E. are holding a bridge tea from three to six o'clock on Friday afternoon of this week at the residence of Mrs. R. R. Hall, 459 Reid street. Members and their friends not desirous of playing bridge are asked to come in at the tea hour, and make the afternoon as successful as possible from the point of attendance.

The funds derived from this tea will be used for the various works in which the chapter is interested, both local and foreign—the Well Babies' Clinic, secondary education for two returned veterans' children, the I. O. D. E. half-million dollar educational memorial, and towards the support of a French orphan in whom the chapter is interested.

AN ALL-SEASON HAT

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The beginning of a new season of the year scarcely means, as it did some time ago, a complete change of wardrobe. We no longer were our clothes, turn and turn about—indeed, the really economical woman is the one who selects things which, under pressure, can seem quite as right in summer as in spring, and quite as right in fall as in summer.

Such a hat is this Maria Guy model of taffeta and feathers. The taffeta hat is at home in almost any season—one sees it in even the coldest weather and on warm days. It is an economical purchase.

Ostrich feathers contribute to the smartness of the hat. The rolling brim is edged with an ostrich band and the crown is covered with glycerined ostrich which trails gracefully off at the side.

Doris Keane Swings "The Czarina" to Success

DORIS KEANE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Her second role in nine years—without missing a season!

That's the record of Doris Keane, who has just returned to Broadway in "The Czarina," one of the most delightful comedies of the year. It was risky—taking a historic, romantic play and making it appealing to the ultra-modern audiences of today. Particularly, since Shaw saterized the leading figure in his 'Great Catherine," which appeared in New York several years ago.

Acts Natural.

But Miss Keane emulated her success in "Romance." She played the part not as queen, but as woman. She was amorous, she was languid; she was commanding, she was meek—just as the woman in her directed.

Her old favorite had bored her. She dismissed him. But, powerful though she was, she needed the support of a man. A young soldier arrives. He is handsome and dashing—a man's man. That's enough. The queen has a new lover.

But he begins to take himself too seriously. The Czarina toys with him a while and then discards him. An ambassador is waiting. He strikes her fancy—and the play ends where it had begun with the queen taking unto herself a new favorite.

Long Run Ahead.

There is a deftness of touch, a delicacy of travesty, which makes Miss Keane's performance sparkling. In the hands of another actress it would have become a burlesque.

If you come to New York see "The Czarina." It will probably be several years before it leaves the city.

SHACKLETON BURIED WITH ALL HONORS

LAST RESTING PLACE.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The highest honors Uruguay could pay, except those for a dead president, were rendered to the memory of the explorer by the Government and people as they surrendered temporary custody of the body, which was brought here from South Georgia, January 29, with the intention of conveying it to England.

The British Government, likewise, through its legation here, paid tribute to Sir Ernest's memory, and on his coffin was placed a wreath from King George. Another wreath came from the United States' Legation. A wreath with the inscription: "To the Boss from the Boys,' was ordered by the explorer's companions, who are now in the Antarctic. Still another came from Lady Shackleton, bearing the word: "The Boss," the name by which he was most intimately known.

There was also a bronze wreath from the Uruguayan Government, which will remain permanently on Sir Ernest's grave and there were many similar offerings from scientific institutions in England and other organizations.

Beneath Summer Sun.

The sceen in the church, which is situated on a rock jutting seaward, was impressive and picturesque. The southern summer sun was streaming through the stained glass windows, weaving patterns on the congregation and on the tear-stained and weather-worn Union Jack which covered the coffin.

The body, lying in the rough-hewn coffin made in South Georgia, was transported through the principal streets to the pier on a gun carriage preceded by a platoon of Uruquayan sailors and escorted by a company of cavalry. It was followed by a long procession, headed by British Charge D'Affaires Hope Vere, and Uruguayan Foreign Minister Buere. British war veterans, resident in Montevideo, were conspicuous in the procession, which also included a number of British women.

Several crack regiments of Uruguayan soldiers lined the sidewalks, and stationed at intervals were military bands, which played the funeral marches. Thousands of people joined the procession, which accumulated to proportions seldom seen in Montevideo. Hundreds of women, seated in balconies, threw flowers on the gun carriage as it passed.

Last Trip to Sea.

Additional thousands massed at the pier when the cortege arrived. The arrival was marked by a salute from the fortress on Mount Cerro overlooking the harbor. Foreign Minister Buero here delivered an address eulogizing the explorer, and the British Charge replied.

Shackleton's body will be buried in the graveyard of the English church at Grytviken, South Georgia, a little whaling port which looks out on the Antarctic Sea from a bay surrounded by towering hills which are almost always snow-covered.

"Like all great explorers," said Charge Vere in his address, "Shackleton desired if he fell in the struggle for new and important discoveries in the interests of humanity, like explorers of old and soldiers on the field of battle, to rest where he fell."

South George Island, the "Gateway of the Antarctic," was Captain Scott's starting point in the Antarctic when he made his dash south in 1901, and discovered the South Magnetic Pole—a voyage in which Sir Ernest Shackleton accompanied him—and it was off this island that Sir Ernest died on board his little exploring steamer, Quest, last month. Lonely, dreary and deserted, except for a handful of people in the settlement of Grytviken on the shore, the island is rarely visited, except by an occasional whaling ship. It is at Grytviken that Shackleton is to be buried. This is land was his point of refuge when, after the voyage of the Endurance he and his companions succeeded in reaching there from Eleephant Island after terrible sufferings.

Although the island is one hundred miles long, its maximum width is only twenty miles, dwindling at points to a bare half mile. Its interior is mountainous, ice and snow-covered throughout the year. It is the birthplace of numerous icebergs, which break off frequently from the ice cliffs overhanging its fjords.

SPOOKS CAUSE QUEER FIRES

Nova Scotia Detective Believes Strange Happenings Not Human Work.

ADMITS BAFFLEMENT.

ANTIGONISH, N.S., February 15—The spooks that set mysterious fires in the house of Alexander MacDonald at Caledonian Mills, and unfastened horses and cattle and drove them over the landscape, are still at large.

Confessing themselves completely baffled by the mysterious happenings Provincial Detective P. C. Carroll and Reporter Whidden have each offered a reward of $100 to the first person who can prove that the mysterious fires and other uncanny happenings at the Macdonald homestead were caused by other than supernatural agencies. The detective has made the following report:

"After what I consider a thorough investigation, which included a careful examination of Alexander MacDonald, his wife and his adopted daughter, Mary Ellen MacDonald, the MacGillivray brothers, Dan and Leo, Duncan MacDonald and Mike MacGillivray;

"After examining the house and barn carefully and seeing with my own eyes the scars—some of them charred, others scorched and others more like smooches caused by fire;

"And after spending two days and three nights in the house, I firmly believe that neither the fires nor the other strange happenings were the work of human hands.

(Signed) "P. C. Carroll,
"Antigonish."

Detective Carroll has in the last 25 years solved a number of puzzling murder mysteries in the Maritime Provinces. He won a reward of one thousand dollars for running down the culprit in the infamous "Buck and Jim" murder case of Moncton, N.B., some years ago.

The parties examined by Carroll stoutly maintain that they had seen scores of fires break out in unlikely places about the house without apparent cause, there being 28 such fires in one day.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill St., Brantford, Ont. writes:—"I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop sometime if I could cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound and would break out in perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight"

BIG INTERESTS FIGHT FARMERS.

Agricultural Bloc Arouses Antagonism.

WASHINGTON, February 14 (Canadian Press). — Scarcely any phase of the legislative and political situation in the United States at present is causing more comment and discussion than the agricultural bloc and its activities. The bloc is made up of a vigorous group of Senators and Representatives from the agricultural states, operating without regard to party lines. It has become a force in both Houses of Congress, and has succeeded in driving through a number of important Bills and is preparing a drive through more.

The activity of the agricultural bloc, it is claimed, has aroused much antagonism from certain powerful interests which fear too much organised effort among the farmers. It has also aroused the antagonism of the political leaders who are fearful that party lines will be crushed if this sort of manifestation continues. The Republican organisation leaders, inasmuch as they are in power, have been the ones to show this antagonism, although it is a fact, too, that Democratic leaders who are wedded to hard and fast party lines are also perturbed by it. President Harding himself in two speeches has indicated his opposition to the bloc and Secretary of War Weeks has openly attacked it. The recent national conference on agriculture, it is freely alleged, was called with the object of crippling the bloc, but it did not have that effect for the reason the conference went on record as giving strong endorsement to the farmer group.

Can't Break Bloc.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, chairman of the bloc in the Senate, has been appointed a Federal judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals, an important judicial post. He will quit the Senate, and this will be a blow to the bloc. At the same time, it will by no means stop its activities for the reason the bloc is backed by powerful sentiment in the farming areas of the country.

Senator Capper of Kansas is the logical successor of Senator Kenyon as chairman of the Senate bloc. The charge is made that the tender of judgship was hung temptingly before the eyes of Senator Kenyon in order to get rid of him and help break down the bloc. This is denied by Senator Kenyon, and there is no doubt that he really got the office because he had ambition for it and sought it. But there are other versions current in political quarters.

The bloc right now is urging cooperative marketing legislation and a new rural credits system with credits based on crops and live stock. Both these propositions will be enacted into law. It is generally conceded that the bloc cannot be crushed so long as the present distressing conditions in the agricultural states continue and the farmers continue in their present dissatisfied state of mind. One of the effects of the bloc's activity is the certain continuation of high tariffs on agricultural products, aimed in large part, though not wholly at Canadian grain and live stock. It is often said the bloc will be the centre of a new third party in the United States, but this is not probable, although there is a certain remote possibility of it.

At the meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church held last week, the pastor, Rev. H. B. Kenny, was tendered a unanimous invitation to remain as pastor for another year. Rev. Mr. Kenny, who possesses rare ability as an able speaker, has made a host of friends since coming to town, who are pleased to learn he has decided to remain.

Dr. and Mrs. Watson entertained a few friends at a dinner party at their home on Tuesday night.

Mr. John Craighead and son, Mr. Charles Craighead, of Stirling, visited at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. J. W. Arnold, this week.

St. Mary's "At Home."

An "At Home" under the auspices of St. Mary's Parish will be held in the Opera House on Monday evening, 27th February. There will be cards and an orchestra will provide excellent music. This will no doubt be, as have been all the other social events given by the people of St. Mary's Church, a most pleasant occasion.

Hockey Match.

A hockey match that is being looked forward to with much interest will be played at Covert's Arena tonight, 16th February, when the Hydro team, who have already established a good reputation as hockey players, will play the C Company (Northumberland Regiment) team, many of whom were in the well-known Beaver team of last year.

This will no doubt be a good, fast game, and will attract a large crowd.

Passed Away.

There passed away in Campbellford yesterday, at her home on Inkerman Street, Mrs. Thomas Pope, after an illness of some duration.

The late Mrs. Pope suffered two strokes, from which she never rallied. The deceased was a woman of refined Christian character, and had a host of friends, who regret her demise.

She is survived by her sorrowing husband, a daughter, Mrs. Fred Lang, and five sisters, Mrs. Vanblaricum, of Guelph; Mrs. John Wenman and Miss Carrie Moffatt, of Lindsay; and Misses May and Ida Moffatt, of town; also one brother, Mr. Charles Moffatt of Coe Hill. The deceased was a faithful member of Christ Church. Funeral announcement later.

Band "At Home."

One of the most largely attended and pleasant events of the season was the "At Home" given by the Northumberland Regiment Band in the Opera House on Tuesday evening. An excellent programme was provided, including several well-rendered numbers by the Band. Mrs. (Rev.) J. E. Glover, in her usual charming manner, contributed a vocal solo, which was heartily encored, and to which she responded sweetly. Miss Marion Burleigh also rendered a solo most delightfully, and being heartily applauded sang a sweet little encore.

A novel and interesting part of the programme was the presence of a "Ladies' Band." Indeed, so cleverly were some of the male members disguised that even their wives would have had difficulty in recognising them, their costumes being quite original.

An excellent lunch was then served, after which the floors were cleared for dancing, and old and young indulged in the light fantastic till the "wee sma' 'oors."

Altogether the evening was one round of pleasure for old and young, and the conductor, Mr. R. T. Cowell, and the members of the band will surely feel gratified at the success of the evening.

The proceeds will be devoted to repairing the band instruments.

Died in Toronto.

There passed away in Toronto on Monday, 13th February, Cecilia Rose McAvilla, beloved wife of William Hilton, in her 43rd year. The remains were brought to Campbellford to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thos. Dewey, from whence the funeral took place this morning to St. Mary's Cemetery.

GOOD RED BLOOD A REAL NERVE TONIC

Weak, Watery Blood the Source of All Nervousness.

"If people would attend to their blood, instead orf worrying themselves ill, said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wreck. More people suffer from worry than anything else."

The sort of thing the specialist spoke of is the nervous, rundown condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of today. Sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, do not sleep well at night. Headaches and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to relieve nervousness and run-down health Dr. Williams Pink Pills should be taken. These pills enrich the blood, which tones the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sirts" you should begin taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Armstrong, who died an Saturday, February 11th, took place from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. S. J. Hunter, Lot 19, Con. 6, on Monday at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. Armstrong was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perrin, and was born in South Monaghan, near Bailieboro, 75 years ago. She was one of a family of 8 children, 5 girls and 3 boys, only one of whom, the youngest, now survives. Her marriage to Mr. David H. Armstrong took place on February 22nd, 1869, and they had the unusually long period of 53 years of married life together, celebrating their golden wedding in February 1919. Sixteen years ago they came to Millbrook to reside all their previous married life having been spent on the home farm, which was on the 4th line, Cavan.

Before her marriage Mrs. Armstrong belonged to the Methodist church, but since that time had always been, as long as her health permitted, a faithful attendant at, and worker in, the church which her husband adhered to, namely, the Presbyterian.

Social Gathering.

The senior adult Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School, of which Miss M. E. Hetherington is the popular teacher, held an enjoyable social gathering at the home of Mrs. W. D. Nugent on the evening of St. Valentine's Day. Various games and contests made the evening pass pleasantly, while a "stunt" programme, during which no one knew who would be called upon next or what the would be asked to do, created a lot of fun.

Much regret was felt that the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker, was unable to be present having been confined to the house since Sunday with a severe cold. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailis, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. J. George, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. M. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. T. Luxon, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mr. W. G., and Misses M. E. and Stella Hethering ton, Mrs. S. T. Tucker, Mrs. J. Dawson, Mrs. W. and Ethel Forsyth, Misses Gertrude and Phyllis Richards, and Miss Burnham.

The many friends of Mrs. (Rev.) William Higgs, will regret to learn that she is very seriously ill in the Nicholl's Hospital, Peterboro. Miss Mary Higgs has not yet recovered fully from the effects of her illness with typhoid fever. She is with her aunt, Mrs. W. Latta, at Frankfort.

SYDNEY RIOTERS IN SUPREME COURT.

Twenty-Four Men and Boys Held on Charges of Complicity.

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Twenty-four men and boys this afternoon were committed by Judge A. G. McLean to stand trial before the Supreme Court next Tuesday on charges of complicity in recent rioting at New Aberdeen, where a Dominion Coal Company store was raided and goods valued at $80,000 carried off.

All the accused were remanded to the county jail except five boys ranging in age from nine to fifteen years, who were allowed to go on their own recognizance of $100 each. Bail for the others will be arranged Thursday. Twelve more witnesses were heard at the concluding session of the preliminary hearing this afternoon but they added nothing material to reports already published concerning the riots.

Three are Russians and were arrested at New Aberdeen to-day by constables, who also recovered a considerable quantity of stolen goods from hiding places.

Made a Bride By A "Haunted Gem"

How the Mysterious "Eye of Love" Which Has Picked for Generations the Wives of the Noble De Crussols Brought About a Real Fairy Tale Romance for a Charming American Girl

THE young Duke de Crussol is known as the "Prince of Rubies," because the famous collection of jewels which he inherited from his father along with his title and a splendid old chateau and many other honors and riches includes some of the finest and most valuable rubies in the world.

When Miss Evelyn Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon, of New York and London, became the bride of the duke the other day she wore a magnificent solid gold crown thickly studded with pigeon blood rubies of unusual size and brilliance. This crown was the duke's gift to his pretty American wife, and he had personally selected from his rich collection of jewels the great red stones that made it glow like an autumn sunset.

But the most precious, the most jealously guarded of all the rubies the duke owns was not put into this magnificent crown. That stone is known as the "Eye of Love," and for nobody knows how many centuries it has been valued by the Dukes de Crussol above any of their other possessions on account of its magic power to guide them in the choice of a love mate.

Now that the duke is happily married the "Eye of Love" has served its purpose for the present generation. Following a custom that has been handed down in the family for countless centuries the stone is now locked up in the vaults of the chateau. There it will remain until the time comes for the present duke to pass it on to his eldest son and let him be guided by it in the choice of a bride just as his father was.

The fact that Evelyn Gordon would probably never have been the Duchesse de Crussol if the sparkle of her eyes had not been capable of striking an answering gleam in the depths of the "Eye of Love" makes this romance quite as remarkable, quite as fascinating as any you will find in the fairy tales. Here is a curious old medieval superstition bobbing up in this modern matter-of-fact world and making us wonder whether the belief of our ancestors in magic spells, the power of talismans and other witchery is really as much nonsense as we have long thought.

To look at the "Eye of Love" under ordinary conditions, one would never think it a jewel of any great value. It is of only ordinary size and it entirely lacks the brilliant fire which makes the other stones in the De Crussol collection so wonderful. Experts say it is full of flaws, badly cut and in many other ways a pretty poor sort of ruby.

But when the eyes of a woman fit to be the wife of a Duke de Crussol fall on this uninteresting looking stone it undergoes a marvellous transformation. Its dullness quickly flames into a radiance more brilliant than any other ruby has ever shown. It sparkles, gleams and glitters quite as if there were a living flame blazing within its mysterious depths.

This radiance continues as long as the ruby is under the gaze of the "one woman in a million." As soon as her gaze is withdrawn, the fires in the gem die out and it lapses into its former dull, uninteresting appearance.

Just how or when the "Eye of Love" came into the possession of the De Crussols has never been discovered. What is known is that for many centuries the family has cherished the belief that a Duke de Crussol should take for his wife none but the woman whose gaze was capable of rousing the slumbering fires of the "Eye of Love." Only with such a one, the family tradition has it, could he be sure of happiness. Should he be unable to find her it would be better for him to remain single and let the right of succession pass to one of his brother's or sister's children.

A holder of the title who lived in the ninth century is said to have been the only one who failed to find a woman who could render the "Eye of Love" a thing of radiant beauty. He devoted the better part of his life to roaming about the earth, trying the effect of first one woman's eyes and then another's on the jewel which he carried with him wherever he went. Failing to find a woman whose gaze could set the "Eye of Love" aflame, he never married, and when he died the title went to a nephew.

The present Duke de Crussol has good reason for the implicit faith he is said to have always had in the power of the "Eye of Love" to guide him aright in the choice of a wife. He had often heard from the lips of his father and grandfather how their romances had been directed by the magic ruby, and he himself has seen with his own eyes the stone burst into flame under the gaze of no less than three different women.

There were insuperable obstacles in the way of his marrying either of the first two whose glance kindled the ruby's fires. But the third to do it was Evelyn Gordon, the pretty American heiress, who is now his wife.

After the death of his father, the young Duke de Crussol came to Paris to have a taste of the gay life which young men of wealth and title often crave before settling down to more serious things. The story of the "Eye of Love," which his father had repeated with great detail on his death bed, was fresh in his mind, and wherever he went he carried the ruby in a little velvet bag fastened over his heart.

He was soon the hero of numerous love affairs, and at his impressionable age he felt positive that each new one was surely the great romance of his life. Over and over again, often several times in a single month, he took the ruby reverently, from its hiding place and, with trembling fingers, held it before the eyes of the woman who happened at the moment to be the object of his devotion.

But not one of these Parisian beauties produced the slightest effect on the ruby. It glowed not at all under their gaze, but remained dull and dead, just as the Duke had always seen it.

This did not make him lose any confidence in the gem's magic powers. They had become almost a religion with him, as they had been with his father and grandfather. It did, however, make him a little worried for fear he might be doomed, like his unhappy ancestor of the ninth century, to a lifelong bachelorhood.

As the duke became more a man of the world and gained experience in appraising and resisting feminine charms, his romances grew fewer. There was less and less frequent necessity for seeking the advice of his precious talisman.

The ruby had lain untouched in its velvet bag for many months, when one day, at a fashionable house party, he was introduced to Theodora Shonts, daughter of the late Theodore P. Shonts, the great New York traction magnate. The Duke was instantly attracted by her beauty and charm and anxious to know her better.

"Oh, your grace," said Miss Shonts, as they strolled in the garden at twilight, "I have heard such wonderful stories of that ruby of yours. I would like so much to see what it looks like. Won't you show it to me?"

The duke became one of her ardent the charming American heiress. Leading her to a seat in a rustic summer house, he sat down beside her while he produced the ruby from inside his waistcoat.

Hardly had he laid the stone in her hand before it underwent a surprising change. All its dullness vanished and in its place came the rich warm glow of a living flame. The brightness that poured from the depths of the stone was reflected from the two faces that beat eagerly over it and filled the twilight shadows around them with an unearthly radiance.

The Duke's heart gave a great leap. At last he had found the woman whom Fate had ordained for him to marry! But Miss Shonts forestalled the declaration of love he was about to make by telling what was news to him—that she was already betrothed to his friend, the Duke de Chaulnes.

The Duke de Crussol was not a little disappointed and for some time after this he was missing from fashionable society and the boulevards. When he did finally come to Paris to repeat some of his youthful pleasures, Gaby Deslys, the famous stage beauty, was at the height of her fame.

The Duke became one of her ardent admirers and soon had the distinction of being apparently more in favor with her than any other man. He lavished her with costly presents, including some of his famous rubies, and when she decided to make a trip to America he engaged passage on the same steamer.

On the way across the Atlantic he began to realize that he was hopelessly in love with this bewitching bit of femininity. But before he confessed his love to her he determined to place the "Eye of Love" in her hand and see if her laughing eyes would produce any change in it.

What happened when he laid the ruby in her hand was exactly what had happened when Theodora Shonts looked on it. While the gem blazed and flooded the deck where they sat with a rich red glow, the Duke poured out his heart's secret—pleaded with Gaby to say she would become his wife.

But Gaby would not—not even when she heard him explain how infallibly the ruby marked her out as his love mate.

A few months before, this beauty whom many thought heartless had become overwhelmed with remorse over some of the events of her past life. To atone for the sins whose memory had becomee so painful to her she was determined to remain single and devote herself to piling up a great fortune which should be used to save other girls from mistakes like hers.

In vain the Duke argued that with his wealth to draw on she would be able to do more for charity than she ever could through years of work on the stage. Her conscientious scruples made her insistent that the penance she had set for herself should be accomplished through her own unaided efforts and not through a rich husband's generosity.

The Duke returned to France on the next steamer, alone and brokenhearted. He found no consolation until long after Gaby Deslys' untimely death—when he fell under the lure of Evelyn Gordon.

To his intense relief the pretty American heiress produced on the ruby precisely the same effect that Theodora Shonts and Gaby Deslys had. And when at last he asked her to marry him he found no obstacles in the way of the third romance to which the "Eye of Love" had signified its assent in such extraordinary fashion.

The wedding at the Chateau d'Uzes, the historic country seat of the Duke de Crussol's family, was the most notable in pomp and ceremony which France has seen since it became a republic.

After the marriage ceremony, performed according to quaint medieval customs, the newlyweds were serenaded by hundreds of peasants. After the serenade a barbacue banquet was served, seven oxen and a dozen pigs and lambs being roasted over huge fires built in the open air.

It was all a fitting climax to a romance that has all the elements of a fairy tale. And if the traditions that have so long clustered about the "Eye of Love" are to be believed it marks the beginning of a long and happy married life for the "Prince of Rubies" and the nineteen-year-old American girl who has became his wife.

Quite different from the supposed magic powers of the "Eye of Love" are other gems which are said to have brought unhappiness and disaster to their wearers. The famous "Hope diamond," whose story has often been told, cursed its owners for generations and resulted in the death, according to the superstitious, of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLean, of Washington.

Although Gaby Deslys favorably affected the De Crussol ruby and might have won happiness from it, superstitious Parisians maintain that the pearls which she wore were "haunted" and that they caused the operation on her neck which resulted in her death.

A SPECIALLY SELECTED FOX PROGRAMME.

This is Fox Feature Day at the Royal. Our entire programme for to-day has been specially selected from the best productions of the Fox studios. We present that dainty queen of the movies in a touching story of real life, ambition and a girl's pure love called, "Queenie." Then there is that greatest exponent of Western drama, Buck Jones, in a story of thrills. Buck is too well-known to our readers to require much comment, further than to say that in "Straight from the Shoulder" Buck is in a play that was simply made for him. In this play a big part is filled by Kid McCoy, the noted ex-pugilist. The Fox Sunshine comedy, 'Singer Midget Side Show,' is a cracker jack, and one that would make a man happy even if his mother-in-law arrived for a month's visit with both her parrots. The Royal invites and welcomes comparison between its programme and those given at any theatre in Canada at any price.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Today the Capitol Offers A Remarkable Program, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford"; Charlie Chaplin In His Newest Comedy, "The Idle Class", and the Second Series Of the New "Nick Carter" Detective Stories.

Bringing into bold review quaint small-town character types familiar to residents of interior towns throughout the country, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford", a Cosmopolitan production released by Paramount, and a picturization of George M. Cohan's celebrated stage success, will be the feature at the Capitol Theatre for three days beginning today. The humorous and naive qualities of country folk are disclosed with great skill, yet without occasioning the slightest offense.

The spectator is delighted with the innocence and at the same time the hospitality of these people of Battlesburg. How this kindly innocence leads them to prosperity in spite of the first intentions of J. Rufus Wallingford, a crook, and "Blackie" Daw his confederate, makes a story of great human interest.

Frank Borzage, whose direction of "Humoresque" won him universal praise, has surpassed the achievement in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford". Mr. Borzage combed the theatrical profession to obtain the correct types for the residents of Batlesburg, and his efforts have been amply rewarded. The picture is very amusing from start to finish because of its admirable acting.

From the hotel proprietor to the town mayor, including the judge and reporter of the "Battlesburg Blade" every character is perfect. All the actors play their parts with a natural ease which is possible because of the great care Mr. Borzage used to choose those best suited in every detail for the parts. This picture makes a small town live in the minds of the spectator as no photoplay ever did before. Sam Hardy, Norman Kerry, Doris Kenyon and Diana Allen, all players of reputation, appear in the principal roles.

For "The Idle Class"Charles Chaplin's latest First National attraction, will demonstrate that this talented comedian has about as many followers in this city as there are citizens, as the box office cashier and the ushers can testify.

It is a brand new kind of a Chaplin comedy, for it shows him in two roles—that of the familiar tramp and as the absent-minded husband. Arriving in town on the train which the beauteous young wife uses to reach the summer resort, Charles crawls out of his "box compartment" beneath the Pullman sleeper and dusts of his tattered golf bag, in which are two clubs which have seen better days. He ensconces himself on the rear of the limousine and thus finds his way to the home of the young wife.

Before the genuine Chaplin complications follow, he plays a game of golf on the resort links, using a ball belonging to another player and thereby earning for the latter some rought treatment at the hands of the angry faher.

Later, as the husband, Charlie encases himself in a suit of armor and goes to a masquerade to win back the forgiveness of his wife, whose displeasure has been aroused. There the tramp enters, his attire being accepted by the doorman as a masquerade costume.

With such incidents it is possible to realize the humor Chaplin is able to get out of them.

An extra and new atraction will be seen when the second series of two reel detective stories will be shown today taken from the famous Nick Carter dime novels.

SYNOPSIS. CHEATED HEARTS.

Barry Gordon is the son of a proud old Virginia family, the head of which leaves his son as a heritage the curse of strong drink. Barry's brother Tom is not obsessed with the desire, and when the latter and Muriel Beekman, daughter of their father's executor, seem to love each other, Barry leaves for France, there to fight his fight alone.

After two years he reads that Tom has been captured by bandits and held for ransom while prospecting in Morocco. Barry immediately sets out for Tangiers where, after many thrilling adventures, he finds Tom and takes his place in the cave of the bandits.

In the meantime, Muriel her father and her best chum, Kitty Van Ness, have arrived in Tangiers, where there is a happy reiunon. Barry discovers that the love he bears for Muriel is stronger than his desire for drink, and after his escape from the robbers he and Muriel are married, leaving Tom free to marry Kitty, who loves him devotedly.

There is much picturesque detail in the story, most of the action of which is in Tangiers. The native horsemen, the every-day life of the chief Moroccan capital, and the customs of the people have been depicted with detailed fidelity.

At the CAPITOL—To-night, Friday, and Saturday.

SCENE FROM LITTLE GIRL IN A BIG CITY, THE SENSATIONAL MELODRAMA WHICH OPENS A 3-DAY ENGAGEMENT AT THE GRAND ON MONDAY NEXT.

AT THE GRAND.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

"Irish Eyes" scored another triumph in the long roll of Walter Scanlan's stage successes. A comedy by Edward E. Rose, it abounds in Irish atmosphere, wit and sentiment, interspersed with numerous songs by Walter Scanlan, who takes the principal role.

The play unfolds a pretty story of that always appealing true love that never runs smooth. Walter Scanlan is the Irish fisherman, who becomes infatuated with the daughter of the Earl, living in a nearby castle. The staging and lighting effects are interesting, particularly in the tapestry room at Bray Castle. The stone walls, high windows, suits of armor, rich tapestry and clever lighting combine to give just the right setting for the picturesque costumes worn by the four characters who have met in the room and who are dressed for a masquerade party.

Another scene outside the Irish cabin at daybreak depicts a very thrilling storm. The story has much in common with other Irish stage successes, but lacks the crude and overused theme of the English landlord ruling the peasants with an iron hand. It is distinctly worth going to see, because, though a very interesting and amusing play as far as the book and the superb acting of the players is concerned, it becomes a phenomenal success when one hears Mr. Scanlan sing in that wonderful voice of his those old Irish songs, which always touch the heart.

This big Irish feature will be staged at the Grand on Saturday, February 18th.

"A LITTLE GIRL."

"A Little Girl in a Big City," which is admitted by the foremost critics of the country to be the most successful melodrama written in the last ten years, will be the attraction at the Grand next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with matinee Wednesday.

Lovers of melodrama all over the country are unanimous in their praise of the famous play which, in four big acts, recites the experiences of an innocent young girl from a small country town who comes to the great metropolis in search of a situation.

Originally produced at Keith's Gotham Theatre in New York six years ago, it met with instant success, remaining at that popular place of amusement for many weeks, hundreds of eager patrons being turned away at every performance on account of the tremendous demand for seats. One enthusiastic critic declared it to be —"The play that has everything,—heart interest, comedy, thrills, big situations and a wonderful story remarkably well told." "A Little Girl in a Big City" has been on a tour of the United States and Canada ever since its metropolitan debut in the fall of 1913, playing most of the important cities of the country every season, and always with large financial returns. Its presentation in this city will undoubtedly be welcomed by local theatre-goers, particularly those who are partial to melodramatic entertainment. Several of the original company are still members of the organization, and a new and complete scenic production is promised by the management.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR-ROOM."

Among the actors who will appear at the Grand next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinee Saturday, in "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," will be seen Frank Base, as Joe Morgan, the drunkard, a part in which he cannot be excelled; Charles Reilly, the eccentric comedy actor who has played in some of the largest production in the country, with Lucille Lennon in the respective parts of Sample Switchel and Mehitable, the cook, form a mirth-provoking team hard to resist; Francis Clark in his portrayal of Harvey Green, the city gambler, plays in such a realistic manner that he is hated by the audience from his entrance on the scene to the close of the play; Dorothy Galland, who is playing the part of Little Mary, wins the hearts of all by her delightful impersonation of the drunkard's child, and her singing of the pathetic ballad, "Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now," brings tears to her auditors. Don't fail to attend this attraction, and remember, this is the play itself, not the picture.

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Asprolax, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money Refunded If Asprolax Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., develop from colds that hang on persistently.

Colds are curable and preventable and Asprolax provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

Asprolax is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Asprolax in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money where it fails to give satisfactory results.

BANKERS OUT IN FRONT IN THE SECOND SECTION

Beat C. G. E. Toolroom 5 Goals to 4 after ten minutes overtime-Hamilton's Victory Over Lakeviews.

THE LEAGUE STANDING.

Second Section—

	Won.	Lost.
Bankers	2	0
Hamilton's	1	1
C. G. E.	1	1
Lakeviews	0	2

Games next week: Lakeviews vs. Bankers; Hamiltons vs. C. G. E.

Last night's double header in the City League series provided a programme of fast hockey that gave the crowd's their money's worth, and then some, for the fans saw the Wm. Hamilton team return to the form that won the championship for them last season and hand the Lakeviews a handsome trimming; and they also saw the Bankers' first section cellar champs., hand a dramatic and unexpected jolt to C.G.E. tool room, beating the T. R's 5 to 4 in over time.

As a result of that win, the Bankkers can win the second section by beating the Lakeviews next week. They will go into the game favorites on the strength of their wins over C.G.E. and Hamiltons, while the first section winners have been stopped by both teams in the second series.

The win of the Hamilton team over Lakeview in the first game last night was earned. The champs played by far their best hockey of the season, breaking fast, staying in their positions and passing unselfishly, while Micky Murray gave them a last line of defence that was unbeatable. The Lakeviews opposed individual effort against the team play of the winners and the difference in tactics is indicated in the score although there was scarcely a four goal margin between the two teams. It was fast, clean hockey and the fans enjoyed the bout.

As has been said Murray gave one of his best exhibitions of the year in the nets, and the Lakeviews could not drive one past him in spite of many openings. Brennan, the big defence youngster, who is improving every time out, turned in a great game last night, his rushing being very effective, while on the forward line Collins was always going, and always dangerous, and the rest of the crew were on their toes all the way.

For the Lakeviews, Jack Murray, on the defence, and Jackson, were about the most useful of the squad Murray checked well and rushed nicely while Jackson got a lot of dangerous raids.

Although Lakeviews had the first shot of the game, it was early seen that the Hamilton crew were at the top of their form. Their forwards were breaking away in line and while the Lakeview attacks were mostly one man affairs. The team work of the champs was soon rewarded, for Gamey Graham and Collins broke away together and on a pass close in Collins made no mistake, beating Bergoine for the first goal.

A little later Collins went through alone and when Bergoine fell as he rushed out to block the attack, the Hams' centre tipped the rubber into the net.

Brennan made it 3 to 0 on a swift shot which Bergoine partially stopped, but which dropped down into the nets. There was no further scoring in the period. The Lakeviews had opportunities enough but they refused to play combination and Murray took care of the shots from outside.

Early in the second half, the first section winners had a great chance when Bartley and Foley were penalized almost toegther and for nearly two minutes the Hams were playing four men to six. The Lakeviews failed to rise to the occasion and lost their best chance of the game. Honours were about even for the rest of the period, Hamilton's getting the only counter when Brennan went up and shot high over the nets, the rubber re-bounding in front and giving Freddy Graham a chance to bat it past Bergoine.

Wm. Hamilton: Goal, Murray; defence, Brennan, Foley; centre, Collins; right wing, H. Graham; left wing, Bartley. Subs., F. Graham and LeBarr.

SUMMARY.

First period—

1 Wm. Hamilton, Collins, 6 mins.
2 Wm. Hamilton's, Collins, 4 mins.
3 Wm. Hamilton's, Brennan, 5 min

Second period—

4 Wm. Hamilton's, F. Graham, 11 mins.

Penalties—

Hamilton's, Bartley 2, Foley — Total 3.

Lakeviews: McMartin. Total 1.

SECOND GAME

The defeat of the C. G. E. team in the second game was a sore blow to the Tool Room crew who after their victory over the Lakeviews a week ago looked well away in the second half of the race. For the first ten minutes they sailed along looking like winners ringing up two goals in that time and then the Bankers came back with a pair of easy ones. From then on it was a battle with the ultimate winners improving as the game progressed. They were behind 3-2 at half time but got two goals in a row in the second half and led by 4 to 3 until McElroy evened up the count with four minutes to go and overtime had to be played, the Financiers netting the winning marker early in the extra session.

The combination of veterans and youngsters on the Bankers line-up played fine hockey, their close checking demoralizing the C.G.E. attack while Joe Dwyer helped to break their hearts by his fine performance in the nets. He was the Dwyer of last night making a flock of clever saves some of them at point blank range and clearing coolly and effectively. Pete and Harry Thornton were good both as a defence and on the attack while Gillespie and McPherson starred on the forward line. Gillespie travelled at top speed all night doing a lot of useful back checking while on the attack his quick shooting gave the Bankers their last two goals and came near hanging up three or four more. McPherson is developing into a fine wing man. The youngster plays his position all the time and is a nice stick handler.

For the loser's Grover Halpin tried hard all the way to stave off defeat, rushing repeatedly and passing unselfishly while McElroy was in his best form of the season on the forward line.

It was fast hockey from the go-in with both teams going strong. Both Dwyer and Legros had work to do early but they easily warded off the drives. Finally, however Lefty McElroy grabbed a loose puck and ripped in a fast one to beat Dwyer for the first counter.

Shortly aterwards Ranger made it 2 to 0 on a high shot the puck striking Dwyer on the shoulder and dropping down into the nets.

Two goals behind the Bankers started to come on and their stock went up when from a face off in C.G.E. territory the rubber was passed back to McPherson whose snap shot hit Micky Williams and was deflected into the nets.

Killoran the other St. Peter's School boy on the Bankers team evened the score shortly afterwards on almost a similar play except that he did not play a bank shot with his drive.

Then the C.G.E. took a hand in the scoring taking the lead on a pretty play in which McElroy and Williams broke away together and the latter accepting Lefty's pass raced in close to beat Dwyer.

There was no further scoring in the period although the C.G.E. were twice a man shy, once when Lorne Rose tried to drive Harry Thornton through the side of the rink.

The second period had just got nicely under way when Harry Thornton tore off a rink length hush and worked right in on top of Legros for a pretty goal, tieing the score. It was the best individual play of the night.

A little latter Harry Thornton stepped into Ranger with a body check that caused the C.G.E. left wing to lose all interest in the game. He had to retire for the night.

The Bankers had a great chance a little later when Lorne Rose drew a penalty for jabbing his elbow into Harry Thornton and Williams followed him for dumping Jack Gillespie when the later was away nicely. There was nothing doing in the scoring line while the pair were off. Then Pete Thornton drew a penalty and the Toolroom tried hard to take the lead with one man to the good but failed to beat Dwyer.

Finally Gillespie broke the deadlock by a beautiful shot from a difficult angle while going at full speed That put the Bankers in front 4 to 3 and the lead slender as it was looked good enough to carry them through as the minutes passed by and C. G. E. could not slant one past Dwyer, although everybody was up on the attack.

There were just four minutes left to play when the Toolroom evened the count, McElroy slamming in the tieing marker on a wicked shot from a pass from the corner by Halpin. Nothing happened before the final whistle save that Helson drew as penalty a minute before the bell rang.

The Bankers won the game early in the first five minutes of over time They got away nicely three in line and Gillespie taking a pass when the defence was reached slanted a fast one past Legros for the counter that settled the argument. C.G.E. had everybody but Legros' up on the attack, but the Financiers held them safe until the final whistle.

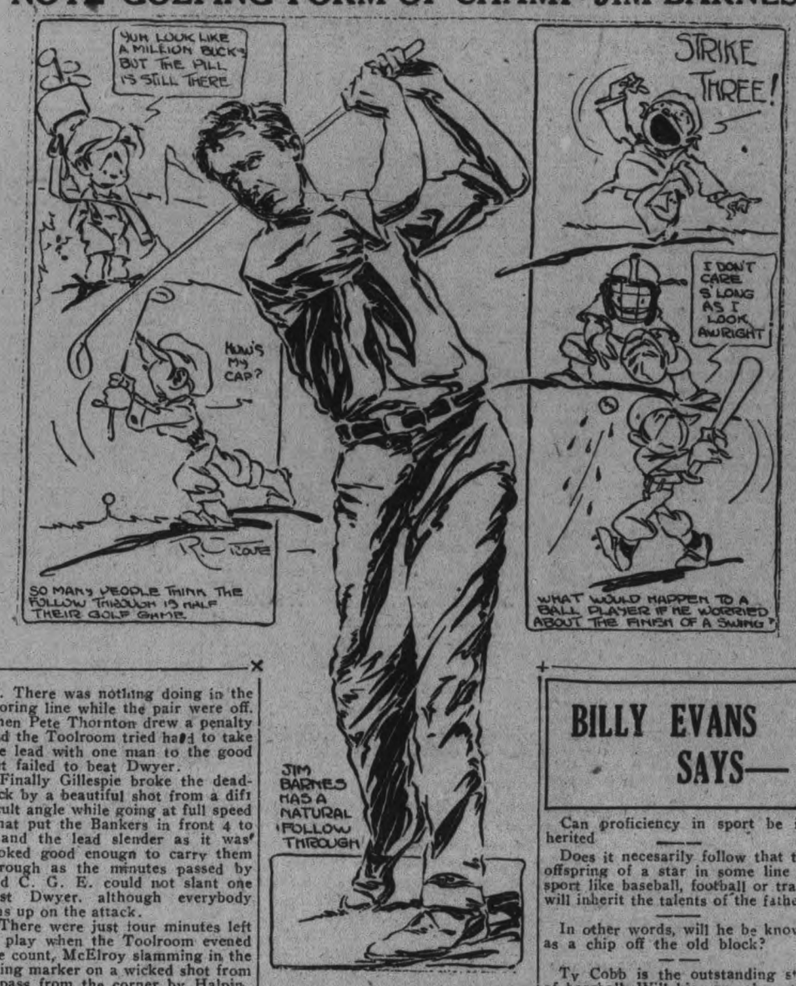
NOTE GOLFING FORM OF CHAMP JIM BARNES



WANTS ENGAGEMENT WITH CARPENTIER.

Gene Tunney Willing to Fight the Frenchman Anywhere.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Another aspirant who wishes to fight Georges Carpentier has developed in Gene Tunney, claimant of the light heavy weight championship of America, who disposed of Whitey Wenzel of Pittsburgh, in four rounds, here last night. Tunney said that he was anxious to fight the Frenchman.

"Doc" Bagley, manager of Tunney, said he had sent a dozen cables to Descamps, Carpentier's manager, without a getting a reply.

"Tex Rickard has been trying for the match, too," Bagley said. "As far as we can find out, Carpentier wants Tom Gibbons, Harry Greb and Tunney to fight an elimination tourney. Then he will meet the winner."

Tunney's manager said that if they couldn't get Carpentier to come to the United States, they would go to France, or arrange for a fight in any part of the world.

BILLY EVANS SAYS—

Can proficiency in sport be inherited

Does it necesarily follow that the offspring of a star in some line of sport like baseball, football or track will inherit the talents of the father?

In other words, will he be known as a chip off the old block?

Ty Cobb is the outstanding star of baseball. Will his sons show the proficiency that has crowned the efforts of the Georgian on the ball field?

Some will argue that few sons attain the praise of the famous sires. Perhaps that it true, although it is possible to offer some exceptions.

History proves that the heritage of fame passeth from father to son. In the world of sport to-day it is possible to find plenty of proof of that adage.

When Willie Hoppe won the title from Jake Schaefer back in 1908, it was the hope of the "Wizard" as he was known that his son would some day win back the title.

During the final years of the "Wizard's" career, young Jake was the constant companion of his father. He practised with him daily. The natural ability, which the son inherited, with the valuable training he received from his dad, soon made it apparent that the son was destined to be a great player.

"Be a champion or nothing", was the advice Schaefer gave to his son. Young Schaefer was an ambitious youth and he set out to make good the desire of his father.

Lovers of the billiard game are still talking of his sensational victory over Willie Hoppe. Hoppe had held the title so long he was believed to be invincible. Then out of the dim and distant past came the likeness of his rival of the olden days to snatch the coveted laurel from him.

In the pugilistic world we have young Bob Fitzsimmons aspiring to the title of heavyweight champion once held by his famous dad.

Fitzsimmons was 35 years of age when he won the title from James J. Corbett. Young Bob is only 20 so he still has 15 years to make good

In the base ball world there are a number of examples of th theory that the heritage of fame passeth from father to son.

Howard Burkett, the son of Jesse, threatens to equal the deeds of father. He is the property of the Pittsburg club, which has sent him to Birmingham for a little more experience.

Every enthusiast of bicycle racing has heard of or seen Bobby Walthour. In his branch of sport he was as famous as Cobb in baseball or Jim Thorpe on the gridiron.

Last October Bobby Wathour shattered the 100-kilometer races at Leipsic, Germany, while his son, Bobby, Jr., was winning the amateur championship of America in Newark New Jersey.

The Wefers family have the call on the father and son stunt in track and field athletics. Bernie Wefers stands out as one of the greatest Americans sprinters of all time. His son, Bernie, Jr., appears to have inherited all his father's natural ability.

THE DOG DERBY.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.) — Over one hundred highly trained dogs will comprise the eleven racing teams already entered for the 200 mile dog derby to be held on February 28 for a purse of $2,500, according to the report of the secretary of the derby, issued here to-day.

A Query a Day

(BY BILLY EVANS)

When two outfielders collide in going after a fly ball, and both are rendered unconscious by the collision, when should the umpire call time? Such a play came up with runners on first and second and two out. Both runners scored on the hit. The batsman was thrown out at third, by the remaining outfielder who had not figured in the collision.

When such a play comes up, the umpire has no right to call time until there is no further chance for play, and the pitcher is on the rubber with the ball.

In the above play the umpire rendered the proper ruling. If both runners had crossed the plate before the batter was retired, the runs count.

If time was called when players collided in going after a ball, it would place a premium on feigning injury.

GOLF GAME IS HARDEST TO MASTER

Most Beginners Start to Play With That Impression Which Professional Stars Claim Is Great Mistake to Make.

(BY BILLY EVANS)

Golf has generally been considered the hardest of all games to master.

Does such an impression do the game an injustice? Does that viewpoint tend to make the efforts of the beginner all the more difficult?

At a recent meeting of a number of professional golf players in New York, it was my very good fortune to hear this question thoroughly thrashed out.

A great many of the best players in the country do not agree with the statement that golf is the most difficult of all games to master.

Don't get the impression that any of them regard it as an easy game to learn. Far from it. However, the consensus of the golfers I heard discussing the question, was that the game was not nearly as hard to master as the beginner really thinks it is.

They start out believing that to play good golf one must be a specialist, and give up much of his time to the game.

They start out with a number of peculiar theories, the result of perhaps years of gossip they have heard other golfers disseminate. They all start, feeling they are taking up a game that only a very few ever master.

They are in the wrong frame of mind from the very outset. When one starts to play tennis, handball, or any of the other sports he doesn't have the impression that he is trying to master a game in which only a few become expert.

Perhaps no one feature of golf is overdone more than the follow through idea. The beginner in golf has seen thousands of pictures showing the finish of this or that golfer's swing. He has heard time and again that a golfer doesn't get anywhere unless he has the old follow through to his swing.

Golfers Start Out Wrong.

With a great many people the sole thought when they start to play golf is how the stick should be when they finish their swing. That is one of the hardest features the instructor has to overcome.

In baseball when a player catches a fly ball he doesn't pay any attention to the position of his feet, hands or body. He simply keeps his eye on the ball, knowing that if he judges the ball correctly, the rest of his body will co-ordinate with his judgment.

When a batter swings at the ball, he gives no thought as to how he will look when he finishes his swing. His main object is to keep his eye on the ball and hit it properly. If he does that his body will assume its proper position at the finish of the swing.

The follow through idea is really considerable of a joke with most of the professionals. They know that if the eye is kept on the ball and the swing properly done until it meets the ball, that the rest will follow.

In golf, the proper swing is the thing. Far more important is to keep one's eye on the ball. Concentrate on hitting the ball in a proper manner. Don't take the eye off the ball to follow its flight before the club actually comes into contact with it.

If a player gets into such a habit he isn't going to get many thrills out of his drives. The ball isn't going to go very far.

Keep Your Eye on Ball.

The big thing is to hit the ball properly. What is done before the ball is hit is far more important than how your club and body looks when you finish. First hit the ball properly and the finish will be in keeping with the hit.

That in substance is the way the game's leading professionals view the thought that golf is the most difficult of all games to master.

Which narrows it all down to the mental attitude of the player. Just make up your mind that there is nothing mysterious about the game. Follow the instructions offered by the professional to the letter, and don't get the impression you are master of the game after a few lessons.

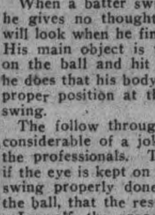
And, of all things, forget the thought that you must follow through. Do the first part of the swing correctly and the proper follow through will naturally result.

Meeting the final roll call will have no terrors for a business man who has spent his life trying to meet a pay roll.

HITTING IS UNKNOWN ART TO THE PITCHERS

Walter Johnson, Who Hits as Well as He Pitches, Says Lack of Confidence is Pitcher's Greatest Fault at Bat.

(BY WALTER JOHNSON)



IY are so few pitchers good hitters?

That is a rather personal question, since I think I am a pretty good hitter.

The fact that Manager McBride sends me up as a pinch hitter very often rather verifies my belief. However, I don't want anyone to get the impression that I am at all chesty about my hitting.

I don't believe there is a single logical reason that can be offered for the failure of more pitchers to be good hitters.

The big reason, of course, is that a lot of pitchers take it for granted that no one expects them to hit. Years ago it seems the pitchers established a precedent, that they should pitch and not try to hit. Now pitchers religiously follow that belief.

Possibly that theory was established because it was thought that running around the bases tended to weaken the pitcher, and thereby lessen his effectiveness. Believing such to be the case, a great many pitchers still continue to pitch, and forget they ever have a time at bat as far as results are concerned.

I have never worked along those lines. Batting has always appealed to me. I much prefer getting a hit than striking out three men in a row unless, of course, striking out the three men means the ball game.

I have always felt that I was a good hitter, and that I could increase my ability by constant practice. That is why I indulge in batting practice whenever I get the chance.

If pitchers would get the idea they could hit, and that they were expected to hit, it wouldn't be long before a lot of them would be doing that very thing.

Lack of effort and confidence are the two things that make most pitchers a joke as far as hitting is concerned.

A Little Sporting Gossip

As predicted in this column two or three weeks ago, the Bankers are the team to beat for the second section honours in the City League race. Ald. Nagle Phelan's crew last night followed up their victory over Hamilton's by tucking away the C.G.E. gang, and now only the Lakeviews bar them from capturing the second series. The two teams meet next week, and a Banker victory will give them the championship of the second section and the right to play off with Lakeviews for the Fowler Cup. On form the Financiers should turn the trick, for they have two straight wins over Hamilton's and C.G.E. to their credit, while Lakeviews have been beaten by both of these outfits.

It would be a peculiar phase of hockey luck if the team which failed to score a victory in the first half should capture the second series without a loss, and the outfit which was undefeated in the first lap should not register a win at all in the last stanza.

And it would be a still stranger twist to the situation if the Bankers who looked so bad in the first game that there was talk of handing their franchise to Lakefield, and the Lakeviews who before the League opened were not conceded a chance, were to be the teams to play off for the League honours. Yet that is the way the situation is shaping up.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"Bring on your next bunch of sharp shooters." — Joe Dwyer.

The Belleville-Peterborough Collegiate game at Belleville on Saturday should be a ratting good contest if the present weather conditions continue Ernie Legon's crew have a lead of one goal, and on hard ice should give the Easterners a royal battle.

The final games in the Junior City League are to be played at Brock Street Rink. The hockey the youngsters are playing will surprise the fans who have not been following the games in the Junior loop.

The C.G.E. team are the overtime kings of the city. Four out of the five games they have played have gone into overtime, and the Tool Room have been beaten three out of four tmes in these long-distance affairs.

The Lakeviews, who could not score a goal at the south end of the rink in the first section, don't seem to be able to score at either end now.

CURL FOR LINDSAY-PETERBORO TROPHY

Rival Teams Will Compete Here and in Lindsay

With a decided change in the weather, the curlers' anxiety over keen ice for this week end has been removed. Four Lindsay rinks are expected here to-morrow to compete for the Peterborough-Lindsay trophy, which has reposed in the Peterborough Curling Club for two years. For some reason or other, this trophy, which has been in competition for years, was not competed for last winter. Four Peterborough rinks play in Lindsay at the same time. Lindsay plays here, and the total score decides the winner.

The Peterborough-Orillia trophy will likely be played for next week. The Vice-Skips' bonspiel, which commences on Monday night, promises to be an interesting event. Practically all the vices have entered and the 'spiel will run at least three nights.

BELLEVILLE TO PLAY SATURDAY

Will Meet the Collegiate at the Y.M.C.A.

The Belleville High school basketball team will be in Peterborough to play the return game with the Collegiate quintette on Saturday. The local students played in Belleville and were defeated by a minor score. Since then they have been faithfully practising, under the supervision of Mr. Walter Small. The Belleville teams is composed mainly of junior O.A.B.A/ players and will certainly put up a stiff fight, which the P.C.I. team are doing their best to oppose. This game is not only for the students of the school, but for all the citizens who take pleasure in watching a good, snappy game of basketball. A preliminary game will start at 2.30 p.m. sharp, followed by the Belleville vs. P.C.I. game. The parents of the school children are especially invited to attend the game. The results of the P.C.I.-Belleville game, the deciding match of their series, will be announced. So come and bring a friend or friends, see two good basketball games, and get the first results of an excellent hockey game. Tickets may be secured from pupils of the P.C.I.

PETERBORO IS STILL ON ICE

Peterborough is being well represented by H. F. Foote's rink at the Oshawa Bonspiel, and reports from the Lakeshore seem to indicate he has a good chance to bring home the bacon in the form of the McLaughlin Trophy. The Peterborough rink cut a wide swath through the rinks piled up against it in the early rounds. In the first round Foote defeated J. Underwood, of Scarboro, 19 to 5. In the second round he played F. Gilding, of Aberdeen, and won by four shots. Foote alone survives in the 'spiel of the three local rinks. R. M. Waddell went into the second round after defeating W. J. Mather, of Stouffville, 12 to 6, but was eliminated by C. Thompson, of Agincourt, in the second round by 11 to 7. W. G. Morrow went out in the first at the hands of a Markham rink by one shot. In the first round of the Eaton Trophy, Morrow was pursued by the same bad luck, A. Paterson, of Scarboro, winning from him by a single shot.

The rinks left last night in the McLaughlin competition were Foote, of Peterborough; Ridpath, Lakefield; Thompson and Greene, Agincourt; Malcolm, of Markham, and Maxwell, of Queen City. Ridpath, of Lakefield, run up some good scores. He earned a place in the third round by defeating J. A. Thompson, of Oshawa, 15 to 5. J. J. Moore, of Keene, led his rink into the second round, but Maxwell, of Queen City, stopped further progress by a defeat 10 to 8.

LAMY DROPS BACK TO THIRD PLACE IN PROFESSIONAL SKATING RACES

Staff and McGowan Tied For First With 100 Points Each On Eve of Final Day — McGowan's Sprints Counted.

Toronto Girl's Record.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Feb. 15. —(Canadian Press.)— Arthur Staff, of Chicago, and Everett McGowan, of St. Paul, were to-night tied in the race for the final events of the three-day card. Each had 100 points. Edmund Lamy of Saranac Lake, was third, with 70, and Bobby McLean, of Chicago, fourth, with 30. The events to-morrow will the final in the 220 yards race, the three-quarter mile and five miles events.

McGowan won the 440 yards and mile races to-day, and finished third in the three mile events. By winning the three mile race and finishing second in the mile and the 440 yards event, Staff, the present champion, will enter to-morrow's races on even terms with McGowan.

Eager at the Barrier.

It was not until after a half dozen false starts that the field of professionals got away in the 440 yard event. Morris Wood, of New York, led for the first lap, but was succeeded at the bell by McGowan, Staff and McLean. McGowan took the race from Staff at the last turn by a pretty sprint, Lamy finished fourth, a yard behind McLean.

In the mile race McGowan again took the lead from Staff on the back stretch and came down to the finish well in front. Lamy finished inches behind Staff, who was a close second.

Ben O'Sickey, of Cleveland, jumped into the lead on the twenty-third lap of the three-mile race, but was passed by Staff, McGowan and Lamy at the bell. The three men were bunched at the stretch, Staff winning by a narrow margin with Lamy second and McGowan third.

Announcement was made that $100 will be awarded the winner of the five mile race to-morrow if the mark of fourteen minutes, 48 seconds, set by Norval Baptie on the same course twenty years ago, is equalled or lowered.

Skating against time, Miss Gladys Robinson of Toronto, clipped three-fifths of a second from her previous world's record of 23 4-5 for 220 yards, made at Lake Placid last week.

NURSE'S SALARY LESS THAN COST OF SOAP.

LONDON, February 15 (Associated Press). — The monthly salary of a nurse in the municipal hospital in Moscow is less than the cost of a cake of soap in that city. This striking example of the disproportion between wages and the cost of living in the Russian capital is disclosed in a report just made by a special commission sent to Russia by the Health Committee of the League of Nations.

The Commission says that a cake of soap in Moscow cost 8,500 roubles, while nurses in the city hospital were paid only 5,000 roubles a month, and that they had to be content with very scanty food.

The poverty and misery that prevailed in Russia as seen in the hospitals which the Commission visited, made a deep impression upon the members. Nevertheless, the Commission stated, there is a high state of efficiency in the municipal hospital, and the Commission emphasised the spirit of sacrifice displayed by those entrusted with ministering to the health of the Russian people, especially of the children.

HOCKEY NOTES

LOCK WORKS WON.

In a fast game of hockey at the Armouries rink last night, the Lock Works All-Stars defeated the Rangers by the score of 4-3. This was a very exciting game all the way through, the Lock Works blanking the Rangers in the first two periods, while they scored three, but the Rangers came back strong, outscoring their opponents 3 to 1 in the third period. Williams, Batten and Thorndyke starred, while Dwyer and Mason were best for the losers. Murray in goal for the Lock Works, did great work and saved his team from defeat. The line-up:

Lock Works—Goal, Murray; defence, O'Brien and Baker; centre, Batten; wings, Williams and Thorndyke. Subs, Edgar and Connors.

Referee, E. Williams.

In addition to rapping the O.H.A. for giving only short notice when ordering the Port Hope team to play in Belleville, the Guide finds fault with the work of Referee Harvey Sproule, takes a slash at the Belleville team, and a goal umpire. Outside of that the Guide is feeling fine and expects the Hopers to win the round at home to-morrow night. To quote the Guide:

The winner of the Picton-Port Hope series was declared on Friday night, but it was not until four o'clock on Sunday afternoon that the Ontarios were notified that they were to be in Belleville on Monday evening. And what the O.H.A. neglected to rub in was carefully looked after by the Belleville aggregation and Referee Sproule. Cross checking and tripping figured prominently in the game and as a last resort a Belleville player threw his stick across the ice at Finnegan Hills. Everything went, while on the other hand the Ontarios had to toe the mark and play clean hockey. Then not satisfied with this treatment there was some very questionable work by the goal umpire. The Port Hope fans state that the puck struck the wire screen at the end of the rink and fell on the back of the nets. The umpire raised his hand and when questioned how the puck was on the outside of the nets stated that it must have gone through. A careful survey of the nets failed to reveal any holes, but nevertheless the referee allowed the goal.

The Belleville Ontario credits the Port Hope team as being the most dangerous club the Bellevillians have faced this season. This is a remarkable claim, coming as it does on top of another statement that Micks, of Port Hope, stopped fifty-two shots and Boland blocked fifteen shots.

FALCONS WON.

The Fire Hall Falcons won their fourth consecutive game last night, when they defeated Form 1A, Collegiate Institute, by 4-3. The Collegiate team's clever playing kept them well in the lead, the score being 2-1 in their favor at the end of the first period. The hose-men did not realize they were playing hockey till 20 minutes before the final gong rang.

McCall, Miller and Morrison showed brilliant stick-handling for the educationists, while Gray, Northcotte, Lucas and Cohen of the firefighters were in splendid form. The bell was acceptably handled by A. Delahaye.

The Fire Hall hockey team will play the Trail Rangers from 7 to 8 at the Mark Street Rink. The following is the line-up for the Fire Hall:

HIGHWAY OF PROVINCE, ETC.

not five per cent. of his people used the highway, and the engineer admitted that not more than one per cent. was served by it, as it was largely used for through traffic.

Levi Storms, Harrowsmith, contended that the highway would drive the farmers off the land by the heavy taxes.

J. A. Sangster, Warden of Stormont, Dundas and Glengary, said that the farmers were being burdened with heavy costs. The highway served only about five per cent. of the people on the front of the counties. We think that the time has come for the Government to assume the cost and leave the people to look after their township and county roads. That they must keep up as an absolute necessity. If relieved of the twenty per cent. charges, we will be able to look properly after our local roads without burdening the people. He thought that the Government should use the proceeds from automobile licenses and assume the total cost of the highway.

A Costly Work.

J. F. Ault, Mayor of Winchester, contended that people are forgetting that the highway has cost thus far $36,000 per mile; when it reaches Montreal it will have cost $80,000 per mile, and instead of taxes being raised ten mills they will be raised twelve mills when they commence to put a top on the highway and make a road of it. He strongly criticized the methods employed in the work.

H. Russell, Renfrew, said his people would not permit their mileage to be reduced. He wanted the Government to adopt a better system of financing the highway.

Mr. Guthrie, Reeve of Loughborough, said: "We want good roads, but I believe that the Government should build and maintain the highway. The maintenance will be a burden as long as we live, and if we could get rid of this we would do well."

Meeting Unanimous.

At the conclusion of the discussion the following resolution, moved by W. C. Loyst, seconded by F. W. Elliott, was unanimously passed:

"That we, as delegates assembled in meeting, representing partially the municipalities of Eastern Ontario, go on record as to the advisability of re-adjusting the heavy payments on the Provincial Highway in the Province of Ontario; that of the proportion of the percentage charged to the different municipalities; that a delegation be arranged to meet the Government some time in March; that a secretary be appointed, who will notify the different county clerks to forward names of the township clerks; and that the secretary communicate with the said municipal clerks, asking them to send delegates with the said delegation.

Delegates Present.

United Mine Workers of Nova Scotia Object to Present Poor Law.

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—A simplification of the poor laws of the province so far as to provide unemployment relief without degradation is called for by a resolution of Caledonia local, United Mine Workers. The Caledonia miners claims that the conditions under which Dominion and provincial aid can now be obtained, as laid down in the public charities act, are degrading, and they ask for amendments to do away with red tape in administering funds for the relief of the unemployed.

Harbor local of the U.M.W. in another resolution takes the Cape Breton Bar Society to task for asking the attorney general to prosecute W. W. Cotton, editor of the Labor Herald, for alleged seditious libel on bench and bar without first cleaning its own house.

Caledonia local in a resolution declares that the abr association to be consistent must also call for the punishment of a Sydney daily, which reprinted two or three paragraphs of the Labor Herald article upon which the complaints against Cotton are based.

Various locals also endorse a resolution calling upon the provincial government to cancel the coal cases of the Dominion Coal Company and work the mines under provincial ownership.

The flood of drastic resolutions from the United Mine Workers locals the last two days has been so marked that there is considerable speculation as to where they are all coming from.

Spare Time Jobs

When the kitchen, or the bath room lights are in the center of the room it is often hard to find the hanging chain in the dark.

Make it easier by running a string from the light chain across the ceiling and down the wall by the door. Run the string through small ring-head screws and put a small weight on the end of the string.

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream

MAID ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Mistress Died Several Months After Quarrel Following Reprimand.

MONTREAL, February 15 (Canadian Press). — Alma Morel, a maid, accused of manslaughter in connection with the death of Adelaide Perreault, sixty-year-old housekeeper, was to-day honourably acquitted of the charge by Judge Cusson.

Miss Perreault was alleged to have died from injuries sustained when she was knocked down by Miss Morel. Her death, however, did not occur until several months after the quarrel. The former is said to have reprimanded the maid for entertaining a male visitor late at night, which resulted in the latter calling her "an old skunk," and giving her a violent push. The affair occurred at the home of Chaput, Sherbrooke Street, last spring, while Mr. Chaput was away on his holidays.

LAVISH AND EXTRAVAGANT.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The curtailment in the cost of distributing goods and in overhead expenses is imperative before business van be placed on a sound foundation in Canada, or, for that matter, in any part of the world. On the strength of artificial prosperity, on lavish expenditure of borrowed money, "we got into an extravagant mode of living." The foregoing remarks were made by Sir Charles Gordon, Vice-President of the Bank of Montreal and Past President of C. M. A., in the course of an address at the textile products exhibition here last night.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Contrary to general expectations, lowering of Bank of England discount rate was without visible influence upon prices at opening of to-day's stock market. Gains and losses were evenly distributed, with exception of American Locomotive, which broke 1 1-4 points on first transaction. Changes were limited to fractions. List developed a firmer tone within first half hour on buying of leading oils and shippings especially Mexican Petroleum ad Mercantile Marine preferred and American Intl.

Call money was plentiful at four per cent. lowest initial rate in several weeks, regardless of heavy withdrawal of government deposits from local banks. Alternate reactions and recoveries occurred in leading stocks during morning motors and selected specialties being most erratic. American ice fell 1 -34 points but quickly recovered. Studebaker, Chandler and Pierce Arrow were under pressure as result ou reports of further cuts in the automobile trade. Buying of seasoned rails, especially Southern Pacific, Atchison and Reading, stabilized prices again at noon.

Apart from copper issue which suffered from profit taking sales following yesterday's late upward spurt, the general market moved forward, especially Mexican Petroleum, which sold at a gain of 3 points, touching its highest price for the year General Electric improved almost 2 points United States Government war bonds touched considerably higher levels. Liberty First 4's mounting 96 points to 97.30, and First 4 1-4's 70 points to 97.54.

THE GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Opening wheat prices which ranged from 3-8 to 1 1-4 higher with May 1.41 1-2 to 1.42 and July 1.24 1-2, were followed by slight reaction and then by ris higher than before. Statements purporting to show that domestic disappearance of corn has been at rate much greater than is generally assumed to be case gave independent strength to markets for corn and oats. After opening 1-8 to 1-2 higher May 63 1-4 to 63 1-8 corn continued to advance. Oats started 3-8 to 5-8 up, May 42 7-8 to 43 and then sagged little but recovered.

THE MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Market was very active during first half hour this morning although no startling changes were recorded in price quotations. Bell Telephone and Brompton were both quoted half point weaker at 105 1-2 and 15 1-2 respectively.

TORONTO CATTLE MARKETS

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle market Toronto —Receipts 448; trade good. Heavy beef steers $7 to $8; choice butcher steers, $6.75 to 7.50; butcher cows medium $3 to $4.50; calves $11.50 to $14.00; lambs $11 to $13; hogs select $13.25.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET

TORONTO, Feb. 16—(Canadian Press).—Odd lot transactions were responsible for some rather wide fluctuations on local stock exchange this morning. On sales of 35 shares Maple Leaf advanced four points to 125, later selling off to 124, sales of 45 shares took Burt Point and half higher to 111 1-4 while Bank of oronto on sales of 65 shares dropped 1 1-2 points to 175 1-2. There was nothing else in listed section worthy of note. Unlisted stocks were quite active, with pressed metals selling up to 37 at close, net gain of 5 points.

CONDITIONS SAID TO BE ON THE MEND

Fewer Cases of Contagious Diseases Reported This Month, Dr. T. W. H. Young Reports to Committee.

MARKET LOAFERS

Dr. T. W. H. Young, Medical Officer of Health, as requested by the Council's resolution, gave a report on the epidemic situation to the Property Committee at a meeting last night, and in the course of his explanations, made public figures regarding the extent of the epidemics. Cases of scarlet fever reported have been as follows, he said: October, 42; November, 46; December, 39; January, 43, and during the sixteen days in February, 21. The figures for diphtheria for the same period were: October, 61; November, 29; December, 25; January, 26; February, 3. Thirty-four houses are placarded at present. During the last seven days only three cases of scarlet fever have been reported and none of diphtheria, so the M. O. H. considered the epidemic was appreciably abating.

The figures quoted show a large number of cases of diphtheria reported in October, and Dr. Young explained in that month a large number of school children were sent in as carriers. There were a few cases of chicken pox, three cases being reported last month and three this, the doctor said. The number of houses now under quarantine is fewer than at any time, he pointed out.

To the Property Committee, Dr. Young outlined last night his difficulty in getting reports of cases, and he considered if the quarantine regulations were made more stringent it would be even more difficult to secure reports. It would antagonize the people, he thought. The M.O.H. repeated that the fault lay not with the doctors but with the patients themselves. "I find the doctors are helping quite satisfactorily. I have no complaint to make regarding that," Dr. Young said.

Questioned by Ald. E. Melvil'e Turner regarding the disinfecting of houses and the removing of quarantine cards, the doctor said it was not the duty of the health authorities to see that the houses were disinfected. The doctor in attendance must report that the house is thoroughly disinfected before the card will be taken down. In Toronto he pointed out there are a squad of sanitary inspectors who do the disinfecting, but no provision has been made for such a programme here.

Reduced the Time.

Following a talk with Dr. Hastings, Toronto M.O.H., Dr. Young said he had reduced the time of quarantine in Peterborough in cases where the patient is removed from the house to seven days, as it is in Toronto. Formerly the houses were quarantined for 10 days in the case of scarlet fever and 12 days for diphtheria. Toronto had found the shorter period as efficacious. It had been discovered that within this time if other members of the family were contracting the disease, the case would be apparent. Dr. Young impressed it upon the committee that diphtheria develops rapidly, and he told Ald. Turner he did not think there would be any likelihood of people taking the disease from one just recovering from it.

Hard to Control.

Shopping Comfort

You were going shopping to-day, weren't you, to look for a comfortable rocker for the living room and price that good-looking willow bird cage you saw last week.

But it is such a horrid day, it is snowing and the wind whistles and howls around the house so that you half shiver as you hover near the cheery fire.

So you yawn and curl up comfortably in your favorite chair, thankful that you are not compelled to go out, but regretful that your shopping will not be done as you had planned.

You skim idly through the pages of the paper, what's that you see?—a fireside rocker, almost new and at such a price?—about half of what you had expected to pay.

Five minutes at the telephone and the coveted article is yours—That's a modern shopping expedition for you," you murmur to yourself as you take up that new book to enjoy a quiet afternoon to yourself. Shop through the Want Ads. of the Examiner, and you shop in comfort.

WILL INAUGURATE HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Polish Medical Authorities Are Beginning to Wake Up to Danger.

WARSAW, Feb. 17.—A vigorous campaign to check the spread of typhus is expected to result from the meeting which began here today of the first Polish National Congress of Hygienists and Sanitarians. A country-wide health campaign based on the American model will be organized.

Polish medical authorities are somewhat apprehensive over the spread of typhus but feel confident that the epidemic will not reach the proportions of 1919 when there were 120,000 cases in the first few months with a mortality of 10 per cent.

American relief organizations are lending every assistance to the government in caring for the thousands of typhus-infected Polish refugees who are flocking across the border.

Half a million of these refugees have been repatriated in the last three months and it is expected that as many more will be returned to their homes in the next two months. The Polish authorities are now working in friendly cooperation with the Soviet officials.

BUSY DIVORCE COLONY FOUND

Hundreds of Divorces Are Granted, According to Sworn Statements.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Within sight of the dome of the United States Capitol, is the town of Alexandria, on the Virginia shore of the Potomac, and therein is alleged to operate a divorce colony second only in flagrancy to that of world-famous Reno.

On the sworn statement of a woman householder dwelling in that historic town, according to records recently made public, hundreds of divorces have been granted.

Investigation of some of these cases has shown that the persons have never spent a night in Alexandria and have obtained their divorces on the sworn statement of landladies that they have lived in their houses for one year prior to the filing of the suit.

False Rent Receipts.

A year's residence in the State of Virginia being necessary to obtain a divorce, revelations made recently have shown that parties in pursuit of marital disruption paid their rent for one full year to a landlady and then received a receipt which they then produced as evidence of their year's residence in the State. In the meantime they whiled away the hours that ordinarily would have to be spent in Alexandria, in some livelier city, perhaps in Washington.

Forty-two days was th minimum time limit in which a divorce could be procured, provided the seeker for relief was sent to the right attorney, according to statements made by the landlords and others and printed in the local press. It was explained that a certain staff of attorneys, adepts at severing the bonds that bind all too loosely, could obtain pronto service in smashing marital ties.

One landlady termed this "little Reno of the East" a "veritable haven of refuge for Washington people." And she had a little more to say.

"Divorce Dumping Ground."

"You know," she declared, not without some evidence local pride without some evidence of local pride, "Alexandria is getting to be the lumping ground for Washington divorce seekers, and I have lots of them staying at my house. Of course, that is, they don't really stay here in fact. They pay me the rent for the year, and the send themselves an occasional letter through the regular mail, and then when their cases come up they produce these letters and the receipt which I gave them as evidence of the fact that they have lived here one year. It's all very simple."

Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintndent of the International Reform Bureau, thinks it aist ihnytngubicw Bureau, thinks it is anything but "simple." He thinks it's "awful." Dr. Crafts said:

"Profiteering in divorces is an awful thing. The wholesale issuance of divorces, as it has been done in Alexandria, is a disgrace to that city and to the nation. It is almost inconceivable that such conditions could obtain in Alexandria or for that mater, elsewhere."

HARDING IS VERY HUMAN TO TALK TO

ORIGINAL COPY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The cab driver took Mrs. Margot Asquith to three different entrances to the White House before she arrived at the executive offices just in time to keep a half hour appointment with President Harding.

"It was extarordinarily good of you to receive me", she said to the President as she swept into the office and then began a thirty-minute conversation on international affairs. The wife of the former British Premier was admitted while the members of the Cabinet were arriving for the semi-weekly meeting of the Harding official family.

Mrs. Asquith emerged in high good humor. She proudly displayed "the original copy" of the President's address at the closing of the Armament Conference. It was Mr. Harding's reading copy that he had autographed.

"Wasn't that splendid of him?" she asked. "I'll show that to Mr. Asquith and ask him if I'm not some one."

"Such a wonderful man" she went on "so human, so easy to talk to."

"Such a magnificent head—bigger than yours and mine together," and she gazed in apparent revery at the top of one of the smaller craniums in the group surrounding her.

Mrs. Asquith looked mysterious and placed a forefinger to her lips when asked if she had discussed the Genoa Conference with the President.

"Now I ask you,' she replied in a confidential tone.

She had a little more to say about a controversial subject of longer standing when she admitted a little had been said about the League of Nations. Almost in the next breath, however, Mrs. Asquith turned the interview to the Armament Conference, about which she said she discovered that her own views differed little from those of the President.

"It is vital to the peace of the world and the happiness of mankind she announced, "that the relations of the great powers remain as they are today." Wonderful good was done at the Conference, and that will be more and more emphasized as the day's pass.'

Then tucking the President's manuscript in her muff, Mrs. Asquith left the White House for her next visit which, she said, was to view St. Gaudens's statue of "Grief" which Sir Henry Adams erected in the memory of his wife in Rock Creek Cemetery.

An Opportunity For The Mayor And City Council

Preparation of the 1922 Budget Will Provide Scope for Economy--Salary Cut in Prospect--A Higher Tax Rate.

When the Council gets down to the business of budget-making, Mayor W. H. Taylor will probably find opportunity for implementing his pre-election promises of economy A rough glance at the municipal requirements for the year indicates that the tax rate threatens to exceed last year's unless there is real retrenchment in all departments. The responsibility of fixing the rate does not fall upon the Mayor alone, but he is expected to set the example for the other avowed economists in the Council, who are more or less pledged to trim the taxes to the scale of decreasing wages and other sources of diminishing personal income.

Several Aldermen discussing the problem intimated that the council should turn up the appropriations and expenditures of 1914 or 1915, if these offer a satisfactory basis of operations, and prune down to their level. It is felt that the ratepayers coming through a difficult year and facing higher assessments are looking to the Council for a lower rate, and there is a popular opinion that it can be whittled down without seriously impairing the efficiency of any of the departments. New estimates coming through with larger pro grammes involving more or at least as heavy expenditure as last year will be regarded by several members of the Council as merely a defensive action, in other words that these departments are asking for more than they expect to get, and more than they actually need, in the hope of getting all or part of their demand, or as a tactical manoeuvre to obtain an appropriation as large as that of 1921.

Police Department

Some of the items in Chief Newhalls estimates are almost sure of close scrutiny, and the proposed additions to the police force are not favorably regraded by the Alderman mentioned. They believe that the assurances of the lessening of crime as a result of prohibition are now being realized, and consequently that the police force is strong enough for the seemingly lightened duties it is called upon to perform.

That is one spot where the pruning hook is likely to be applied, and it is expected that Alderman Crowe will carefully examine Chief Grange's estimates before giving them his approval. By the way, it is rumoured that certain intimations of a cut in salary to civic officials is not the best news that has filtered into the fire hall, and that if the intentions which have been credited to Ald. Crowe are put into effect some of the firemen will hand in their uniforms.

The Grants

And as for grants most of them have already been filed for consideration, the total making formidable list. Some of the aldermen have declared that they are ready to withhold all grants this year, but others are said to have committed themselves to support some of the requests that have been put forward. Every where the Council may look for by paths to a lower rate they will find obstacles and opposition, but it is for them to determine what the reasonable body of taxpayers desire. The situation seems to afford a wide outlet for the Council's talents in constructive economy, for their wisdom in deciding the essential requirements of the various departments under their control, and finally for their courage in putting through a budget that will make some allowances for the financial straits in which not a few ratepayers find themselves. A year that starts out with unusually heavy relief doles is hardly the time for a tax rate that carries anything in the form of frills.

DID RAOUL DELORME WRITE HIS OWN WILL?

Further Investigation by Detectives in Montreal Murder Case.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.— (Canadian Press.) —Detectives have gone to Ottawa to ascertain, if possible, whether Raoul Delorme wrote and signed his will produced at the final session of the inquest on the murdered Ottawa student. They will interview an Ottawa College professor regarding the handwriting of young Delorme and his signature.

Goldfish are a species of carp.

RELATIONS BETWEEN CITY AND COUNTRY

Dr. Reynolds Will Talk on This Subject To-night.

Dr. J. B. Reynolds, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will address the general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which will be held to-night, on the subject of closer relations between urban and rural districts. He will likely discuss the work of the agricultural college it is expected. It is hoped that a large representation of farmers will attend, as Dr. Reynolds' address promises to be interesting.

Other matters will take up part of the evening. The City Planning committee are recommending that the city take advantage of the offer of the C.P.R. to beautify the waterfront along the Otonabee river from the Hunter street bridge to a point one hundred yards below Simcoe street. The railway have offered to plant trees along the bank, lay out hedgerows along the track and plant perennial plants. Their offer included a plan for beautifying this entire section. This matter will be discussed.

A Nominating committee to draw up a slate of officers are to be elected at the meeting and five judges of the election appointed.

ALL LONDON IS NERVOUS CRIME TIDE

Burglars Are Bold As Brass and Will Even Steal Jewellery — Cars Stolen.

GIGANTIC TRADE.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Don't push on the Underground; you are in danger of being pulled in.

Citizens, lock your doors; also see that the windows are fastened tightly.

Don't leave your bed and walk about in the dark; you may eb shot.

Never leave your car unattended; it may not be there when you return.

How—Why—What?

London is the victim of a crime wave. The newspapers are full of assaults, burglaries, pickpocketings, and losses of automobiles. The police issue warnings against carrying the jack on the hip.

The papers are a liberal education in how to commit crime. For instance, the public is advised that three men can make a fair but somewhat dangerous living on the Underground. Two of them jostle the victim while the third relieves him of his wad. If the victim realizes that he is being robbed, the two then raise the hue and cry, and get in eevry body's way, while the third member of the triumvirate escapes with the swag. It sounds easy.

In fact, it sounds so easy that all London has become nervous. The innocent gentleman in a hurry to get to Highgate treads on the heels of the man in front, loses his balance, and stumbles into him. The man in front turns swiftly and beans him with an attache case, believing himself the object of attack by robbers. Life has suddenly become exciting and somewhat dangerous. Don't push on the Underground!

Burglars are bold as brass. They bore holes around the lock in your front door, push the door open, walk in, help themselves, and depart. In Hampstead they got $17,000 worth of jewelry from one house: The following week they—it is suspected it was they—returned and took about $8,000 worth from the house next door.

Scotland Yard has succeeded in unearthing a gigantic trade in stolen automobiles. A single gang has been working throughout London and its suburbs. Not only were cars left in the streets driven away, but garages were robbed.

Specialty is Ford Cars.

Ford cars were the gang's specialty. They filed off the old numbers and affixed fresh ones. The Yard believes that this gang has now been broken up.

The courts are swinging a healthy hand. One motor car thief was recently given 15 months 'hard.' Nine months to a year are sentences frequently imposed.

Insurance rates against theft have been increased, Scotland Yard's garage is all cluttered up with stolen cars recovered from thieves and awaiting identification by their owners. It is no longer safe to buy a second-hand car from a stranger for even it he produces an invoice it may be faked.

Unemployment is held responsible for the increaes in crime. Men who have been without jobs for months are becoming desperate enough to resort to theft. Their wives get housework jobs through employment agencies, giving fictitious references, and then make off with whatever they can carry before the employer discovers the references are bogus. It is almost impossible to trace these women. Their game is easy, because of the servant shortage, as a result of which housewives are inclined to take on any applicant without investigating "characters."

THE WEATHER

Last night's lowest temperature was 22 degrees below zero. At day break it had gone up one degree, standing at 21 below. This is the coldest dip of the winter, and is a little lower than that of Jan. 25th, when we had it 21 degrees below. While this morning was undoubtedly sharp, it was more comfortable than last evening, when it was about 8 below. A breeze blowing last evening made a decided difference. —W. P.

PISTOLS INSTEAD HOMES FOR BEES

A Consignment of Arms Addressed to Hebrews in Palestine.

HAIFA, Palestine, Feb. 17.(Candian Press)—Accidental discovery of a consignment of several thousand automatic pistols and 25,000 rounds of ammunition, which was being smuggled into Palestine in boxes supposed to contain beehives, has aroused much comment and tended to revive the bitter feelings between the Arabs and Jews.

Sir Herbert Samuel, the High Commissioner, had exempted beehives from customs duty in order to develop Palestine's industry.

Ninety-six boxes supposed to contain beehives were being unloaded at Haifa when one of them was broken revealing the weapons and ammunition. The whole consignment which had been addressed to Jews was seized. The head of the Jewishr Cooperative Workmen's Association at Haifa and a noted Jewish lawyer at Jaffa were arrested and charged with being implicated in the affair.

The Zionist leaders have disavowed all responsibility and condemned the incident. The native press has warned the people to be on guard, asserting that probably this contraband business has been going on for some time and that very likely great quantities of arms and ammunitions have been brought in this way.

M. BULLOCK IS IN THE CLINK

Was Rearrested in Hamilton To-day on Extradition Warrant.

HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Matthew Bullock was arrested here to-day on United States' extradition warrant and is charged with attempting to kill and assault in Norlina, North Carolina, in connection with race riots.

He was released from prison on order of Dominion immigration authorities some weeks ago, and he was given permission to remain in Canada for three months. He dropped out of sight until yesterday, when he re-appeared here to work for a local contractor, apparently believing that the United States' authorities had decided to relinquish their efforts to have him returned to Norlina.

Information was laid by United States' authorities before Judge Snider, who issued an extradition warrant for Bullock's arrest. Information furnished the judge was that Bullock attempted to murder Rabey Taylor of Norlina in connection with race riots.

When Bullock was taken before Judge Snider His Honor remanded him for a week in order that witnesses may be brought from Norlina, N. S. to show why Bullock should be extradited. "You better telegraph for them and get them here in a hurry, for I don't want to remand him more often than necesary," he said, to United States' consul. Bullock claimed in court that he was 13 miles away from the scene of the riots at the time he is charged with taking part in them. Bullock, after his release some week ago, actually returned to the United States of his own accord. He crossed the border at Bridgeburg and came into Canada in a legal way.

SECOND READING IRISH FREE STATE MEASURE

Definition of Ulster's Boundary Again Under Discussion.

LONDON, Feb. 17.— (Canadian Press.)— The debate on the second reading of the Irish Free State Bill was resumed to-day in the House of Commons by Sir Laming Worthington Evans, who declared that acceptance of the amendment of Charles Craig, Ulster Unionist, providing for the elimination of the provision for a commission to define Ulster's boundary meant a rejection of the treaty and the wiping out of peace prospects.

BROWNING PIE.

Dissolve a little sugar in a quarter of a cup of milk, then brush the mixture over the pie crust and a few minutes heat will turn it a beautiful brown.

THE AGENDA IS SUBJECT DISCUSSION

Local Council of Women With a Number of Questions at Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon.

PAPER PRESENTED

A well-attended meeting of the Local Council of Women took place yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Mrs. A. Mowat, president, occupied the chair. Discussion of the agenda for next week's executive meeting in Ottawa was the main subject for attention at this meeting.

After the reading of the minutes, Mrs. A. Stevenson enquired if any steps were ever ever taken here to inspect cattle from the country dairies which supply milk for city use. The meeting was unable to supply any information as to the governmental testing of cattle for tubercular infection. This matter was referred to the commitee on Public Health, of which Dr. Birnie is convenor.

Public Library.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson, president of the Queen Mary Home and School Association, reported on the attendance at the Public Library reading room on recent Sundays. On last Sunday, the total attendance was 43, a most gratifying number, and encouraging to the ladies who fostered the idea and have worked hard for its furtherance.

Ottawa Meeting.

Mrs. C. E. Jamieson read the resolutions forwarded by the sub-executive of the Council of Women, which will come up for consideration at the executive meeting in Ottawa next week.

The first resolution dealt with the proposed issuing by the National Council of a quarterly sixteen-page journal, subscription price one dollar per year, to be the official organ of the Council. This was approved by the meeting.

The sub-executive recommended that funds now in the capital account be transferred to current account funds, but the meeting decided that no action be taken in this, owing to lack of knowledge of conditions governing the introduction of same.

The meeting approved of the next item, which recommended the inducing of suitable women to enter the undertaking business as associates.

Training Schools.

It also endorsed the resolution that the Government establish training schools in each province, where one-year courses might be supplied for those wishing to become child nurses or nurses in institutions.

The sub-committee advised that the Dominion Fire Prevention As-

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

"Has anyone tried to make 'em understand, Captain? I guess I'm no intellectual guy, but there was a French writer fellow—Victor Hugo—who wrote something that sure hit the nail on the head. I copied it out, for it seemed good to me." From his pocket-book he produced a slip of paper. "'The faults of women, children, servants, the weak, the indigent, and the ignorant are the fault of husbands, fathers, masters, the strong, the rich and the learned.' Wal!" he leaned back in his chair, "there you are. Their proper leaders have sure failed them, so they're running after that bunch of cross-eyed skaters. And sitting here, watching 'em run, and laughing fit to beat the band, is your pal Peterson!"

It was at that moment that the telephone bell rang, and after a slight hesitation Hugh picked up the receiver. "Very well," he grunted, after listening for a while, "I will tell him."

He replaced the receiver and turned to the American.

"Mr. Ditchling will be here for the meeting at two, and Peterson will be late," he announced slowly.

"What's Ditchling when he's at home?" asked the other.

"One of the so-called leaders," answered Hugh briefly, turning over the pages of the ledger. "Here's his dossier, according to Peterson. 'Ditchling, Charles. Good speaker; clever; unscrupulous. Requires big money; worth it. Drinks.'"

For a while they stared at the brief summary, and then the American burst into a guffaw of laughter.

"The mistake you've made, Captain, a seat in your Cabinet. He'd have the whole caboose eating out of his hand; and if you paid him a few hundred thousand a year, he might run straight and grow pigs as a hobby."

II

It was a couple of hours later that Hugh rang up his rooms in Half Moon Street. From Algy, who spoke to him, he gathered that Phyllis and her father were quite safe, though the latter was suffering in the manner common to the morning after. But he also found out another thing—that Ted Jerningham had just arrived with the hapless Potts in tow, who was apparently sufficiently recovered to talk sense. He was weak still and dazed, but no longer imbecile.

"Tell Ted to bring him down to The Elms at once," ordered Hugh. "There's a compatriot of his here, waiting to welcome him with open arms."

"Potts is coming, Mr. Green," he said, putting down the receiver. "Our Hiram C. And he's talking sense. It seems to me that we may get a little light thrown on the activities of Mr. Hocking and Herr Steinemann, and the other bloke."

The American nodded slowly.

"Von Gratz," he said. "I remember his name now. Steel man. Maybe you're right, Captain, and that he knows something; anyway, I guess Hiram C. Potts and I stick closer than brothers till I restore him to the bosom of his family."

But Mr. Potts, when he did arrive, exhibited no great inclination to stick close to the detective; in fact, he showed the greatest reluctance to enter the house at all. As Algy had said, he was still weak and dazed, and the sight of the place where he had suffered so much produced such an effect on him that for a while Hugh feared he was going to have a relapse. At length, however, he seemed to get back his confidence, and was persuaded to come into the central room.

"It's all right, Mr. Potts," Drummond assured him over and over again. "Their gang is dispersed, and Lakington is dead. We're all friends here now. You're quite safe. This is Mr. Green, who has come over from New York especially to find you and take you back to your family."

The millionaire stared in silence at the detective, who rolled his cigar round in his mouth.

"That's right, Mr. Potts. There's the little old sign." He threw back his coat, showing the police badge, and the millionaire nodded. "I guess you've had things humming on the other side, and if it hadn't been for the Captain here and his friends they'd be humming still."

"I am obliged to you, sir," said the American, speaking for the first time to Hugh. The words were slow and hesitating, as if he was not quite sure of his voice. "I seem to remember your face," he continued, "as part of the awful nightmare I've suffered the last few days—or is it weeks? I seem to remember having seen you, and you were always kind."

"That's all over now, Mr. Potts," said Hugh gently. "You got into the clutches of the most infernal gang of swine, and we've been trying to get you out again." He looked at him quietly. "Do you think you can remember enough to tell us what happened at the beginning? Take your time," he urged. "There's no hurry."

The others drew nearer eagerly, and the millionaire passed his hand dazedly over his forehead.

"I was stopping at the Carlton," he began, "with Granger, my secretary. I sent him over to Belfast on a shipping deal and——" He paused and looked round the group. "Where is Granger?" he asked.

"Mr. Granger was murdered in Belfast, Mr. Potts," said Drummond quietly, "by a member of the gang that kidnapped you."

"Murdered! Jimmy Granger murdered!" He almost cried in his weakness. "What did the swine want to murder him for?"

"Because they wanted you alone," explained Hugh. "Private secretaries ask awkward questions."

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

CHARACTER SECONDARY TO WEALTH.

News From Omemee.

OMEMEE, Feb. 17.—The February meeting of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church was held last week at the home of Mrs. E. H. Mitchelll. Several new members were enrolled making a membership now, of twenty-three. After the usual opening exercises, conducted by the president, Mrs. F. G. Sandy, Mrs. H. Lamb read an interesting chapter from the study book. Short paragraphs were read by each member from a leaflet provided by the president. A Happy Time.

The A.Y.P.A. had an enjoyable time on Monday evening, the 13th when a debate was the main feature of the evening, the subject being "Resolved, that character has more influence on the world than money". The annual meeting of the Emily Telehone System was held in the U. F.O. hall in Omemee. There was a fair attendance of subscribers and the chairman of the Board of Commissioners presided. The board is composed of J. R. Boate, Thomas Lucas and Moses Ruth. Mr. Ruth has held the office of secretary-treasurer since the establishment of the system, five years ago. The secretary-treasurer gave a report of the year's work, which was very favorable. Messrs. Milton Sherin and Thomas Harrington were the auditors for the year, and their report of the secretary-treasurer's books, which were found to be correct, was adopted.

The secretary-treasurer reported all debentures sold and all debts up to date paid off, leaving a balance in the bank of $14,500. Mr. J. M. McHardy of Peterboro, manager of The Bell Telephone Co's branch there, was present and addressed the meeting. Mr. Harris of Toronto, also addressed the meeting.

FORM EASTERN ONTARIO GOOD ROADS ASSOCN.

Delegates at Kingston Say Western Ontario Unduly Influencing the Government's Road Policy.

KINGSTON, Feb. 11.— (Special)—Before leaving for home yesterday the wardens and reeves of the counties represented at the meeting held here regarding the cost of provincial highways, met again and decided to form an Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association, for the purpose of protecting the interests of this part of the province for this purpose. A convention will be held in Kingston within a few months, when many aspects of good roads movement will be considered. It is recognized by many who have attended previous Good Roads Conventions in Toronto, that Western Ontario has been unduly influencing the Government's policy, and that the East must be organized in order to look after the welfare of the people.

It is claimed that in respect to mileage the West has dominated the whole programme, there being about twelve hundred miles of highway there, compared to less than six hundred miles in the east, which can only boast of a single trunk line that serves the purpose of a highway between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. Rather than the people of the counties through which it passes, and who are charged with twenty percent of the cost.

MANY FUNERALS IN MOURNING BELFAST.

Several Victims of Recent Outbreaks Buried With Orange Honors.

BELFAST, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—The City of Belfast to-day bore a mournful aspect. There were many funerals during the day of persons killed in the recent disorders. The processions in all cases were essorted by armored cars and lorries containing soldiers, while strong forces of police and troops occupied the danger zones through which the corteges passed.

Several of the victims were buried with Orange honors. There were no untoward incidents.

During the afternoon and evening the city was quiet, except for a sudden outbreak of firing late in the evening, which was quickly suppresed. There were no casualties.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, presided over a meeting of his Cabinet to-day, which afterwards issued a statement expressing appreciation for the restraint shown by the Loyalists of the six Northern Counties, and appealing for a continuance of "such praiseworthy conduct.'

WARM PRAISE FOR BALFOUR

Conspicuous Service.

LONDON, Feb. 16. Canadian Press.—At the beginning of his address of welcome in the House to-day, Mr. Lloyd George said that Mr. Balfour's friends wished to express admiration "for the way he behaved while away from home."

"We are prouder of him than ever," he continued. "The distinction and dexterity with which he handled the affairs of this country at Washington filled our hearts with real pride."

The Premier read a message of appreciation of Mr. Balfour's invaluable assistance and sympathetic appreciation from President Harding.

Mr. Lloyd George said that "statesmen who haggle have missed their vocation; they should be horse dealers."

Alluding to the situation in the Far East prior to the Washington Conference, Mr. Lloyd George continued:

"I am not exaggerating the dangers. There were whispered murmurs in the wind about preparations and projects, about what might happen here and would certainly happen there. Everywhere you heard those rumours and suspicions. The president of the United States rendered a service to humanity by taking up the situation in time and by dealing with it. As a result of that great conference which he gathered together, misunderstandings have been removed and suspicions not merely allayed but completely cleared away. The western sky is clear, and I used to be taught as a boy that when the skies lifted in the west a bright day would follow. I believe the same thing will happen here again. While the east is thick and dark with the clouds, the west is clear and the east will follow."

A Noble Achievement.

"I am delighted," he continued, "to thank the man who above all others helped to clear those skies. It was a noble achievement, and noble was the part Mr. Balfour took in it."

Declaring that Mr. Balfour declined petty measures, the Premier declared the result "is an agreement that pleased all parties. That is the best bargain—the only one that will hold. A bargain in which one party goes away displeased, especially in in international affairs, is one somebody will seek an opportunity of getting out of. It is because everyone is pleased that I believe in the permanence of this bargain. I believe it is one of the most conspicuous services rendered to the British Empire and to humanity."

The New Diplomacy.

The Premier said the old idea was that the best diplomatist was he who snatched the greatest apparent and obvious advantage either to national advantage or national ambition, or somt other motive, respectable or the reverse. He pointed out that none of these things could be said of the Washington conference, and that no such spirit animated the powers there assembled. They never were slaves to that preposterous fallacy that there was a fixed amount of damage to be go by somebody, and that if not nation go it another nation lost it.

He said he believed the foundations had been laid upon which great questions might be settled. "I believe also," he continued, "the question of naval armaments was settled, although everybody may not have got all he would desire. The land problems of the Far East, the naval problems of the Pacific, and less obvious, but not less really, the question of naval disarmament or naval diminution of arms in Europe, I believe have been settled.

SWEDEN TURNING FROM PROHIBITION.

Leaders of the Nation Believe Temperance Not Secured By Compulsion.

STOCKHOLM, Feb 16. Canadian Press. — Creation of a new organization, expected by its sponsors to have an important influence upon the development of the liquor question in Sweden—the National Society for Temperance without Prohibition was announced to-day.

The founders, who comprise a considerable number of Sweden's best known men, argue in their invitation for adherents, that temperance can be brought about by free will and moral suasion better than by obligatory measures.

Among the organizers who signed the invitation are Prof. Svente Arrhenius, the scientist, president of the Nobel Institute, Mrs. Hjalmar Branting, wife of the Premier, and Selma Lagerlof, Nobel Prize winner for Literature in 1909.

NO AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA

France Merely Helping the Starving Population, Declares Poincare in Official Denial.

No Change Toward Soviet.

PARIS, Feb. 16. (Canadian Press—Categorical denial was made tonight to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs that any agreement has been reached by France with the Soviet Government in Russia, or that there had been negotiations or conversations with that object in view between M. Skobeloff, representative in Paris of the Russian Cooperative Societies, or General Ipstieff, who recently came to France to negotiate with French manufacturers and any representative of the French Government.

The story of the arrival at an agreement was said by the Foreign Office to be "a pure fabrication'. It seems to have originated in German newspapers, which recently declared that Karl Radek, of the Soviet diplomatic forces, and who recently has been in Germany, had been conferring with certain Frenchmen in the Rhineland.

Premier Poincare apparently did not anticipate an early understanding being reached with the Soviet Government when today in the Chamber of Deputies, referring to the negotiations which have been carried an recently by the French Cabinet with George Chitcherin, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, concerning the French Red Cross entering Russia with relief for the famine-stricken people, said: "I may remark, although I have not been particularly touched with them, that Moscow telegrams have been rather kindly worded since I became Premier".

The members of the Chamber smiled at the Premier's words. "That does signify a change in our attitude toward the Soviet Government M. Poincare continued "That does not imply recognition of the Soviet Government. The French Government has helped war prisoners and civil prisoners in Russia, and now it will help the starving. That implies by no means, official recognition of the Soviet Government."

Will Never Recognize A Republic In Ireland

Churchill Hopes For a Sensible Parliament Born Out of the Treaty — A United Ireland, and Both Nations Marching Along in Friendship.

No Rattling of Sabres.

LONDON, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—In moving the second reading of the Irish Free State Bill in the House of Commons to-day, Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, laid stress on the necessity of giving effect to the treaty by clothing the provincial government, as the treaty provides, with lawful powers and enabling it to hold an election at the earliest moment.

"It is the view of the Irish signatories of the treaty," he said, "that an Irish Republic had been set up by the Irish people at the elections and that the republic could only be converted into a free state by the decision of the people. We don't recognize the Irish Republic and never will."

The objects of the proposed election, added the secretary, were to secure an adequate constituent assembly, and "a fresh, normal, and, if I may say so, sensible parliament in Ireland."

Of the present Irish Parliament Mr. Churchill declared that it was not chosen because of the fitness of its members to govern, but because they were thought to be most obnoxious to Great Britain and men who hated England most. The Irish Minister must know where he stood. Some people felt they had waited too long already, but in any case the sooner an election was held the better. The success of Mr. De Valera at the election he characterized as an "ugly hypothesis."

If Treaty Repudiated.

"It is perfectly clear that the repudiation of the treaty by Ireland would free all parties from their engagements," the Secretary continued, "and the position of Britain, standing on the treaty and ready to carry it out if others were found on behalf of the Irish nation to do their part, would be a position of great moral, as well as undoubted material strength.

"The position of Southern Ireland, on the other hand, would be one of the greatest weakness and difficulty, absolutely isolated from the sympathy of the world and bitterly divided in herself. The position of Northern Ireland would be quite unaffected."

All the Government's information led it to feel that such an assumption as the success of De Valera was incorrect. "In any case," added the Secretary, "it would be a pity for us to go threatening and blustering at this stage and give the impression that the Irish people were being made to vote under duress or at the point of the bayonet. If this were indulged in it could afterwards be stated that the vote had been given under duress, tending to impair the authority of the decision."

Irish Not Bolshevist.

Alluding to the report of a coup d'etat to overturn the provisional government, Mr. Churchill said: "There are those who think that the provisional government may be overthrown by a coup d'etat and a red soviet government set up. The British Government does not think that at all likely, but if it were it is quite clear that a soviet republic would ruin the Irish cause for a hundred years, while not in any respect impairing the foundation of the British Empire or the security of Ulster. No people really are less likely to turn bolshevik than the Irish.'

Among laughter he paid tribute to their "strong sense of personal possession," and also, after the laughter had subsided, to Irish respect for women and religion, and declared emphatically: "In a peculiar sense they are the most sure and unyield-

TEX RICARD FACES TWO INDICTMENTS.

Famous Promoter of Prize Fights Charged With Rape.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— The Supreme Court Grand Jury to-day returned two indictments aaginst George L. (Tex) Rickard, obxing promoter, charging him with rape in the second degree, assault in the second degree, and abducting two 15-year-old girls—Alice Ruck and Sarah Shoenfeld.

Twenty minutes later the man who had staged the Dempsey-Carpentier fight and other bouts appeared at the Criminal Courts Building with his lawyers and pleaded not guilty. The District Attorney's office announced that it would be content with the $10,000 bail furnished when Rickard was arraigned in Magistrate's Court last Saturday on a complaint preferred by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Before leaving the courtroom, the internationally known sports promoter took occasion to deny reports current during the day that he had resigned as president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation and that John Ringling, circus man, would succeed him.

Earlier in the morning Rickard would say only that he would have a statement to issue within a few days.

Rickard was still apparently in good spirits when he quitted the building and declined to discuss the case, which grew out of alleged attacks on the girls both in the famous tower of Madison Square Garden—the home of Stanford White's room of mirrors that figured in the Thaw case—and in an apartment on West 47th street. For nearly a week evidence has eben laid before the Grand Jury. In the event of a verdict of guilty, a sentence of ten years could be imposed for any one of the three offences charged.

THE ROAD QUESTION.

Criticism of the roads policy of the Ontario Government should be directed not so much at the cost of the roads, but as to their quality. There is reason to wonder whether or not the Province has wasted money in making roads that excellent as they may appear when completed may not stand up under the ever increasing motor traffic they will be expected to carry. Traffic conditions today are not what they were ten years ago; a road that would have given excellent service when automobiles were not numerous would not last very long under modern conditions. And it is doubtful whether the expenditure on some of the highways under Mr. Biggs' scheme can be justified. They were good roads when completed, so far as appearances went, but if they have been built solidly enough to last it will be a surprise to many people. Permanent roadways seem the only solution. The initial cost is greater, of course, but they last, and they are cheaper in the long run. The wisdom of building any other kind in the face of the traffic they will have to carry is open to question.

HELPING HEALTHFUL RECREATION.

Local people who were inclined to object to the leasing of Riverside Park to the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, to be operated as an athletic ground, should notice how they do things in Toronto when it is a matter of encouraging healthful recreation. At the request of the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association, an organization of gentlemen interested in sport, which has done great work during the war and ever since, the Board of Control has decided to recommend to the Council the erection by the city of an athletic stadium to seat 16,000 people. The plant is expected to cost $150,000, and the estimated revenue from fees each year is $20,000, which would easily meet the carrying charges. The stadium, it is presumed, would be used for amateur baseball, lacrosse and football, and would be a decided boom to the athletic organizations of the Queen City. Official Toronto has long ago recognized the desirability from a community viewpoint of fostering sport as much as possible, with the result that the city has a record number of free skating rinks, hockey cushions, toboggan slides, ball grounds and bathing beaches. A civic stadium is another evidence of the progressive policy of Toronto in this regard.

THE REFORESTATION PROBLEM.

It was encouraging for those who have been urging the necessity of a vigorous policy of reforestation in Ontario to note that both C. F. Swayze, Labour member for Niagara Falls, and R. M. Warren, U.F.O. member for Renfrew, who opened the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Legislature, both dealt at some length with this important question. Mr. Swayze declared that the timber heritage of the Province was being squandered, and that some such system as in force in Germany, which decreed that for every tree cut a tree should be planted, should be adopted in Ontario. Mr. Warren showed how a start could be made in replanting cut-over areas. Premier Drury in an address a short time ago spoke along similar lines, and left no doubt as to his opinion of the need for action. Apparently his followers are of the same mind, and under the circumstances the people of Ontario are justified in looking to the Government to speedily launch an aggressive reforestation policy. Too great a share of the expense should not be placed upon the municipalities—the problem is undoubtedly a Provincial one and should be handled by the Ontario Government. The present session should not be allowed to terminate without some definite steps being taken to meet the situation.

A BIG YEAR'S BUSINESS.

The annual meeting of the Security Life Insurance Company this week was marked by the splendid financial statement presented to the shareholders, which indicated a big year's business. The Security Life, which is the only Canadian company issuing exclusively non-par insurance, had a gross premium income for the year of $139,656, an increase of $27,008 over the preceding year. Interest on investments, rents, premium on capital, profits on sale of investments and the balance brought forward from the previous year brought the total available for distribution up to $490,646. After meeting all the expenses of management, taxes, etc., there was a surplus of $363,800 to be carried forward into the current year.

Following is a comparison of the principal items of the report with those of the previous year:

Gross premium income	$139,656.00	$112,648.00
Interest income	15,693.00	11,710.00
Assets	443,651.00	300,015.00
Policy reserves	314,988.00	222,329.00
Gross surplus excluding capital	122,732.00	75,003.00

The gain in insurance in force was 68 per cent. of the new insurance issued, while the total death claims amounted to $19,215, against a provision of $40,188 made for the year. So satisfactory was the whole report that it is not surprising to find that the retiring Board of Directors were all re-elected.

THINKING NATIONALLY.

Judging by the tone of references in papers from Eastern Canada, no particularly good feeling has followed the attacks of some Ontario papers on the deputation that appeared at Ottawa urging that the Intercolonial should continue to be operated as a road to develop the Maritime Provinces, and that its identity should not be lost from absorption by the National system.

An Ottawa correspondent of The Toronto Star, for instance, claimed that the deputation from the east came to the capital for the express purpose of levying political blackmail, and reminded them that they "are the worst equipped for playing it with success. After the next redistribution their political power will be considerably less than half the strength of either Quebec, Ontario or the West, and their proportionate weakness will steadily increase. If they set this fashion, the West or Ontario may imitate it with demands which the Maritime Provinces acutely dislike. What if Ontario and the West combined to insist that in order to save paying heavy freight rates, Portland should be made more use of as a winter port?"

The Halifax Chronicle replies with a stinging rebuke, directed at the Toronto press in particular, charging that in spite of all they have to say about "thinking nationally," they have neither the capacity nor the desire to do so themselves.

The Chronicle holds that if these papers were concerned with real national development, they would have lent their support "to the proposal for the restriction of the British Preference to imports through Canadian ports. That proposal, however, found little if any support from that section of the country. They cared nothing for the interests of the ports of Halifax and St. John, so long as they found it more advantageous to do their business through New York or Boston. Now we have the threat handed to us openly, that if we do not bow down before the Toronto idol, Ontario and the West will combine to build up Portland, Maine, and put the Atlantic ports of Canada out of business."

The Chronicle also goes on to point out that during the time of the war the harbor of Portland was of no use to Canada, whereas "the value of the Atlantic ports of Canada was demonstrated during those five and a half fateful years in a way which the people of Canada should never forget."

There is always the problem of getting the people of a nation the size of Canada to think nationally.

It is so much easier for us to think of the community in which we live; of the building of a road or something that will bring more trade to our own town and take it away from some other place; of the perfecting of an educational system where our own children are concerned. But when it comes to the problems of the people down on the Atlantic coast, of the development of their harbors, of the turning of business to them instead of Portland, Maine, it becomes quite a different matter.

As a matter of plain truth, it takes a big man, and a big community to think and act nationally. It means the elimination of the parochial point of view, the pruning of local selfishness and the putting up in its place of a vision big enough for Canada, east to west, to get in on it.

Thinking nationally is not a very great problem, but acting nationally is—so great, in fact, that few people have arrived at the stage where they are big enough to do it.—London Advertiser.

A COURSE IN WIFEHOOD.

Of the realities and difficulties of married life, of the science of raising and educating children, not one American girl in a thousand is ever taught anything. No doubt the bright ones learn from experience. No doubt many of them are brilliantly successful wives and mothers in spite of everything. But America leads the world in divorce, it has a very high infant death rate, and it also, we are told, has the worst home cooking in the world. Would a four-year high school course in the business of being a wife remedy these things? Students of the subject seem to think it would help.—Los Angeles Times.

Voice Of The People

FOOD OF WILD FOWL.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir:—Noting that you have always seemed interested in and willing to give space to anything connected with the conservation of game of the enforcement of the game laws, I would ask you to give space to this letter which I hope may do something to re-assure those people who are worried over the supposed depletion of the food supply of the wild-ducks in the vicinity of Peterboro.

About six months ago a meeting of the Peterboro Fish and Game Association was held and, the same week, a meeting was held in Keene to organize a similar organization. At both meetings, complaints were made regarding the depletion of the food supply of wild ducks in Rice Lake and my name was mentioned as the offender.

I was impressed by the frank and sportsmanlike attitude of the gentlemen who supported these charges who, when convinced of their error, freely admitted that they had been careless in neither investigating the accuracy of their information nor the reputation of their informant. So, not wishing to unnecessarily embarrass these gentlemen, I refrained from bringing the matter prominently before public attention, and merely asked for an opportunity of explaining the matter at the next meeting of the Peterboro Association and the promised meeting of the proposed Keene Association.

However, no such occasion has yet occurred, and the fact that I have given the same amount of publicity to refuting these charges that was given to the charges, appears to have led certain possibly well-intended but certainly mis-informed parties to freely and enthusiastically express the opinion that I was not anxious for a fuller discussion of this matter.

While I would not ask for sufficient space to discuss this matter in detail, I would say that I am sure there is not an intelligent local sportsman who has given any serious attention to the matter but who realizes that my business of gathering and distributing the seeds and bulbs of certain wild-duck food plants from Rice Lake is not depleting the local food supply of the wild-ducks in the least. On the other hand, I might mention that I have had the active support and co-operation of the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture, the Parks Branch of the Department of The Interior, the officials connected with the enforcement of the Migratory Birds Convention Act, The Commission of Conservation (during the existence of that body), the Ontario Game and Fish Department, the Ontario Sportsmen's Fish and Game Protection Association, the Essex County Wild Life Association (two of whose officers, Messrs. Jack Miner and F. H. Conover, have continent-wide reputations for their work in connection with the conservation of wild-fowl), and practically every prominent game conservationist and sportsman in the province of Ontario.

Concluding with the assurance of my willingness to discuss this matter in detail with any individual sportsman or body of sportmen who may be worried over the depletion of the food supply of the wild-ucks, and thanking you for the pace allowed me.

Yours very truly,
ROBERT CAMPBELL.

WISE INVESTING

In the ladder of financial success, the first step is to earn; the second to save, and the third to make the savings earn for their owner.

Many men feel that 5% coupled with safety of principal is the limit of returns of an investment, and it is if you have a fortune to invest. But if you wish to acquire riches, your money must be given a chance to make big money.

Never has there been such opportunity as there is today, for investment in the OIL industry.

If you have but little money and want to build a fortune or acquire a competency, give your each $100 a chance to earn $10,000, and you will be on the right road to success.

No other industry offers the small investor so quick or such enormous returns from his investment.

INCREASE CHARGES ON BRITISH SHIPS.

Suspect German Influence Behind Portuguese Legislation.

LONDON, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Questioned in the House of Commons to-day regarding increased charges on British ships entering Portuguese ports, Cecil Harmsworth said representations had been made to the Portuguese Government, calling attention to the injury its legislation would have on British shipping. Rotaliation in the form of increased charges on Portuguese ships entering British ports was impracticable, he said, in view of Articles XIII. and XIV. of the Anglo-Portuguese Treaty of 1914, which provided for reciprocal favorable treatment in shipping matters. He believed no useful purpose would be served by a deputation, and he would communicate to the questioners a copy of a letter in which the Government's attitude was fully explained.

Mr. Harmsworth understood that British ship-owners were required to pay duties in gold, but he declined to answer a question as to whether German capitalists were behind a movement to purchase Portuguese shipping and whether that had anything to do with increased duties.

Launching into a fervent appeal to the House not to delay the bill, Mr. Churchill pictured the dire consequence of "enabling dangerous men to work out schemes of slaughter in subterreanean secrecy, to undermine and overturn the government which is faithfully endeavoring to keep its word to us."

Describing the position of Ulster as of unshakeable strength, both military and moral, he again referred to the difficulties of the provisional government and surveyed the present situation throughout Ireland, the elaborate and terrible consequences involved in the re-conquest of the country, which the Government would have to face if the treaty fell through, and ventured a forecast of the developments of the coming months.

Forecast of Developments.

He thought the bill would be passed within the next month, that Irish elections would be held in March or April, that the Free State Parliament would assemble and formulate a constitution, probably in May or June, and then that there would be final confirmation in the Imperial Parliament in June or July. He admitted there was some doubt of the strict wording of the treaty, whether the period of option allowing Ulster to come into the treaty begins with the passage of the present bill, or dates from the final confirmatory act of the Imperial parliament.

The ministers of the provisional government held that the option began with the passing of the present bill, but in a spirit of fairness, had agreed to waive that construction and allow the option to run from the confirmatory legislation of the British Parliament. Meanwhile, Ulster stood wholly unaffected by British legislation, and therefore it could not be until July or August that the boundary commision could begin its complicated and lengthy work, which was not likely to be concluded until October or later.

The Right Hon. Sir Frederick Branbury, Unionist, interjected: "Everybody in Ireland will be dead by then; they will have killed each other."

"Then our task would be greatly simplified," responded Mr. Churchill.

Boundary Meeting Premature.

Reviewing events, the Colonial Secretary expresesd the opinion that the meeting between Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier and Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, had been premature so far as the boundary was concerned, but it had been useful in the matter of the boycott. It might prove that the new parliament and the government coming into existence in Ireland would have a more reasonable complexion than the present Dail Eireann, and that then, passionate and delicate questions like the boundary which might be discussed with greater chances of success than at present, when the supporters of the treaty were exposed to the bitter reproaches of De Valera and his extreme adherents, and when 'a renegade Englishman like Erskine Childers in doing his best to poison the relations between the Irish people and their chosen leaders."

"Let us have an election and see what comes of it," he exclaimed, "then make up our minds what it is best to do."

Guarantees For Ulster.

Arguing that Ulster still held a strong position, he pointed out that England was bound to the treaty. 'But," he added, "if we saw Ulster maltreated and mutilated by the boundary commission so that she was no longer an Irish economic entity, we should be bound to reconsider her whole economic and financial position. Not only should we defend every inch of Ulster's soil under the treaty, as if it were Kent, but we should be bound to take special measures to secure that Ulster is not ruined by her loyalty to us."

In conclusion, Mr. Churchill thought that there had been a setback, but the situation was being repaired and restored. Taking the view that Imperial interests sought both the unity of Ireland and the unity or the Empire, he said:

"We could help Ireland to the former if Ireland helped us to the latter and we should be willing to help Ireland in proportion as she helped us. For generations we have been wandering and floundering in the Irish bog, but in this treaty we believed we act our feet in a pathway, which has already become a causeway, a narrow, but firm and far-reaching causeway. Let us march along it with determination and circumspection, without losing heart or faith, hoping at no distant day to find on our side Ireland a united nation and friend."

Meeting of Shareholders.

A meeting of the shareholders and others interested in th National Cooperage Plant was held in the Council Chamber, Hastings, on Tuesday afternoon, February 4th.

There was a good attendance, and every one was satisfied with the progress of the company.

President Lickley explained that the meeting was called to hear the report of the deputation composed of Messrs. W. P. Plant and R. C. Doxsee, who spent a couple of days in Windsor last week inspecting the machinery for the plant in course of construction.

Of the personnel of the deputation, Mr. Plant is a practical machinist and manufacturer of several kinds of high class machines. Mr. R. C. Doxsee an experienced manufacturer and one who is a capable and efficient hand with wood working machinery. Both of these gentlemen were loud in their praise of the machines in course of construction, of the magnitude of the work of the capabilities of the machines and of the solidity of their construction. They went thoroughly into the blueprints with the inventor, who has charge of the machine shop at Windsor, an were impressed with the ingenuity of that gentleman.

The deputation were courteously received, and were well pleased with the trip. It is expected that the machines will be ready for shipment within four and five weeks' time.

President Lickley spoke of the possibilities before the company, of the hardships they had to contend with; but felt assured that the worst had been overcome, and that from now onward it ought to be clear sailing. He dealt extensively with the market possibilities before the company and was enthusiastic regarding the outcome. Speaking in regard to the local plant, he stated that the machinery would be ready before the plant here and stated that the work here would be rushed with all possible speed. Work had started on Tuesday, on the foundation of the two dry kilns, and a saw mill 143x60 and the boiler house would be commenced at once.

The plant here, he said, would require 100 horse power, and would include a head making machine which will make the heads for the other units of the company's cooperage products. Work would be rushed so as to begin manufacturing in time to take care of the trade this summer. Salesmen are already booking orders for the Hastings plant, and everything points to a year of prosperity for this town; and it is up to every one to boost the new industry.

AUCTIONED THE GIRLS' SHADOWS

North Monaghan Young People Enjoy a Merry Evening.

BROWNTOWN, Feb. 16. — A Shadow Box Social was held by the local branch of the United Farm Young People of Ontario, on Feb. 14th, St. Valentine's Day.

The first part of the programme took the shape of a concert, which was much enjoyed, as demonstrated by the encores called for. The contributors were:

Opening Chorus, "O Canada"; reading, Miss Rita Brethen; Duet, Mr. Vernon Ferguson and Mr. Harry Fowler; (accompanist, Miss Mildred Fowler); humorous story, Mr. Walter Brown; recitation, Miss Gladys Jay; humorous song, Mr. E. Petrie; pianoforte solo, Miss E. Webber.

Mr. George Whitfield, president of the club, occupied the chair.

These impromptu debates are becoming quite popular with the young folks, and many interesting points are brought out that might be missed if much forethought was permited.

The special feature of the evening was the auctioning of the girl's shadows; the hightest bidders getting the girl and also her box. Mr. Harvey Webber proved a very capable auctioneer.

After lunch, the rest of the evening was spent in games and music.

The next meeting of the U.F.Y.P.O. will be held on February 28, when it is expected that a very interesting debate will take place.

COLLINS ASKS FOR FAIR PLAY

Also Urges That Evacuation of Ireland Be Continued.

DUBLIN, Feb. 16. Canadian Press. —Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, to-night sent a long telegram to Winston Spencer Churchill, British Secretary for the Colonies. It was in the nature of a manifesto to the British people, asking fair play for the treaty in respect to the recent happenings in Ulster and for the apportionment of blame for them in the proper places.

Alluding to the suspension of the evacuation of Ireland by the British troops, the message said:

"The best way the English government can help us is not by suspending but by carrying out the treaty, thereby convincing Ireland that England is really 'delivering the goods.'" this time.

BAILIEBORO NEWS

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 16. — The quarterly commission service was observed in the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon, at which a large number remained and received the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Special music was provided by the choir for the occasion.

On Monday evening a special business meeting was called by the members of the U.F.O. in the Municipal Hall, Centreville. There was an extra large attendanec and among the many business matters which were brought up before the club was the question of enlarging the hall. The organization is growing so rapidly the building is not large enough to accommodate the crowds which gather together on socal evenings. It was decided to enlarge the hall and to lay a floor in the basement of the building to serve as a suitable place to serve lunch and play cards. Orders were also taken for salt, flour and twine. The next business meeting will eb held in two weeks.

FRENCH EXPENSES FOR REPARATIONS.

A Huge Bill Against Germany, But No Funds From That Quarter.

PARIS, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press). — Appropriations of over eight billion francs having been voted under the special 1922 budget for expenses recoverable under the various peace treaties, the Chamber of Deputies to-day began discussion of how the necessary funds should be raised.

Deputy Eymond, who drew up a report on the question, said France could have re-established her own financial equilibrium if she had not been compelled to meet expenses which the Treaty of Versailles has laid upon Germany. Up to January 1 of this year, said his report, France has advanced on Germany's account eighty billion francs, forty-five billion being for reparations to property, twenty-five billion for reparations to persons and ten billion as interest on sums borrowed. According to the Government's provisions in the budget, the expenses recoverable from the treaties ought in payments by Germany and 2,600,000,000 francs by discounting German bonds. But Deputy Eymond said he feared the French Treasury and loans would be the only sources of funds.

Jerome Grosseau, of the Department of the Nord, a devastated department, having referred to the Reparations Commission's difficulties, Premier Poincare said:

"The Commission has had reason to complain of having continually to refer to the governments. Henceforth, the Commission will exercise its full attributes under the treaty. I am glad to be in full agreement with the Allies on this subject."

The Premier of Germany had proposed to raise a forced loan, but the result would be lessened, because the Reichstag had refused certain clauses. The Reparations Commission would have to act upon this question, he added.

Conditions Said To Be on Mend

cause the scarlet fever germs have not been isolated, Dr. Young told the committee. The medical theory is now that the greatest danger is during the earlier stages, whereas until recently it was thought the greatest danger of contagion was in its later stage, commonly known as the "peeling" period. It was very rare to have a recurrence after the card had been lifted, the doctor said, and only two cases in Peterborough came to his mind.

"Keep on disinfecting," was Toronto's advice. Dr. Hastings had no confidence in fumigation, and he believed in thorough cleaning and disinfecting. Generous supplies of soap and water did more to kill germs than all the smokes and smells assembled. Dr. Young agreed with this advise, and the lack of proper action along this line had prolonged the epidemics.

Ald. Turner asked if the doctor had any suggestion that would expedite stamping out the epidemics. "There is nothing else that I can think of," Dr. Young said.

Ald. Turner mentioned stopping people congregating.

"It's very hard to do it," Dr. Young said. Later on he added: "I've been giving pretty near my whole time to this thing. I will say nothing has been neglected to stamp it out so far as I am concerned."

The M. O. H. explained why some cases were treated right in their own homes and others were sent to the Isolation Hospital. In large houses, Dr. Young said, he allowed the bread-winner to go out, providing the patient was isolated in the house and had a separate attendant, who did not mingle with the others in the household. No cases had come to his attention of violations of this arrangement, he told Ald. Turner. In other cases where there was a quarantine, Dr. Young said, on a doctor's certificate that the bread-winner was thoroughly disinfected, he was allowed to board at another house where there were no children until such time as the placard was lifted. In Toronto they allow them to stay in the same house, he pointed out, to show how more strict the regulations are here.

He had been unable to discover many people breaking the law, said the doctor. Most of the complaints generally whispered by their neighbors had turned out to be groundless. He often found complaints "that so-and-so was going into his house while it was quarantined, sneaking in by the back door." When he looked into the case he found it was someone he had given permission to to keep the furnace fire on while his family was sick, or was bringing in wood for their use. He did not allow them to go any further into the building, he said, than the cellar, so there was no danger.

Reporting Cases.

The importance of reporting cases could not be hammered into people much more than it has been through the press, Dr. Young said when Ald. Turner felt it would be a good idea to send out more warnings. "The paper has been rubbing it in to beat the band," Dr. Young testified. He told them, however, that he was getting a hundred pamphlets on scarlet fever and one hundred on diphtheria from the Provincial Board of Health for distribution. More will be sent down if necessary, he was instructed. One might be printed in the paper, Ald. Turner said, but the M.O.H. remarked, "It would take up a whole page nearly."

A great many cases are not reported through ignorance, and he cited several cases in which the contagions had progressed several weeks before they were noticed. A recent case, which was followed by a death, was mentioned, it being evident in this case that the scarlet fever was contracted on the train, the doctor having learned that the mother and her two sons rode in the same seat as someone who smelt strongly of disinfectants. The boys were ill two weeks before the case was reported, it was said.

In the Old Country they are thorough, the M. O. H. said, and every case goes to the hospital. With the ambulance comes a sanitary inspector, who disinfects everything and all the bed clothes and wearing apparel go to the hospital for a complete process to kill the germs. It is not practicable here to work so drastically owing to limited accommodation at the Isolation Hospital, but Dr. Young recommended an addition to the present hospital for a convalescent ward, to leave more room for the serious cases.

Advance notices on new Provincial regulations indicate that chicken pox is to be quarantined hereafter. The medical officer said last night severe cases of chicken pox so resemble small-pox that it has been thought advisable to "take no chances" by quarantining chicken-pox as well as its twin brother.

Market Loafers.

A matter was brought before the committee last night by Sanitary Inspector C. S. Stapleton, that legitimate patrons of the market will approve of. Mr. Stapleton spoke against a regiment of loafers being allowed to bivouac around the box stove in the market every Saturday morning, while the farm ladies, for whom the heat is intended, are half frozen to death. The group smoke, chew and expectorate. As soon as a policeman heaves in sight they break camp, but settle down again when he is gone as tight as flies on fly paper. As fast as he could put up "No Smoking" signs, they would tear them down, the inspector declared. He favored a policeman on the job all the time. Members of the committee considered that arrangements should be possible, whereby an officer could be in attendance throughout the market, and the chairman will interview the Chief.

The City Trust will be notified of a leak in the ceiling of the market, reported by the Sanitary Inspector. Mr. Stapleton declared to the committee "there were too many earthen closets in Peterborough." More sewer connections were made last year than in many years, and it was hoped the good work continued. Dr Young said he and Mr. Stapleton had by threat and exhortation, induced a good many to make connections. There are over 1,200 should be connected with the sewer, while in a city the size of Winnipeg there are but 200 earthen closets altogether, it was pointed out.

Attend Convention.

Plumbing Inspector A. Metheral was appointed to attend the convention of Plumbing and Drainage Inspectors at St. Catharines on Wednesday, March 22nd. Representation of the city was asked by the secretary in a letter. The report of the inspector for January, submitted last night, showed 55 inspections during the month.

The tender of M. W. Stinson for the ashes from the incinerator was accepted. Only the single tender from Mr. Stinson of $125 was received. Last year he paid $181 for the ashes, an evidence that the market value of the residue of burnt cans and garbage has fallen with other things. Two requests in regard to construction work within the fire limits, one from Ed. Conroy, 547 Water Street, and the other from W. H. Barrie, architect, regarding a covered stairway into apartments being built by A. W. Clydesdale, 168 Brock Street, were referred to the chairman and the City Engineer to enquire into.

Ald. Malcolm McIntyre presided. Other members were: Mayor W. H. Taylor, Ald. R. N. Jones, Ald. E. Melville Turner and Ald. Robert Morrison.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press).—That the British cattle embargo hampers Canadian Holstein-Freisian stock becoming popular with breeders across the Atlantic was emphasized by several speakers at the annual meeting of the Canadian Holstein-Freisian Association here yesterday. It was suggested that in order to get hold in British markets it might be possible for the Dominion Department of Agriculture to arrange for a display of this class of cattle in London.

FIRE IN OWEN SOUND.

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Owen Sound last night suffered the worst fire that has visited the city in years, when the big three-storey building on Second Avenue, known as the Kilburn block, was wiped out, the estimated loss being a quarter of a million. The bulk of the damage was to the stock of, W. T. Harris and Company, wholesale grocers.

WHEAT ASCENDS TO NEW TOP PRICE IN CHICAGO

Provisions Also Exceeded Recent Advances—Buyers Were Wary.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press)--Buyers backed away from wheat Thursday, prices have risen to a new top record for the season. The market closed unsettled 3-4 to 1 5-8c net lower, with May -1.39 1-2 to $1.39 3-4 and July $1.22 3-8 to $1.22 1-2. Corn finished unchanged to 1-2c higher; oats unchanged to 1-2 at 5-8c down, and provisions at gains varying from 15c to $1.30.

General selling characterized the wheat market during the last half of the day, whereas earlier the majority of traders were on the buying side. A substantial advance in Liverpool quotations formed the chief incentive for the upward swing with which the market here commenced and which kept up with unimpaired momentum until May had equalled the hightest previous figures on the crop and July had surmounted the season's record. Unfavorable weather and crop reports from the Southwestern part of the domestic winter wheat region acted as a contributingbullish influence.

It became clear at this stage, however, that sentiment had undergone a decided change regarding wheat for at least the time being. Throughout the remainder of the day, the course of prices was downgrade as a rule, with numerous weak holders atempting to unload and with commission houses pressing to sell.

Strength in the corn market was ascribed mainly to reports that the domestic disappearance of corn has been at a rate much beyond what the trade in general supposed. Both corn and oats touched new high price records for the season but later were governed largely by the changes in wheat.

Provisions, like grain, exceeded all recent high levels, advances in values of hogs were partly responsible and so, too, was the monthly statement showing diminished stocks.

HOGS HIGHER IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Cattle, receipts 12,00; fairly active, beef steers partly steady to strong; spots higher; top 9.15, weight 1,378 lbs. bulk beef steers 7.00 at 8.50; fat she stock, calves, stockers and feeders steady; canners and cutters weak to lower; best bulls strong to higher; bolognas unchanged; bulk fat she stock 4.35 at 5.75; bulk stockers and feeders 6.25 at 7.00.

There was a strong demand in the cattle market at the opening for the few desirable killers on offer and bidding generally looked a full 50c. higher. The hog market showed considerable strength, selects weighing up at $12 to $12.40.

Candidate's Name Erased; Township Election Upset

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The election of Councillors Radmore and Foran, who were returned as members of the Farlday township council, last month, was upset to-day by Judge J. W. McDougall in Hull Superior Court. The unseating was the result of an action broght by Walter McLean, who alleged that on polling day the returning officer had scratched off the name of T. Williams, who was a candidate. The reason given was that Williams was not qualified Mr. McLean contended that the act was an illegal one, as the names had been placed on the ballot papers and cannot be removed on the day of voting.

THE VISIT OF THE DAYSPRING.

(Contributed)

The services at Mark Street Methodist Church were seasons of great blessing on Sabbath, and the choir contributed largely to the success of the meeting.

"The Visit of the Dayspring," was the subject of the morning sermon, and was founded on Luke I., 78, "The dayspring from on high has visited us." The following is an outline of the sermon:

At the close of a fierce sea fight a man-of-war lay at anchor just off the harbor of Smyrna. Wounded and dying men lay in the rude wards of the temporary hospital below, and longed for the dawn of day. How weary and long are the hours of vigil when a loved one suffers! Here a Red Cross nurse moistens the dying lips. There another writes a last love message to the wife or mother of the dying marine. Yonder a wounded Jack Tar rises on his elbow, looks anxiously toward the port-hole, and thanks the god of battles for the morning.

Then the gates of light swing open. The monarch of day climbs the azure steeps; while from between his chariot wheels ten thousand shafts of light pierce the darkness of the world.

Christ, the Dayspring From Heaven.

What a world of wounded, bleeding, down-trodden men watched for the Prince of Peace to come as the glorious light of Asia. Jesus is a "light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people, Israel." He descends from heaven to illumine the social, moral and spiritual darkness of the world of men. He shines with a divine radiance, and the light is all His own. He is the central sun of the spiritual universe, and all other luminaries are but satellites. Like the sun of nature, He shines on the evil and the good, and on the just and the unjust. His flaming course in the spiritual heavens never changes, but He shines on for ever and ever, keeping pace with the march of the ages. Jesus is the people's luminary; why then do we sit in darkness? Why not walk out into the soft, warm, purifying, health giving light of Christ? Why sit in the dark, dank shadow of sin and death when the glorious light of the sun of righteousness shines in meridian splendor for you? O, Light of God so wonderous, shine in our hearts today; lead us by Thy radiance to that eternal day that knows no ending.

Greek Philosophy and Hebrew Prophesy.

What is the meaning of philosophy? It means searching for God, the supreme cause or nature of things. Our attention is attracted by the early Greek philosophers in particular. Six hundred years before Christ the Ionian Greeks had a school of philosophy at Miletus in Asia Minor. These men began to build a stately pillar of philosophic truth. This column climbed upward through space, course on course; but at a certain point it curved. At the same time, away over in the land of the Hebrew prophets, another stately pillar is rising upward, course on course; and then it curves toward the Grecian column.

This is the pillar of Hebrew prophesy. What will finish the Greek pillar of philosophy Listen to Plato as he tells us that light is God's shadow. God is the light of lights. God is the ultimate reality of goodness. Now Greek philosophy reaches its high-water mark in Plato. This philosopher reasoned twenty centuries before Kant was born, and his reasoning was intensely religious. And every student of philosophy knows that Plato yearned for the coming of some great and holy being to the world to give men light, and teach them how to live. The supreme ideal of Hebrew prophesy is the Messiah. The crown of Plato's philosophy is the great and good, the ideal man. Just here the greatest event of all the centuries bursts upon the world. Jesus Christ is born. The Light of Asia comes. The Dayspring from on high descends, and settling as the keystone that links the converging columns of Hebrew prophesy and Greek philosophy, the Triumphal Arch of Truth and Light illumines the ages.

Blind in a World of Light.

In the Book of God we read of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah .On the night before the cities of the plain were destroyed, a surging mass of weary, discontented, struggling and blind men groped about the darkness, just outside the house of Abraham's nephew Lot. We says that they groped about in the darkness. Why? It was but evening. They were blind. Many men are blind to-day in a world of light. What were these men looking for, as they moved about in the darkness? They were sarching for the door into the light. But you say, these men were smitten with blindness because of their wickedness. Well, that is true. But if the Light of God had not entered your life what would you or I have been? Now Jesus is the door, and it is up to use to help this weary, struggling crowd. They can never find the door unless we help them. You'll pray for them? Will yop lend me your purse while you pray, and God and I will answer your prayer. Just think of God and the preacher out buying food and fuel for God's poor with your purse. And you'd then be as happy as a bird.

Laugh of Joy Maker.

Away among the Taos Indians the Joy Maker is a recognized official of the government. He is a young man duly elected by the tribe, and given prerogatives of office. He is charged with the solemn responsibility of preparing the town's folk for a day of happines. If smiles are not the order of the day, if success does not crown the efforts of the hours, then the Joy Maker has failed. Be a Joy Maker. Dwell in the Light of the Dayspring from on high.

ICE IMPRISONS EIGHTY SHIPS IN THE KATTEGAT.

Nine of Them Carrying Food for Russians, And All in Danger of Being Crushed.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 16. —(Canadian Press) — Some eighty steamships are frozen in the ice in the Kattegat and The Sound, and are drifting with the floes. Some of them are in imminent peril of being crushed.

The latest reports from The Sound are to the effect that nine United States steamers of from 5,000 to 6,000 tons each, laden with food for the famine-stricken Russians, are adrift in the ice. The ice pressure in both the Kattegat and The Sound is increasing.

Flying machines are to be used in an attempt to convey food to the ships some of which have been held fast by the ice for two weeks.

Three vessels have foundered along the Swedish cooast since the ice blockade set in.

WILL INVESTIGATE THE GIRL'S DEATH

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—An inquest has been ordered into the death of Olive Rutledge, who jumped to her death yesterday from the seventh floor of the Bank of Hamilton building here. She came here about a week ago with two children and was registered at a hotel. She was in the office of a solicitor when she rushed to the window ledge and threw herself to the street. It is said she had gone to the solicitor to have him arrange with the father of her two children for their support, but meeting with disappointment, suddenly decided to end her life. The man whom she accused of being the father of her children, will be a witness at the inquest. She is said to have come from Musclow, near Trenton.

PUBLIC CONFERENCES BUILDING PROSPECTS.

Such is Idea of Peterboro Trades and Labor Council.

In an effort to anticipate any friction that might discourage or delay building operations in Peterboro this coming season, the Trades and Labour Council has taken an initiative which may be productive of all the good results expected by its promoters, by bringing goodwill and understanding into the relations between all those who are interested in outdoor construction work.

At Wednesday's meeting it was proposed to hold a series of public conferences at which questions bearing upon the prospects of the building industry in this city, especially for the opening of spring, may be freely discussed by contractors, investors, merchants and other citizens including, of course, representatives of the building trades.

A committee composed of Wm. Rudkins, Tom Ballard, T. J. Stenton, J. Dodds, Thomas Darrah and Joseph Lazure was appointed to interview the various Unions to secure their endorsation of the sheme as a preliminary step to calling in the general public. Last night they got together after the Council adjourned and outlined their plans. Their first action was to call upon the Plumbers' local who stated that they were prepared to fall in line with Labour Council's suggestion. The Trustees of the main Labour Hall are being asked to provide it free for the proposed meetings, and apparently there will be no serious expenditure incurred.

Trades Council Hopeful.

Just what overtures the Building Trades will be prepared to make remains to be discussed in the committee's interviews with Locals, but the sentiments of the Trades Council as expressed by delegates last night was that Labour should make an early start to assure all those who intend to build this season that the wages of the outdoor trades will not be a discouraging factor. It is believed that quite a number of houses and buildings are being planned, and naturally it is to Labour's interest that they should be fostered and reduced to actual lumber and bricks.

President' Proposals.

The general idea approved by the Trades Council was conveyed in the following statement by the President William Rudkins:—

To the Officers and Members of the Trades and Labor Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen:—

As President of the Trades and Labor Council I desire to draw your attention to the very grave condition of labor in the City of Peterborough at the present time, and also the very poor prospects for the coming season if conditions are allowed to remain as they are. In my humble opinion it is up to the Trades and Labor Council to do all they possibly can to bring Capital and Labor together at the present time, and in order to do so I would respectfully suggest that open meetings should be held at which all Contractors, Builders, Merchants and business men should be heard and proper committees be formed to ensure a successful season in Peterborough. It is a well known fact that there are many prospective builders in Peterborough today owing to the alarming shortage of houses, and it is evident that if all parties could get together and come to some mutual understanding as to the best method of starting a real building boom in Peterborough.

Now gentlemen, one thing is certain, that unless the people who are thinking of building in this City are assured that all the trades in connection with the work are going to be fixed, and that the prices of labor and materials are going to be reasonable and sure, very little building will be done and very little labor employed.

WM. RUDKINS,
President

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

DON'T STAY GRAY—HERE'S AN OLD-TIME RECIPE THAT ANYBODY CAN APPLY

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to it's natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

BELFAST SHOOTING.

BELFAST, February 16. — Canadian Press, — A bomb was thrown into the dock district last night, and seriously injured Rev. Father McGrath, Constable O'Rourke, Mary Hart and James Maxwell. Four men entered the home of Charles McMullen and shot him. He is dying. He is dying.

MINISTER ASSAILS HISTORY BY WELLS.

Full of Exploded Theories, Says Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, of New York.

The Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York City, recently assailed "The Outline of History" by H. G. Wells, as being full of antique and exploded theories about the origin of the world and of man, assailed text-book writers for teaching Darwinism dogmatically like the truths of simple arithmetic and arrayed geologist against astronomer and biologist against both to prove that the theory of evolution rested on a chaos of clashing opinion.

The ignorance of H. G. Wells, according to Dr. Straton, is most conspicuously shown in the following allegation on page 4 of his "Outline of History."

"Vast ages ago, the sun was a spinning, flaming mass of matter, not yet concentrated into a compact centre of heat and light, considerably larger than it is now, and spinning very much faster, and as it whirled, a series of fragments detached themselves from it which became the plannets. Our earth is one of these planets."

"Based On Exploded Hypothesis"

All the reasoning of Wells on the origin of life, according to the clergyman, is based on this "utterly exploded" hypothesis of the origin of life.

"He says", continues Dr. Straton "that the sun is a mass of flaming matter having a diameter of 866,000 miles." Now this is a dogmatic assertion of fact upon which he found some tremendous conclusions later in his book.

But the best of scientific thought today is denying that the sun is a mass of 'flaming matter.' Dr. R. A. Millikan, for example, asserts that real scientists have long ago given up the notion that the sun is a white-hot body engaged in cooling off. He says that scientists have good evidence that the sun has existed much longer than such a process could possibly take.

Backing up the authority of Dr. Millikan with his own, Dr. Straton here added:

"The assumption, too, that heat waves could travel from any fire, however large, across 93,000,000 miles of frozen space is ridiculous on its face."

The new theory advanced by Dr. Millikan and others, according to the clergyman, is that the sun "is simply a centre of electrical energy".

"The power of radioactive matter, as these scientists point out," he continued "is indicated by the fact that, while radium is in process of disintegration into lead it gives off 300,000 times as much heat as a piece of coal gives off in burning up."

Sees Argument for Socialism.

This view, Dr. Straton stated, is "far more credible than the old view." After inflicting this "exploded theory" on his readers, Wells, according to the clergyman, "goes on consistently from his first false premise about the nebular hypothesis and he links man up with the apes and finally winds his book up with a subtle and seductive argument for socialism—all that founded upon the false evolutionary philosophy." Similar teaching, Dr. Straton said, "is behind much of our popular literature, many of our text-books, and the work of some of our teachers, as a general atmosphere."

LONDON, Feb. 17. — (Canadian Press.)—Sir Joseph Cook, Australian High Commissioner in London, will represent Australia at the Genoa Conference.

Salvation Army Bandsman's Testimonial in Favour of
Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets

Mr. Russell Reeve, 23 Cornhill St., Chatham, Ont., says:

Gentlemen: Just a few lines to thank you for the wonderful benefit I have received from Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. For 25 years or more I have suffered from Catarrh of the head, brought on by going under the water too much. I had a very disagreeable discharge from my ear, which was very annoying as well as loathsome. I had tried several different treatments that were recommended to me, but they did not appear to help me. I purchased a box of your Herb Treatment and after using it for a time the discharge had ceased and it has never bothered me for over a year. I am certainly grateful to your agent for ever selling them to me. You can use this letter in any way that you choose for the benefit of others.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are not a "Cure all.' It is simply a combination of herbs, roots, barks and juice of fruits that act directly upon the important internal organs, aiding them to perform their functions properly and thus to expel wastes and poisons from the system. In this natural way the body is given a thorough internal cleansing and then the forces of Nature can act vigorously and freely in rebuilding and restoring the affected parts. Try a box and watch the results. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per box at Bond's Drug Store and Warne's Drug Co., Ltd.

RELEASED FORTY-TWO KIDNAPPED UNIONISTS

Winston Churchill So Informed — Protest From Sinn Fein.

BELFAST, Feb. 17. — (Canadian Press). — It was announced to-day that forty-two of the kidnapped Unionists have been released. Michael Collins telegraphed Winston Churchill this forenoon that he had succeeded in obtaining the release of that number.

Say Lying Statements.

The Executive of the Sinn Fein in Belfast has sent a message to Prof. John MacNeill, speaker of the Dail Eireann, protesting on behalf of the hundred thousand Roman Catholic minority in that city against "lying statements contained in a telegram addressed by Sir James Craig to the Premier of England, in which he states that the recent murderous atrocities to which our people have been subjected were the outcome of raids in Tyrone and Fermanagh, and at Clones Station."

"We assert that it can easily be proved our people were being murdereed daily for a week before either of the occurrences mentioned." The message also stated that Sir James Craig tried to justify these cold-blooded murders.

A DOG'S VIEW OF THIS LIFE.

Ostensibly Written By "Laddy Boy."

BOSTON, Feb. 16. —(Associated Press.)—A dog's view of life in the White House is given in a letter ostensibly written by "Laddie Boy", President Harding's Airedale terrier, to "Tiger", a stage dog, which will appear in the current issue of the National Magazine, to be published to-morrow. The President sent the letter, which was in reply to one from "Tiger", to Joe Mitchell Chapple, editor of the magazine.

"Laddie Boy has made reply," President Harding wrote, "and I am sending you a copy herewith for your information, since you were the bearer of Tiger's message."

After telling of "a thrill that wagged my stub tail violently when I read of the part you are playing, giving to the public a demonstration of the fidelity which characterizes our lives," Laddie's Boy's "letter says:

Their Natural Selves

"Every dog plays his part well when he is merely his natural self, but unhappily many a dog is more or less spoiled by his environment and associations. I imagine I am spoiled some myself. So many people express a wish to see me and I shake hands with so many callers at the Executive Mansion that I fear there are some people who will suspect me of political inclinations—from what I see of politics I am sure I have no such aspirations.

"Of course it is exceedingly interesting and worth while to be in the center of so many actitivies of great importance, but there is an air of earnestness and responsibility about it which I can see in my Chief that I often long for the good old days back home.

"Sometimes the Chief acts as though he would like to sit down when he and I can be alone, and I can look at him with sympathetic eyes and he fixes his gaze on me in a grateful sort of way, as much as to say, "Well, Laddie Boy, you and I are real friends, and we will never cheat each other."

"When the Chief looks me this way, I know that he feels that I will never find fault with him, no matter what he does, and that I never be ungrateful nor unfaithful.

"I realize, that a dog's life is limited in years, but it is, after all, a wonderful life to live. I can believe we leave our impress on our human associates. I suppose, because of my temporary, assignment to the White House, you attribute to me greater knowledge than I can really claim to posess. I am anly 18 months old and I do not know many other dogs. I have heard the Chief talk about some of his dog friends, and I know that he chooses to be known as the friend of good dogs.

"Say! talk about fellowship—me for the the company of a small boy has been taught never to be cruel to animals. That's the association for play that strengthens the heart and brightens the spirits. Still, there are a lot of grown-ups whom it is most agreeable to associate with.

Cold Shoulder

"When I came to the White House the Mistress gave me a rather cold shoulder. I found out after ward it was because she did not want to become attached to me and excessively grieved in case our associated had to be severed. Since then she was 'fallen' for me to beat the hand. She lets me come to the private dining room now and then, and I can coax morsels from the table a whole lot more effectively than a lot of office-seekers can appeal for jobs. But I mustn't talk about these things, for fear I will be giving away some of the White House secrets.

"I have no doubt you will do a lot of good. If you can only have the realization that you are helping to establish a more kindly consideration of the animal life of which we are a part and you can impress your audiences with the beauty of the friendship of dogs for human associates who treat them becomingly and instill in human lives some of the honesty and fidelity which characterizes the lives we dogs live, you will find a compensation in the good you have done which will surpass any other experience in your life".

The letter says there is no cat to play with at the White House and adds:

"I do not think I am sorry thereat. There isn't much fun in pursuing and making war on some other quadruped as some of our forbears seem to think. It is really fine to dwell in tranquility."

"Laddie Boy" signs himself, "Yours, with a cordial wag, a friendly sniff and a joyous greeting." part of their little village.

ARGENTINA BIDS FAR MORE TRADE.

Offers of Credit to France and Belgium.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—Recent offers of credits by the Argentine Government to France and Belgium for the purchase of Argentine produce have been extended to all countries where Argentina has diplomatic representation.

A circular sent out by Foreign Minister Pueyrredon to the various legations says that the Argentine Government, being desirous of making closer all its relations with other nations, thereby putting into practice a policy of economic co-operation, desires that Argentina's representatives abroad should inform the governments to which they are accredited that the Argentine Government is willing to grant all kinds of facilities for buying Argentine meat, cereals, wool and other national produce which may be necessary for the consumption and the manufacturing industries of other countries.

The Argentine foreign representatives are instructed to point out the abundance of Argentina's new cereal harvest, the suitability of Argentine meat for the requirements of all the consuming markets, the fact that previous wool clips have been partially liquidated and that the sale of the present year wool clip has commenced under favorable conditions.

Argentina's representatives are also instructed to put themselves into contact with commercial and industrial centres and inform them fully on the matter.

Some Very Pretty Costumes at the Valentine Party

A Real Jolly Evening Spent at Reid Street Hall.

Reid street hall was the scene of a very enjoyable gathering last evening, when a Valentine party for members of Trinity church and their friends was held under the auspices of the choir. The hall and tables where dainty refreshments were served, were decorated with Valentine favors, and most of the guests attended in costume. These were so many and varied and of such a high order that the judges, Mrs. Thos. Cruikshank, Messrs. C. S. Cummer and W. G. Morrow, had some difficulty in awarding the prizes, which finally went to Mrs. James Ridyard and Miss Lenore Lyle.

Games and contests of all sorts were indulged in for a very jolly evening. Mesdames Lane, Fife and McLeod looked after the refreshments and Mr. George H. King supervised the games, which included a singing contest. Rival musical organizations representing the Metropolitan and Chicago Grand Operas, the Peterborough Male Choir and Pontypool church choir contested for the prizes.

Some of the Costumes.

Some of the most noticeable costumes were those of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Malott, he appearing as an Irish gentleman of olden days, and Mrs. Malott making a very charming Minnehaha; Mr. Morley Lyle was a comical Dinty Moore; Mrs. Geo. H. King apeared as the immortal 'Jiggs,' and Mr. King as a Klansman; Miss Elva Jackson was an excellent Sis Hopkins, and Miss Edwina Paller a 'rube'; Miss Annie Rigby had a George Washington make-up and Mr. W. F. Skitch a policeman's outfit. Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Fleming were a darky and his negro wench; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Browne a Bandsman and Dolly Varden, and Mr. Nash appeared as a Clown.

THE AGENDA

sociation had invited the National Council to send delegates to their annual meeting, and has asked their support along fire prevention lines. The Ottawa Council has recently affiliated with the Dominion Fire Prevention Association. This was left to the meeting to decide.

A copy of resolution forwarded by the Edmonton Local Council was the cause of much discussion. A 1920 amendment to the Criminal Code having absolved all seducers under the age of 18, thereby depriving young girls from protection against seducers under that age, and removing restraint from youths at the age when most needed, the Edmonton Council is asking that the said age limit be abolished.

Several members were of the opinion that this resolution, if endorsed, might conflict with a strong request recently forwarded to the Federal authorities that the age limit in offences of this sort be raised to etghteen years. After considerable discussion, it was finally decided to endorse the Edmonton resolution and advise the Council to continue to press for the desired amendment to the Code.

Interesting Paper.

Miss Hazel Moffat, convenor of the committee on Laws, had prepared a paper on legislation with regard to Illegitimacy, which lack of time made it impossible to hear at length. This will be continued at the next meeting. It is an interesting and clear exposition of legislation which is in some instances disputed by women's organizations in the country, and deals entirely with laws effecting the unmarried mother and the child of unmarried parents. Points in dispute governing the responsibility of the father, maintenance of the mother, and the protection afforded by the state to the child will all be explained in a lucid manner. Objections to some points in this legislation have been received from different parts of the Dominion from married women.

Mrs. S. T. Medd asked the co-operation of the Council in making successful the visit of Dr. Marty, of Toronto, some time in March, to speak before the Home and School Council.

ONLY SUSPICION.

So Declares Counsel in Defense of Carl Ahrens.

KITCHENER, Feb. 17. Canadian Press. — Suspicion and nothing but suspicion, is the only point which the Crown was able to produce in the evidence against Carl Ahrens, according to the main contention of the defence counsel, Brackin, in summing up on behalf of the prisoner at the resumption of the assizes this morning. Counsel went carefully over every point of the evidence, declaring that every step in the chain of evidence brought forward by the Crown was nothing more than suspicion.

POWDER WORKS WRECKED.

NEWARK, N. J., February 17. — Canadian Press. — The Atlas Powder Works at Landing, N.J., were wrecked to-day by a severe explosios, and several persons were killed, according to a report that has been received here.

MRS. ANNA E. HUGHES

Mrs. Anna E. Hughes, 22 West Elm St., Chicago, an artist who enjoys a wide and enviable reputation for skill in China painting, in relating the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac says:

"I haven't enjoyed such good health or felt so well in every way in years as I do now. Before I took Tanlac I was so run down that half an hour at work would tire me completely out and I was actually so nervous and weak that at times the brush would fall from my hands and I would have to quit work for the rest of the day. Every night I would lie awake for hours, miserable and nervous.

"My improvement after the first few doses of Tanlac was rapid and constant. I'm happy to say I'm well and strong now and feel better than in twenty years. Tanlac deserves every word of praise I can give it."

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

Mary Pickford on Styles

Mary Pickford in her frock of black chiffon velvet.

When Mary Pickford returned to the United States from Europe several weeks ago she brought with her several trunk loads of the latest and most fashionable clothing.

They came direct from one of the main fashion setting centres of the world—Paris—and were made by Madame Jeanne Lanvin, the most celebrated designer of youthful frocks in the world. Mary collaborated with Madame Lanvin in designing the dresses.

Now she is going to tell you about the latest styles, in six stories. She has posed in six of her prettiest garments to illustrate her articles.

This is the first "Mary Pickford's Styles for Girls" article.

By Mary Pickford.

The distinction of this Lanvin frock of black chiffon velvet lies in the exquisite eyelet embroidered collars and cuffs of ecru batiste.

REPRIEVE FOR MURDERER ON EVE OF EXECUTION

Said to Have Become Insane Since Sentenced To Die.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—A reprieve was granted late to-day by Judge Kickham Scanlan, to Harvey Church, under sentence to be hanged to-morrow for the murder of two automobile salesmen, to obtain an automobile. The plea for the stay of execution was based on the assertion that Church had become insane since his conviction and sentence.

For a week the jailers have forcibly fed Church since he went on a hunger strike and he had been wheeled into the death cell to-day in an invalid chair.

KEEP AUSTRALIA FOR WHITE RACES.

Islanders Determined to Remain Within the Empire.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Hon. George F. Pierce, Australian Minister for Defence, and British delegate from Australia to the Washington Conference, addressed the Kiwanis Club here to-day and laid emphasis on the determination of Australia to remain a white man's country and to keep within the British Empire. The isolation of the Island Continent was stressed by Mr. Pierce, who stated that Australia had as nearest neighbors group of Pacific islands with a population of 80,000,000 Asiatics, then China, with its hundreds of Millions, and Japan with its seventy or eighty millions. This had brought home to Australians that they were geographically a part of Asia, and that whatever happened in Asia would make or mar their country.

It was this realization that had led to the Union of the Australian States, and, after a century of peaceful possession under the protection of the British fleet, the Commonwealth had built a navy of its own with which signal service had been performed in the war.

PRAIRIE GRAIN RATES NOT DISPROPORTIONATE

With Work Involved, Says C. P. R. Freight Traffic Head.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Examination of W. B. Lanigan, the first witness called on behalf of the Canadian Railways Association in the hearing of the freight rates equalization applications, was completed this afternoon and cross-examintaion of the C.P.R. freight traffic head will begin to-morrow. In regard to the British Columbia equalization claim, Mr. Lanigan submitted the high freight rates had nothing to do with a movement or non-movement of wheat through Pacific Coast ports. Last year when the rates were higher than ever before, was the first time there had been any substantial grain movement from Vancouver.

The prairie grain rates were dealt with by Mr. Lanigan, who claimed that the returns to the company were not disproportionate to the amount of work required of it in handling these shipments. In reference to the Maritime provinces claim for lower rates based on an assertion that favored treatment in the matter of railway rates was a pre-confederation promise, the witness declared that confederation promises had nothing to do with the fixing of rates by his company, and that manufacturers in the maritime provinces were already enjoying substantial benefits in the matter of freight rates which were not being extended to manufacturers in Montreal and Toronto.

IMPARTIAL ENQUIRY IN CLONES SHOOTING.

Northern and Southern Governments Agree on Investigation.

LONDON, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons to-day that according to the latest information, 26 of the kidnapped Unionists had been released through the exertions of the provisional government. He said both the Northern and Southern Governments had agreed that there should be an impartial investigation of last Saturday's shooting at Clones. Accordingly, he had notified them that the Imperial Government would place at their disposal any suitable judicial officer on whom they might agree, who would conduct a public inquiry.

TWO MEN SHOT.

BELFAST, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—While Mr. Britten, a draper with a store in Main street, and Mr. Gallagher, a whiskey dealer, were in Gallagher's saloon in Donegal to-day, both were shot and fatally injured. Members of the Irish Republican Army later arrested Private Alfred Thompson of the Rifle Brigade in connection with the shooting. Ernest Lawson, a former soldier and son of a public house keeper in Donegal, also was arrested. It was alleged that he pointed a loaded revolver at two members of the Irish Republican Army and that he was in possession of knowledge concerning the shooting of Britton and Gallagher.

TWENTY-FOUR RETURN.

BELFAST, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Twenty-four of the Belfast Unionists kidnapped in last week's raids were conveyed to the Cavan Station this afternoon and dispatched to various destinations. Major Moutray Grand Master of the Tyrone Orangemen, was believed to have been among those released. A majority of them were elderly men, wearing rugs around their shoulders.

CANADIAN EXCHANGE AT LOWEST IN TWO YEARS

Dollar Recovering Under Expansion of Export Trade.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(By Canadian Press).—Further strength in Canadian exchange to-day made Canadian dollars worth 96.43 cents the highest price in over two years. One year ago Canadian dollars were selling in New York at 12 per cent. discount.

While strength in Sterling exchange is thought to have been primarily responsible for to-day's increase in the value of Canadian money, financial authoritative attribute the steady recovery of the Canadian dollar mainly to the excellent trade condition of the Dominion.

Expansion in Canada's trade while exports from the United States to the Dominion have been declining sharply, seems to be the best explanation for the improvement in Canadian currency in the New York money market.

DENIAL.

With frightened lips, I shall not ever say,
"I know Him not," for none will question me.
I shall not need to speak a word to-day,
To publish to the world my loyalty.

And yet a hundred times there comes the voice,
"Know you this Man, the Master?" and behold,
A hundred times I make the fateful choice,
To-day, as the apostle once of old.

And ev'ry unkind word or straying thought,
And every deed of hatred or disdain,
Say plainly to the world, "I know Him not."
And then the cock crows—bitter morn of pain!

And would to-day that they might be—
The times I have denied Him—only three-

HAD BAD COUGH AND SORE THROAT

Never neglect a cough or cold however slight. If you do it can have but one result: it leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. A single dose of will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks, promptly eradicates the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert Marsh, Lower L'Ardoise, N. S., writes: "About a year ago I contracted a cold accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor but what he prescribed did me so little good I became discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him away to get me a bottle. I started using it, and after a couple of days I found that I was getting relief, and after taking two bottles the soreness in my throat seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used five bottles both my sore throat and the cough were gone. I would not be without "Dr. Wood's" for any money."

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs.

Could Not Feel Better

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loverna, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, become very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicines and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

AN INSIDE BATH MAKES YOU LOOK AND FEEL FRESH

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, declaring this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before eating more food.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others have bilious attacks or constipation should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to show the value of inside bathing.

G. T. R. EARNINGS HIGHER

MONTREAL, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Grand Trunk traffic receipts for the week to February 14, last, were $1,941,096 an increase of 4$9,531 over the corresponding week of last year, when they totalled $1,891,565.

DO YOUR BOWELS MOVE REGULARLY, OR DO THEY BECOME CONSTIPATED

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material inconvenience may not be felt at once from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N.S., writes: "For over a year I suffered with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicines, but could only get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I procured two vials of them, but after I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."

Price, 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AT THE THEATRES

CAPITOL—A wonderful show, including "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford and Charlie Chaplin in "The Idle Class."

ROYAL—Buck Jones in Western Drama, "Straight From the Shoulder." Sunshine comedy, "Singer Midgets' Side Show," and balance of high-class programme.

REGENT—Herbert Rawlinson in "Cheated Hearts," "The Silent Barrier." Also Eddie Polo and Vodaville.

GRAND— Saturday, Feb. 18—Walter Scanlon in "Irish Eyes."

AT THE CAPITOL.

Charlie Chaplin is at his best at the Capitol this week. "The Idle Class," his latest comedy, is a scream from start to finish, in which the great fun-maker has a dual role that keeps his audience laughing through reels of mirthful farce.

The absent-minded inebriated husband, whose wife starts in to reform from his evil ways, is the other character, and Charlie's resemblance to him leads the wife to pursue him in vain and fond attempts through a maze of weird combinations. Playing golf, riding the donkey, hiding in the bushes, getting entangled with a hoop skirt and a man in armor at a masquerade ball, Charlie dodges his supposed wife and his irate father-in-law in one of the funniest pictures in his funny career.

J. Rufus Wallingford and Blackie Daw, so familiar to many through the medium of the magazine and the stage, breeze into Battlesburg, a typical "hick" town, with the avowed intention of making a half million out of the "rubes" and doing a quick "getaway." The startling discovery of their "covered carpet sack," the instantaneous proposal of a half-million dollar company, the hypnotic methods which Wallingford uses to separate the villagers from their money, make an interesting feature, which has a highly moral ending, regardless of its "crooked" beginning. A delightful twist to events, the good fortune of Eddie Lamb and the final vindication of the "great little tack" to the surprise of the "crooks," provide a pleasant finale all round to a picture that reveals a great deal of quick action and rapid-fire thinking.

AT THE ROYAL.

In yesterday's issue of this paper the Royal advertised that its programme would contain a Fox feature called 'Straight From the Shoulder,' with the celebrated Buck Jones in its leading role. By mistake the Toronto exchange sent a Buck Jones feature, entitled "Bar Nothin'." The mistake of our Toronto shipper was not discovered in time to rectify the seeming error in our advertisement. However, Buck Jones in "Bar Nothin'" gives a portrayal of Western ranch life superior to what has yet been seen here in Western pictures. The play is a stirring drama that fairly carries the zone, action and breezy virility of the prairie and mountain. The scenes showing a mirage in the desert are wonderful in their striking beauty and awesome reality. The plot bristles with excitement, and the horsemanship shown is beyond compare. Shirley Mason, who has captured the hearts of several continents, appears to great advantage in "Queeeni." "Queenie" is a pretty little waif who enters the employ of an old millionaire miser as kitchen girl. By her honesty, high principle and devotion, she gains the affection of the old man, and more than the mere affection of a rich young man. The story is a pretty one, with tears and comedy mixed, but with comedy in the betting odds. Every one has read that a tiny mouse will drive an elephant into hysterics, but in the laughable Sunshine Comedy of the Midgets you see a big elephant pick a live mouse from a picnic basket and eat it! Then, the great pachydermon gives an exhibition resembling a cross between the hoochi-coochi and a box car gone crazy. How is this scene produced? Quien Sabe! See if you can find out!

AT THE GRAND.

MUSICAL FEATURE.

A special orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Scanlan's personal music director will be this year's principal feature, also the singing of seven new songs written for the young star's use in "Irish Eyes" the new comedy drama in which he will appear on his second annual tour at the Grand, Saturday February 18, matinee and night.

The play is in three acts and is a wide departure from the usual run of Irish comedy dramas, with the scenes laid in New York and the ancient city of Galway, Ireland. A very realistic storm at sea is said to be the principal scenic feature, which requires a revolving stage for its vivid and quick changes and elaborate lighting effects. The entire production is said to be massive, calling for an extra number of stage hands in every city.

GREAT MELODRAMA.

"A Little Girl in a Big City," one of the greatest melodramas ever written, and which toured the country from coast to coast half a dozen times, will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 20, 21 and 22, with matinee Wednesday.

Here is a play with comedy, heart interest, thrills, pathos and everything else that the public crave for in entertainments of this kind and which they are always willing to pay their money to see and enjoy, with a magnificent scenic equipment and an excellent company, many of whom were with the famous play when it was originally produced at Keith's Gotham Theatre in New York, where it enjoyed a long and prosperous run.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.

In the powerful delirium scene in the second act of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," Frank Base, gives a scene from actual life such as may be seen in many of the homes throughout the country, even to-day, with Prohibition as part of the Constitution.

Even dramatic critics throughout the country admit that the portrayal is true to life and it is literally holding "the mirror up to nature." It is a story of heart interest, and in some way touches upon life that is familiar to all who see it. The new version that is being presented under the management of Arthur C. Aiston, was specially arranged for this company by James W. Castle, and is not to be confounded with any other version ever shown.

The company this season is without doubt one of the best in this country, and among them may be mentioned Frank Base, Charles Reilly, the noted comedian and singer, Miss Violet Cameron and Miss Lucille Lennon.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room opens a 3-days' engagement at the Grand, starting Thursday next, Feb. 23rd, with a popular ladies' and children's matinee on Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

AT THE REGENT.

To-day the Regent has on its bill two splendid features. The first, based on Louis Tracy's well known novel, 'The Silent Barrier.' There are some splendid Alpine scenes in this picture. The other is Herbert Rawlinson in 'Cheated Hearts,' a picture with beautiful Oriental settings. Eddie Polo appears in a stirring number of the Cyclone Smith series. There is also another lively western, 'The Alarms,' dealing with the adventures of a school teacher. A laughable comedy, 'A Family Affair' and a Vod-a-Vil Reel, showing four fine stage acts, completes a most interesting and varied programme.

MONTREAL OATS FIRM

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—There was no further change in the local market for cash oats Thursday, but the feeling was firm at the recent advance. A fair business was done in flour at the improved price. There was nothing new in the mill-feed market. Owing to the steady upward tendency lately prices have scored an advance in rolled oats. A good steady trade prevails in baled hay. The local egg market was without feature. Trade in potatoes is quiet. The butter market was rather more active with a steady undertone. The cheese market remains very firm.

ST. PETER'S WON FROM NORMALITES

Score Was 7-1 in Good Fast Game of Hockey

In the Senior Interscholastic games, St. Peter's School hockey team met the Normalite boys at the Brock Street Rink last evening and trimmed the latter by a score of 7-1 for the former. It was a clean and fast exhibition of hockey, with B. F. Thornton acting as referee, and a good sheet of ice. Line-up as follows:

St. Peter's—Goal, R. McCabe; right defence, F. Wolfe; left defence, F. Holland; centre, L. Collins; right wing, S. McPherson; left wing, J. Killoran; subs., P. Milloy and T. Buchanan.

On Tuesday next, Feb. 21st, St. Peter's team meets the P.C.I. "A" and on Thursday, Feb. 23rd, the Normalites compete with the P.C.I. "B" team.

HOCKEY NOTES

The Fire Hall Falcons won their fifth consecutive victory last night at Mark street rink, when they defeated the Trail Rangers, the score being 4-3. The game was fast and furious. The Hose Men led the scoring in the first period 2 to 1. The Pathfinders evened the count in the second period. McCall, Miller, Ash starred for the Rangers, while Gray, Northcotte, Naish and McNeely played splendid hockey for the Fire men. The Fire Hall victories are: Played 6, lost 1 and won 5.

The fast Alert team, though without some of their regulars, won a stubborn and keenly-contested game from the Bulldogs, 6-4, at Mark Street Rink Wednesday night. In a previous encounter the Alerts beat the Bulldogs 7-0, but the Bulldogs strengthened their line-up, and every goal the Alerts registered was well earned. The ice was fast, and although neither team had a substitute, the hard pace was maintained by both teams throughout. At the end of the first period, the score stood 3-3, but when the smoke of the second period had arisen, the Alerits had bulged the hemp for three more goals, while the best the Bulldogs could do was to get one more, leaving the score 6-4. Every man on the ice played well, and there was no choice. Line-ups:

Alerts—Goal, A. Delehaye; defence Ash and G. Miller; wings, M. McCall and A. Baird; centre, J. Baird.

Bulldogs — Goal, N. Sargisson; defence, R. Lord and V. Skitch; wings, M. Fowler and W. Northcott; centre, G. Pogue.

Mr. Frank Gray refereed very efficiently.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—Aura Lee seniors showed improved form last night and defeated Granites in a thrilling game by 4 to 2. The Red and White clearly earned the verdict and this despite the fact that they tossed away many chances to score by failure to pass the puck. Stephenson, however, was not one of the selfish ones, and he figured in the scoring of three of the goals. The win placed Aura Lee further on in front of the league race, and they cannot be dislodged from the top rung in the regular schedule.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 17—Lindsaq midgets defeated the local juniors here last night by 5 to 4 and won theO.H.A. junior round by 12 to 4. The game was fast through out ,and in the first period Belleville scored twice, while Lindsay failed to tally.

The visitors notched four goals in the second, and in the third Belleville scored twice and Lindsay once. Mills ,at centre, starred for Lindsay.

Lindsay—Goal, McLeory; defence Hall and Reeves; centre, Mills,; wings, Wiliams and Chambers; subs Bissette and Martin.

Belleville—Goal, Hunter; defence Holway and Hagerman; centre, Wardhaugh; wings, John Cummins and Goyer; subs., James Cummins and Scott.

Referee—H. W. Mitchell.

A Query a Day

(By Billy Evans)

There is a runner on first and one man out. On the pitch the runner starts to steal second. It is a wildly pitched ball. In an effort to get out of its way, the ball struck the bat. A fair fly ball was the result. It was caught by the first base man who completed a double play, before the runner who started to steal could return to that base. Is it a double play? Is there a rule that makes such a happening accidental?

Up until 1920 such an act on the part of the batsman was considered legal, and any play that followed was the same as ordinary pitch. At the start of the 1920 season the rule was changed, making such a happening accidental, and immediately suspending play.

However, this rule proved unsatisfactory and the rule makers have gone back to the old code, making such a play legal. It therefore was a double play that retired the side.

TOM GIBBONS A CONTENDOR?

Has a Strong Following Because He Packs a Healthy Knockout.

(By Billy Evans)

Who should be the next opponent of Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world?

What about Capt. Bob Roper, who, after winning laurels in the World War, decided to continue his fighting in the roped arena?

Martin was going along nicely until Fay Keiser won a decision over Jimmy Bronson's protege.

Recently Martin was badly injured in an automobile accident. He has entirely recovered, however, and has resumed training.

Can Bartly Madden, who recently went 10 rounds with Tommy Gibbons, thereby breaking his run of consecutive knockouts, make it interesting for Dempsey?

And then there is the colored fighter, Harry Wills. In size Wills is the one contender who shapes up well with Dempsey. As a matter of fact, he has a slight edge physically.

What about Harry Wills?

Dempsey's Next Opponent Must be Good Box Office Attraction to Suit Kearns.

In a great many cases contenders for a title are worked up by clever press agenting until the public becomes much enthused.

That was the case in the Dempsey Carpentier bout. Really, Carpentier never had much of a chance. However, the line of dope that was passed out caused about 90,000 to want to see the bout. I was one of them.

The fight fans pay the freight.

They make possible the enormous purses paid the fighters, and the big profits realized by the promoters.

It seems to me the dear old public should have something to say as to who should be the next opponent of Champion Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey says that he hasn't drawn the color line. That he will meet Wills if the public desires such a match. Jack says he doubts if such a bout would prove popular.

What does General Public think about a meeting between the champion of the world and Wills, admittedly the best colored heavyweight??

KITCHENER ELIMINATES WIARTON "RED MEN"

LISTOWEL, Feb. 17.—Kitchener eliminated Wiarton in the second round of the O.H.A. intermediate series here last night by defeating them 1 to 0. On two former occasions the teams had met Wiarton, having defeated Kitchener in Wiarton by two to one, and Kitchener having won in their home town by 4 to 3.

"Red" Gildned scored the only goal of the game in the first period, passing the Wiarton defense and out guessing Nimmo. Kitchener had the better of the play for the remainder of the game.

The team work of the Green and White was too effective for the Red men, who relied largely on individual rushes, which were broken up by the husky defensemen from Kitchener.

There are plenty of rough playing, in spite of the fact that Referee Noble of Toronto penalized many of the players for tripping and body checking.

CONTENDERS FOR JACK DEMPSEY'S CROWN

Here is ome interesting dope on the contenders for the heavyweight title held by Jack Dempsey.

Tommy Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight, who packs a real knockout punch, was born March 22, 1893.

Gibbons, in the last two years, has come to the front with rapid strides. Many experts believe he is the one fighter who has a chance to dethrone Jack Dempsey.

Gibbons is an Irish-American. There is no better combination for a real fighter. That's Tommy Gibbons. He has been fighting since 1913.

Bill Brennan was born in County Mayo, Ireland, on June 23, 1893. He comes from good old fighting stock.

Brennan has had two cracks at Dempsey, and failed in each attempt. In his last bout he gave Dempsey the battle of his life for 12 rounds. Several times he appeared to have the champion in distress.

Brennan has been fighting since 1914. Jack Dempsey is the only fighter who ever knocked him out.

Captain Bob Roper was born on March 2, 1894, of American parentage. He has been fighting only since 1919. He took up boxing as a soldier in the World War, and has continued in the fight game.

Harry Wills, generally regarded as the best of the colored heavyweights, was born in 1892. Wills has fought the best of them. The only blots on his record are two knockouts adminisetred by Sam Langford.

Bob Martin was born Nov. 11, 1897. He started fighting professionally in 1919. He began his career as a fighter with the A.E.F. in France.

NEXT?

February 4, 1922—George Cohan, telling how he'd run a big league ball club if he bought one, said one thing he'd be a stickler for was clean uniforms. Four uniforms per man, was his idea, two for road and two for home games, and no suit to be worn more than a week without washing.

February 8, 1922—Bill Wrigley, boss of the Chicago Cubs, issues an order to his team that this season each man would be given four uniforms, two for road and two for home games, and that a uniform must not be worn more than a week without washing.

Who's next?

All San Francisco Infield For Cincinnati

SAN FRANCISCO, February 17.—Four lads who played together on the sandlots are to make up the all-San Francisco infield of the Cincinnati National League team.

Chums from childhood, this quartette will, by a trick of fate, all be together again when the next season opens. Just now they are at home getting ready for it.

Sammy Bohne will play second base. He once was with Seattle of the Coast League. Cincinnati paid $17,50 for him.

Jimmy Caveney, considered by many the greatest shortstop ever turned out by the Coast League, is slated for that position with Cincinnati.

Joe Pioelli, who had two chances in the American League with Chicago and Detroit, is slated to hold down third base. Pinelli says he intends to stick in the big show this time.

It is believed these four boys form the only infield quartette to hail from the same city.

Final Game in Ladies' Curling

Rink Skipped by Mrs. W. A. Sanderson Won the Trophy—The Scores.

The final game in the Ladies' curling contest for the Gibson cup was played at the Charlotte street rink, between the rinks of Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Mrs. V. Eastwood, resulting in a score of 8-6 for Mrs. Sanderson's rink, which accordingly wins the cup for this year.

The first game for the consolation prize, the Waddell cup, have been played off, all seven rinks taking part with the exception of the winners of the Gibson cup. The first round resulted as follows:

Miss Gladman 10, vs. Mrs. H. O. Fisk, 7.

Miss Morrow 10, vs. Mrs. Waddell, 6.

Mrs. W. H. Hill 19, vs. Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, 6.

Mrs. V. Eastwood drew a bye.

Miss Morrow vs. Mrs. W. H. Hill.

Miss F. Gladman vs. Mrs. V. Eastwood.

Two games will be played, and the winners will then play off for the cup.

Often there is a spot in the carpet just below the steam cock in the radiator. This comes from the outlet leaking and dropping water down on the floor.

Avoid this by taking an ordinary baking powder can, putting a wire handle on it, ad hanging it over the steam cock. This will catch dripping water. To make it look best, tint the can the same color as the radiator.

ORCHESTRA OF NOISE MAKERS.

Producing Harmony From Sounds of City and Country and Animals' Cries.

At a concert given recently in Paris by Signor Marinetti, the orchestra of the future, according to its conductor, was illustrated. It was called the band of the Futurist Noise Makers. Many new instruments, or machines, rather, were installed. Their names indicate their character —"howlers," "croakers," "growlers," "shriekers", and so on. The avowed object of this conglomeration of instruments, according to the Signor, was to "musicalize noise", rendering the sounds of the city and country together with cries of animals. There were twenty-nine horrendous machines supplementing the regular orchestral instruments. Pieces played at the Paris concert represented "large cross-sections of life." Thus, the dawn was portrayed in tone as medley of sounds made by milk wagons and trucks rumbling over the cobblestones, the shrieks of factory whistles, the grind of wheels on tracks and the din of traffic. Sad to relate, the audience in the Champs-Elysees Theatre recived the "compositions" played by Signor Marinetti and his orchestha with howls of laughter and hoots of derision.

Animal Adjuncts.

Futurists are now experimenting with animals adjuncts to their orchestras, Dogs, donkeys, cats, lions and hyenas have been tried out. William Gardiner, an Englishman, wrote a book almost a hundred years ago, entitled "The Music of Nature". In it, he expounds a quaint and curious theory that the sounds of art are derived from the sounds of nature. To prove his case, Mr. Gardiner took great pains in reproducing sounds of the barnyard and forest and domestic animals, and found analogies for them in the well-tempered scale. n the work of Weckerlin, entitled "Musiciana", there is reproduced an old engraving of what was known as a cat organ, cats being used for notes. The cats were confined in wooden boxes, their tails protuding, which were pinched or pulled by the player to produce music. In this particular engraving a rogue with one leg is depicted as the performer, while around his is a choir made up of dogs, monkeys asses and cows.

A Cat Organ.

Cat organs seem to have been fairly common in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century. Juan Cristoval Calvete, has left us a description of a cat organ which was played by Philip the Second, King or Spain, when he went to Brussels, in 1549, to visit his father. Twenty small boxes, each held a cat, and the protruding tails were bound to the keys of the clavier by cords so that it was only necessary to press down one of the keys to produce the "music." To add to the novelty of the concert, a bear was trained to play on this cat organ.

Both in Germany and Italy, In the Seventeenth Century, there were many instances of animal music. The cackling of hens, the purring of cats, the barking of dogs, the bleating of sheep, and the lowing of cattle were introduced into compositions by composers though mostly with comic intent.

In 1727, a book entitled "Lees Chats" appeared in Paris, the author of which was F. A. Paddis de Moncrif. This author proved that cats were the most musical of animals, and that their tones were worth serious study. He pointed out that the Egyptians had discovered this fact, and went on to say:

Modern Music Limited.

Modern music is limited to a certain division of sounds which we call tones and semitones and we ourselves are limited enough to believe that this same division is all that can be called music; therefore we have the injustice to exclude bellowing, mewing, whinnying sounds of which the intervals and the relations, perhaps admirable of their kind, are beyond our understanding, because they go beyond the limits in which we are restrained. The Egyptians, no doubt, were more enlightened; they had really studied the music of animals; they knew that a sound can neither be true nor false, and that nearly always it appears to be either one or the other only because we have the habit of judging an assemblage of sounds immediately as harmony or dissonance; they knew, for example, whether the cat used our scale or whether she availed herself of the tones between the half tones, which would make a prodigious difference between their music and ours."

It looks as if our modern Futurists were progressing backward.

SLOW BALL IS GREAT AID TO THE PITCHERS

Walter Johnson Says He Regrets He Didn't Master Change of Pace Early in His Career.

(BY WALTER JOHNSON)

CAN A PITCHER prolong his career, if at the very outset he develops a slow ball and a change of pace?

* * * * *

I am positive a change of pace will prove most beneficial to any pitcher. Not only will it tend to prolong his career, but it will make his task of winning ball games much easier.

I am sorry that I didn't try to master a slow ball earlier in my career. Some pitchers take naturally to the throwing of a slow ball.

It is a matter of record, that pitchers using a very fast ball have always had more or less difficulty mastering the slow ball.

I am at a loss to account for such a condition, unless it is because the grip on the ball is much different in throwing the fast or slow ball.

I have spent much time of late trying to perfect a slow ball, but have met with only fair success.

I have found it a hard matter to use my fast ball motion in delivering the slow ball. As a matter of fact, I have never been able to consistently do it. I have a bad habit of shifting my style slightly, which, of course, tips off the batter to the slow ball.

Despite the fact that the slow ball requires no great physical effort, it is not necessarily an easy delivery on the arm. The greatest asset of the slow ball in prolonging the career of a fast ball pitcher is that it makes it easier for him to win. If the opposition starts clouting his fast one he has something different in reserve.

You can take this tip from me, as one who knows, that the fast ball delivered with a natural motion is much easier on the arm than any other delivery used by a pitcher.

125 SAT DOWN AT THE BANQUET TABLE

St. Paul's Ladies' Aid Hosts at Very Enjoyable Function.

Members and friends of St. Paul's Church to the number of over 125 attended a very enjoyable banquet last evening, tendered by the Ladies Aid Society of the church to the choir. The supper, served at 6.30, was excellently carried out, with delicious viands prepared by the ladies, who surpassed themselves on this occasion, and with charming decorations of hall and tables in the Valentine manner, cut flowers, gay red hearts, cupids and arrows making an attractive setting for the jolly crowd who assembled for a social evening.

At the conclusion of the repast, a musical programme was rendered by well-received vocal solos from Mrs. F. E. Ellis and Mrs. Wells, an instrumental duet by Martin Chenhall, Junior, and Alex. Donnelly and a chorus by the men.

Guests of Honor

The guests of honor for the eveing, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ellis, who are leaving the city next week to take up residence in Woodstock were eulogizedfor their work in connection with St. Paul's church, during their stay of over eleven years in Peterboro. The Rev. Mr. Pogue expressed his sincere appreciation of their efforts, dwelling especially on the hearty co-operation in all church work, Mr. Ellis having been elder manager, assistant superintendent in the Sunday School, and teacher of a boys' class, and Mrs. Ellis giving such excellent service in the choir, doing a great deal of the solo work in recent years.

Extols Choir's Work

Mr. James Connal, for the Board of Managers, expressed the appreciation of the church for the work of the choir, and Mr. Wm. Madill on behalf of the managers and the congregation, then presented Mrs. Ellis with a beautiful silver tea service. Mr. Ellis, for his wife and himself, made a fitting and suitable acknowledgement.

Sheriff Hall, senior elder of the church, spoke in enthusiastic terms of the work of the Ladies' Aid Society and the choir, and the evening was brought to a close by the hearty vote of thanks to the Ladies' Aid Society by the choir, the vote moved by Mr. D. H. Moore and seconded by Mr. H. McEwen. Mrs. C. A. White, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, acknowledged the vote, and once more the work of the choir was praised.

The Ladies' Aid also on this occasion presented choir with a set of new collars for the ladies' gowns.

A. R. J. HALL, PETERBORO: PRESUMED TO BE DEAD

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Justice Mowat, at Osgoode Hall to-day, made an order declaring Adam R. J. Hall, of Peterborough, missing since 1904, to be presumed dead. Policy of one thousand dollars in the Canadian Woodmen of the World goes to his, Hall's wife. The last she heard of her husband was in September, 1908, when he wrote from Toronto, saying he would be home Thursday or Friday for a few hours, and telling her not to write.

FUTURE OF WOOLLEN CLOTH INDUSTRY HERE.

Rests with the Canadian Merchant Tailors, Says Mr. Worth.

Mr. Edgar Worth, manager of the Canadian Woolens, read a paper on Canadian Woollens before the convention of Retail Merchants at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Worth in the course of his remarks referred to the future of the woollen cloth industry as resting with the merchant tailors, saying that cloth could be manufactured in Canada as well as anywhere else, if the industry were given the opportunity. Unfortunately there was a prejudice in favor of cloth from Great Britain, and this prejudice was greater than in regard to any other article.

He fully believed that given the opportunity, Canadian manufacturers could manufacture as satisfactory cloths as any other country. As for the question of styles, "if the woollen mills were given the proper support you would get the styles."

It happened very often, he said, that cloths were made much cheaper in Canada, and "if we could get the word 'imported removed from our vocabulary, it would be the biggest blessing you could give."

He asked for the cooperation of the merchant tailors of Canada, and referred to the fact that no less than $62,000,000 worth of woollen goods came into Canada during the last fiscal year, most of that being woollen cloth.

INSURANCE RATES.

TORONTO, Feb. 17. — (Canadian Press).—While the Ontario Legislature probably cannot undertake to regulate insurance rates, it is able to place itself on record as opposed to the rate which, it believes, bears too heavily upon the public, and that course is expected to be one a special committee on insurance will advise the House to take. It is understood that members favor recommendation to the House denouncing the existing fire insurance rates in Ontario.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Shippings and Rails of investment class lifted the average of prices substantially at the opening of to-day's Stock Market, but gains soon were cancelled as a result of renewed pressure against Oils and Independent Steels. Initial quotations reflected further buying of United Fruit, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Mercantile Marine Preferred, Lehigh Valley and Reading. Shorts made a drive against Mexican Petroleum, probably on rumors of an increased export tax, and Crucible Steeel re-acted one point. Fractional losses were made by Anaconda Copper, People's Gas and Corn Products.

Much of the early selling was traceable to professional sources; and seemed to be based on the unfavorable annual report of the United States Rubber Company. That stock was well supported, however, yielding only fractionally. Gulf States Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker were heavy with Crucible, and Mexican Petroleum showed a marked depression, losing two points. The rally before noon was led by inactive specialties of the food and textile varieties, also General Asphalt and American Can. Coalers were the only features of the Railway list, Reading and Lehigh Valley gaining one point. Call money opened and renewed at four per cent.

The market showed little resisting power when bears made a savage attack on Mexican Petroleum on reports that a well had gone to salt water. Mexican Petroleum slumped 3 5-8, Pan American 2¼, and Pierce Oil Preferred six points. Favorite issues were in the free supply with Studebaker, Bethlehem and Crucible Steels losing a point or more. In specialties considerably lower prices prevailed for some issues. United Drug yielding 2½ and Adams Express 2¼.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Sterling exchange irregular; demand 4.34 3-4; Canadian dollars, 3 3-4 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Opening wheat quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4c lower, with May 1.39 to 1.39 3-4, and July 1.21 3-4 to 1.22, were followed by an irregular but general decline.

Corn and oats eased down with wheat. After opening 1-8 to 3-4 off, May 62 5-8 to 63, the corn market recovered to some extent. Oats started a shade to 3-8c lower, May 42 to 42¼, and later rallied a little.

The absence of offerings made provisions average higher, despite contrary action of hog and grain values.

MONTREAL QUIET.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press).—During the first half-hour this morning the local Stock Exchange was quiet and trading uninteresting. Only a few fractional variations were recorded.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A strong tone prevailed on the local Stock Exchange this morning, and gains were scored by a number of stocks. Abitibi, the most active of the listed stocks, advanced 2 1-8 points to 33 3-4. Burt was 1¼ higher on the close at 112 3-4; Steel of Canada ⅝ higher at 57¼, while Bank of Montreal, on odd lot transactions, sold at 217, or 3¼ points above its last sale. Bonds showed little improvement in the volume of business. Unlisted stocks were active, with Pressed Metals leading the list. Sales weer made at 41, with the close at 40½, or 2½ points above yesterday's close.

Here's How to Tell Imitation Furs From Real Thing! Microscope Does It

BY LEON A. HAUSMAN, Ph.D.,
Professor of Cornell University.

One of the latest developments of industrial micro-analysis is in the field of the fur industry, where a study of the microscopic structure of animal hairs has shown it to be possible to identify any sample of hair no matter how much it has been stained, clipped, pulled, or otherwise altered.

That such knowledge is of immense value in the fur industry can be readily seen. For the microscopist can now distinguish real furs from spurious in a definite and scientific manner.

Consider the structure of an animal hair shaft (Figure 11). The hair is not a single horny cylinder, but consists of definite structural parts, which are different for each animal. Through the centre of the shaft runs the pith, technically known as the medulla, consisting of a number of cells or chambers, one above the other, with a network of horny threads between.

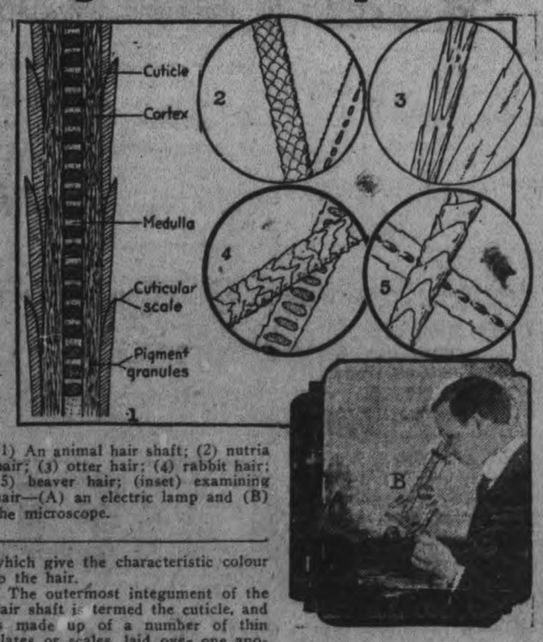
Like Scales on Fish.

Of course medullae differ in different hairs, but this is their usual make-up. The medulla is enclosed by the cortex, a firm, horny, rather elastic, transparent substance, composed of many minute, elongated cells fused together.

Within and among the cells of the cortex lie the pigment granules, which give the characteristic colour to the hair.

The outermost integument of the hair shaft is termed the cuticle, and is made up of a number of thin plates or scales, laid over one another in an imbricate arrangement, much like the scales on a fish.

It is the forms and varying relationships of these different elements of the hair shaft structure which make it possible to say from what animal any given hair sample was taken.



(1) An animal hair shaft; (2) nutria hair; (3) otter hair; (4) rabbit hair; (5) beaver hair; (inset) examining hair—(A) an electric lamp and (B) the microscope.

Take some of the most common cases of fur misnaming, for instance the selling of the South American coypu rat (called ordinarily, nutria) for otter. Figure 2 shows the appearance of the hair of the nutria after it has been prepared and examined under the miscroscope. Compare this with a hair from the European otter (Figure 3). No one acquainted with the methods of micro-analysis could be for a moment deceived.

Can't Deceive Microscope.

And let us examine a few hairs from a low-priced "beaver" set. It is likely this is nothing but clipped rabbit or hare. Figure 4 shows the appearance of typical rabbit hairs under the microscope, and figure 5 the appearance of true beaver.

Hairs are, for ordinary first examination, washed in a mixture of equal parts of 95 per cent alcohol and ether, to remove any oily material from the cuticle and then mounted in some one of the various media used by microscopists

Mounting means placing the hairs on a glass slide, dropping upon them a minute quantity of the mounting medium, and covering with an extremely thin circle of glass especially made for this purpose This is the procedure in use for hasty examinations Often no more complicated treatment is necessary.

The equipment necessary, besides various stains and reagents, is chiefly the microscope and an electric lamp.

IRISH FREE STATE BILL PASSES HOUSE.

LONDON, Feb. 17 (Can. Press)—The Bill establishing an Irish Free State passed its second reading in the House of Commons to-day, after an amendment offered by Charles Craig, an Ulster Unionist, for altering the boundary provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty had been defeated by a vote of 302 to 60.

WOULD REJECT BILL.

Lord Hugh Cecil charged the Government with treating the Sinn Fein as if it were a constituted Government, adding that 'Now we have found out it is not a Government, and that terrible crimes are breaking out, I think the Bill ought to be rejected."

Former Premier Asquith vigorously supported the Bill, stating that the boundary question was an integral part of the treaty, and that it would be impossible for the Government to escape the charge of gross bad faith if that part were repudiated.

Through the Canadian Exhibition Commission the exhibit has been arranged with Mr. Despard in charge and an engineer from the Department of Raiways and Canals to explain the large detailed map of the waterway.

President G. K. Fraser of the Trent Waterways Development Association is attending the show at his own expense, and for the five days of the event will be at the exhibit offering first-hand information on the route. The energy, and interest, and expense of the president are a valuable asset to the exhibit. He will supervise the distribution of the illustrated booklets on the Trent waterways. Three thousand of these booklets were turned off the presses in record time, conveyed to Toronto yesterday by Secretary Leon Fraser and taken over by President Fraser who was due to reach New York at 11.32 last night.

Advertising Waters.

Further supplies of literature will be forwarded if the 3,000 do not prove to be sufficient. The first order had to be hurried off and the illustrations are not colored. It is planned to have the next lot in colors. Through courtesy of the United States Educational Department moving pictures showing the route in considerable detail will be shown, and these pictures are considered a valuable advertising medium

No Grant Yet.

Although as yet no grant has been made bp the Council to the Trent Waterways Developement Association, this city has been given a prominent space in the booklets. The space has been allotted according to the assistance of the municipalities. Midland, Lindsay, Orillia and Barrie that gave subscriptions are given prominent positions but the importance of Peterboro is recognized by conceding to it the first full page. An aerial view of the city and photographs of the hydraulic lift lock and the municipal waterworks are shown The prominent place given Peterboro will be recognized by the Council officers of the association believe. Grants of $300 were made by the municipalities of Lindsay (which is not directly on the route) Orillia, Midland and Barrie. There is considerable reading matter in the booklets. The double centre page contains a map showing the route from Trenton to Georgian Bay.

Shopping Comfort

You were going shopping to-day, weren't you, to look for a comfortable rocker for the living room and price that good-looking willow bird cage you saw last week.

But it is such a horrid day, it is snowing and the wind whistles and howls around the house so that you half shiver as you hover near the cheery fire.

So you yawn and curl up comfortably in your favorite chair, thankful that you are not compelled to go out, but regretful that your shopping will not be done as you had planned.

You skim idly through the pages of the paper, what's that you see?—a fireside rocker, almost new and at such a price?—about half of what you had expected to pay.

Five minutes at the telephone and the coveted article is yours—"That's a modern shopping expedition for you," you murmur to yourself as you take up that new book to enjoy a quiet afternoon to yourself. Shop through the Want Ads. of the Examiner, and you shop in comfort.

Magnanimity of British Seamen

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The magnaminity of British seaman is strikingly revealed in a manifesto issued by the marine section of the International Transport Workers' Federation.

As a result of the war activities of German submarines German seafarers are excluded by act of Parliament from serving on British ships for a period of years, but with a view to finding a road out of "this difficulty," the manifesto, says Havelock Wilson, M.P., President of the federation, sought an interview with Hugo Stinnes, the German financier and ship owner, on his recent visit to London.

In the manifesto Mr. Wilson points out that for 30 years before the war he was a great admirer of the German nation, and German seamen in particular, and that thousands of Germans had obtained employment in British ships through his help.

The war, proceeds the letter, compelled the Government to intern German merchant seamen in this country.

"Though public feeling ran high at that time, I decided to establish a camp of our own for the internment of German seamen, and this cost the union, of which I am President, over £16,000.

"Furthermore, I used my influence to get the British Government to allow us 10s. per week to add to the comforts of the men in our care.

'I myself personally superintended and watched over the welfare of these men for over 15 months, and I can produce to you a testimonial presented to me by the camp testifying to my good treatment and interest in their comforts and welfare."

Apparently Herr Stinnes declined to interest himself in the matter, since there is no mention of an interview having taken place.

STOP A CLASH RIVAL FORCES

Joint Irish Liaison Commission May Function Over Week-end.

LONDON, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—The Joint Liason Commission may begin to function over the week-end, it is unofficially stated, thus giving fair prospect for prevention of a dreaded clash between rival forces lined up along the Ulster border.

Peace seems for the present to have descended once more over Northern Ireland, the reelase of Unionists yesterday tending to relieve the tension. Nevertheless, both sides still hold prisoners, and it is understood that the South is determined not to release the special constables captured at Clones until Monaghan footballers are freed. The evacuation of British troops proceeds at Dublin, Limerick and Cork yesterday.

WILL PREACH TOMORROW.

Ven. Archdeacon Davidson will preach at St. George's Church, South Peterborough, on Sunday evening.

RADIALS TO BE BONE OF CONTENTION

Measure Around Which Greatest Arguments in Legislature Will Revolve the Present Session

TROUBLE BREWING.

(Written for the Canadian Press by R. K. CARNEGIE).

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—With the opening of the Ontario Provincial Parliament, the forecast is heard on all sides in the legislative halls and corridors at Queen's Park that the measure around which will revolve the greatest arguments during the session, will be the Hydro-Radial Bill which the government plans to introduce. It is just possible of course that the separate school question will burst like a comet into the political sky and bedim other issues which now appear brilliant and imposing, but with the exception of that possibility the Radial Bill looks like the big dispute.

It is a far-reaching question, on the disposal of which may largely depend the future of public ownership in this province. It is of greatest importance to the more densely settled portions of Ontario, but it should, and no doubt does interest as well the less thickly inhabited constituencies. Many a man who 15 years ago was a little concerned with the hydro-electric projects as he was with China's problems is today using hydro energy to light his house and fill his silo, so that it is hard to prophesy which townships will be outside the electric railway schemes of the future.

The view taken by the Drury government is that if municipalities want to unite and build radials, they are free to do so by obtaining a majority vote of the ratepayers but that the government will not assist them to finance the schemes, either by guaranteeing bonds or by any legislation which would give anyone the right to fix the slightest responsibility on the province as a whole for losses which these railways may entail. The Sutherland Commission which the government appointed early in its regime went extensively into the radial projects which had been proposed under the Conservative Government and pressed again when the Farmer-Labor coalition came into power. This Commission came to the conclusion that if these railways were built, the most of them at least would be more apt to produce deficits than profits for some years to come. The Drury Government has been evidently guided to a great extent by the finding of this Commission as well as the history of the steam railways in this country. If the municipalities want to take the chances, well and good, but the Government will not be responsible to the extent of giving the investors room to come back in case of failure and urge that the scheme was undertaken on the advice of the Government and that therefore the latter is morally bound to make good the losses.

It is this view which has been the reason for the Government's action with regard to the sale of securities with which to finance the roads. The

Increased Sense of National Unity a Great Need of Canada

"That this Protestant Ministerial Association of the city of Peterborough, convened in special session to consider the question of Separate Schools and their support as now before the public of this Province, declares as follows:

"(1) That in our belief one of the greatest needs of our country today is an increased sense of national unity and a lessening of the emphasis upon lines of division, whether racial, social or religious; that in the maintaining of lines of division differing school systems are important factors; and that, therefore, we unalterably oppose any movement to extend the present lamentable separation of education of Roman Catholic children into High School grades.

"(2) That inasmuch as under the present system of apportioning school rates, it is provided that the school taxes paid by Roman Catholic ratepayers together with an amount of the school taxes paid by joint stock companies, etc., based on the declared proportion of stock controlled by Roman Catholic citizens, should go to the support of the Separate Schools, similar provision being made for the support of Public Schools; by which arrangement, if properly carried out, the full amount of school rates paid by Roman Catholic citizens and interests goes to maintain Separate Schools and the full amount paid by Protestant citizens and interests goes to maintain Public Schools, each section of the community thus paying for the education of its own children. It appears to this association that the present plan is the most equitable that could be devised, and it strongly urges the Government to make no change in the same.

"(3) That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Minister of Education."

LOCAL MARKET MORE STABLE

Wheat and Pork Advance in Price—Butter Prices Stiffer.

In the markets during the past week the increase in the price of flour the consequent increase in wheat and the advance in meats have been features. Flour advanced 5 cents a barrel locally, grocers advancing their price on 98 pound sacks from $4.00 to $4.25. Small sacks have gone up to $1.05 or $1.10. The advance in flour was followed by an increase in wheat from $1.10 to $1.20 locally. Millers regard the increase as an indication of more stable conditions and marking in all likelihood the turning of the tide. The increase in wheat and the firmness of the hog market are pleasant to the farmer whose prices have been in the downward curve for such a long period.

The advance in pork which went up to $12.50 a hundred yesterday and in beef is reflected in retail prices and butchers have increased prices a few cents. Meats are up but hides are if anything lower. A drop of one cent is reorted in cow hides, heavies now only bringing 5 and lights 7 compared to 6 and 8 cents.

Butter Prices Stiffer.

Lower prices prevail in dairy products. Dairy butter is slightly stiffer the last few days a dealer said yesterday but he did not consider prices would be any higher. Dairy now sells from 35 to 40. Eggs are quite plentiful and have been hammered down during the last week to 50 cents.

The local hay market is quite stiff and while most sales are around $28 some farmers have got $30 it is reported. Farmers claim hay is scarce. Their mows are rapidly being depleted and by spring unprecedent prices will be prevailing.

Fruit Store Stocks.

Very little change in fruit store stocks has taken place in the last week. Oranges are higher than they were and prices run up to 80 cents. Grapfruit continue to sell at 75 and $1.00 a dozen. Lemons are generally 40 cents. Apples are becoming scarce and even at a dollar a peck first-class Spies are considered bargains. Imported fancy stuff in the way of rhubarb at 15 cents a bunch, strawberries at $1.10 a quart box and green peppers at 15 cents each are featured in the shops and one dealer said he sold six boxes of berries on Saturday.

Tomatoes 60 Cents Pound.

Imported tomatoes can be had at 60 cents a pound. Brisk sales in tomatoes were reported at one shop. Saturday is good for 35 pounds of tomatoes it was said. Boston lettuce is on the market at 20 and 25 cents a bunch. Cucumbers look attractive but move slowly at 40 cents each. A scarcity of onions is worrying the dealers now. Yellow and Spanish are selling by the pound at 10 and 15 cents and a peck is almost unobtainable, a dealer said. The situation in regard to onions is quite unique.

A FLOWER DAY TO HELP SICK

Princess Mary Favors the Sweet Pea, It Is Ascertained.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Princess Mary's favored flower is the sweet pea. This became known in a letter recived received recently from the Princess' Lady-in-Waiting by a Manchester committee in reply to a communication concerning the holding of a flower day and the collection of a million shillings in aid of Manchester and Salford institutions for the nursing of the sick in honor of the Princess.

The work of preparing Westminster Abbey for the marriage of the Princess to Viscount Lascelles is now well in hand.

Raised tiers have been placed on either side of the Nave and extend from the entrance to the chancel. It is hoped thereby to provide room for about 2,000 people.

Chancel Reserved.

The chancel itself is to be reserved for the members of the royal family and the representatives of foreign courts, together with the relatives of the bridegroom and a few other privileged persons. Handsome chairs for these distinguished guests will be taken to the Abbey from Buckingham Palace. No chair is being provided for King George as he has announced his intention to give his daughter away in person. He will stand beside her at the altar rails until the time comes for him to hand her over to the bridgegroom.

When Princess Mary enters the Abbey she will do so by the west door, passing the tomb of Britain's unknown warrior, and almost beneath the Union Jack that hangs from the pillar beside the grave.

The Westminster city has decided to decorate the streets along which the bridal procession will pass. They will also present an address to the Princess.

Curious Ceremony.

A curious ceremony which survives from the middle ages will be observed when the Archbishop of Canterbury enters the Abbey. The jurisdiction of neither the Primate nor of the Bishop of London is recognized by the Dean of Westminster, and so when the Archbishop attends at the Abbey on an official occasion a formal protest against his presence is read aloud by the Chapter Clerk and the receiver-General.

It is understood that by especial desire of the Princess the gowns of the bridesmaids will be quite simple in its character, but of a nature that she will be able to retain her life as a memory of her marriage.

The wedding ring is being manufactured by the Court Jewellers. It is of pure Welsh gold. Since there are no longer any Welsh gold mines actually working, this gold had to be "washed" from the small river Mawddach.

The Marys' Gifts.

The organizers announce that the Dominions are well to the force in the wedding gift to the Princess from the Marys (Marions, Mays, Maries, Mirriams, etc.).

Newfoundland was the first to cable news of its participation to the committee under the Hon. Mrs. Geoffrey Hope Morley.

Lady Reading is herself organizing India, and Lady Jellicoe performs the same office in New Zealand.

Lady Stubbs, wife of Sir Reginald Stubbs, Governor of Hong Kong, is working enthusiastically, and Lady Plumer has enlisted the Baroness Inguanez O'Amico as the rallying point of the Marys of Malta.

Mrs. Smuts is the head of a similar band in South Africa, while Ceylon and Jamaica are also amongst the Dominions busily organizing their share in the gift.

With the addition of Lady Clinton in Devonshire, Lady Mary Pleydell-Bouverie in Wilts, Lady Limerick in East Kent and Mr. Hollams in West Kent, practically all the countries are provided for.

BROKERAGES CANADA NOW QUESTIONED

Tentacles of Inquiry Into Bucket Shop Operations Spread to Montreal and Toronto Houses.

ARE DISCIPLINED

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(Special.)—Investigation by the Attorney-General of the United States and by the New York Stock Exchange into the operations of bucket shops has spread its tenacles to Canada. It is said to have disclosed that at least eleven Montreal and six Toronto brokerage houses with New York connections, are operating, wholly or in part, as bucket shops.

Sensational developments are promised within the next weeks. It is declared that in both Canadian cities firms have refused representatives of the New York Exchange the pledged privilege of examining their books, and that the inquiries of the last three weeks have demonstrated the necessity for such inspection. In brokerage circles here it is held that unless Canadian brokers recede from their present quotations, machines will be removed and members of the New York Stock Exchange will be instructed not to execute orders for, or supply information to, houses thus disciplined. In several instances the brokerage houses alleged to be offending are among the best known operating in Canada, and they enjoy a remarkably broad clientele.

Inquiry running over the last three weeks in Monteral and Toronto is said to have disclosed the fact that houses operating partly as legitimate brokers, but mainly as bucket shops, are carrying in the two cities a daily average of stocks exceeding in value $20,000,000 and chiefly on account of clients unfamiliar with the intricacies of stock market practices and unable to check up the bonafides of their investments. The inquiry, so far as its New York end goes, has not delved into the operations of a local character affecting Montreal and Toronto Exchanges, but had confined itself entirely to these houses executing order in New York through wire connections of members of the New York exchange.

SALARIES OF JUDGES ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—The Appellate Division has served judgment on the constitutional question which involves amongst other things payment of Justices Riddell and Latchford in connection with the timber probe.

The matter for discussion was a 1920 amendment to the Judges' Act which brought the salaries of Chief Justices up to ten thousand dollars a year, and those of Puisne Justices up to nine thousand, provided that no Judge shall receive any remuneration in addition to his judicial salary for duty which he may hereafter be required to perform on behalf of the Government of Canada or the Government of any Province thereof.

Under the new amendment a Judge may only accept travelling expenses and living allowance for extra work.

A 10 and 20 Per Cent. Cut for Civic Officials

GRANTS TABOOED

If a split occurs in the City Council over the reduction of civic salaries it will be not on the principle of the thing but on the amount of the cut, asserted Ald. J. Crowe, who is fathering a recommendation to reduce salaries. Ald. Crowe felt the Council was in favor of a cut. The matter to be settled, he said, was the proper reduction to make, and here he felt the possibility of a division lay.

Ald. Crowe pointed out that the estimates will be made up next week, and the matter of a reduction will likely be brought up at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole. Regarding an item in the press that made it seem as if he was prejudiced against the Fire Department, he said: "I want it distinctly understood I'm not going to make an exception of any one. I want a reduction all around, or none at all."

It is understood that Ald. Crowe's recommendation calls for a reduction of 10 per cent. in the salaries between $1,000 and $2,000, and a reduction of 20 per cent. on salaries of $2,000 and over. A recommendation to reduce the staff of the City Engineer's department is also included, it is understood. Ald. Crowe stated that he felt a reduction in salaries was only justified in view of conditions, and the employees themselves understood that a cut had to be made.

Mayor Taylor's Views.

Mayor W. H. Taylor, asked this morning if he would state his stand in regard to the reduction of salaries at the City Hall, declined to make any statement regarding salaries. "That's a touching subject," he said. "I wouldn't want to make any statement about salaries." To The Examiner he said he felt, however, that the Council unanimously favored a reduction in municipal pay, and, like Ald. Crowe, he felt the only matter was to decide how large a cut to make.

Salaries and grants will be the last items to be discussed, he said. The committees will endeavor to have their estimates in for the March meeting, and if the salary question is discussed it will likely be at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole, so that the full Council can give their views. Mayor Taylor said the estimates will be "pared" in every direction. The Council will be heartless in regard to grants, he intimated. "We are going to do everything we can to keep the tax rate down," he told The Examiner.

The vote of censure of Fire Chief Grange passed by the Committee of the Whole will be brought up at the March Council meeting, the Mayor believed, similar to any other recommendation.

Star Boarders at The Local Bastile

Eleven Answer the Roll Call For Breakfast Every Morning—One is "Hard Boiled"

Henderson Nesbitt, County Gaoler, stated today that the jail was by no means crowded. There are only eleven lodgers at the establishment now, nine men and two women. From the number of men in jail the inference could not be drawn that Peterborough was full of criminals. There are six vagrants with sentences ranging from three to six months. Albert Bishop of Harvey Township, sentenced to the reformatory for assault for a period up to two years less a day, proved incorrigible and the authorities would not keep him there. He was returned here and is finishing his sentence. Gaoler Nesbitt said he still was the cause of much trouble. Since his confinement he has broken an arm and leg in violent frenzies. One man is held charged with rape and another man is pending trial for obtaining goods under false pretences.

Two young women, sentenced to the Mercer Reformatory, are awaiting their reception there. Crowded conditions must exist at the girls' correction home, for one of the young women was sentenced on Nov. 25th, and there has been no opening for her at the reformatory yet. She was sentenced to one year. Last week the other girl was sentenced to six months there. If the same tardiness prevails in her case, she will have her sentence pretty well in at the County Gaol before the portals of Mercer are ready to receive her.

WILL TEST ALL MILK OF CITY

Analysis To Be Taken By Dr. McNair at Laboratory, Peterboro'

Tests of milk sold in this city which have heretofore been made by Sanitary Inspector C. S. Stapleton will hereafter be made at the Provincial Labratory of which Dr. T. Y. McNair is director. More minute tests will be made than under the former system and each sample of milk will go through six processes before its condition will be definitely established.

To make the tests a success the cooperation of the milk vendors is necessary and the Board of Health are asking the milk men to bring samples to be tested, to the office of the Sanitary Inspector on certain days. No longer will the inspector sally forth with a suspicious looking leather container slung over his back in which to gather up small samples. The Board of Health decided last Monday that the milkmen must drive up to the City Hall, a sample pint bottle will be selected by the inspector and paid for at the regular price.

On February 27 all milk vendors whose names are from A to L inclusive, are requested to bring samples to City Hall and on March 1 those whose nomenclature runs from L to Z. Dr. McNair considers that a complete test of all milk samples can be made in two days and a report will be ready for the Board of Health on the condition of the city's supply at their regular meetings the second Monday in each month.

During the winter months, Dr. McNair considers that unless the milk is below the milk fat standard there is little satisfaction in pursuing a bacteriological examination. All milk that does not measure up however, will get a strict bacteriological test. It is realized that perhaps the greatest portion of the milk sold in the city is a mixture of several strains. If the final article sold to the public doesn't meet the test further tests will be made on the various quantities that went to make it up, to determine which of the sources is impure. The result of the tests will be a purer milk supply if the plans work out. The producer and the consumer will receive equal protection.

THE TRAIL RANGERS ARE HOSTS.

Last evening the C.S.E.T. Trail Ranger groups entertained the C. G. I. T. groups of George Street Sunday School. Over 100 young people left in 'buses and spent a jolly hour in the sleighs, after which they returned to the Sunday School. There they spent the rest of the evening in music and games. Refreshments were then served by the boys' clubs, and the gathering broke up with the singing of God Save the King.

USED CAR DEALERS GETTING BUSY.

C. R. Banks, Charlotte Street, reports encouraging enquiries since offering his used car bargains in the classified page of The Examiner. The attitude of inquirers reflects a fairly general business condition. They not only come to look but also to buy. Spring is coming very soon, and with its proximity comes good prospects for business in used cars. Banks' prices are strong bids for business; the offers are just now more attractive than they will be in another month. Cars are advertised now at a price so low that they are likely to change hands quickly.

Used car dealers are reminded that "lathering is to shaving very much the same thing as advertising is to selling. If you do enough preliminary work and do it properly, so that groundwork has been thoroughly prepared, then the resistance is very greatly reduced, and it is possible either to shave with less trouble or sell goods with less trouble. A good many dealers are as foolish as a man would be in trying to shave himself in a hurry. They don't use enough advertising before starting to try to get results. They don't apply enough advertising lather."

MURRAY STREET CHURCH SERVICES

The services at Murray Street Church to-morrow are of special interest. The pastor will preach in the morning, and in the evening Dr. Meyers, the representative of Sunday School and young people's work, will speak, addressing parents and members of Sunday Schools. The doctor is in the city to speak on Monday at the Sunday School Convention.

Music at Evening Service.

At the evening service the music will be as follows:

Anthem—"Glory in Excelsis."
Violin solo—Mrs. Hovland.
Solo—"The Hills of God" (Geibel), Mr. Asa Huycke.

Chicago Just Hick Town Rages Lil From Noo Yawk

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Lillian Collier, bob-haired and stockingless missionary of Bohemianism to this frontier community, branded Chicago as a "hick town" today.

Lillian trudged westward from New York to establish an outpost of Greenwich Village. "I must preach the gospel of real life," she vowed.

Whereupon Lillian rented a two-story garage, set up a mission to convert the heathen to art, and christened it "Wind Blew Inn." She sells cakes and tea at 25 cents a copy to pay the annoying overhead.

"Bohemianism will come in Chicago," she wailed. "But it will take years, perhaps ages, maybe aeons. Who knows? But I am willing to sacrifice myself to bring it a step nearer.

TOO MUCH CORN BELT.

"You ask what is wrong with Chicago. This is it: Too many folk just in from the corn belt. Really, they drive cows to pasture by here every morning.

"You know there aren't many real people here. I mean those who do the big things; those who see the light."

Lillian, in a batik frock—and perched high on a stepladder, white-washed the walls of her temple as she rambled on. She wore no stockings. Her toes portruded from sandles.

"But," she moaned, swishing the wall with the white-wash brush, "I'll try to struggle on and teach these people the value of aesthetic effectiveness."

SOULS OF VILLAGE COPS.

Chicago police have the souls of village constables, Lillian complained.

Cops blew in "Wind Blew Inn" the other night, she said, and raided the place. "Lookit," she confided, pointing to two statues dressed all up in overalls. "They made me drape those nudes. "Art, where art thou? Gawd!"

Lillian must answer soon on charges of serving a stronger potion than tea in her cracked tea cups.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

After a while the millionaire recovered his composure, and with many breaks and pauses the slow, disjointed story continued.

"Lakington! That was the name of the man I met at the Carlton. And then there was another . . . Peter . . . Peterson. That's it. We all dined together, I remember, and it was after dinner, in my private sitting-room, that Peterson put up his proposition to me. It was a suggestion that he thought would appeal to me as a business man. produce a gigantic syndicalist strike in England—revoluton, in fact; and that a one of the biggest shipowners—the biggest, in fact—outside the country, I should be able to capture a lot of the British carrying trade. He wanted two hundred and fifty thousand pounds to do it, paid one month after the result was obtained. Said there were others in it."

"On that valuation," interrupted the detective thoughtfully, "it makes one million pounds sterling," and Drummond nodded. "Yes, Mr. Potts; and then?"

"I told him," said the millionaire, "that he was an infernal scoundrel, and that I'd have nothing whatever to do with such a villainous scheme. And then—almost the last thing I can remember—I saw Peterson look at Lakington. Then they both sprang on me, and I felt something prick my arm. And after that I can't remember anything clearly. Your face, sir"—he turned to Drummond—"comes to me out of a kind of dream; and yours, too," he added to Darrell. "But it was like a long, dreadful nightmare, in which vague things, over which I had no power, kept happening, until I woke up late last night in this gentleman's house." He bowed to Ted Jerningham, who grinned cheerfully.

"And mighty glad I was to hear you talking sense again, sir," he remarked. "Do you mean to say you have no recollection of how you got there?"

"None, sir; none," answered the millionaire. "It was just part of the dream."

"It shows the strength of the drug those swine used on you," said Drummond grimly. "You went there in an aeroplane, Mr. Potts."

"An aeroplane!" cried the other in amazement. "I don't remember it. I've got no recollection of it whatever. There's only one other thing that I can lay hold of, and that's all dim and muzzy. Pearls. A great rope of pearl. I was to sign a paper; and I wouldn't. I did once, and then there was a shot and the light went out, and the paper disappeared."

"It's at my bank at this moment. Mr. Potts," said Hugh; "I took that paper, or part of it, that night."

"Did you?" The millionaire looked at him vaguely. "It was to promise them a million dollars when they had done what they said. I remember that. And the pearl necklace. The Duchess of . . ." He paused and shook his head wearily.

"The Duchess of Lampshire's?" prompted Hugh.

"That's it," said the other. "The Duchess of Lampshire's. It was saying that I wanted her pearls, I think, and would ask no questions as to how they were got."

The detective grunted.

"Wanted to incriminate you properly, did they? Though it seems to me that it was a blamed risky game. There should have been enough money from the other three to run the show without worrying you, when they found you weren't for it."

"Wait," said the millionaire, "that reminds me. Before they assaulted me at the Carlton, they told me the others wouldn't come in unless I did."

For a while there was silence, broken at length by Hugh.

"Well, Mr. Potts, you've had a mouldy time, and I'm glad it's over. But the person you've got to thank for putting us fellows on to your track is a girl. If it hadn't been for her, I'm afraid you'd still be having nightmares."

"I would like to see her and thank her," said the millionaire quickly.

"You shall," grinned Hugh. "Come to the wedding; it will be in a fortnight or thereabouts."

"Wedding!" Mr. Potts looked a little vague.

"Yes! Mine and hers. Ghastly proposition, isn't it?"

"The last straw," remarked Ted Jerningham. "A more impossible man as a bridegroom would be hard to think of. But in the meantime I pinched half a dozen of the old man's Perrier Jonet 1911 and put 'em in the car. What say you?"

"Say!" snorted Hugh. "Idiot boy! Does one speak on such occasions?"

And it was so. . . .

III

"What's troubling me," remarked Hugh later, "is what to do with Carl and that sweet girl Irma."

The hour for the meeting was drawing near, and though no one had any idea as to what sort of a meeting it was going to be, it was obvious that Peterson would be one of the happy throng.

"I should say that the police might now be allowed a look in," murmured Darrell mildly. "You can't have the man lying about the place after you're married."

Successful Valentine Tea by the "W. & Y" with Splendid Programme of Music.

The decorations of red hearts were most effectively arranged, and gave the room a very inviting appearance. There was a large attendance ,among whom were quite a number of men. An excellent programme was rendered, consisting of the following: Very pleasing solos by Misses Marion Burleigh, Lila Ballantyne and Mrs. Edward Bates, a well rendered vocal duet by Dr. Lillian Young and Mrs. A. L. Malcolm. A "Flower Song" by ten little girls dressed in white, under the efficient direction of Mrs. R. T. Cowell was heartily appreciated. An instrumental duet by Mrs. J. T. Frederick and Dr. Lillian Young was well received. During the refreshment hour charming music was rendered by the Clemen's four-piece orchestra consisting of Leslie Clegg, Clarence McKeel, Everett Thomas and E. Clemens. The proceeds of the tea amounted to over $35, which was very gratifying to the ladies.

90 MINS. OVERTIME IN MARMORA MATCH.

Held Sterling to Three-All Tie in Best Trent Valley League Game of the Season.

MARMORA, Feb. 18.—Ninety minutes of hockey in a Trent Valley League game here last night left the Marmora and Sterling teams tied with the score three all. At the end of the regular three periods each team had two goals to its credit. They drew blanks in the first ten minutes overtime, and both scored in the next. The third extra period was scoreless, and the game was then called without a decision. It was the best League performance this winter and was capably handled by Walter Jackson of Peterboro, who gave complete satisfaction to both teams. After an hour and one-half of strenuous but clean hockey the players were ready to call it a night, although they were going strong in the last overtime session and gave all they had.

Considering the zero weather the crowd was large, and was provided with lots of excitement that withstood the chilling of a snow storm that blew in from the east between times. Marmora got the only goal in the first period and at the end of the second were leading by 2-1. Sterling tied it up in next, and then came with the conclusive overtime thirty minutes.

The teams were:

Both teams were in good form and it would be difficult to single out any outstanding players in last night's engagement.

PEACE AGAIN PREVAILS ON THE BORDER

Kidnapped Civilians Have All Been Released, But Special Constables Are Held—No Disorders.

A QUIET WEEK-END?

BELFAST, February 17 (Canadian Press). — Only three shots were fired in Belfast to-day, and no disorders were reported on the border.

A quiet week-end is expected. The official view is that the situation has generally improved.

All the kidnapped civilians have been released, but a score of specials are still detained.

There are said to be 20,000 well armed specials on the northern side of the border and an uncertain number of Republican soldiers on the southern side, with British troops at Newry, Enniskillen, and elsewhere. Hence, it is important to get a liason commission working whose business it would be to move about the border and keep peace. The commission, it is stated, will consist of two British officers, two police officers representing the North and two Republican Army officers representing the South.

ANOTHER JARRING NOTE.

DUBLIN, February 17 (Canadian Press). — A new newspaper, The Separatist, appeared in Dublin today. Its announced policy will be advocacy of the use of the Free State as a step toward ultimate complete separation.

The paper is equally critical of Eamonn De Valera's policy as of the Free State, but it deprecates a further split in the Irish ranks. Its general aim, however, will be to assist those in favour of the treaty with Great Britain against Mr. De Valera and his adherents.

NEWSPAPERS SEIZED.

CORK, February 17 (Canadian Press). — It is learned that the officers commanding the Cork Brigade of the Irish Republican Army have informed the manager of the Irish Independent, which is published at Dublin, that all copies of the paper reaching Cork to-day were seized and destroyed, as they contained statements by J. J. Walsh (Postmaster-General under the Provisional Government) about the Irish Republican Army in Cork, which were absolute falsehoods.

In any case, the officer added, discussion in the press of an internal army matter was not allowed.

NEGOTIATE REFUND OF WAR DEBTS

United States Appoint Allied Debt Commission, Which May First Deal With Britain's Debt of Five Billions — Commute Into Long Time Securities.

WASHINGTON, February 17 (Canadian Press). — Announcement of the membership of the Allied Debt Commission, created by Congress to conduct the negotiations for the refunding of the eleven billion dollars owed this country by foreign nations will be made on Monday or Tuesday, it was said to-day at the White House. The commission is to be composed of five members, of which Secretary Mellon will be the rhairman, and it was indicated that its personnel would include a member of the House and Senate, while high officials are understood to believe that Secretaries Hughes and Hoover will complete the membership.

Upon th organisation of the commission, it was said, word will go to the debtor nations through the usual diplomatic channels that the United States is prepared to begin refunding negotiations, which, it is believed, will be carried on in the United States unless circumstances arising in the future require meetings abroad.

Consider Britain First.

According to Treasury officials, the Government is ready to begin negotiations at once. In the view of the kreasury, negotiations will be taken up with the different foreign nations in order of the size of their debt, beginning with Britain, whose total approximates five billion dollars, and ending with the smaller nations, rfom whom the sums due are comparatively slight.

The arrangeenmts made with Great Britain are expected to form the model for the plan of payment worked out with all the debtor nations, and it is believed by the Treasury that Ambassador Geddes will represent his country in the negotiations.

Total is Ten Billions.

The total foreign debt owing to the United States approximates ten billion dollars of principal and one billion dollars which is held in the form of demand obigations upon the various nations which, under the authority of Congress, are to be refunded into ong time securities of not more than twenty-five years, and bearing interest of not less than four and one-half per cent.

MARINE SCIENCE CALLED TO ARMS AGAINST SHIPWORM IN ATLANTIC

In New Jersey Waters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—The National Research Council and the Engineering Foundation Friday united in an initial attack of the ship-worm, which after boring its way through hundreds of millions of dollars worth of marine property on the Pacific Coast, has now wiggled its way into the Northern Atlantic.

New York and Chesapeake Bay committees will be formed immediately, with subsequent creation of militant organizations at all the principal Atlantic and Gulf ports.

Yesterday's meeting was called after Alfred D. Flinn, Secretary of the Foundation, reported that what seemed to be the true Holland shipworm, or Teredo Navalis, had been found on a submerged craft in Barnegat Bay, N.J., and at Bayside, L.I. fear was expressed that if it pursues the course it had followed at San Francisco, where $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 damage was done, it would appear in New York harbor and other Atlantic ports. Other species are now causing destruction in southern ports.

The pest was described as follows:

"The borer reproduces with incredible rapidity. There may be as many as 50,000 to 100,000 females in one pile and each female may give birth to 500,000 to 1,000,000 live young ship worms. These are free swimming and attach themselves freely to unprotected wood. Marine piles twenty inches to twenty-four inches in diameter have been practically riddled in six months.

"These marine borers occur with the greatest frequency in the warmer seas, but on the Atlantic coast of America have extended as far north as Maine and on the Pacific coast to Seattle and Alaska. On the Atlantic their attacks have been of prime importance hitherto south of Delaware Bay. Their previous absence from New York and vicinity has been ascribed to high sewage pollution.

"In spite of the fact that shipworms have been known for many centuries, very little has yet been learned of their food, habits, their methods of distribution, their relation to salinity and temperatures and their reactions to chemical poisons of various sorts. Immediate investigations with relation to these fundamental factors appears to be of prime importance in order that protective measures may be developed."

MISHAPS OF COLDEST DAY IN NEW YORK

Explosion in Dynamite Factory Becomes Regular Occurrence in February Weather.

SEVERAL DEATHS.

NEW YORK, February 18 (Canadian Press). — The coldest day of the winter in this section last night was held responsible for several deaths, an explosion, and the temporary crippling of one of New York's subways, beside a host of minor mishaps.

Two of the deaths occurred in Landing, N.J., when the dynamite packing house of the Atlas Powder Works blew up. Plant officials pointed out that it was the third explosion to occur in February in the last three years, and expressed the belief that the extreme cold should be held accountabe.

Another death was that of Charles Reed, seventy, of Westwood, N.J., who collapsed while buffeting the wind on a street in Lower Manhattan. Falling, he struck his head and died before an ambolance could be summoned.

Subway Traffic Blocked.

With the mercury two degrees below zero in this city, and as much as fifty below in the Adirondacks, block signals in one of the tubes connecting Manhattan and Brooklyn failed, and all signals shone red. Obeying orders, no motormen would pass a danger signal without first walking ahead of his train to investigate.

All through the night and until noon, the city shivered and suffered. Firemen handling streams that turned to ice as they played them, themselves turned into icicles.

The unemployed flocked to municipal lodging houses, but departed eagerly in th cold dawn when it was announced that snow shovelling jobs awaited them.

Pity the Sailors!

Meanwhile shipping circles had their worries and coastguard cutters dashed out from port to seek vessels which it was feared might have met with mishap in the fierce gale that swept the coast last night.

The cutter Gresham left to search for the steamer Narbo, which, after having started for Russia with a load of grain from Philadelphia last Tuesday, reported herself in distress off Cape Henlopen. Later she wirelessed she was not in a serious condition.

OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM.

The Women's Canadian Club are undertaking a work which should earn them the gratitude of the Canadian people. They are endeavouring to have a standard set of verses written and adopted for "O Canada," which is now recognized as a national anthem. At present, it is stated, there are nine different sets of words being used, a statement that anybody who has heard a gathering of Canadian people attempt to sing "O Canada" will readily believe. In every audience where the anthem is sung a few people will known one version, a handful more a second setting, still another little group a third, while the majority apparently are unfamiliar with any of the verses and content themselves with humming until the refrain is reached, when everybody jumps into the words, "O Canada," with a fortissimo effect that is almost startling after the straggling attempt to sing the preceding verse. It is to be hoped that the Women's Canadian Club are successful in their effort, and that a standard version of this beautiful anthem may be soon available. We should, at least, have one verse and a refrain that everybody will known, so that the disconcerting results that are reached now every time "O Canada" is attempted will be eliminated.

THE FOLLY OF STRIKES.

In view of the industrial stress and the large amount of unemployment, it is surprising to learn that more time was lost in Canada because of strikes in January of this year than in December, and, indeed, more than in January a year ago. If there has been any time in the history of Canada when strikes were more absurd and illogical than under the conditions existing at present it is difficult to recall the occasion.

Premier Taschereau of Quebec declared in the Legislature the other day that a strike just now amounts to a crime, and, at least, it must be admitted that a period when thousands of men have been without work for months, when factories are in some cases running on part time or closed altogether, when there are bread lines and relief doles throughout the country, that a body of men who voluntarily place themselves out of employment and, perhaps, by their action precipitate many other workers into enforced idleness can not be given credit for possessing even ordinary common sense. The wise worker who is lucky enough to be employed steadily will not be slow in checking any strike talk that may be heard in his neighborhood. He will realize that anybody who walks out of a job because of some grievance, real or imaginary, may be a long time in awaiting an opportunity to walk into another one. A strike in prosperous times is often a mistake; a strike under today's conditions is criminally foolish. And yet there were more last month than in January last year.

A PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

The proposal of President Wm. Rudkins, President of the local Trades and Labour Council, that a series of public conferences be held in regard to building operations in Peterborough, is one that should be hailed with approval by citizens generally. Mr. Rudkins not only shows an accurate appreciation of the situation, but indicates a commendable realization of the responsibility of his position when he calls upon organized labour interested in the building trades to do its share towards creating a revival in building during the season that will be opening shortly. He is undoubtedly correct in his declaration that unless those who are contemplating the launching out of building operations are satisfied that they will not have to encounter abnormally high wage scales, there will be very little building done here this year and consequently very little labour employed. If his viewpoint is accepted by the unions interested, the conferences he proposes cannot fail to be successful, and the result of this progressive policy will be a building programme of much larger proportions than for some years. The situation briefly is that a large number of houses are needed in Peterborough and there are many people who are prepared to build. They are held back largely through the fear that excessive labour charges will run the cost too high, and unless this apprehension is removed they will continue to suspend operations. In the meanwhile, the whole community suffers from high rentals, made possible because under present conditions there are not houses enough to go round. The Trades and Labour conference plan is the most promising attempt to clear up the situation that has been made, and it is hoped that it will meet with the success it deserves.

ST. CATHARINES' CLAIMS.

The annual report of the Assessment Commissioner of the City of Toronto for 1921, just received by the local Assessment Department, is a most interesting document and contains an informative table on the assessment of 25 cities in Ontario, says The St. Catharines Standard. The position of St. Catharines relative to the other cities, as shown by the table in question, is one to afford general satisfaction from a local point of view. This city is a well balanced one. In the matter of total assessment, St. Catharines stands practically seventh, if Fort William and Port Arthur are excluded, which cities are loaded up with a burdensome acreage, the value of which is doubtful from an assessment point of view.

Toronto, of course, leads all the Ontario cities, with Ottawa, Hamilton, London, Windsor and Brantford in line. St. Catharines has a total assessment of $19,254,435, as compared with Fort William at $23,492,249, and Port Arthur $19,547,566. The land assessment in these latter cities is $11,224,630 and $9,858,270 respectively, as compared with land assessment in St. Catharines of 6,473,360. There is a population of 8.73 per acre in this city, as compared with 2.33 in Fort William and 1.71 in Port Arthur, so that it can readily be seen that a healthier condition is shown here than in the twin cities of the West. St. Catharines thus leads such cities as Kingston, Peterborough, Sault Ste. Marie and Kitchener, all with greater population.

The table also shows that a fairly well balanced assessment is carried out in St. Catharines. The land average assessment is $2,697 per acre. Outside of the five leading cities of the Province, this figure is only exceeded in one other place, St. Thomas, where the average per acre is $2,816. Th per capita assessment of St. Catharines is $918.58, as compared with the following: Toronto, $1,396.70; Hamilton, $1,158; Ottawa, $1,235; London, $1,041; Windsor, $1,283; Port Arthur, $1,250; Fort William, $1,169; Sarnia, $991.

The following cities have a lower per capita assessment than St. Catharines: Brantford, $839; Kitchener, $827; Kingston, $730; Sault Ste. Marie, $728; Peterborough, $774; Guelph, $618; St. Thomas, $876; Stratford, $876; Niagara Falls, $828.

In the matter of the different assessments, land, buildings, income and business, St. Catharines appears to have an exceptionally well distributed tax burden, and the rate last year of 36 mills might be considered close to the average rate obtaining in the 25 cities under review.

CANADA'S GREATEST NEED.

Canada has great need to realize the facts, and to take warning. There are serious days ahead for us, as for every other country which had a share in the Great War. Are we doing what we can, and all we can, to prepare for them, to minimize their seriousness, and to face them with courage? Does the average Canadian realize his responsibility in this grave matter? These are questions we ought to ask ourselves and endeavor to answer.

Canada's great need is a spiritual awakening. This nation must bring itself to a realization that there are more things that matter in national life than material considerations. No nation ever rose to greatness or retained greatness on so uninspired a fabric. There is need of a stronger moral fibre, a more potent conception of the moral forces at work in the world, and a greater unity of ideals, if we are to march forward.

Canada cannot regain her equilibrium, sadly upset by the war and its aftermath, by trivial methods. The citizen who is afraid to face the future squarely, or who is devoid of the capacity to think of it in terms of sober common sense, is laying up a terrible store of retribution for future generations. We have need now of men of solid mentality, men of strong will, men of stern determination, to set the balance right and to force upon the average citizen a realization of the true perspective through which he should view Canadian conditions and Canadian needs.

Only by a general spiritual awakening can such a state of mind be brought about. No people will deliberately walk into disaster, but there is always a grave danger that the unheeding mass may blindly step towards it. Clean thinking and powerful moral influence were never in greater demand than now to bring the whole nation to realize this. It is by the individual contact and the individual touch that all great movements of reform and of progress have been achieved. No less is that factor invaluable in the awakening of a people to the truth, whether it be painful or otherwise.

This country cannot stand still. It cannot afford to stand still. It must go either backward or forward. Upon the spiritual force that animates its people will depend its future for advancement or retrogression. To develop, strengthen and direct that force ought to be the aim of all who are capable of leadership and whose positions entitle them to speak with authority. Of that there can never be any vestige of doubt.

Let us have no faith in pessimism as a national policy. Let us believe in the gospel of optimism as applied to nations as well as to individuals. But it would be placing a premium upon folly to pretend that there is not grave reason for pessimism unless the present national tendencies towards extravagance, irresponsibility, and the shifting of burdens are not arrested. We have an abiding faith in this country's future, and in the basic solidity of its citizens' mentality. We believe the Canadian is capable of any sacrifice and any achievement, and it is because of this faith and this belief that we have striven to emphasize what seems to us to be growing into more than a serious national menace.

* * * *

A spiritual awakening—in that and in the return to a more thoughtful manner of life and thought and action lies the strongest hope for our future as a people. The sense of civic responsibility is not dead. It is merely slumbering. The citizen of Canada knows that he is a citizen of no mean State, but he is apt to let the knowledge itself content him. That will no longer serve. It is time for every Canadian to wake up, realize the gravity of the situation that faces him in common with all other people in a world wracked and rent and crushed by a complete collapse of economic systems and remedies, and then take his stand—and stand firm. That way, and that way only, safety lies.—Montreal Star.

After hearing all the current murder mysteries solved a dozen times a day by amateur experts, one begins to wonder why it should be necessary to maintain high-priced detective departments.

A lot of people who have been complaining about the cold snap have forgotten how much they longed for a drop in the thermometer last July.

the ideal of a united Ireland, with her agricultural and industrial interests properly balanced, he said, not only in a financial way, but with advice born of great achievement. Such advise would be even more valuable than monetary aid and the Irish would be only too glad to follow it, he added.

Sir Horace reminded the gathering that Ireland, unlike England, is an exporting country, wholly self-supporting and with productive resources admitting enoromus development when satisfactory conditions prevail.

Road transport to supplement the railroads of Ireland with possibly a larger utilization of canals likely will be an early development following a return to favorable conditions, he declared.

A BOUNDARY PATROL.

LONDON, Feb. 17. — (Canadian Press.)— Mr. Chamberlain, in defending the Prime Minister from the assertion of Thomas Moles that the Government had assured Premier Craig of Ulster that the boundary adjustment would be of a minor character while promising Michael Collins extensive changes, said there had been no double dealing regarding boundaries and that what the members of the Government said in private they had also said in public. Mr. Chamberlain continued by saying the question of boundaries rested with the commission and that the Government's only function was to appoint a chairman. The man would be of unimpeachable reputation and of known sagacity, who would command the confidence of all parties.

He added that he still hoped it would be possible for the North and the South to reach an agreement between themselves before the commission met. He said Mr. Collins and his colleagues, in signing the treaty, took even more risks than the British delegates, and there never was a suggestion that the Irish would repudiate the treaty.

"Will the House have us less honorable or true to our word than Collins?" he asked.

Mr. Chamberlain said there could be no turning back because the alternative was civil war. Turning to the opponents of the Bill, he concluded: "If you reject our advice and repudiate our authority to act in your name, you are within your right; but I say that I and my colleagues will have ceased to be your leaders and will refuse to be your agents."

CONTRACTOR TALKS OF TEN-HOUR DAY.

Says No Option But That Building Trades Should Work Longer.

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 18.—When shown a despatch from Winnipeg giving the views of James Winning, business agent of the Building Trades Council, in which he opposed either reduction of wages or lengthening of hours as a remedy for existing building conditions, George Hughes, newly appointed president of the Western Association of Building and Construction Industries, stated:

"Our recommendtion for a longer day's work is not prompted by selfish motives. Employers and employees are in accord that yearly earnings of mechanics should be retained. The public has decided that production costs should be decreased. Therefore there is no option We must lengthen the building season by lengthening the day's work, and thus increasing production. Add two hours to the present eight hour day and you retain the mechanic's present earning capacity, even at the suggested decreased rate of wages, and at the same time satisfy the public's demand for lower production costs.

"If business agents of labor organizations have, as Mr. Winning says, unalterable principles which are obviously opposed to common sense, then employers must go beyond the business agents and present their case to the rank and file of organized labor, and at present are suffering distress from lack of claims of their self-appointed leaders, who do not share their distress."

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 18.—Dr. M. A. Nor could he say, in any event, whether the will he had witnesesd signed by young Delorme had been written by the young student or not.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—David Passaschoff was today introduced to the Court of General Sessions as a literary robber armed with a book of receipts for successful larceny.

Before he was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months to three years for the theft of several overcoats, probation officers read these excerpts from a notebook they found in his possession:

"Hide behind a door when the freight elevator man comes down with the elevator. When he goes up run up the stairway and hide behind the stairs.

"Apply for a job. If refused, grab what you can as you go out. If you get the job hang around the locker and when you get an overcoat leave with it and don't return.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT STILL UNRECOGNISED.

United States Desires Good Relations, But No Approach Offers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—While the American Government is desirous of a happy restoration of relationship with Mexico, it was said at the White House Friday, there has been no change in the situation prevailing for the past eleven months.

Proposals by certain interests to the State Department for recognition of the Obregon Government, it was said, had been found to lack official authority, and the belief of the Administration some four weeks ago that a solution had eben found, proved unfounded.

FOR PRETTY LIPS

MISS JUSTINE JOHNSTONE, MOVIE STAR, WHO KEEPS HER LIPS IN PROPER CONDITION, AND OTHER LIPS THAT ARE TREATED RIGHT.

(BY DR. R. H. BISHOP, JR.)

It is a most natural instinct for woman to wish to appear at her best. There are few women who give no thought to the care of their skin and complexion.

In cold weather there is some trouble for most women in the care of the skin of the face, especially the lips.

It is difficult for many in the dry, cold air of winter weather to keep the lips soft and natural, free from cracking and chapping.

There is little trouble of this sort in summer, because the heat causes the tiny oil glands to function at their best.

The cold, dry, irritating winds of winter, frequent washing with strong soaps, failure to dry the skin and lips thoroughly, all contribute their bit toward drying up the outer layer of skin, stretching it tight like a drum. If proper care is not given this dry, tight skin, it is but natural that it should crack.

Women whose skin is naturally dry will have more difficulty than others in keeping their lips from becoming unsightly and rough.

Obviously, since the fat and sweat glands do not function as readily in winter as in summer, the remedy is to supply an artificial oil.

A little cold cream, if you know the ingredients are free from poisons, may be rubbed on the lips after washing and at night before retiring. Olive oil or glycerin are the best lotions, since we know of what they are composed, and there is no danger of poison from their use.

Rosewater is usually added to glycerin and the mixture makes an excellent skin lotion.

Care in the selection of proper soap may help a lot in supplying fatty substances required by the dry skin. Plain soap is the best.

The secret, which most women know, in preventing and curing chapped and cracked lips and skin is to make up the deficiency of fat which the skin is failing to supply for itself.

On the other hand, cold sores, which are also more liable to appear in winter, are a result of a deficiency in the blood. Too much living indoors, lack of sufficient exercise and lowered resistant powers of the body all contribute to cold sores. A drying powder such as zinc oxide or alum should be used to keep them from spreading.

DEATH OF BISHOP JOHN E. ROBINSON.

Prominent in Missionary Work of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Bishop John Edward Robinson, who since 1875 has been missionary bishop for the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, died at Bangalore Thursday night, says a Madras despatch to The London Times. He is especially remembered in London for his strong views during the war. At one war loan meeting he declared he "thanked God, as an American, and in behalf of the American people, for British protection abroad."

John Edward Robinson was born in Ireland in February, 1849, but emigrated to the United States when he was 16 years ago. He was ordained a Methodist Episcopal minister in 1874 and shortly afterwards went to the missionary field in India and Burmah. He was elected missionary bishop of Southern Asia in 1904.

Liver Pains

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefitted generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

TREAT RHEUMATISM THROUGH THE BLOOD

Liniments and Rubbing Only Give Temporary Relief.

Rheumatism is a trouble extremely difficult to get rid of. If a tendency to rheumatism is established in the system it makes itself manifest by a return of the acute pains with every spell of bad weather. This is why so many people think the trouble is due to cold or damp. The fact is known, however, to medical men, that with the appearance of rheumatism there is a rapid thinning of the blood, and that the rheumatic poisons are only expelled from the system when the blood is restored to its normal condition. This means that to drive rheumatism from the system it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been very successful, as they build up and enrich the blood, thus easing the aching, swollen joints, and benefitting the health of the sufferer in other ways as well. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have satisfactorily used this medicine is Mrs. James Gillan, Charlottetown, P.E.I., who says: "For three long months I suffered terribly from rheumatism. I was so bad that I could not do my housework, and even to attempt to walk caused me agony. I spent a great deal of money on liniments and medicines without getting the least benefit, and my condition was pitable. At this stage my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking this medicine, and shall always praise the day I did so. Before long there was no doubt that I had at last found something that would give me relief. I gladly continued using the pills with the result that I am now as well as ever I was, able to do my housework and care for my children. Since that time one of my daughters fell into an anaemic condition and was obliged to discontinue going to school. I gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and now she is as healthy a girl as there is in the city. You may be sure I lose no opportunity in praising this medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE PUBLIC SUFFERS.

CHATHAM, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Addressing a large gathering of brotherhood of the First Presbyterian Church here last night, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, held up the principle of a fair day's work for a fair day's pay as the only principle which will rectify unfortunate conditions which now exist. There had been too much discussion on the part of labor to prepare for battle, and the same sentiment had existed in the ranks of employers, with the result that when the two clashed it was the public who suffered.

The Greatest Medicine in the World, Say Doctors

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order and is not exiting bile into the bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90 per cent. of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No sedlitz, salts or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminating.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste poison, making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

Tanated Calomel is sold by F. C. Webber, Charlotte street.

Development at Elbow Lake, Manitoba, Promised In Spring.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 18. — By Canadian Press. — Mining deals involving half a million dollars have been consummated here for properties lying in the newly discovered Elbow Lake gold camp, where the Hollinger interest are now working, it became known late to day. Montreal interest are chiefly concerned in the purchase.

According to the terms of the various options taken, the buyers must start development in the spring. This would mean employment for 200 miners and the establishment of numerous camps. This programme would create unprecedented activity in the district.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

CHICAGO WHEAT SAGS UNDER HEAVY SELLING.

Downward Foreign Trend Discouraged Possible Purchases.

CHICAGO, February 18. Canadian Press. — The sellers decidedly outnumbered the buyers in the wheat market, most of the time Friday lessened general confidence in higher prices being apparent. The market closed heavy, 1 5-8 to 3 1-2c net lower with May $1.37 1-4 to $1.37 1-2, and July $1.20 5-8 to $1.20 3-4. Corn finished 5-8 to 1 and 1 1-8c down, and oats off 3-4c to 1 1-8c. In provisions the outcome was 10 to 20c advance.

Almost as soon as the wheat market opened prices showed a tendency to decline. Downturns in foreign quotations had a disturbing effect both on owners of wheat and on would be purchasers. It soon become evident that yesterday's persistent efforts to realize on holdings were being contiued by numerous dealers. In some quarters the desire was manifest to let go of May contracts and take July instead in view of unfavorable weather and crop report from the Southwest.

Corn and oats declined with wheat and as a result of reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission disapproved lower freight rates on grain from Minneapolis to the East.

CARL AHRENS IS NOT GUILTY

This Was Verdict of Jury Last Night at Five After Eight-The Prisoner Discharged.

KITCHENER, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Carl Ahrens was last night found not guilty of the murder of his wife by drowning in the Grand River, and was discharged by Mr. Justice Latchford. The jury returned its verdict at five minutes after eight o'clock.

Justice Latchford, addressing Ahrens, said: "You and you alone know whether you murdered your wife or not. If you are innocent you have the satisfaction of knowing it. If you are guilty, I am sorry, because I feel that in the most joyous moments when loving eyes look into loving eyes, a face will arise before you and come in between such pleasure.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Railways Appeal to Municipalities To Adopt Same Period.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17. —(Canadian Press.) — To those rities and towns which intend to adopt daylight saving time this summer, the Railway Association of Canada is appealing for uniformity. It is pointed out by C. P. Riddell, general secretary of the association, that the railway time-tables will have to be revised in spring and autumn to meet the different needs of summer and winter traffic and "we are, therefore, suggesting to the municipal authorities that wherever they adopt daylight saving this year, it should start on the same day and on the same day as those on which the summer train schedule begins and ends, that is, on the first hour of Sunday nearest May 1 and the first hour of Sunday nearest October 1, respectively. "Trains will continue to run on ordinary sun time except where suburban services running in and out of cities that have adopted daylight saving may be adjusted to the convenience of the public in such districts."

ITALY IRRITATED BY THE FIUME GOVERNMENT.

Martial Law Temporarily Imposed Because of Unrest.

ROME, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—There is much unrest at Fiume, with the Fascisti and the adherents of the Government of President Zanella opposing each other. General Spreafico, commanding an Italian brigade which is occupying territory south of Fiume ceded to the Jugo-Slave by the Treaty of Rapallo, has sent a company of troops to seize police headquarters in Fiume and restore calm. All the Zenella detectives and police have been relieved of duty and their functions until further orders will be performed by carabineers and General Spreafico's troops.

Zanella, who was elected President of Fiume last April, recently discharged more than 150 Italians acting as detectives in Fiume. This action antagonized the Italian Nationalist parties, who desire the reinstatement of the men.

The Rome press is incensed against President Zanella on account of what they regard as his "anti-Italian tendencies." The newspapers argue that the Fiume Government is able to exist only with the support of the Italian Government.

BEST COUGH MIXTURE IS HOME MADE

Fine for Chest Too and Is Cheaply Made at Home

When you make, in two minutes, a world beating remedy that acts directly on the membrane and often overnight causes stubborn coughs and even hard chest colds to disappear, why trifle with things that will probably disappoint.

Hawking and snuffling and also soreness of the mucous membrane go and you will feel fine in almost no time.

Just get one ounce of Parmint (double strength) add to it a little sugar and enough hot water to make a half a pint and you've got an inexpensive remedy better than you can buy ready mixed.

Its soothing, healing action on the membrane is the reason so many people use it for Catarrh and acute nasal colds.

RUM-RUNNER MADE A SAFE LANDING

DETROIT, Feb. 18. — (Canadian Press).—After a day spent in dodging ice floes in Detroit River, and in attempting to evade Customs offices on both sides of the stream, a rum-runner who left Canada on Thursday night with a motor boat load of beer, was reported last night to have made a safe landing on the United States side of the border. He had a permit to take the cargo out of Canada, but he could not land in the United States and avoid arrest if seen, and he could not return to Canada. It is said he made the landing under cover of darkness.

An inquest will be held to-night.

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which we have during February and March is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them in the house. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep its stomach and bowels working regularly. This will not fail to break up colds and keep the health of the baby in good condition till the brighter days come along. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STOLE HUGE SAFE TO GET CONTENTS.

No Proof Shown Against Suspects In Montreal Exploit.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18. Canadian Press. — Five hundred pounds of solid steel in the form of a safe was transported with extreme labor, but without permision of the owner from the premises of James Hodge, machinery artist at 88A Inspector street, on the night of December 11th last. In the same was the sum of $1500 in bills, $20 in gold and $600 worth of jewelry. Accounts of this exploit were heard in the enquete court here on Friday afternoon when Joe Seager and Guy Wales appeared charged with the theft of the safe, but after evidence had been heard no proof was shown that accused were connected with the robbery and the case was remaned to Feb. 22 for argument by counsel for defence and prosecution.

WEST BRIGHTENED BY HIGHER WHEAT PRICES.

Trade Conditions on Up-grade But Progress is Slow.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—Trade conditions throughout Canada continue on the upgrade, although at present, slowly. The upward tendency of grain prices is creating an optimistic feeling in the west, wholesalers report, and cannot but have a beneficial effect on business this spring, states the weekly trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association. Eastern reports, including those from Montreal, Toronto and Quebec, state that manufacturers and wholesalers find orders on the increase, this being so in many lines which for some months past have been quiet.

Retail trade in the larger cities is about the same, more improvement being shown in orders from outlying parts.

Winnipeg wholesalers report business conditions brighter for the spring than was anticipated. Stocking orders are coming forward in several lines. Retailers report business more satisfactory. Assignments are on the decrease.

Vancouver and British Columbia generally report as follows:

Wholesale trade, dry goods fair, no decided improvement in logging business but prospects good. Hardware lines not moving very fast. Grocery trade for January reported much better than in January 1921. Retail trade —dry goods retailers report business quiet but slight improvement this month. Hardware lines selling hand to mouth. Grocery trade somewhat quiet, but country trade needs looking up. Collections poor, especially in fruit districts as the farmers have not yet received their returns. Grocery collections better.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes effected and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Milk Is Health Insurance

The fact that milk is priceless not only in a body-building sense, but also is the prime energy-maker, the miraculous cure of pellagra, beri-beri, rickets, sore eyes, and is indispensable in the cure of tuberculosis, rheumatism, neuritis and similar blood and nerve diseases, proves to us that its increased daily use in every family should be a matter of mere common sense—the cheapest and safest health insurance known.

Milk is Nature's food for the young. The mother who does not give her children plenty of good milk is depriving them of the one food that Nature has prepared for them.

We live and learn—and in no way is this more striking than the change in our viewpoint of certain foods, in the light of constantly increasing facts concerning them.

Pasteurizing Milk a Life Saving Measure

We know from sad experience attested to by statistics gathered in every large city, that the infant mortality rate has been enormous wherever raw milk as commonly sold has been used. We have come to know that pasteurization is a life-saving measure in so far as concerns infants and children who depend upon milk as their chief food. Everywhere the introduction of pasteurization has resulted in an almost immediate and most striking reduction in the infant mortality rate.

Quiet Sunday Afternoons in the Public Library Are Appreciated

Attendance by Young Men and Women Growing — Spend Pleasant Hours with Literary Friends

An interesting report on attendance at the Sunday opening of the Public Library was presented by different ladies at the Local Council of Women meeting this week. Last Sunday, there was a total attendance of 43, of whom a number were young men.

One gentleman who attends regularly gives as a reason the fact that his home, with its crowd of young people, is not as quiet a reading place as the Library; there are women who come here and read for hours at a time, in the pleasant, warm room, but the majority seem to be young men who, presumably, find this somewhat of a refuge on a Sunday afternoon, instead of loneliness in partially-warmed small rooms or idle wandering about deserted streets. This is the class that the women wished to benefit to some extent, and they are feeling encouraged over the increased attendance. One friendly lady who spoke to a number of the young men on a certain Sunday discovered that most of them were from out of town, with no other place of harborage except their room, who welcomed the advantages of the quiet library.

Due Women's Council

Kitchener having recently opened its library reading-room in the same way on Sunday afternoons one member remarked that the Toronto papers had acclaimed it as the pioneer in this idea, but another countered with the assertion that Peterborough some months ago had been hailed in the same way, so the case is about even. However, our city can claim, through the thoughtfulness of its Women's Council, the premier place in regard to this innovation.

Three Hundred Canadian Teachers Will Go to Europe in the Summer

Trip To Be Again Personally Conducted by Major Fred A. Ney of Winnipeg

Major Fred A. N—, of Winnipeg founder and honorary organizer of the Overseas Educatonal League, more popularly known as the "Hands-Across-the-Sea" League, and general secretary of the National Council of Education in Canada, will again personally conduct a party of Canadian teachers to Europe this summer. The party will number over three hundred, and will be specially interesting as the government of New Zeaand and Australia will send large delegations of teachers for the first time. This will give them an opportunity for constant association with the Canadian teachers and for an exchange of ideas along educational lines.

The Canadian teachers, under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League, were directly in charge of Major Ney when they made the official visit to Great Britain and the battle-fields of France and Flanders last summer. They left Montreal on July 2 and returned to Canada from Antwerp at the end of August.

The Real Motive

Major Ney, explaining the real motive of these visits abroad, said: "The answer is simple. I am one of those who believe that in understanding there is strength, that the real cords which unite the Anglo-Saxon race are those of sentiment. To keep alive this sentiment we must know and understand each other. . . . We get to know the Englishman as he is at home, and the visits of our teachers to France were productive of much good. . . . They saw the effects of enemy aggression, they were impressed with the extreme cordiality of the French people for Canada. in Canada, we are two races but one people. We are a new country with a small population, contending with the great spaces. It is natural, therefore, that we should look to the older countries for guidance and inspiration. This we find in Great Britain and France, the mother countries of the two great sectons of the Canadian people. We believe that we have a destiny to fulfil and that in the great task ahead of us the greatest factor in the building up of the national fabric is—the teacher. That is why we send our teachers abroad; for it is they who are charged with the training of the new generation, a generation which must be full of understanding and sympathy if the years they serve are to be years of world peace and progress."

Wards of Barnardo's Homes Well Trained

At the recent meeting of the Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E. in Brantford, an interesting and informative address was given on the subject of Dr. Barnardo's Homes in Canada.

"Since the fate of 'Little Carrots,' who was turned away because a Barnardo home was too full for another inmate, and was found a week later frozen to death, no laddies had been turned away from the door." There were now 13,000 Barnardo children under care and 11,000 boys from the Barnardo homes were in the war. The speaker asked that some resolution be passed by the Order for support in this work, saying that 30,000 boys and girls in Canada were products of the homes and the government had testified that there were no better trained children in the Dominion. Dr. Barnardo was known as the "man with a lantern," because for forty years he went out every night with a lantern and a big stick looking for deserted children. At his death, because they had come to know him, every cabbie in London tied his whip with crepe.

A standing unanimous vote of endorsation was passed whereby the chapters would be permitted to take up the work.

CEREALS.

For Mid-Summer Wear

(BY MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—There is an air of quaintness about the frocks which are being shown for mid-summer wear. A trifle longer and a bit more full as to skirt, with snug little bodices, they hark back to the period of small waists, hips and the like.

The lattice trimming which one finds on some of the newest gowns tends to heighten the effect of old-fashioned daintiness.

This Claire gown combines black canton crepe with soft mauve chiffon touched with bits of silver ribbon.

The hat, worn with the frock, also a Claire model, is of lavender tagel heavily sashed with lavender taffeta.

MEN RETALIATE

Dear MissM cCarthy,

I want to say how much I like your woman's page. It has something besides dress in it, viz: Brains. Men are getting very rude nowadays. I want to write to you about it They say that we want to spank everybody and put them to bed, and that about another year or two of what they have been getting of late will do. They say that we claimed the franchise because it was our right, and then we started in to prohibit men, regardless of their rights. It is making a great difference in our lives already. Many men used to do nice things for us because they were ashamed, but now they tell us to our faces that they are doing to us what we did to them, and as they have control over a home they are making it awful disagreeable

The National Council of Women are petitioning the Parliament to make husbands give their wives one-half of their income, and my husband says for me to go out like him and work and he'll take half my income. He says we are just a lot of thoughtless, stupid children. Now that is not nice, is it, Miss McCarthy? And if they "put the prohibition clamps on us" in our schools, where we have teachers who are responsible for our moral and religious welfare, what'll we do? I thought prohibition a good thing but if it is going to be applied to what we women don't want it isn't going to suit at all. Men are getting cruel since prohibition and keep saying that they too will show us what is good for us.

LILY.

Little Dumpling Girl the Original Flapper

The term "flapper" so commonly used nowadays to describe a girl of certain type and age originated with a story entitled "Bunker Bean," published twelve years ago, in which Harry Leon Wilson, the author, called the little dumpling girl to whom the hero found himself married, the "Flapper."

The name caught on slowly at first, though used by joke writers, on the vaudeville stage and in short story magazines. Its use became general with a rush about a year ago, perhaps because short skirts and bobbed hair seemed to increase the tribe of "flapper" types.

When asked recently why he called his Bunker Bean girl a flapper, Mr. Wilson said he didn't exactly know. "I heard the term first in England, I believe," he said. "Over there fifteen years ago the little, plump chorus girl was called a flapper. Later England dropped the word and called her a 'pony,' as she is still known. But 'flapper' originated, I believe, in the English chorus."

Promising Careers of "Barnardo" Boys

"Ups and Downs," the official organ of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, contains some bright little notations on the adventures and careers of boys who were brought up by the Homes. The column entitled, "Personal Jottings," says:

"Workers in the Barnardo organization constantly need to remind themselves, 'Be not weary in well-doing,' especially when the 'incorrigible' so-called, keeps adding to their burdens. Experience teaches patience and perseverance and the exercise of faith that the good to be found in the worst will eventually predominate." The story of one of those boys who earned the unenviable title of 'incorrigible,' and then made good, records a military service which was accorded the Military Medal, and the Belgian and French Croix de Guerre. This young man is now writing a book entitled, "Just a Home Boy," inspired by his own experiences.

Another "owns his own farm and blacksmith business"; another is in the United States Marine Department; two are in training at the Bible College in Toronto; one is Chief of Police in an important district, many are doing well on farms.

Reports on the boys visited are mostly in an optimistic strain. One says: "James was picking apples at a neighboring farm and had not whistled during picking." And Emily wants to have her hair bobbed, "like all the other girls." Rose Vine says: "I hope all the boys and girls like Canada as well as I do. If anybody asked me if I wanted to go back to England I would say 'no'. If they are good boys and girls, they should do well in this fair country."

MEAT CROQUETTES.

In making croquettes you should generally use equal amounts of white sauce and meat. Less will be needed if meat is used. If dry, more sauce may be used. Meat should be chopped fine, seasoned rather highly, then moistened with sauce as soft as can be handled. Let chill thoroughly on flat dish, then divide evenly into separate portions, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each croquette. Shape into balls, cylinders, cones, or any desired shape. Roll and sift dry crumbs, beat egg with one tablespoon water. Roll croquettes in crumbs, dip in egg, again roll in crumbs, and fry in deep fat till light brown in colour. Drain on soft paper. They may be served with sauce.

Any meat or combination of meats may be used. Fish, eggs, and macaroni may be used in the same way. Seasoning may be onion, parsley, celery, salt. Lemon juice combines well with fish or chicken.

SAUSAGE ROLLS.

A regular baking powder biscuit dough is used for the rolls. It should be rolled to one-fourth inch thickness and cut into oblongs three inches long and two inches wide. In the meantime cook the sausage in a frying pan until tender, but not crisp. Roll one sausage in each piece of dough. Press sides together, leaving the ends open.

Lay in a greased pan, with the whole side up. Brush the surface of each roll with milk and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes.

Serve on a hot platter surrounded with white sauce, to which peas, carrots, or other vegetable may be added if desired. Garnish with parsley.

ALMOND FRITTERS.

Boil and mash four good-sized almonds, chopped fine; one tablespoon of butter, two tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon of salt, and the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. After mixing thoroughly, form into fritters. Roll them in one tablespoon of flour and four tablespoons of bread crumbs mixed together, and fry in oil.

TO-DAY'S FASHIONS

GIRL'S FROCK

The puffy sleeve and gathered tucker are points to be considered in this frock which has chosen the straight and simple silhouette so becoming to the early teens. Navy tricotine was used for the frock proper, with henna red crepe de chine—braided in beige and blue silk—for sleeves and tucker.

Goloshes For Women Sensible Innovation

Those people who regard goloshes with a speculative eye and wonder just why they are so popular, should remember that all things have a reaction. The girl who has shaken and shivered for the last few years in zero weather with low pumps, no rubbers, and silk stockings, might reasonably be supposed to welcome with a glad rush the edict that says she may clothe her feet in warm felt coverings and still be fashionable.

Of course, it is hard to explain the 'unbuttoned' variety of goloshes. It looks as if it is one of those things that can't be explained at all, unless one is willing to accept the theory of the man who said they were the last effort of the 'flapper' to draw attention to those "stems of her being" as Cora Harris so poetically describes them, which have become such a common and everyday spectacle on the streets since the short skirt first made its appearance.

However, just to balance up the sensible goloshes which keep the feet warm we have our cold hands this year. No muffs! is the mandate, and therefore we tuck our chilly gloved fingers up our coat sleeves and bear the frost bites with calm faces, while cosy, comfortable muffs of all sorts lie on closet shelves at home.

It's just the same idea that used to make us cover up every vestige of our slowly-yellowing necks with high, stiffly-boned collars, while our ears stood forth boldly and unblushingly beneath 'ratted' pompadours, or that, in later times, covered up these adjuncts to the profile, and exposes all of our arms and necks.

He Can Now Use His Arm Freely

WHY MIKEL NIELSON PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

British Columbia Man Finds That Sound Kidneys Make a Healthy Body by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Winlaw, B.C., Feb. 17.—(Special)—"Yes, I must say I found great benefit from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills", says Mr. Mikel Nielson, a well-known resident of this place.

"When I came here I could not use my arm. Since using Dodd's Kidney Pills I can use my arm quite freely. I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills."

That Mr. Neilson's trouble was caused by disordered or diseased kidneys is evidenced by the relief that he got from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They put the kidneys in shape to strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease out of the blood.

Diseased kidneys are the cause of a great majority of the ills to which the human body is heir. Sound kidneys are an insurance against sickness.

They Are Canadians If Born in Canada

At the Brantford meeting of the I.O.D.E. in January, an interesting discussion arose over the question of allowing children of foreign-born parents admission to children's chapters. This policy was favored by many speakers, the contention being that it was part of the work of the "Canadianization" of such people, and was a case of extending them the welcome hand. It was pointed out that these children were Canadians if born here until they reached the age of 21, at any rate. A resolution was passed recommending that such children be admitted.

For Women

Paris favors the high collar for the street.

The scarf sleeve is gaining in popularity.

Black bracelets are a smart accessory, especially with the brief sleeves the younger set is wearing.

Occasionally one sees old-fashioned rose designs in beads on milady's bag. Bags of such a type are usually found in the more conventional shapes though occasionally theer are odd fasteners.

A skilful use of lace is noted in a straightline frock with cascades of the lace from shoulder to waistline, and again from waist to hem, where sash ends of chiffon in a contrasting color are interesting touches. Gray and black lace are both used to good effect in this style.

A SAVING BUY.

By purchasing dried peas and lima beans insteadof the canned variety you secure twice the amount for half the money and they are just as good for soups and purees. The lima beans, if rightly cooked and seasoned, are quite as appetizing as the canned. Another point of economy to consider is that one cup of dried peas or beans will go as far as tow cups of canned peas or beans.

DRESS TO SUIT WORK.

While housecleaning, dress appropriately for the work. Some housekeepers wear a divided skirt or bloomers made of four widths of heavy dark skirting. These are gathered into bands and buttoned about the ankles and waist.

Pull the sleeves up as far as you want them to go and put elastic bands on the arms over the sleeves. Trim the fingernails as short as can be borne with comfort. This prevents their being broken or torn when obliged to work without gloves. Wear a dust cap, a big apron and loose gloves.

CREPE CAPES.

Canton crepe, usually in black, is being fashioned into the smartest caeps for summer wear. Occasionally a thin line of monkey fur bands the edges or heavy crepe roses give weight to the garment.

The Afternoon Frock

Mary Pickford's Styles for Girls

This is the second of six articles on styles for girls, written by Mary Pickford. Mary recently returned from Paris, where she collaborated with Madame Jeanne Lanvin, the most celebrated designer of youthful frocks in the world, in designing the frocks she is writing about.

(BY MARY PICKFORD)

In this afternoon frock of black chiffon velvet, by Lanvin, we see once again the French custom of lavishing all their attention and infinite detail upon the girdle. In this case it is made of small circles of royal blue cloth and of buttons covered with the same material.

In the centre of each button is a tiny crystal bead, while radiating from it are black, white and silver threads. The new gauntlet cuffs are edged with the buttons and loops, which also form the trimming around the neck. The standing collar is of white organdie.

To accompany this frock Madame Lanvin made me a wide-brimmed hat of black crepe de chine. Royal blue velvet ribbon ties around the crown and forms a pleating around the brim.

ministry first made it plain that it would not guarantee the bonds of any hydro-radial scheme—that it would not pledge the resources of the province as a whole to aid in the construction of a railway which would serve only a group of municipalities. The Premier has since gone farther and opposes the proposal that municipalities issue debentures which would be turned over to the Hydro-Electric Commission so that this Commission could then sell bonds to finance the undertaking with the debentures as security for the bond issue. The ground for opposing this is the opinion that if the Hydro Commission issued the bonds, the Provincial Government could not escape financial responsibility in case of failure whether it actually guaranteed the securities or not.

This attitude is pretty sure to be opposed by those members of the Opposition who stand for a vigorous prosecution of Hydro radial schemes. While they may not be prepared to go so far as to want the province to guarantee the bonds, they will insist on much more generous provisions in the Bill by which to enable the municipalities to sell the securities than the government has seen fit to include.

Dispute Over Statues.

There will also be the dispute over the statues of the Hydro-electric Commission in regard to radials. The original draft of the new bill provided that the municipalities behind the radial scheme could select any commission they chose to manage the project and in this way could seleect the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission if they desired, and the Commission would manage it for them. The municipalities, however, were also permitted, if they desired, to select other commissioners and run the show entirely independent of the Hydro-Electric Commission. But this draft did not meet with the entire approval of the government party caucus held recently where there were insistent demands that the Hydro-Electric Commission be divorced entirely from radial projects. So the draft has been held up and may be altered somewhat in this connection.

The radial supporters will fight hard to insert clauses in the Bill which would clothe the Hydro Commission with power sufficient to put some "punch" into radial undertakings. They will argue that if there is nobody with authority to over-rule petty bickerings between municipalities and organize efforts to put projects through, there will be no hope of progress in radial matters or at best only very slow progress.

Few Minor Points.

There will be minor points on which the two sides will not agree but the foregoing are the outstanding ones. There is the question of whether the province should not be prepared to take some chances to boom things along by radial construction at a time of industrial depression. A great deal depends also on whether radials would prove competitors or feeders of the steam railways already owned by the public.

The people have been told many a time and oft that over enthusiasm in building steam railways has landed the Dominion up against the railway problems it has to face today, and many careful observers think the people of this country have had such a lesson that they will never make that mistake again with any kind of railways. Whether the Radial Bill is swinging back too far on the side of caution, time alone will tell. In the meantime speculation concerning it will furnish many a vigorous debate in the legislature.

The fact that Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro Commission, the "power apostle" he is termed, does not see eye to eye with the Premier and has come out strongly for giving the Commission more authority in connection with radials adds greatly to the interest in the dispute, for when such men as Premier Drury and Sir Aadam take issue, the public harkens.

CRITICISM

(BY J. GRIEVES)

I have been asked by a friend and critic to say something or write something upon criticism. May I say that criticism is very helpful, if given and accepted as an instructive instead of a destructive factor. This article will disclose how criticism will have a part in the historical account which is to follow. The reasons for this have also been set forth.

Chastisement will not be its purpose, but, if possible, enlightenment. If it should be said the criticism is ephemeral and therefore valueless, I shall not be disturbed in mind. It may help, at least, to an understanding of the picture which I shall strive to present in the narrative. To the objection constantly urged against musical criticism, that progress in the art has uniformly disclosed its fallacy, since one generation of men frequently accepts what a preceeding generation has rejected.

I reply that no man has a right to an opinion in a question of art who is afraid to express it. And the most foolish course that a critic, lay or professional, can follow is to withhold his judgment for fear that at some future time it may be found that his opinion was erroneous.

After that the next most foolish act is for a critic to sneer at the honest writer of the past. The men who could not approve of all that Beethoven wrote were not dishonest fools; nor yet were they all imbeciles who objected to Wagner or Brahams. It is no idiocy today to question the artistic validity of every phrase of two of our present-day composers, Strauss or Debussy. "No"; I say that honest antagonism to innovation is beneficial to sound progress. It provides a regulative fly-wheel, without which the engine would go down to destruction. It cannot stop progress; and there never was a critic honestly concerned about his art that wished that it should.

No critic worthy of the name is afraid to speak out his dissent because the history of criticism has taught him that he may be overruled by others tomorrow, or that he may himself change his mind.

If he is honest and speaks his mind, there is likely to be something in his verdict which will remain true, no matter what the winds and tides of popular favor may do to his utterances, or their subject. The great masters afore mentioned have won and held their sway over the popular heart; but there is much in the criticism addressed against their creations, which was valid when it was spoken, and is valid today.

"They" were brave men and better men than those who sneer at them now. The coward in criticism who has no opinion unfavorable to the artist who is his friend, or effects friendship for him, who pronounces everything good which the god of his idolatry admired or admires, screening his ignorance behind an imposing name, will be in no danger of being overruled by posterity. His influence will stop with his friends, or the friends of his friends.

Critics, or rather critics of critics, sometimes go to an absurd length in their eagerness to discredit their fellows who have condemned the bumptiousness of the self-styled futurists of music. They forget that, despite the varying changes in manner of expression and even in the content of art, there yet remains permanency in the laws of beauty. Is it not the beauty which irradiates, vitalizes the Attic tragedians also imminent in Shakespeare? It may be that ancient laws are seeking new manifestations. Of that I do not speak. What ought to be obvious to all, and is obvious to all who know them, is that those laws have always been studied and respected by the masters in art. The critic's duty is to his conscience, to his time and to art, to speak out his opinion about things that come before the public judgment seat. The spirit which acclaims everything new is the spirit of ignorance or cowardice. The things which shall be great in the future, because they differ from the things that are great now, can wait for the future. I say, better to fail now to near the future's evangel of beauty than to proclaim that to be beautiful which shall not be recognized as such hereafter.

We cannot wrong the future; we can wrong the present. How long shall we wait? It is not for us to give heed to time. Speak out the thought of today today and that of tomorrow when tomorrow comes. Be not affrighten by the noise of shouters. He is a very young or unobservant critic who has not seen as many medio-critics hailed as geniuses as he has seen geniuses fall of appreciation.

All that they accomplish is the corruption of critics and the degradation of art. That is mischief enough; but it would be worse if they succeeded permanently in influencing public opinion. Music has now its cubists as well as painting. Because of its nature, indeed, it offers an easier field for cubism than do the plastic arts. But 'isms are not likely to triumph over the proven verities of centuries; nor will they long endure.

No one who listened to the resital given by Mme. Lugrin Fahey recently could fail to be impressed by the artiste's beauty of expression, and the powerful qualities and characteristics alike, of her dramatic works. They all abounded in freshness, vigour, love, and an originality which in themselves proclaim her as a heaven-born genius. In her varied numbers she was never else than beautiful, and to a remarkable fidelity of expression she combined a wealth of musical invention and resource.

I feel it is regrettable that we cannot fill a moderate sized building to hear such talented artistes.

And yet do we not find that there is not a skating rink in our midst capable of holding the crowds that frequent these matches upon the same evening? True, we cannot all be critics, but we can, at least, support our enterprising citizens who from time to time provide us with an opportunity of getting our minds taken off the morbid things of this earth, and concentrated upon the higher ideals which are to be found in good music.

PETROLEUM AND ACRES OF DIAMONDS

By Casper Le Blanc (Field Adviser to the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd.)

Crude Petroleum is not always black, but is found in every color ranging from white to the darkest blue. The so-called white petroleum is a beautiful amber-colored fluid and is found in commercial quantities in Persia and Roumania. Some petroleum engineers think a little white petroleum is present in practically every field, but in such small quantities as to be lost in the general flow.

Asphaltic or Paraffin.

You perhaps have often heard it remarked that Ontario's oil has a paraffin base and wondered what that meant. Petroleum either belongs to the asphaltic or paraffin family. From the asphaltic oil is obtained a tar-like substance, while from the paraffin oil we get that fine, white wax used in the preserving of fruit to keep out the air. Oil with a paraffin base is the more valuable, but all crude petroleum contains traces of both substances.

Composition of Petroleum.

If you were to take pure crude oil right from the well to the chemist and ask him to analyze it for you, you would find that it contained two very distinct elements, called carbon and hydrogen. By weight there would 86 per cent. carbon and 14 per cen hydogen. Carbon, at ordinary pressure and temperature is a solid. Everything from a Kimberley diamond to the presents at a wooden wedding is over 95 per cent. carbon, but we meet this element most often in the form of charcoal.

Hydrogen, on the other hand, is a very light gas. It is used at country fairs to fill balloons, and in chemical union with oxygen makes up a great part of all the water of the earth. When the solid, carbon, and the gas, hydrogen unite to form petroleum they both yield a point and become a liquid. This is why petroleum is called a fluid hydro-carbon.

Distilling and Refining Process.

It takes ages for petroleum to form in the earth,—ages, but under proper conditions it will resolve itself into its original elements very quickly indeed. Petroleum, when it first forms, is almost absolutely pure and almost the color of water, but it is such a wonderful solvent that almost immediately a hundred different substances begin to dissolve in it and thus render it impure.

Perhaps if you have ever visited a coal mine you have seen the efforts to separate the coal from its impurities such as slate and other non-combustible substances, and if you have ever taken ashes from a house furnace you have seen what a very incomplete job they made of this purifying process. It is the same with crude oil. The oil contains a high percentage of "ash" as it comes from the well and this must be removed in order that the oil may be used commercially.

Before refining the oil, however, it it usually distilled, in order to produce oils of different density. The same kind of oil or oil of the same density will not do for both the sewing machine and the seeder, the cream separator and the threshing machine. Some machines require light oil, others heavy oil. The crude oil is placed in a still, much the same as sap in a great evaporator, and heat is applied. The light oils begin to evaporate just as the petroleum begins to get warm, and the vapor is carried away through a condenser to a storage tank. As the petroleum gets warmer and warmer, heavier and heavier oils evaporate and these in turn are carried to their proper tanks. Thus the heavier oils are separated from the light.

If there is much sulphur in the oil, and in Ontario oils there is a great deal of sulphur, the hot oil vapors are passed over copper or iron filings. The sulphur has an affinity for the copper and unites with it, thus freeing the oil of a great deal of this element.

The paraffin is obtained from the residum left in the still after the other oils hav evaporated. So the residum is cooled down to give the paraffin wax a chance to harden and then it is put through a filter press. The paraffin collects on canvas sheets stretched through the press, and the pressure separates the oil from the wax. You would hardly imagine when you are using paraffin wax in preserving fruit that it had such an interesting history, would you

Washing Petroleum.

We now have our oil quite free from most foreign substances, but it is not all of the same quality, for it is not chemically uniform. If we used it in our oil lamps the wick would clog quickly and the oil would not burn frecly so we pour sulphuric acid into the oil and agitate the mixture. The acid unites with the poorer quality of oil and carries it to the bottom, where it is drained off. The better quality of oil remains in the tank.

To further purify the oil and reduce its acidity, we add caustic soda, and in turn draw it off. Now unless there is something exceptionally objectionable about the oil it is ready for the market.

Acres of Diamonds.

I have merely sketched the process of distillation and refining, and it may sound simple enough, but the fact of the matter is that the process is very involved and requires the expert knowledge and experience or a whole corps of chemists and engineers to prepare the crude oil for market.

This is one reason why gasoline costs more than thirty cents a gallon; a huge pay-roll has to be provided for out of the sale of the finished product. But the real reason for the high price of gasoline is that the supplyof high-grade crude oil is not equal to the demand and a good oil field is more profitable to the fortunate investor than the proverbial "Acres of Diamonds."

FRENCH SUPREMACY OF THE CONTINENT.

German Newspaper Suggests That Is the Purpose of Dealing With Russia.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Frequent reports of the conclusion of a trade agreement between Russia and France, which, however, have not been verified, have been the cause of uneasiness in German political and industrial circles in connection with the negotiations in progress between Leonid Krassin, Karl Radek and M. Stomanikow, representatives of the Soviet, and German officials, looking to an economic agreement between Germany and Russia. The eventual success of the negotiations, it is feared, may be threatened in the event that France really establishes a friendly financial agreement with the Soviet Government.

The chief anxiety appears to be that a Franco-Russian agreement would tend further to isolate Germany politically and commercially and give to France an opportunity for a greater exploitation of Germany's defeat in the war.

Hugo Stinnes' organ, The Allgemeine Zeitung, expresses the belief that France would use a Russian agreement as another weapon against Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain. This newspaper suggests that even the discussion of such a plan would serve the aims of M. Poincare with regard to the Genoa economic conference.

The Rotrsen Cresrill thinks France is seeking such an agreement "to complete her over-lordship of the Continent," and that Russia is bankrupt and unable to offer satisfactory guarantees, but seeking to establish her position among the other nations, will listen to all proposals and agree to almost anything. This newspaper adds that the Bolsheviki are playing comedy with France, as well as the other nations.

AN INSIDE BATH MAKES YOU LOOK AND FEEL FRESH

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, declaring this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before eating more food.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others have bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to show the value of inside bathing.

FIRST THE FEET THEN THE HANDS

Box Stove Patrons at the Market Hall Were Much in Evidence This Morning—To-day's Prices.

The farmers' market was slimmer than usual this morning. Upstairs, the tables were cleared by 11 o'clock, with nothing left but eggs. These were selling at 45 and 48 cents generally, one woman with a pure white variety asking fifty cents per dozen. There was no butter visible anywhere, the supply having been snapped up at an early hour at a general price of 45 cents, with one dealer letting her supply go for 42c. Two lone fowl were on hand; one a lordly-looking bird which its owner maintained was a spring chicken, calling for an outlay of 35 cents per pound, and a skinny, small one at 23 cents. Honey remains at 14 and 18 cents per pound; cream at 25c and 30c.

Down below, the fishmonger was doing a good business. Beef and pork were not as plentiful as usual, and produce generally seemed scarce. A few bags of potatoes went at $1.50, carrots were 50 cents per peck, onions 25c, turnips 20c, apples, from Greenings to Spys, ranged from 40, 50, 55, to 60 cents per peck; cabbages were demanding 20 and 25 cents per head.

There wasn't as much meat as usual, mostly pork, at 18, 19 and 21 cents, beef at 8 cents per pound, hearts 20 and liver in huge chunks at 15 cents.

Several loads of hardwood remained, $12 to $14 being the general price.

The auctioneer had the crowd, with a varied assortment of attractions, ranging from a highly-praised earthenware churn to a "pure-bred Barred Rock," which protested loudly at the assertion that it would weigh about seven pounds 'dressed,' and upstairs, the thin crowd had no perceptible effect on the stove patrons. There is a certain ritual about these gentlemen's efforts. First the feet, then the hands, then the backs come in for a general warming-up. One lady had joined the mystic circle to-day, and was warming her hands over the heat. The conversation rose and fell about her, led by a tall man leaning negligently on a brand new axe handle.

ANOTHER CASE DIPHTHERIA IN LOCAL Y.W.C.A.

Whole Institution Has Been Quarantined for Another Seven Days.

The local branch of the Young Women's Christian Association has been placarded for diphtheria. Last week, an inmate of the house, suffering from this disease, was removed to the Isolation Hospital, and the establishment and those remaining in it placed under strict regulations, designed to prevent any further spreadig of infection. Dr. W. H. Young, Medical Officer of Health impressed on the girls the necessity of inoculation, and many complied in this regard. To prevent hardship and unnecessary severity, they were allowed to continue working, if the rules laid down were complied with. Dr. Young with the Chairman of the Board of Health, took this action after serious consideration.

This week, just six days after the discovery of the first case, another removal was made to the Isolation Hosptial, which, in the opinion of the M.O.H. might easily have been avoided if his recomendations as to inoculation had been carried out. The top floor has accordingly been segregated, their food being caried up to them. The whole institution is quarantined for another seven days ,and the M.O.H. will exercise his own discretion in the matter of permitting the remaining inmates to continue at work, this depending on the nature and conditions of their employment.

FATHER HAS DISAPPEARED.

HAMILTON, Feb. 18. Canadian Press.—The man who is accused of being the father of the two children of Olive Rutledge, the young woman who threw herself out of the seventh story window of Bank of Hamilton building will not be at inquest on Monday evening. He is not in Hamilton; in fact, he is not in Canada.

BASKETBALL IS GETTING A BIG RUN

(BY DR. JAMES NAISMITH)

The scoring system as now used in basketball cannot be improved upon to any great extent, in my opinion.

The present agitation, much circulated in the press, to change the scoring value of the goal from field or the goal from free throw, or both, is not advisable. No really good arguments have been offered in support of the contention that there is need for such change.

The whole idea back of basketball scoring is to arrive at a system that will not make the foul too cheap, nor yet too costly. If the latter, the referee will hesitate to call the foul, while if too cheap the players will not refrain from excessive fouling.

The Rules Committee has made it a policy to make changes only after thorough study and then referring the suggested changes to coaches and officials.

This has prevented freak legislation and made the game stable. The present suggestions should receive careful consideration, but as for myself I cannot see much of merit in them now.

The comparative value of the goal from field and the goal from free throw is the result of experience and has been arrived at as it stands today only after numerous changes and experiments through the seasons of the past.

Most of the experimenting as regards scoring has centred about the foul penalty. The Rules Committee has spent many hours in trying to find the adjustment that would insure the best interest of the game.

The present system of personal and technical fouls, with the disqualifying rule and the possibility of scoring through throwing a goal seems to be the most satisfactory arrangement possible.

Any attempt to lessen the penalty for foul playing encourages carelessness in the commission of fouls.

Today the referee does not hesitate to call the fouls, because they are not too costly.

On the other hand, the coaches do not encourage their teams to commit fouls because they are costly enough to make too many of them dangerous to success.

A change in the scoring would lead to another period of hesitancy and experimenting on the part of the coaches and officials.

DR. JAMES NAISMITH,

head of the Department of Physical Education at the University of Kansas, is the inventor of the game of basketball, and for years has been a member of the committee on basketball rules of the National Collegiation Association. Last year he was made an honorary life member of the national rules body. What Dr. Naismith has to say regarding the proposed changes in the scoring of basketball carries the weight of being the opinion of a man who has followed the game from its beginning, and who has been closely associated with college athletics since 1891. Dr. Naismith invented the game of basketball in 1891 while a student in the Y.M.C.A. Training School of Springfield, Mass. He has been connected with the University of Kansas since 1898.

In the final analysis the purpose of a penalty for a foul is to give a proper value to the playing of an expert and well-trained team.

Fouls are made either from a lack of skill or from an intention to hinder good play.

In either case the penalty should be sufficient to induce proper training or to cause the player to hesitate to commit a foul.

The argument that the present system enables a team of inferior ability to win games through the free throw does not hold true, for in most cases it is the less skilled team that does the excessive fouling.

With a competent referee I do not believe that it ever occurs that a weaker team defeats a stronger team through free throws.

No team can make free throws until the other team has made a foul, and the solution of the matter is to have a team coached to play without making fouls.

The time to call fouls is in practice, and there will be very little need to call fouls in a game when teams are coached in this way.

In the fastest and hardest played game I ever saw, one team made three fouls and the other made four, and yet there was the most intense rivalry between the opponents.

The spectators and also the winning and losing teams were satisfied and pleased with the game. Both teams had been coached to play offensive ball all the time and such playing gives the ideal game.

Of course, I do not mean to say that the game as it now stands is unassailable, that there is no room for improvement anywhere.

I do believe, however, that the comparative value of the field goal and the goal from foul is at present on the best possible basis.

There have been some changes suggested in regard to the free throw that I have been able to arouse some sympathy for.

It has been suggested that in order to prevent the development of an especially skilled free thrower that the player fouled be required to make the try for goal.

Another idea is for the try at free throw to be rotated among the five players of team.

Either of these plans, it seems to me, might well be considered, because they tend to develop all five of the players of a team into free throwers and thus each member is made a little more of an all-around player.

A Query a Day

(BY BILLY EVANS)

How does the umpire judge a fair or foul ball, by the position of the fielder, or the ball and foul line? For example, the left fielder, in going after a fly ball, has both feet inside the foul line on fair territory, when reaching for the ball. His hands are extending over the foul line, and are perhaps six inches in foul territory. He gets his hands on the ball, but drops it. Is it a fair or foul ball?

No attention is ever paid to the position of the player. The hit is judged according to the relative position of the ball and the foul line.

In the play cited the ball was foul. The fact that both of the player's feet were in fair territory when his hands came into contact with the ball is given no consideration. His hands were in foul territory when the ball struck them, making it a foul ball.

A LIVELY CONTEST.

NEW YORK, February 18. Canadian Press. — After a fast and lively contest which at times resembled a gymnasium bout between instructor and pupil, with Britton as the former judged decided on a draw in the championship bout between Jack Britton, the veteran welter weight champion, and Dave Shade of California, last night. The verdict seemed to please the crowd although a big majority of the ringside critics held that Britton had won by a good margin.Shade was eager, willing and courageous but was made to look clumsy and award by wonderful blocking, ducking and side stepping of the old master, who bewildered the challenger with his speed. Britton is 37 years of age.

AGE NO BAR TO WINNING WORLD TITLE

John Miller, at Eighty-Three Years of Age, Seeks Barnyard Golf Championship Scheduled For St. Petersburg, Florida.

(BY BILLY EVANS)

The world series of "barnyard golf" is close at hand.

During the week of February 20, the best horseshoe pitchers in the country, "gol ding 'em," will compete at St. Petersburg, Fla.,.

Most interesting of all the entrants is John "Hog" Miller of Rock Valley, Ia.

Miller is 83 years of age and feels right pert, thank you. He has been pitching horseshoes for 25 years. He says there is no reason why he shouldn't be good for 25 more.

Barnyard golf has no stronger booster than John Miller. He maintains that any man of middle age or past, who takes up horseshoe pitching, will never suffer from appendicitis or stomach trouble.

Miller points to himself as a living example of his theory. He says he feels far better today than he did at 50.

Miller gets the "goat" of a lot of players by his slow tactics. He takes a minute at each pitch. He insists he is the dark horse of the field.

The veteran athlete—we must call him an athlete, because Miller insists horseshoes comes under that head—has two hobbies.

One of them is raising champion Poland China hogs on his 2,000-acre ranch in the north. The other is spending the winter at St. Petersburg pitching horseshoes. He says he summers with the "porkers" and winters with the horseshoes.

Favorites for the Title.

George May, Akron, O., fire fighter, also hopes to stage a comeback. He won the championship in 1919.

No ball player or boxer takes better care of himself than these veterans of the pitching lanes. They rise with the sun and spend the greater part of the day, and often some of the night, pitching horseshoes. Down at St. Petersburg a special string of electric lights have been placed over the pegs, for night competition.

The St. Petersburg tournament will be conducted on five lanes laid out on the floor of a wooden bowl with a seating capacity of 5,500.

Pegs will be placed the regulation 40 feet apart. The games will consist of 50 points each. The total number of points scored by the contestants will decide the winner.

CLASSICS OF THE DIAMOND

Bill Byron, who has more color than any of the modern-day umpires, is never at loss for a reply on the ball field.

As a matter of fact, Byron has coined more unique sayings than all the other umpires put together.

Some years ago in a very important game, with the bases filled and two men out, the batter hit a foul fly in the general direction of first base.

The firstsacker started in pursuit and the coacher followed close behind. While the fielder was trying to judge the fly ball, the coacher persisted in yelling:

"I got it." On the ball field "I got it" is much more in popular favor than "I have it."

The fielder so annoyed by the coacher's shouts made a bad muff of the fly ball. As the ball bounded out of his glove, Byron in his very best voice shouted:

"You're out."

The team at bat clamored for an explanation. Byron told them he was out for interference.

"What kind of interference " asked the captain of the team at bat.

"Vocal interference, purely vocal," was the reply. It went and stands, as the only player ever called out for vocal interference.

At that it was a perfectly proper ruling .

A Little Sporting Gossip

The Examiner's suggestion that the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs should get together in a hockey match has borne fruit; articles have been signed, Monday (Feb. 27) selected as the date and the teams will go into training at once. The game promises to be the sensation of the year. The only difficulty is in choosing a line-up from such a galaxy of talent as is available.

Among the stars who will appear on the Rotary line-up will be ex-Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Rev. Harold Young, Chris. Graham, Rolly Glover, Claude Rogers, Gordon Matthews, Bell Telephone McHardie and Chamber of Commerce Frazer. The Kiwanis team is being chosen by secret ballot and will be announced later.

It is likely that the play-off between the winners of the first and second sections of the City Hockey League will consist of a two-game series, goals to count—an arrangement that will suit both fans and players.

The boxing and wrestling classes under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. were organized Thursday night. Eight have already enrolled for the boxing, which will be in charge of Sergt. Wilfrid Jones, while four wrestlers were on hand last night.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"If ball players like our thriving little burg, we can't shut the door in their faces."—Art Kimmel (Cobourg).

Sandy Lockington of The Port Hope Guide, commenting upon the activities of various ball players as reported recently in the newspapers, delivers the following timely warning, which wil be endorsed by everybody who remembers what happened to the old Midland League: "Whither is our league drifting when it appears in the public press that Gallagher of Kingston has located in Oshawa and will do the twirling for the Oshawa club this year, and that three stars have been secured by Cobourg and Goyer, Belleville's pitching ace, has gone to Guelph. There is only one conclusion. Instead of an amateur league we are becoming out and out professional. We have no proof, of course, that Gallagher of Kingston is receiving any financial consideration from the Oshawa club, but there is always a suspicion when baseball players change their place of abode just in time to come within the residence clause, and the same will apply to Cobourg's newcomers. The writer was an officer of the old Midland League when the importation of players started. It just required two years to wreck all the teams financially and put the league out of business. We would regret very much to see the Central League suffer a similar fate, but if the league officials wink at these importations this is sure to be the outcome. The way to stamp out professionalism is by nipping it in the bud. There is a grand opportunity for some of the delegates at the Central League annual meeting next month."

And on top of this, along comes The Belleville Ontario with the following interesting little bit of baseball gossip: "Jack Oulette, pitcher for the Lindsay Central League team last year, has gone to Picton where he will pitch for the Intermediate O.B.A. team from that town." The residence rule for the O.B.A.A. series happens to be January 1st, which would make it rather awkward for Picton to try to get away with Oulette even if they have landed him, which is doubtful. F. Catcher is a Great Aid to the Pitcher

(BY WALTER JOHNSON)

HAT help is the catcher to a pitcher?

I am very frank to say that I don't believe the catcher gets anywhere near the credit that is due him.

There is no player on the field who takes a more prominent part in the game than the catcher. Yet of all the players, the catcher probably has the least chance to get into the limelight.

There is no doubt but that certain pitchers are far more successful working with certain catchers. I have had ample proof of that fact during my career. I have been far more successful with certain catchers catching me than others.

There are, of course, many reasons that could be advanced for such a condition. In the first place, if a pitcher has confidence in his catcher, and from experience knows that his judgment is of the best, it immediately takes a big load off his mind.

The brainy catcher who knows the game and makes a study of his batters is the very best person to select the kind of a ball that should be pitched.

If the pitcher is convinced that his catcher is such a type, all he needs to do is pitch, and forget, to a large extent, that he must vary his stuff to meet conditions. He lets the catcher be the judge of situations.

There are times when the pitcher takes issue even with the star catcher as to the best ball to pitch. I have occasionally done it, and I am sorry to say, that in a great many cases after pitching according to my notion, I wished I had followed instructions from my catcher.

"Gabby" Street was my first catcher and I never had a better one. There have been times in my career that I have floundered around like a novice with some recruit catching me.

Take it from me, the catcher is a great help to the pitcher.

The rinks were:

Were Runners-Up.

Harry Foote was the last Peterborough rink to reach home from the Oshawa bonspiel. He landed last night with the second prizes in the Eaton Cup competition, having lost the final game to George Southwell of Oshawa. His rink were R. Hamilton, J. Bacon, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, and H. F. Foote.

The Scheduled Games.

Alex. Archibald has won group three of the scheduled games with nine victories and only one loss. In the second group J. H. Connal is leading with eight wins, and in the first Dickson Davidson has seven games to his credit. The scheduled games board is rapidly filling up, and the play-off is just about due.

MANY PUPILS LEARN BOXING

The boxing classes being conducted by the P.A.A.A. in the recreation hall of the armouries, are well under way, and Wilfrid Jones, the instructor, already has many pupils. The classes will be held three nights a week, from eight to nine o'clock, and are free to young men and boys who will obey instructions as regards training and general conduct at the classes. No time will be wasted upon mixers, and only one warning will be issued to those guilty of misconduct at the training quarters. The classes will be held on Monday, Thursday and Friday of each week.

After the close of the hockey and skating season, the P.A.A.A. hope to put on a series of "smokers" and gradually develop interest in the sport so that city championships may be held in the spring.

The P.A.A.A. have been fortunate in securing the co-operation of Wilfrid Jones, as instructor for the classes. He is a veteran of the boxing game, and also of football, and is recogniezd as one of the best goalies playing in the Peterborough Football Association.

HOCKEY NOTES

The Duffus Devils defeated the Campbellford Bear Cats on Tuesday night at the Armouries Rink by the score of 2-1, the first game the Campbellford team has lost this season. The Campbellford bunch played a fine brand of hockey, and surprised the Devils, but the Devils played good combination and beat the fast Bear Cats, although it was doubtless who would win until the Peterborough team started out in the last period and scored their second counter.

Sanders, the Campbellford net-guardian, was the best for the losers, while Dwyer, the Duffus Devils' goal-minder, was hard to beat.

The line-up:

Campbellford Bear Cats: Goal, Sanders; defence, Copperwaite and Hankison; wings, Blue and W. White; centre, D. White. Sub., Parson.

Duffus Devils: Goal, Dwyer; defence, Fuller and Foy; wings, Mein and Williams; centre, Sims. Subs., Curtain, V. Anthony, L. Anthony.

Some good hockey was played in the Junior School Hockey League at Brock Street Rink this morning:

PLAY TWO GAMES FOR CITY TITLE

The City Hockey League Executive will hold a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at seven o'clock this evening and will probably amend the constitution to provide that two games, goals to count, shall be played, to decide the championship. Last winter, De Laval and Wm. Hamilton A .A. played one game for the honors. On top of that memorable game, and since then, there has been agitation in favor of playing two contests, the argument being that the two-game series is the only fair way of deciding the championship. Officers of the League declared for one final game in order to protect both the supporters of the games and the League. Now, after two seasons of hockey, the league has established a reputation for honesty in the conduct of the games, and it is believed that patrons of the organization will look with favour upon the proposed change to the series of two games for the Fowler silverware. No change is suggested in the events of a tie for second half honors for which the constitution provides that one game of sixty minutes shall be played.

MENTORS' CLUB HOLDS MEETING.

The regu lar meeting of the Mentors Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday at 7 p.m. After the opening ceremony and business Rev. H. Young gave an instructive talk on graded lesons. He poin t d out their advantages over the uniform lessons which are not planned to meet the needs of the boy.

Mr. Cuffe then gave a splendid talk on Home, giving both the attitude of the boy and parents and the way it may be helped by the clubs

Mr. Smaill, in the absence of the physical convenor, took charge of the group games and a number of new ones were explained and tried out.

The club members are asked to attend the conference on Monday evening at Knox Church. Churches not yet represented should have members attend to get advantage of this splendid training.

Local Girls Forging Ahead in Athletic Sports and Pastimes

Basketball Team Wins Creditable Scores for First Season—Hockey Teams in the Running

The local basketball team which is representing Peterboro in the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association goes to Guelph on Saturday for the fifth game in the O.L.B.A. series in this district. The local girls have already played four games, two with St. Catherines and two with Toronto, winning one, from the former. Considering that this is their first year in the Association, their scores have been creditable, as they were amost outclassed in combination and finish when compared with their opponents. They should have a good chance to play well in Guelph, as this is the first year that the Royal City has been entered in the Ontario series.

Players going to Guelph on Saturday will be: the Misses Thelma Paxman, Gertrude Kirn (forwards) Burness Pidgeon, (centre), Carrie Coones and Madeline Pulkinhorn (defence), Aileen Wade and Irene Kale (subs), Miss Jean McLaughlin (manager) and Miss Helen Bulmer (captain) will go also, the latter is still out of the game on account of an accident suffered to her eye in one of the contests with the Toronto girls.

In the City Basketball games, the series has narowed down to three groups; the Normalites, Quaker Oats and Intermediate Gymnasium teams. Two games more remain to be played or the cup donated last year by Mr. E. E. Harvey and won by the Normalites. In one, the Quaker Oats team play the Intermediate Gymnasium, and the winners then play off with the Normalite girls.

In Hockey Field.

The picked girls' hockey team meets Campbellford players here on February 24th, in a return contest. The girls have won two games from Lakefield, and lost one to Campbelford, remaining decidely in the running. Mr. R. Hirsch of Lakefield recently announced his intention of giving a silver cup for district hocoky games in the girls' teams, Peterboro and Lakefield, possibly Campbellford and other district hockey games in the girls' ded in the competition. This series will commence in near future, if definite arangements can be made for it.

In the City Hockey League games, the girls of the Y.W.C.A. Tigers will meet the girl Normalites on Tuesday evening next, and the 'Y' Hopefuls will play the same team on Thursday, the first and second teams to win playing off in the final game for the city championship.

Will Curl in Toronto.

Local lady curlers wil go to Toronto next week in two rinks to compete in the Tankard games. The ladies have just finished an interesting series of contests for the Gibson cup, Mrs. V. Eastwood and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson having won the same number of games in this competition, and being compelled to play an extra game to decide it, which was won by the latter's rink. Games for the consolation trophy, the Waddell cup, have commenced and will be decided shortly.

MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. Caadian Press. — The opening prices in the stock market to-day showed fractional gains and losses. Foreign oils, yesterday's weakest features were firm on short covering but independent steels, also motors and equipments were inclined to ease.

Usual week end covering of short contracts imparted firmness to leading issues at the opening of today's stock markets. Foreign oils, notably Mexican and Panamerican petroleum and shell trading gained large fractions. Food and textile specialties also hardened and equipments later came forward on buying of American and Baldwin locomotives. A one point decline in Louisville and Nashville was the only material change in the railway group.

PETERBORO MAN VICE-PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the Retail Furriers' and Hatters' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association, held in Toronto yesterday, Mr. T. Barrie, of Peterborough, was elected first vice-president.

The subject of business ethics in connection with the furriers' business gave rise to a lot of discussion, the debate raising such questions as that of a lady buying a fur and then taking it to another member of the trade for him to pass judgment upon it. The practice of returning deposits made on furs which were to be taken away on a subsequent date also was involved.

Mr. Taylor suggested propaganda to educate the public, and the proposal met with a good deal of favor. It will be considered by the new Executive.

NICE SUM REALIZED LOCAL RELIEF WORK

School Valentine Entertainmeni For a Worthy Cause.

A very successful and well-attend-Valentine entertainment was held at their school by the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association last evening. A pleasing programme was presented, and a nice sum realized for the relief work in which the association is much interested just now.

The hall was prettily decorated with bright red Valentine fancies,cut outs, cupids and gay red hearts.Dainty refreshments were served, and an interesting musical programme presented, Mr. H. Dearborn acting as chairman. Instrumental selections were rendered by Mrs.Massey-Cooke and Miss Mildred Johnson, readings by Viola McCracken and Margaret Walker, dances by Monica Goodwin and Nettie Hardy, the latter giving the Highland Fling an sword dance to bagpine accompaniment by Mr. D. rant. Mrs. Ford Turner gave a pleasing vocal solo. Contests and games were much enjoyed, the "Bug" game and geographical contest creating much merriment, prizes going to Mrs. F. Rathbone and Mrs. Ford Turner. A pleasing feature of the entertainmen was the fact that most of the musical contributions were made by pupils of the school. Several new members were enrolled in the Association last evening.

MAY FORM A FARMERS' SECTION OF THE LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

This Promises to Be Outcome of Timely and Illuminating Lecture by Dr. J. B. Reynolds.

A most interesting and instructive address was given at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night by Dr. J. B. Reynolds, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, his subject being, "The Proper Relations Between Urban and Rural Communities."

Those who were present certainly enjoyed a great treat. The subject was handled in a most masterful and convincing manner and everyone present must have gone away with a kindlier feeling towards those who differed from themselves in the various phases of life and in places of abode. This will have a great influence in solving the many great national problems confronting us at the present time, and make this great Canada of ours a happier and a better land to live in.

Depending on Others.

The lecturer started off by saying that there was no country in the world, nor no class or sect that had not to depend on others; therefore we should all try and look from the viewpoint of the other fellow. He instanced the country to the south of us, which held two-thirds of all the gold of the world and had a country so vast that they could grow almost every kind of vegetation, but still the farming community is in a most desperate condition. The Government of the United States were trying to build a tariff wall about their country and were standing aloof from all international organizations, so as to be free from all dependence upon all other nations of the world, but they will soon find their error, the speaker said.

All classes, he continued, were combining to stifle competition, but it can't be done. Manufacturers, labour of all kind, lawyers, bankers, railroads and companies of all kinds combine for the same purpose, and they will soon find that stifling competition is not the panacea for a better country. The lecturer then referred to the position of the farmer up to a very recent date. He said he lived in the northwest for five years prior to his coming back to his native province, so he knew whereof he spoke. He asked what recourse had the individual farmer against such powerful combinations as the great Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the great Elevator Companies which stood in with the railway comapny, the large farm implement companies He knew he was being bled for all he was worth or could stand. This condition caused discord and rebellion and the lecturer asked his audience if they would not feel in the same way if they were so treated. He called on all present to do to others as they would like to be done by.

Combine For Protection.

He showed how the farmers of the west, when their condition got desperate, called a meeting to discuss the situation, and the result was they decided that the only course left open for them was to follow the example set them by the elevator company, the implement companies, and so forth and combine for their own protection. The farmer who called the meeting in the prairie provinces was the present Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Motherwell, and the farmer who called the meeting in Manitoba was the present leader of the Progressive party, Hon. Mr. Crerar. These farmers were like men that he was addressing; in fact, most of the farmers were fellow citizens of this Province. The lecturer here reminded the audience that he was only treating the quesion from an economical standpoint, which had nothing to do with the political standpoint. The first consideration in starting this combination some twenty years ago, was one of economy, and the organization was called "The Grain Growers of the West." Of late years they found that they could not get what they considered fair play from the powerful combinations with whom they had to deal with, so they decided to form a political party, which they called the "United Farmers" of the different provinces. Our own Province followed the example of the "Grain Growers," and united into the U.F.O. Now, what is the solution of all these combinations for the common welfare of our great country that we all love so well? Is it not to get together and discuss the situation from our various viewpoints in a spirit of good fellowship and from the standpoint of the Golden Rule. The dweller of the city not to look on the dweller of the country as one inferior to himself, and vice versa. If both get together they will soon find out after discussing their several problems that they have been mistaken in their opinion of each other, and will combine to form a mutual admiration society.

Past Conditions.

The lecturer here went on to describe the conditions existing some years ago, whereby the country citizens had their community centres, where they had most of their wants supplied by the grist mill, church, general store, blacksmith shop and meeting place. These have been done away with and by the aid of automobiles farmers and their families come to the larger centres, but the community spirit has to a large extent been vanished, and no means have as yet been provided to fill this gap. It is to be hoped that soon some organization will be formed that will provide necessary means whereby the citizens of the country and the city may meet together and become better acquainted with each other; and it is surely true that we will all be better citizens and work together more harmoniously to make this loved Dominion of ours, which we all think is the best country in the world—and which is passing through such trying times—a still greater country to live in.

A Farmers' Section.

As a result of the lecturers' discourse, Mr. Roland Denne gave a notice of motion to have a farmers' section of the Chamber of Commerce formed, and that the fees for this section be at a reduced rate.

The chairman expressed himself as greatly pleased with every word that the lecturer had spoken, and he was sure that the lecture would have a most beneficial result. He assured the farmers present that they were most welcome to use the facilities provided by the Chamber of Commerce and to hold any meetings they wished to hold in the Council Chamber of the Board.

The meeting dispersed by singing of the National Anthem.

DISCOUNT DISAPPEARING.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The discount on the Canadian dollar in the United States will very probably disappear entirely within the current year, a Wall Street journal announces this morning. While in the past, Canadian exchange rate has generally followed fluctuations of sterling exchange, the paper asserts, other factors have recently influenced the Canadian rate so that sterling for certain periods at least has ceased to be the dominant factor.

AT THE GRAND.

"IRISH EYES" WITH WALTER SCANLAN

Walter Scanlan, whose silver toned tenor voice, charmed local theatregoers last season, will be at the attraction at the Grand Theatre, tonight, in a new comedy drama with entire new songs, entitled "Irish Eyes" written by the American dramatist Edward E. Rose. The scenes ar laid on the shore of Galway Bay, Ireland and on the banks of the Hudson river, New York. No spot in the Emerald Isle has a greater appeal to the playwright and the author has woven a charming story around characters and incidents among the fishing-folk of this quaint Western seaport, at the same time drawing a delightful contrast of life among the rich and fashionable set on Riverside Drive, New York. Mr. M. Gatts, the producer has given "Irish Eyes" a gorgeous scenic production, perfect in every detail and a high-class cast of players. The names of Mr. Scanlan's new songs are: "Mavourneen", "My Galway Rose", "The Road to My Love", "An Irish Song Will Live as Long as Life and Love Shall Last', "Kathleen" and "Judy.'

GREAT MELODRAMA.

No greater melodrama was ever written than "A Little Girl In A Big City," which will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

In four acts it tells the story of the little girl (Laura Nelson) who leaves her county home for the purpose of seeking employment in the great metropolis. From the moment she reaches her destination, via the Albany night boat, until the curtain falls at the conclusion of the play, the play fairly teems with stirring and startling situations and thrilling climaxes. The New York critics, who reviewed it at its opening performance in New York, where it played a very successful engagement at Keith's Gotham Theatre, were unanimous in declaring it to be the best example of plays of its kind that they had seen for many years, and prophesied its popularity would outlast any melodrama then on the boards. In this contention they were absolutely correct for "A Little Girl In A Big City" is now in its sixth season with every indication of, like the perennial brook, running on forever.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"
(The Play Not the Picture)

A noted company of players specially selected will be seen at the Grand Theatre, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in "Ten Nights In A Bar Room'. This production is given under the management of Arthur C. Aiston and James W. Castle.

It is not necessary to go into detail repeating the story of his great play as it is well known to every reader of fiction and theatregoer.

The present revival is the most pretentious from every point we believe the stage has ever seen, Frank Base gives the character of Joe Morgan a portrayal such as he alone can give. Miss Dorothy Galland, a granddaughter of the most noted singing Evangelist, Ira D. Sankey, who with Mr. Moody formed the greatest Evangelistic combination that ever held revival services. Miss Galland who comes naturally by her sweet sympathetic voice from her grandfather will charm the audience with her singing in the old song "Father, dear Father, Come Home With Me Now." Charles Reilly and Lucille Lennon will stir the audience to laughter.

At the Capitol, Three Days Commencing Monday

AT THE REGENT.

Dorothy Gish gets a lot of wholesome fun out of her role of a little grand duchess with a yard-long list of titles in "Little Miss Rebellion," her latest screen comedy. The picture is the feature attraction at the Regent Theatre during the first part of next week.

Despite an army of highly ornate retainers, the duchess not only plays hooky from the palace, but has an encounter with a balky mule, mingles with some Yankee doughboys in a baseball game, and attends a jazz ball with Sergeant Dick Ellis. That is the start of the romance between them. Then the revolution comes along and sweeeps the grand duchess and her faithful servitor, a grenadier, to the east side of New York. A job as hash slinger in a quick-lunch restaurant and re-union with Ellis follows.

Ralph Graves, who has appeared in several former Gish pictures, is again her leading man and George Seigman, Riley Hatch, and Marie Burke are also in the cast. George Fawcett, the veteran actor, was the director and the picture is a Paramount.

DANGER THREATENS IN THIBET.

Strange, bewildering, frightful things are happening to June Caprice and George B. Seitz in "In Hostile Hands," the third episode of the Pathe serial, "The Sky Ranger," showing Monday at the Regent Theatre.

Santro has at last succeeded in kidnapping June and George. Using his magician's knowledge, he hypnotizes them and takes them in his airplane to a small, barbarous country in Asia, where they are unjustly accused of murdering and robbing a rich pilgrim.

Some striking night scenes give a splendidly artistic touch to this chapter of "The Sky Ranger." In fact, most of the action takes place in the darkness of night, when June and George come out of their trance and find themselves on a wind-swept plain. They make their way to the nearest town, and are here arrested and taken to the temple of justice, their way through the narrow streets lit by flaring torches.

The experiences of June and George will be as thrilling to the audience as they were to these two innocent, helpless Americans, the victims of a fiendish plot of Santro.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol Offers Another Wonderful Production on Monday, "The Conquering Power." with the Same Great Cast as "The Four Horsemen."

"The Conquering Power" is announced by the Capitol Theatre, for three days, beginning Monday next. It is a Rex Ingram production for Metro and in it Mr. Ingram has had the assistance of all the principals who aided him in making "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" the superb production that it was. At its New York premiere, "The Conquering Power" was acclaimed with unstinted enthusiasm, some reviewers asserting that it even surpassed "The Four Horsemen."

It is an adaptation by June Mathis of Balzac's novel, "Eugenie Grandet." The scene is laid in a provincial city of France, where the miserly old Grandet hoards his gold and lives in poverty with his daughter, Eugenie. A nephew, Charles, a young boulevardier from Paris, son of a bankrupt suicide, is thrown upon the miser's charity—and is accordingly thrown out, shipping to Martinique with little money, but with the treasured memory of Eugenie's love.

This is the beginning of Balzac's tremendous story of love and greed.

In the screen version Alice Terry, the exquisitely beautiful Marguerite of "The Four Horsemen," has scored a sensational triumph through her portrayal of Eugenie. Rudoph Valentino, whose Latin temperement and graceful fascination fitted him pre-eminently for the role of Julio in "The Four Horsemen," is cast as the Parisian dandy, Charles. Ralph Lewis, one of the most effective of character actors, plays old Grandet. Others in the cast are Edward Connelly, Edna Dumary, George Atkinson, Willard Lee Hall, Mary Hearn, Bridgetta Clark, Mark Fenton, Eugene Puoyet and Ward Wing. The photography is by John F. Seitz and the technical directors are Ralph Barton and Amos Myers.

Besides this splendd seven-reel production a number of very excellent short-reel subjects, including the newest two-reel Jimmy Aubrey Comedy, "The Messenger," one of the very best comedies seen in many months, will be shown.

FAN-FAN.

AT THE ROYAL.

Are you wondering reader what you will do and where you will do it this evening? If so you have an easy answer. Take in the splendid show at the Royal Theatre. To enable you to see at once why this advice is good look at to-night's programme and to-night's prices. You will see the sprightly and vivacious little Shirley Mason in Queenie, a drama of romance, intrigue and comedy. It shows how a girl handicapped by poverty and without influence wins wealth and the man of her heart. It shows how a rich old miser, won by a girl's love and devotion discovers that more pleasure is gained by generosity than by hoarding his pile. You will see that world renowned exponent of the western drama, Buck Jones, in the big feature picture "Bar Nothin'," If you admire a manly man who rides like a prairie Indian, who risks life and limb in thrilling stunts and who makes an ideal cowboy of the west, come and see Jones tonight. The support in this breezy western play, with its mirages in the Mojave desert, its gripping plots and its mountain scenes, is exceptionally good.

Then like every normal being you enjoy a good comedy. The Sunshine Midgets is a comedy of circus life, and it is a cornucopia of merriment. It not only keeps an audience in roars of laughter but presents some new stunts in drama-photoplay. They say a photograph cannot lie, but when you see some of the photographic scenes in the Midgets you will say like the farmer when he saw his first giraffe, "There ain't no sich animals!" But if you think photographs can't lie see a big elephants in Midgets pick up a live mouse and and see what happened to the elephant. Good music by Mesdames Hyde and Hoyland (violin.)

DO YOUR BOWELS MOVE REGULARLY, OR DO THEY BECOME CONSTIPATED

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material inconvenience may not be felt at once from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N.S., writes: "For over a year I suffered with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicines, but could only get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I procured two vials of them, but after I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."

Breaking the Grip of Rheumatism on the Body

Weekly Health Talk No. 18
By A. P. Rogers, D.C.

The principle characteristic of rheumatism is pain. There is dull and continuous aching, with severity and sharpness at times. If the pain would stop for intervals, it might be more bearable, but the fact that it is continuous is what makes rheumatism the most dreaded of diseases.

Uncle Ben Says:
When it comes to Health the Chiropractic generally says it with results.

HEALTH FOLLOWS
CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

The cause is weakened functioning of the kidneys, due to displacement of spinal joints at what is known as "kidney place." This displacement causes pressure on the spinal nerves. Chiropractic spinal adjustments restore the spinal joints to alignment, and with the pressure removed, the kidneys act normally and the disease gradually clears.

SUFFERED TWO YEARS THEN FOUND HELP

"For two years prior to consulting a chiropractic I suffered with rheumatism. In August, 1919, the pain was so intense that I was unable to move. After the first chiropractic spinal adjustment the pain eased. I continued until December when I was discharged. I have been shoeing horses ever since."—John Schauss, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1283R.

LEO DEROCHER PASSES AWAY

Former Well Known Peterboro Athlete Dies at Oshawa.

A host of friends in Peterborough will learn with deep regret of the death in Oshawa yesterday afternoon of Leo Deroched, former well known Peterborough athlete, and son of Mr. I. Derocher of this city. Mr. Derocher had gone to Oshawa only a few days ago to visit his sister, Mrs. Lacombe, and to recuperate after an operation in Ottawa some time ago, from which he was apparently recovering nicely. A sudden relapse proved fatal, however, and death ensued yesterday.

For the past ten years the deceased had been a secretary in the State Department at Ottawa and he played a prominen part in amateur athletics at the capital. He was the guiding spirit of St. Brigid's Young Men's Association in that city, occupying the position of director of athletics, and under his guidance that club has been always in the fore in amateur sport. Before leaving Peterborough Leo Derocher was one of the best known local athletes. For a number of years he was goalkeeper for the Peteroborugh Intermediate O.H.A. team, doing stellar work in the nets. He also occupied a similar position for the St. Peter's T.A.S. team when that organization was in the Trent Valley League, and for several years was between the posts for the Strathconas when the High Commissioners were sweeping all before them in the City League. In baseball, too, the deceased was prominent, playing first with the Shamrocks in the City Ball League and afterwards with the T.A.S. team in the Kawartha and Midland Leagues. He always took the keenest interest in sport and was a friend of the youngsters breaking into the game, always preaching the doctrine that the young players should be given a chance to develop. He carried that policy with him to Ottawa and it was a factor in the success that marked his efforts with the St. Brigid's Club.

The respect in which he was held by his friends in Ottawa is shown by the fact that a delegation from St. Brigid's Club will leave Ottawa for Peterboorugh to-morrow night to attend the funeral, and numerous spiritual and floral offerings will be sent from the capital.

The deceased is survived by his father, Israel Derocher, Peterborough, two brothers, Fred of St. Catharines and James of Peterborough, four sisters, Mrs. O'Rourke, of Ottawa, Mrs. Lacombe and Mrs. Buckley, Oshawa, and Mrs. Cross, Peterborough.

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND HANDS

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters.

My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

Envelopes were distributed to each member, who enclosed therein sufficient money to cover her age, the total being forwarded to foreign missions.

Mrs. Kendry's house, decorated in spring-like manner with daffodils, was crowded last evening with a jolly throng, who enjoyed the dainty refreshments served, the musical programme, arranged by Mrs. J. H. Renwick, and the short addresses given by Mrs. E. E. Harvey, who reviewed the birthdays of life from the cradle to the grave, and a brief discourse on the same subject by the Rev. Harold Young.

The Programme.

IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF
THE CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL FIELDS
LIMITED

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd., was held on the 15th inst.

The Directors were able to show wonderful results for the money spent in acquiring the very large leaseholdings of nearly six thousand acres and in reaching the stage of actual operations on their property, beginning on their leasehold near Kerwood, between Petrolea and London, where the oil is already proven to exist by a seepage from the main pool into which the company is now drilling. The Shareholders, nearly thirty of whom were represented at the meeting in person or by proxy, resolved to buy up all the shares they could at the present price and to stimulate their friends to do likewise, the Directors agreeing to give to their shareholders a short time to acquire more when oil is struck in this new well before the stock is offered to outsiders at the advanced price.

This the Directors considered to be only fair to those who helped the company at this stage.

is an old expression, but one that aptly applies to the profession and science of Chiropractic. Never has anything been more fiercely maligned and bitterly attacked than Chiropractic, yet no science can point to such wonderful advancement. The developer of Chiropractic "knew he was right and went ahead," and though met with a storm of opposition which would ordinarily swamp the sturdiest, this gale has been weathered and Chiropractic to-day has reached its most progressive stage.

No one can overlook pure, unadulterated facts when they are presented to view. Many people don't like to gaze on them, but in their own mind they know the facts cannot be disputed. The science of Chiropractic would have been in a grave long ago if it was not right; would have passed into oblivion and never have been missed. But the opposite is the truth, and because it is right, the results of proof overwhelming which can be disputed but not convincingly, it has spread to most every nook and corner of this great land and to many foreign countries. When the facts stare you in the face and invite criticism, how are you going to get away from them?

In your home town you will find "the proof of the pudding." There are any number of people in your community who were giving up in despair, believing that nothing on earth would benefit them, and, finally, as a last resort, tried the Chiropractor, and got well. The only proof the Chiropractor asks you to accept is the results his adjustments secure on the sick and afflicted.

NO FEAR OF CLASH NOW IN IRELAND

Situation Considerably Calmer Today Than For Week Past—Joint Liaison Begins Operations

IRISH SITUATION

BELFAST, Feb. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—The situation in Northern Ireland is considerably calmer than at any time during the last week, and fear of a clash on the Southern frontier has dwindled almost to a vanishing point. Rival forces, however, retain their positions along the border and hope is expressed that the next few days will see them withdrawn. Meanwhile Joint Liaison Commissions are understood to have begun their operations.

HAD FINANCES SOUGHT RELIEF

One Attempt at Imposition Nipped in the Bud by F. W. Miller.

Patrick Fritz's theft of sausages some time back involved him in more trouble to-day when he appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, in the Police Court, charged with obtaining by false pretences $5.00 from F. W. Miller, Relief Officer.

Fritz pleaded guilty, and after the Crown had gone thoroughly into the circumstances of the offence against the law, he was given a month in jail.

When he was fined last week a matter of $25.00, the accused gave a cheque for the amount. His bank account showed a favourable balance of several hundred dollars. The very day he was released he sought relief from Mr. Miller, was refused it, and taken into custody again on the charge he pleaded guilty to to-day.

Of German Birth.

On 8th February accused, who claimed to be of German birthright, obtained a certificate of being unemployed from the Employment Bureau, and the next day, on the strength of this and his statement that he was a returned man, obtained an order for $5.00 to be turned over to his landlady. Immediately after his release he sought another order, but found himself in difficulties when Mr. Miller informed him he had learned he had a bank account.

It was revealed to-day that not only had he an account in the Bank of Commerce, but he had a horse and waggon as well. His discharge papers showed he was an American soldier, but had not been overseas, and that he had deserted and been subsequently pardoned.

Hugh Robertson, in charge of the Employment Bureau, did not examine the papers he offered him, accused said. If he had he would have found that he was an American soldier. He did not understand the laws of this country, he told the Magistrate.

Mr. Miller did not ask him if he had a bank account.

Mr. Miller, in the box, stated he did not ask men if they had an account or not. The certificate of unemployment was what guided him.

Mr. Robertson, in evidence given, said they had instructions to be lenient with returned soldiers.

Heinous Crime.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton considered the crime "heinous." In reviewing the case, Magistrate Langley remarked that if proper inquiries had been made at the Employment office, it would have been revealed he was not entitled to relief. That accused offered his American discharge papers and was wearing an American Army coat, showed he felt that he did not attempt to deceive Mr. Robertson, but he felt that when getting relief from Mr. Miller he must have been satisfied in his own mind that he was getting assistance he was not entitled to, being an American returned man, and having money of his own.

Two Drunks.

Two men who appeared on charges of being intoxicated on Simcoe Street on Saturday night came nearly having serious charges under the O.T.A. preferred against them. Each man was found with a bottle, one with a six-ounce that looked like a doctor's prescription, containing alcohol, and according to P. C. Thompson seemed to be also a mixture, and the other man with a large green one containing a few ounces of alcohol.

After a consultation with the Crown Attorney, the Magistrate did not ask for the informations to be amended, but he pointed out that the evidence of Sergt. W. Wigg and P. C. Thompson regarding the bottles pointed to a serious case.

One man pleaded not guilty to being intoxicated at 11.50 p.m. on Sat-

"POLITICS DELUSION" 2 WOMEN QUIT JOBS

Rather Stay Home and Wash Dishes Says One

THREE OAKS, Mich., Feb. 20.—Preferring their household tasks to the arduous political duties devolving upon them as members of the village council, Mrs. Maud Arnold and Mrs. Helen Ludke, announced their resignation from the council.

"We didn't find politics what we thought it would be," they announced. "We found ourselves at everybody's beck and call, unable to satisfy anybody, and always the object of unjust criticism," Mrs. Arnold declared.

"It's much nicer to just stay at home, keep the dishes washed and the house tidied up and prepare my husband's meals on time without having to mind anybody else's business," she added with an air of relief.

Eloquent Sermons at Trinity Church

Especially Good Music Also By Male Quartette

An Trinity church yesterday morning, Rev. F. E. Malott preached the second of a series of sermons on the Lord's Prayer taking as his theme The Sacred Name. He spoke eloquently of the reverence due God and His House.

In the evening, Rev. Manson Doyle, associate secretary of religious education for the Methodist church, gave an instructive and interesting discourse on the work being done in the Dominion of Canada, with regard to the establishment of missionary work in centres where there are no churches nor preaching services. He gave a short history of the work from its inauguration, and, having just returned from a visit to Chicago, was enabled to give some of the international aspects of the enterprise

Although the storm interfered to a certain extent with the attendance last evening, much interest was manifested by those present in the speaker and his narrative.

Especially good music was rendered by a male quartette, composed of Messrs. W. F. Skitch, Asa Huycke, James Browne and S. Mitchell. Mr. Huycke was kind enough to attend on short notice, when word was received of the illness of Mrs. George H. King, and the quartette's "Invocation" was particularly well rendered. Miss Edwina Palmer also gave a violin selection.

QUESTION OF SCHOOL TAXES

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have read with great pleasure the resolutions of the Protestant Ministerial Association of Peterborough as published in the Examiner of Saturday, dealing with the complaints of the Separate school supporters in regard to advanced education and the equitable distribution of municipal taxes between Public and Separate schools. The resolutions, reflecting as I believe they do, the sense of fairness of the vast majority of the Public school supporters of the city, make me confidently hope for an equitable adjustment of our difficulties and of the disabilities from which the Separate schools have suffered for years.

If I fully understand the meaning of Clause 2, in which the Ministerial Association deals with the question of taxes, I have no hesitation in saying that it was conceived in a spirit of absolute justice, and does much credit to the Ministerial Association; in fact, the first part of the clause, if it included public utilities and institutions enjoying public franchises, charters and bonuses — which privileges are the property of the citizens, both Catholic and Protestants—is precisely the law that we are asking to have made effective. I think that the Ministerial Association, when it uses the hypothetical phrase "if properly carried out," admits that we have not been treated fairly in the distribution of taxes accruing from public utilities and those industrial institutions whose stock is sold all over the continent and in Europe, and which is changing hands from day to day, thereby making it impossible to determine the religion of the shareholders, and the proportion of taxes to be paid to the Public and Separate schools.

In this connection, some years ago I called on the late Hon. Frederick Nicholls, when he was President of the Canadian General Electric Co. I pointed out to him that his company had received a very large bonus from this city when it located in Peterborough, which bonus was paid by Catholics and Protestants in proportion to their assessment; that his company was exempted from the payment of an enormous sum in general taxes, which privilege he enjoyed from Catholic as well as from Protestant citizens and which general tax, from which he was exempt, had to be paid by both Protestant and Catholic ratepayers. The Canadian General Electric Co.'s assessment for school purposes for that year was $1,051,740, and I pointed out to him that while his Company had received so many privileges from Public and Separate school supporters, viz.: the Protestants and Catholics forming the municipality of the city of Peterborough, the Company paid all their taxes to educate the children of the Public school and not one dollar towards the Separate schools. Mr. Nicholls expressed the greatest surprise and immediately proceeded to make notes with a view to remedying the injustice. He asked me how to proceed and when I told him that the Board of Directors had power to set apart for Separate school purposes the proportion of the Company's stock held by Catholics, he at once threw up his hands and said they had no record of the religious belief of their stockholders, that their stock was changing hands daily, that it was held in large blocks even in Europe, that it would take an army of clerks to compile such statistics, and that even though all this were done it might be that his company would not return a fair proportion of taxes to the Separate and Public schools of Peterborough for the substantial privileges his company had received proportionately from the supporters of these schools.

The other large companies of this city are in the same position; their stock is changing and they have all received substantial consideration from the citizens of Peterborough.

ELECTRICAL STORM WAS A SURPRISE

FEW AT CHURCH

Last night's severe electrical demonstration did very little damage beyond its effect on the nerves of those who were not expecting anything of the sort. There were no fires in the city or immediate vicinity, the Bell Telephone Company reports no serious damage, beyond the temporary dislocation of a couple of long-distance lines, and the variation in the electric lights noticed during the severest period of the storm was caused by trouble in supply lines outside of the city, where high tension wires suffered a temporary short circuit. A serious falling-off in church attendance was the most dangerous symptom of the entire display.

Storm Unusual

A thunderstorm in winter is unusual. Many people regard it as absolutely unknown, but we have an electrical demonstration of this sort every two or three years. Last night's storm was exceptionally brilliant in regard to the lightning and the thunder particularly loud.

Freakish weather has prevailed sice Friday. On the morning of that day, the thermometer registered 22 degrees below zero, with Saturday's temperature 41 above, a variation in one day of 63 degrees. On Sunday the lowest register was 30 degrees, the highest 35 degrees, another freakish range of five degrees.

According to popular fancy, thunder at this time of year is supposed to be provided for the express purpose of finally persuading the sleepy Bear to come forth from his long drowse a sort of natural alarm-clock calculated to arouse him from his lengthy slumbers. With the extreme loudness of last night's call, and the mild weather of this morning, he can hardly have any excuse for going back for another forty winks.

Market News

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Foreign Oils were the outstanding features at active and firm opening of to-day's stock market. Adjustment of export taxes between Mexican government and American Oil Companies resulted in an opening advance of 1 1-4 points for Mexican Petroleum, this being doubled in next transactions. Strength opening advance of 1 1-4 points for French remittances at new high levels, prompted further covering of short contracts in Rails, Equipments and other speculative favorites.

Stock market showed greater strength as session progressed, with professional element directing their efforts against short interest in numerous shares. Material gains were scored in large number of inactive issues as well as recognized leaders. United Fruit advanced 6 1-2 and International Harvester, Wilson Packing Preferred, Iron Products, Davidson Chemical, Kelly Sprinfield 2 to 3 points.

Last week's accumulation of low-priced or speculative Rails was resumed on a broader scale during the morning. St. Louis South-Western Common and Preferred, St. Louis and San Francisco Common and Preferred, Southern Railway Common and Preferred, Chicago Great Western, Kansas City Southern, Texas and Pacific, Western Pacific and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico rose one to two points. Royal Dutch and Pan-American followed the further rise of Mexican Petroleum. Shippings were active and strong. Accessories, including Electrical Equipments, rose 1¾ to 3 points. Call money opened at four per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. — (Canadian Press). — Opening wheat prices, which ranged from 1¾ to 2⅝ cents higher, with May 1.42 to 1.42 3-4 and July 1.25 to 1.26, were followed by decided further gains and then a moderate re-action.

Corn and oats ascended with wheat, corn starting 5-8 to 1 cent higher, May 63¼ to 63⅝, and then making a slight further advance.

Oats at opening was 1-8 to ¼ cent higher, May 41 5-8 to 41 7-8, and later there were some additional gains.

TORONTO STOCKS.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press). — On the local Stock Exchange this morning interest centred in less than a half-dozen listed stocks. Abitibi was most active and likewise strongest, sales of 300 shares advancing the price of this stock to 36¼, with the close at 36, a gain of 1¼ from Saturday. Brazilian was 3-8 higher at 32, and Dome Mines gained 30 cents at 34.55. Half a point loss was registered by General Electric, with the close at 96. Union Bank unchanged at 148, was the only bank stock dealt in. Bonds were also dull. The unlisted department was well represented, with trade scattered over a wide list of Mines and Industrials.

TORONTO CATTLE MARKET.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Cattle market receipts 2,771. Trade good. Heavy beef steers, $7 to $8. Choice butcher steers, $7 to $7.50. Butcher cows, medium $3.50 to $4.50. Calves, 11 to $13.50. Lambs, $12 to $13.50. Hogs, selects, $14.

STORM WAS ROUGH ON TWO UMBRELLAS.

The most serious occurrences yet reported to this office as a consequence of last night's electrical outburst, severe though it was, was its treatment of two umbrellas and the consequent working-up of their respective owners. These useful articles, requisitioned last evening for the first time in several months, were taken along as a protection against the weather and left unguarded on visited verandahs. For a young man to spend several hours in pleasant company and then emerge into the dark night to find his friendly umbrella departed is not conducive to a happy or restful state of mind, and immediate refereences were made to that party who had attached them to himself. That it was merely the very high wind of a late hour, coupled with their recovery this morning, caused some repentant after-thoughts.

"ARTIFICIAL TWINS" IS THE WEIRD PREDICTION OF A LONDON SCIENTIST

LONDON, Feb. 20. — Having sponsored belief that within half a century we may be able to order boy or girl babies according to our particular desires, Professor Julian S. Huxley, now presents the theory that it may be possible to create "artificial twins. Huxley has already succeeded in this ambition by experiments with newts, but he has not applied the theory to higher forms or animal life as yet.

Writing in the Daily Chronicle Professor Huxley bases his belief in the results of his experimentation on the egg of the newt, which as soon as it is fertilized begins the process of subdivision.

"If when the egg is sub-divided a fine thread is tied between the halves," he says, "this can be tightened so as to break their living continuity. If these halves were uninterfered with each would give rise to one-half of a newt's body. But now by a miracle of reorganization, each develops as it were a whole newt, and two baby newts hatch from the egg instead of one."

Artificial separation is also possible by other methods, Huxley declares, and such artificial twins are always identical in nature because each of the halves receives the same constitution as that transmitted by heredity to the original egg.

In the beginning, he declares, the egg principle of dogs or humans is no more complicated than that of the starfish or newt. It is only in the laiter stages that the pheomena becomes noticeable.

HAND SHAKING IS UNDER FIRE

Substitutes Suggest "Every Little Gesture Has a Meaning All Its Own"—An Echo of the War.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The handshake must go. Two persons have written the Lancet about the "septic hand-shake," and the famous medical magazine has seen fit to comment seriously on the dangers that lie in the friendly greeting.

The reflection that some unwashed gentleman at a public reception may convey an army of germs from his grimy hand to those of his host and hostess, who thereupon will pass them to hundreds of others, had apparently never occurred to the editor. Now that it has been pointed out to him, he is horrified.

The press has taken it up. Undoubtedly, germs can be transferred in this way. Mr. A. has the flu; some of the germs climb out and sit on his fingers; he shakes hands with Mr. B.; Mr. B.'s moist palm abstracts some of the bacilli from Mr. A.'s colder digits; Mr. B. then enters a restaurant, transfers the bugs to a penny roll, and swallows them.

Ugh! This hand-shaking has got to stop.

Having decided that question, the next is, what is to take its place? And on that point there is a war of opinion.

Mr. Mowawa, of Uganda, says that in his country infuenza is unknown. There the form of salutation consists in rubbing your nose against that of your friend. This form of massage, is not popular in England. A famous scientist says that Mr. Mbwawa is all wrong—that the native African does not scrape his nostrils across those of his acquaintance, but merely comes close and takes a good smell. Mr. Mbwawa retorts that he guesses he ought to know, generations of friction having reduced his own nose to a very small pattern.

In Burma, the sign of respect is to remove the shoe. That is all very well in a country where the people wear sandals or slippers; but think of a lady unbuttoning 23 buttons to greet a friend! In her haste she would probably tear some of them loose, and so would have to stop right there in the street and sew 'em on again.

Similar objections apply to the custom of kissing the foot. Getting down on all fours and pressing one's nose to the ground, while it is rather a pretty habit, would scarcely do on London's wet and muddy pavements.

An Echo of the War.

One man suggested the military salute. Several thousand ex-service men accompanied him to the edge of the town and told him what they would do to him if he ever came back.

Another says that the sanitary method is for each man, on meeting a friend, to shake his own hands, after the fashion of the enlightened Chinese, but even this has its disadvantages, for one is so often burdened with a stick, or a book, or a package.

To kiss one's own hand and wave it at the acquaintance is a light and airy gesture, but in it lies the danger of carrying germs from hand to mouth. The Chautauqua salute is barred because of the germ-laden handkerchief. To tip one's hat, as the French do, might be a solution of the difficulty; but one can scarcely express degrees of enthusiasm in this way, as the French recognise when two men who are very good friends and exceedingly glad to see each other proceed to exchange osculations on both cheeks.

To strike the hands together in applause when one encounters a friend would be expressive enough—a faint clap for a mere acquaintance, or a mother-in-law, a more hearty salvo for one whom you are going to ask for a loan. But then how would one summon a waiter?

Meanings All Their Own.

The more one looks into the subject, the more one discovers that every gesture that might be employed in salutation have already had another meaning attached to it.

For instance, the graceful touching of the nose with the thumb, while the fingers are wiggled, has come to mean anything but friendship, and could not be converted to amicable use without a great deal of annoying misinterpretation and perhaps bodily peril.

The waving of the hand while one thumb is inserted in the ear, also has its definite meaning which can not be altered. The rolling up a finger or two would be all right until one forgot oneself at the stock exchange and discovered that a few thousand shares of some unwanted security had been inadvertently purchased. Besides, this gesture does not afford opportunity for those degrees of demonstrativeness to which handshaking has accustomed civilised nations.

The simplest way to avoid the septic handshake seems to be, always to wear gloves. The anology. "Excuse my glove," would then fall into desuetude, superseded by "Excuse my bare hand."

REPARATION COMMISSION ACCEPTABLE

Commission Will Deal With German Reply Regarding Payments to Be Made This Year.

PARIS, Feb. 20. — (Canadian Press.) — British government has conditionally accepted the French proposal to allow Reparations Commission to deal with German reply regarding reparation payments this year and reformation of German finances. Principal reservation is that distribution of first billion marks to be paid by Germany should be settled upon before German reply is referred back to Reparations Commission.

OUR GREAT HERITAGE IN MINERAL WEALTH

People Should Learn of Ontario's Own Vast Resources.

(By R. B. Rogers).

How few people know or appreciate the big heritage we have in the great mineral wealth in our great Northern Ontario district. For this same reason we have allowed the capitalists of the United States and other countries to step in and steal our "heritage for a mess of pottage." They have secured immense tracks of pulp lands, timber lands, water powers, and now our mineral lands. They will soon own most of our wealth before we wake up to the fact. It is a well-known fact that in many cities of the United States there are groups of capitalists that know more about the wealth of our country than we know ourselves. The development of our country should be by Canadian capital, and we Canadians should be on the ground floor and not wait till foreigners exploit our mines and then capitalize companies and sell us the stock. We should satisfy ourselves that the information given to us is reliable, which can be done if we enquire of the proper sources. Mining is one of the safest investments one can make, if honestly conducted. The standing of the directors can easily be ascertained as well as that of the general manager. The value of metal in the ore can be found out by assaying the amount of development of the mine; this is a fact that is known, and other conditions can be learned. Of course, there is a certain amount of chance in mining the same as there is in any undertaking, but there is a greater chance of larger returns for your investments in mining than in most enterprises. Besides, one has the satisfaction that he is doing something for the development of the natural resources of his country. The Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, with a view to development of our natural resources, are having a mining night at their next meeting on Thursday night, Feb. 23rd, at which Hon. Mr. Gibson, Deputy-Minister of the Mines Department of the Ontario Government, and also Mr. Balman Neely, one of the most experienced of mining men, will address the meeting. Their addresses will be illustrated by lantern slides and moving pictures. Those interested are invited to be present.

Don't Be Critical if You'd Create, Says Reader of Manuscripts

BY RUTH ABELING.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.— "If you want to create—don't develop your critical faculties."

This, from Miss Matilde Weil of the Writers' Workshop. Miss Weil for years was reader for a number of the big book publishing concerns in New York and now, in the Writers' Workshop, which is in her own, she still acts as the medium between writer and publisher.

"Critical faculties are always developed at the expense of the creative," says Miss Weil. "And I think this is true not only of writing, but of every other art.

"We who criticize cannot create.

"Taking into consideration the trend of the public taste I think the two major qualities which tend to make success in writing or art are:

"One—An honest reflection of life.

"Two—Perseverance.

"Public taste is changing," says this woman, who for years has had her finger on the pulse of the reading world. "People no longer want pure fiction, tales of love, fancifully woven things. They are demanding biography, stories of people who have done things, with something of the romance of their lives.

MISS MATILDE WEIL

"Possibly this means that the world is becoming more practical in regard to its reading.

"Memoirs are popular. They, too, move better than most fiction does now."

As for Miss Weil herself, and her career in the literary world:

"Graduated from Bryn Mawr, I came to New York determined to get into the writing world.

"I visited one after another of the publishing houses and finally went to MacMillan's and was given a position.

"I was put to work addressing envelopes!

"Finally I went into the chief's office and told him I thought he was wasting my ability —that I wasn't worth what he was paying me.

"He looked up casually and said, 'Yes? —then you might take these home— see what you can do with them. I read them nights—gave my decisions mornings, and then addressed envelopes during the day.

"Finally it was discovered that I really could do bigger things and I was given manuscript reading to do entirely, until at length my opinions were the final ones."

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
By "SAPPER"
(Cyril McNeile)

"I suppose not," answered Drummond regretfully. "And yet it's a dreadful thing to finish a little show like this with the police—if you'll forgive my saying so, Mr. Green."

"Sure thing," drawled the American. "But we have our uses, Captain, and I'm inclined to agree with your friend's suggestion. Hand him over along with his book, and they'll sweep up the mess."

"It would be an outrage to let the scoundrel go," said the millionaire fiercely. "The man Lakington you say is dead; there's enough evidence to hang this brute as well. What about my secretary in Belfast?"

But Drummond shook his head.

"I have my doubts, Mr. Potts, if you would be able to bring that home to him. Still, I can quite understand your feeling rattled with the bird." He rose and stretched himself; then he glanced at his watch. "It's time you all retired, boys; the party ought to be starting soon. Drift in again with the lads, the instant I ring the bell."

Left alone Hugh made certain once again that he knew the right combination of studs on the wall to open the big door which concealed the stolen store of treasure—and other things as well; then, lighting a cigarette, he sat down and waited.

The end of the chase was in sight, and he had determined it should be a fitting end, worthy of the chase itself—theatrical, perhaps, but at the same time impressive. Something for the Ditchlings of the party to ponder on in the silent watches of the night. Then the police—it would have to be the police, he admitted sorrowfully—and after that, Phyl'is. Phyl'is.

And he was just on the point of ringing up his flat to tell her that he loved her, when the door opened and a man came in. Hugh recognised him at once as Vallance Nestor, an author of great brilliance—in his own eyes—who had lately devoted himself to the advancement of revolutionary labour.

"Good afternoon," murmured Drummond affably. "Mr. Peterson will be a little late. I am his private secretary."

The other nodded and sat down languidly.

"What did you think of my last little effort in the Midlands?" he asked, drawing off his gloves.

"Quite wonderful," said Hugh. "A marvellous help to the great Cause."

Vallance Nestor yawned slightly and closed his eyes, only to open them again as Hugh turned the pages of the ledger on the table.

"What's that?" he demanded.

"This is the book," replied Drummond carelessly, "where Mr. Peterson records his opinions of the immense value of all his fellow-workers. Most interesting reading."

"Am I in it?" Vallance Nestor rose with alacrity.

"Why, of course," answered Drummond. "Are you not one of the leaders? Here you are." He pointed with his finger, and then drew back in dismay. "Dear dear! There must be some mistake."

But Vallance Nestor, with a frozen and glassy eye, was staring fascinated at the following choice description of himself:

"Nestor, Vallance. Author—so-called. Hot-air factory, but useful up to a point. Inordinately conceited and a monumental ass. Not fit to be trusted far."

"What," he spluttered at length, "is the meaning of this abominable insult?"

But Hugh, his shoulders shaking slightly, was welcoming the next arrival—a rugged, beetle-browed man, whose face seemed vaguely familiar, but whose name he was unable to place.

"Crofter," shouted the infuriated author, "look at this as a description of me."

And Hugh watched the man, whom he now knew to be one of the extremist members of Parliament, walk over and glance at the book. He saw him conceal a smile, and then Vallance Nestor carried the good work on.

"We'll see what he says about you—impertinent blackguard."

He just had time to read: "Crofter, John. A consummate blackguard. Playing entirely for his own hand. Needs careful watching," when the subject of his remarks, his face convulsed with fury, spun round and faced him.

"Who wrote that?" he snarled.

"Must have been Mr. Peterson," answered Hugh placidly. "I see you had five thousand out of him, so perhaps he considers himself privileged. A wonderful judge of character, too," he murmured, turning away to greet Mr. Ditchling, who arrived somewhat opportunely, in company with a thin pale man—little more than a youth—whose identity completely deafened Drummond.

"My God!" Crofter was livid with rage. "Me and Peterson will have words this afternoon. Look at this, Ditchling." On second thoughts he turned over some pages. "We'll see what this insolent devil has to say about you."

GOOD CONCERT ON THURSDAY

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 20.—The fifth and last of the series of Chautaqua entertainments was held on Thursday evening and was fairly well attended. Fire Chief W. L. Webster made a few remarks previous to the entertainment, thanking those who had patronized them, and regretting that more had not done so. The object had been to secure, not a luxury, but a very necessary fire alarm for the village, but owing to a deficit of about $130, it does not seem that the people want to get it. The Fire Brigade has made a brave, honest effort to raise the money and, win or loose, they have never been "grouches" or whined over poor luck.

The entertainment, which was given by Oyapela, the Creek Indian girl and her associates, Miss Weinstock, violinist, and Miss Burton, pianist, was of a high order and much appreciated, especially Oyapela's rendering of Hiawatha's wooing.

MacKenzie at The Grove for the week-end, and a fancy dress dance will be given in their honor by the boys on Saturday night. The week-end promises to be very gay for the young folks.

EAST KOOTENAY MAY GIVE ACCLAMATION

To Federal Minister of Public Works—Stewart's Nomination Tuesday.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Re-events in the two Federal ridings where two bye-elections are shortly to be held are being watched with interest here at the present time. While nomination day in both cases does not come until Tuesday, February 28, with polling two weeks later, as provided by the act, it is expected that the next few days will indicate pretty clearly whether or not two ministers seeking seats will secure them by application.

Information reaching here is to the effect that in East Kootenay Hon. Dr. J. H. King will likely be unopposed, while it is expected that the name of Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Interior, will come before a nomination convention to be held by the Liberals of Argenteuil, Quebec, on Tuesday of this week.

PROGRESSIVE IS DOUBTFUL

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press)—It is quite likely that Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Public Works, will be returned in East Kootenay by acclamation. The new minister telegraphed word to friends Saturday, that effect to friends here Saturday. Conservatives in the district are not putting up a candidate and word from Barrie, where the Progressives are said to have nominated a Mr. Bronson, says that it is rather indefinite what Mr. Bronson wil do. It is reported that he will decide not to oppose Hon. Dr. King.

WHEAT ADVANCED 3C ON CHICAGO MARKET.

Moved Up in Sympathy With Liverpool and the Argentine Sentiment.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—Foreign markets were again the paramount influence on the Chicago Board of Trade Saturday. With Argentine reported 3c. higher on wheat, an exactly similar net gain was recorded here. Corn finished unchanged to 1-4c. higher; oats 1-8c. to 1-4c. higher, and provisions 5c. lower to 7 1-2c. higher, although cured products made a new high mark for the season. Wheat started in sympathy with Liverpool's bullish action on the Argentine crop estimate of 15,000,000 less bushels this year than last. Profit-taking operations forced down prices and absence of decided support encouraged shorts to indulge in their favorite trades. As a result the Buenos Aires close at a 3c. advance came when the pit was oversold. The longs made the most of the chance and the bulge was continued right up to the final bell.

Corn was weak in the early trading but a falling off in country offerings, coupled with a fair export business and advices that the seaboard interests were coming to terminal markets for grain, gave ground for good support. The close was strong.

Oats were about steady, but trade in them was light.

Provisions were moderately active. The higher prices for live hogs had the usual effect, but locals and cash houses were good buyers of lard and only scattered commission houses were making offerings in the pit. The top of $10.45 for live hogs was a new high for the season.

LIGHT OFFERING OF CATTLE ON WINNIPEG MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 20.—(Dominion Live Stock Branch.) — Receints were 115 cattle and 218 hogs.

The handful of killing cattle available this morning were absorbed at fairly good prices, but in view of the small offerings, a very light volume of trading was transacted. The few desirable handyweight killing steers which found an outlet were priced at $6.50, while the fair kinds of butcher cows sold within range of $3.50 to $4.00.

On the hog market bidding was firm, selects weighing up at $12.50.

MONTREAL MARKETS UNCHANGED.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—There was no changes in the local market for cash grain Saturday. The flour market was without any new developments. Trade in millfeed was steady and in rolled oats firm. There was nothing new in the egg situation. The butter market was strong and there is no feature in the cheese market.

IF ALL CHURCHES HAD OWN SCHOOLS.

Whole Nation Divided Into Separate Groups, Says Rev. J. W. Graham.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Rev. J. W. Graham, educational superintendent of Methodist churches in Canada, in a sermon at the First Methodist church here yesterday, said that the granting of the demand of Roman Catholics of Ontario for separate secondary school financed out of the public funds would tend to divide the whole nation into separate groups.

"What a sorry exhibition it would be," he said, "if we all did what they are trying to do and established Methodist high schools, Anglican high schools and so forth. In no time we would have the whole nation divided into separate groups and our educational system greatly lowered.

"Thank God in Protestantism we have not got to the stage where we must have separate high schools and separate public schools for the instruction of the youth of different churches. We don't want to see cleavage carried out through our secondary schools. Such a policy would be to the disadvantage of our entire system of education."

Mr. Graham pleaded, however, for the raising of the standard of education in the province, particularly in the teaching of the ethical precepts of altruism, self-sacrifice and morality, without which, he said, no nation could be truly great. He suggested a definite and deliberate plan of instruction which would inculcate into the minds of the young the right principles of Christian living.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE HELD "AT HOME."

Lakefield News of Interest —Another Hockey Game.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 20. — The Catholic Woman's League and the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's church gave an 'at home' on Friday evening at the Hotel Lakefield. In spite of the extremely cold weather a large crowd attended and spent a delightful evening. Card tables were set out in the sitting room on the second floor and at half past eight progressive euchre was in full swing. Miss Margaret Kennedy was in charge of the card tables and very capably filled the post. Mr. Killen and Miss Josie Maloney were tied for the lady's first prize and the tie was played off, leaving Miss Maloney the winner. Mr. Geo. Charlton and Mr. John O'Brien were also tied for the men's first and that also was played off, with Mr. Charlton in the lead.

Dancing, both square and round, proceeded on the lower floor. The square dances were held in the dining room and in the rotunda the devotees of the fox trot and one-step tripped the light fantastic to the excellent music provided by Gliddon's orchestra.

About midnight a bountiful supper was served by the ladies, after which dancing was resumed and kept up till the wee sma' hours. It was a great success as there was a hearty welcome and a good time for young and old and a glance at the happy faces told plainly that the evening had been well worth while.

We need more and more of these gatherings where old and young can meet together and all have a good time, that is something which is being urged for small towns, real community gatherings. Let us have more of them.

FORDNEY BILL HITS THE UNITED STATES.

Emergency Tariff Becoming Boomerang By Reducing Trade.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—'As statistics indicate conclusively that the present emergency tariff which is designed to protect United States trade ultimately has the effect of reducing it, Canadians in the United States having mutual interests in the two countries should spare no effort in bringing about a wider realization that this re-active effect is inevitable," said Frederic Hudd, Canadian Trade Commissioner in New York in an adress on "Canadian-United States Problems," before the Canadian Club of New York on Saturday.

The Trade Commissioner said this was brought about by Canada's reduced ability to buy from the United States on account of her reduced ability to sell. While Canada's sales to the United Staes in 1921 were reduced in volume by approximately 45 per cent., there was a corresponding decrease in what the United States sold to Canada.

The present situation indicated the importance of trade as a contribution to understanding and good will as well as to economic adjustment and stabilization, Mr. Hudd said. Canada and the United States were the natural markets of one another and the business men of both countries should co-operate in the promotion of more work, more traffic and more business.

MANCHESTER SEAT WON BY LABORITE.

Reverse For Coalition in Riding Regarded As Electoral Barometer.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press)—A bye-election for the parliamentary seat for the Clayton Division of Manchester rendered necessary to fill the vacancy due to the death of Edward Hopkinson, Unionist, resulted in a severe reverse for the Government. J. E. Sutton, Laborite, polled 14,662 votes as against 11,038 for Mr. Flanagan, the Unionist candidate.

Mr. Sutton's campaign was largely fought on the existence of much unemployment in Manchester and criticism of the recent report of the committee headed by Sir Eric Geddes recommending economy.

TWENTY MILLIONS FOR DETROIT LINES.

Negotiations For D. U. R. Within $500,000 of Stockholders' Price.

DETROIT, Feb. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—A difference of half a million dollars in the price the Street Railway Commission was willing to pay and that asked by stockholders, yesterday delayed conclusion of the negotiations for the purchase by the city of the system of the Detroit United Railway. The stockholders fixed a selling price of $20,000,000 for the lines and equipment, exclusive of the Highland Park terminal, while the Commission offered $19,500,000.

The day's conference closed with a plea by A. Avila Gingras of Montreal, representing a majority of the stockholders, that the Commission reconsider its bid. The commission is to meet on Monday for a final decision.

GREEKS GET PEREMPTORY FRENCH NOTE

HELD AS CONTRABAND

PARIS, February 20. Canadian Press. — The French Office has instructed the French Minister in Athens to demand the immediate release of the steamer Espoir and its cargo, captured by a French torpedo boat destroyer off the coast of Asia Minor and interned in the Salamina Harbor on February 12. The Greeks contended that the vessel was laden with contraband of war destined for Mustapha Kemel Pasha the Turkish Nationalist leader. They agreed to the release of the ship after the cargo had been unloaded.

The French government insists that the Espoir had on board a full cargo of coal for the Anatolian railroads, required for the economic restoration of the country, and not ammunition for the purposes of warfare; and also that France has not recognized the rights of the belligerents, either of Mustapha Pasha or the Greeks, and that their rules governing contraband of war do not apply.

The note, while not in the nature of an ultimatum, requests a reply from the Greek Government before Monday evening, February 20th.

REPUBLIC IS THEME OF DE VALERA TALK

AGAINST MONARCH.

CORK, Feb. 20. — (Canadian Press.) —A striking feature of the meeting held in Cork Sunday under the auspices of Eamon De Valera was the presence of large numbers of the Irish Republican Army for the City of Cork and from various parts of the country, who were assembled in companies under their officers.

Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, presided at the principal platform from which the speeches were delivered. Mr. De Valera proposed the same resolutions as were adopted at his meeting in Dublin last Sunday. He repeated virtually the same arguments as were then put forward, declaring that Ireland was in greater danger than it had been at any time in 750 years. The Countess Markievicz and Charles Burgess and other followers of De Valera supported the resolutions.

The train on which Mr. De Valera travelled on Saturday evening to Cork was met at the railway station at Thurles by 3,000 persons carrying Sinn Fein flags. Addressing the people, Mr. De Valera said he was glad to see the Republic was not dead in Tipperary and that the people did not want the British monarch as king of Ireland.

Arriving in Cork, Mr. De Valera was greeted by Lord Mayor O'Callaghan and other prominent Republicans.

A HOPEFUL ATTEMPT.

The conferences proposed by the Trades and Labour Council in an effort to stimulate an ambitious building programme in Peterborough this spring have been hailed by many citizens as a logical and promising attempt to deal with a situation that calls for attention. Undoubtedly the greatest deterrent that tends to block building operations on a large scale here, as well as in other centres, is the fear that excessive labour charges will have to be met. The price of materials has been considerably reduced, and even lower figures may be looked for, and once those who are anxious to build are convinced that labour will meet them half-way and accept a corresponding reduction in wages, it is believed that a large amount of building that has been held up in the expectation of more favourable conditions will be undertaken this season. With the erection of new houses will come not only employment for those engaged in the building trades, but a relaxation of the high rentals that have been such a burden will come for citizens generally, while building operations on a large scale would be a stimulus to business and a tonic for the whole community. Those are results that are well worth striving for, and the proposed conferences are commended to all those who are in a position to help. If the proper spirit is shown by everybody who is directly interested in the matter, The Examiner is confident that the suggested conferences cannot fail to have a beneficial effect.

A CHANCE TO SAVE.

The new Government at Ottawa, in pursuance of its policy of economy, might find an opportunity to use the pruning hook to advantage in connection with the printing of Government documents. Some years ago a large number of Government pamphlets, Blue Books, and reports were dropped as unnecessary, but there is still plenty of scope to effect a material saving. A large proportion of the printed matter issued by the Government is valueless. The Blue Books are too voluminous, too crammed with unnecessary figures, too involved and intricate in their mass of details to make them of service to the public, on whose behalf they are issued. They come to The Examiner in such quantities that the waste paper baskets will hardly hold them—and doubtless every other newspaper in the country can bear similar testimony. Why there should be so many of these reports, and why it should be necessary to pad them until the average man taking a look at the hundreds of pages draws back in dismay, is by no means clear. Condensed reports with the important features emphasised might be of some practical value, but the majority of the Government's publications could be cut off the list without being missed. A good deal can be done in the way of saving in this particular branch of the Government service if proper judgment is used.

THE HYDRO QUESTION.

Mr. Wellington Hay, Liberal leader in the Legislature, has proposed a probe into the Chippewa project in order that all the facts in regard to the expenditure on this work may be brought out. The people of Ontario would welcome such an investigation. The controversy between Premier Drury and Sir Adam Beck, the formidable array of figures that has been bandied about, the charges and counter-charges have bewildered many people, and they are having difficulty in arriving at a concluion as to the merits of the case. The time for a showdown in Hydro matters has been long since reached. It is apparent that things cannot go on as they are with the Premier of the Province and the head of the Hydro Commission almost on the point of open warfare, and with the municipalities who are interested in the Hydro enterprises regarding the Government as enemies of the movement. A change in conditions must come, and come soon. What form it will take is by no means clear, but it is certain that the present situation is fast becoming intolerable, and that before the session of the Legislature is very far advanced the whole Hydro question will have to be discussed thoroughly. And when this stage in the proceedings is reached, it is safe to prophesy the liveliest debate the Legislature has heard in many a session will be inaugurated.

A COMMENDABLE STEP.

The Chamber of Commerce has decided to organise a 'farmers' section in the hope of arriving at a better spirit of understanding and co-operation between urban and country dwellers. As The Examiner pointed out the other day, there is every need for education along that line. There is no sound reason why farmers and city folk should not be on terms of cordial friendship and mutual respect. One class could not get along without the other; what benefits one usually benefits the other, and there is no more logic in their working at cross purposes than there would be in merchants and industrial workers regarding each other with suspicion. Somehow many urban people persist in regarding the farming community as a collection of narrow, grasping folk. On the other hand, there are plenty of farmers who look upon the cities as made up of lazy, amusement-mad, luxury-loving people. It is time the fallacy of such opinions was effectively exploded. As a matter of fact, there are as many graspers in the cities as there are farmers who see no harm in seeking amusement. If the two classes could be brought more closely in touch with each other so that the real viewpoint of both could be made clear, and they could see each other in their true light, there would be better days for everybody, a more united people and a more prosperous Canada. The Chamber of Commerce, in following up the awakening address of Professor Reynolds the other night, is taking a step forward that may result in a more cordial entente between the people of the city and their fellow-Canadians in the country. If that happy consummation is reached, it will be a success that will surpass in importance any other exploit to the credit of the organisation.

THE VALUE OF WAGES.

It is a very difficult thing indeed to determine the value of some things, because no satisfactory standard of measurement is at hand. Speaking broadly, the real value of material things is tested by the gauge of human sacrifice—what it costs in labor to produce them. This quite justly explains the widely different price of a pound of gold and a pound of lead. It arbitrarily settles the price of most things which come into the realm of barter. It does not, however, apply very closely when the so-called value of a work of art, an antique, a surgical operation or certain classes of services have to be measured. In most of such cases of course, the question of actual value does not arise

Since, however, labor constitutes the basis of practically all values in the ordinary meaning of that term, two aspects of the value of labor itself are at once suggested—the value to the purchaser and the value to the seller. Having laid down the postulate that the measure of labor entering into any commodity creates its real worth, we must see that the value of labor itself is what it will buy. In other words, the wages paid for one man's labor might be said to be high or low in the precise ratio that they will buy more or less of the product of other men's labor. Hence we speak of the purchasing power of the dollar, which varies according to the ups and downs of prices; and the ups and downs of prices follow the course of wages. So far as the man who sells his labor is concerned, which in some degree means practically everybody, the real value of his wages must always be measured by what they will buy. Purchasing power, therefore, establishes what are called "real wages." It is useless to appraise them in terms of dollars, which are merely a medium of exchange and have no constant value even for that purpose.

We hear much in these days of efforts at deflation, about the difference in the dollar value of wages as between now and before the war; but that tells us very little. The real question is: What is the exchange value of wages now as compared with 1914? This question has been made the subject of a very elaborate study by Mr. Herbert Hoover's National Industrial Conference Board, and its findings are most interesting and instructive. The figures used in the report recently made public at Washington are based on investigations covering 1,250,000 wage earners, 26 major industries and 4,400 other industrial establishments. Among the conclusions reported are the following:

"Composite weekly earnings of all wage earners increased 140 per cent. between July, 1914, and July, 1920. At the peak in July, 1920, weekly earnings averaged $29.81. The decline occurring from July, 1920, up to July, 1921, amounted to 23.2 per cent., leaving a net increase of 85 per cent., over July, 1914. The actual money decrease from June, 1920, up to July, 1921, amounted to $6.91. The high level of weekly earnings remained practically the same through September, 1920. In October a slight decrease occurred followed by much larger declines in November and Decembe. The first six months of 1921 were characterized by continued, but somewhat more gradual, declines.

"Starting in July, 1914, with index number 100 for cost of living, for money wages, and for real wages in July, 1920, when the cost of living had risen to the index figure of 204.5, hourly earnings had increased to 252 and weekly earnings to 240. Thus in July, 1920, the real wage based on hourly earnings was 123.2, while the real wage based on weekly earnings was 117.4. The peak in the cost of living was reached in July, 1920, but the peak of hourly earnings did not occur until September. The decline in the cost of living subsequent to July, 1920, continued to increase the real wage based on hourly earnings up to March, 1921, when the real wage stood at 133.4. In April and May, 1921, the real wage based on hourly earnings showed a slight decline, but rose in June to 132.2. In other words, in the middle of 1921 real hourly earnings were 32.2 per cent. higher than in July, 1914.

"The peak of real weekly earnings, however, occurred in October, 1920, when the index stood at 120.6. During the next two months, weekly earnings declined faster than the cost of living, so that the real wage based on weekly earnings stood in December at 116.8 and in January at 113.7. Real weekly earnings rose during February and March, when the cost of living declined less than weekly earnings. The trough period occurred in April, 1921, when real weekly earnings stood at 112.8. A recovery took place, in May and June, when real weekly earnings rose to 114.1 and 114.3. In other words, at the end of June, 1921, real weekly earnings were 14.3 per cent. higher than in July, 1914." —Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prosperity is just around the corner.

With a 22-below-zero temperature and a thunderstorm within three days of each other, Canada's climate can not at least be accused of monotony.

Detectives Charge Gambling in Private Home, But Guests Deny It.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Henry R. Brownlow, of 16 Park Lane, London, England, is not feeling very enthusiastic over the guest he is entertaining at his New York residence, 105 West 59th Street. The guest is a city policeman. He will remain in the Brownlow home until February 23, when the hearing of a charge of "being a common gambler," brought by the police against Mr. Brownlow, will be continued.

Mr. Brownlow was arrested early Wednesday morning. After hearing his story, the Magistrate adjourned the hearing in order to inquire into the police invasion of the Englishman's home.

Several weird accounts of the "raid" have been published. One was to the effect that the detectives gained entrance by impersonating a cat, and mee-yowing plaintively at the door, and that Mr. Brownlow had been dragged off to a cell in evening clothes. The guests whom Mr. Brownlow was entertaining when the police entered his apartment included a number of prominent New York society people. Lord Auckland, who was one of them, told newspaper reporters that no gambling was going on, and the nearest thing which the police found to gambling paraphernalia was a toy roulette wheel.

It was reported that the British Consul here has interested himself in the matter, and a demand for a complee investigation of the intrusion of the city detectives will likely be held.

But meanwhile Mr. Brownlow has to entertain a "cop" day and night, in accordance with a local custom by which policemen must be stationed in any habitation which is temporarily, justly or unjustly, branded as a gambling house.

SUCCESS IS THE RESULT OF

WISE INVESTING

In the ladder of financial success, the first step is to earn; the second to save, and the third to make the savings earn for their owner.

Many men feel that 5% coupled with safety of principal is the limit of returns of an investment, and it is if you have a fortune to invest. But if you wish to acquire riches, your money must be given a chance to make big money.

Never has there been such opportunity as there is today, for investment in the OIL industry.

If you have but little money and want to build a fortune or acquire a competency, give your each $100 a chance to earn $10,000, and you will be on the right road to success.

No other industry offers the small investor so quick or such enormous returns from his investment.

"Use the Bell to Sell"

How they build up Small-town dealers

A VERY successful movement that is spreading in Canada is the building up of small-town dealers by encouraging them to buy well-advertised goods—perhaps only a small trial order—and re-order by Long Distance.

One dealer sold last year $650,000 worth of merchandise in a town of 5140 people. He says "85% of our trade is with farmers who know nationally advertised goods and buy the best. Several hundred of our best customers live 50 miles away." Thanks to Long Distance and the automobile the farm is no longer isolated.

Another dealer, located in a town of 2640 population, sold $970,348 last year, 75% of it to farmers. "We must now carry nationally advertised goods" he says, "to hold the farmer's trade, as he has a telephone, an automobile, and reads the papers."

Some progressive concerns have adopted the permanent policy of crediting dealers' accounts with the cost of telephoning orders by Long Distance. The telephone line is the line of least resistance, and they encourage its use because it stimulates trade.

Jobbers and manufacturers who foster small-town trade by encouraging dealers to order and re-order by Long Distance, find these small stores grow rapidly and become virtually branches—it makes it so easy for them to get the right goods promptly.

GAVE A PLAY AT YOUNG'S POINT.

News of Interest From the Point—Personal Mention.

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 20.—On Friday evening a fair sized audience assembled in Young's Point school house to witness what proved to be one of the finest histrionic displays ever seen in the district, when a two-act play, enttiled, "Bread Upon the Waters," was given by members of the Young's Point Dramatic Club. The play is one that provides much of the lighter elements, together with the thread of drama that runs through all and in their presentation of it the players showed that they are by no means "mere amateurs" in the art of histrionics.

In the cast of the play, the Rev. J. L. Hughes, as Dr. Harlem, principal of Greenlake Seminary, had a part, which while least as regards presence on the stage, perhaps exacted the greatest strain upon any one player.

As principal of the seminary, exercising discipline upon his pupils and members of his household, and in the second act as the feeble, broken-hearted father, whose reason wanders, he played his part to perfection.

As Lucy, Dr. Harlem's daughter, Miss Helen Brooks showed to a degree of excellence the young lady, who, admired by her father's pupils, was ever ready to enter into their sports and win their affection; still love for a suspected brother kept her from yielding to the entreaties of her suitor who proved himself unworthy of her.

The characters of Harry, Dr. Harlem's son, Fred Hastings and Bob Winders, college chums, were borne respectively by Mr. Elmer Frost as Harry, a loving son led into wild pranks and habits by Fred Hastings and afterwards banished from home through his friend's baseness, was excellently portrayed. His return to his old home in the second act as a tramp provided first a scene of strong emotion and secondly with Jonathan Wild Butts, the constable, one of laughter and excitement. Mr. Fred Carroll as Fred Hastings, the wild, fast-living college student, proved himself fully capable of playing the villain's part of the play. In the second act when his base betrayal of Harry is discovered ,his playing could not he improved upon. Bob Winders, who experiences luck of varying degrees, a bright, breezy, good-tempered boy in his school days, and a true and faithful friend of Harry in his disgrace, Mr. Russell Brooks was well chosen for the part, "just his luck."

Miss Ruby McNaughton as rMs. Loning had a part which called for a somewhat dignified presentation. A mother to Dr. Harlem's children and pupils, she carried her part well as adviser to them in difficulties.

The parts of Dilly demanded many phases of histrionics; yet in all Miss Hilda Wilson proved herself fully capable of interpreting the same. The little waif who had been picked from the streets by Harry, proved by her faithfulness and love to him, her gratitued in after days. Quite a tom-boy in the first act, who causes the wrath and admiration of even the village constable, she settles down in the second act to be the life and soul of a troubled home, and to save difficult situations by her faithfulness to the Dr. and Harry, Miss Wilson had the lion's share of the play, and full well she proved herself able to carry it out.

Mr. A. Wilson had the part of Butts, the village constable, who always had his eye on 'em, but never managed to get his hand on 'em. Butts was a constant source of merriment right through the play; his demand for the "respect of the law" however, disappears, when he is on the eve of discovering his hitherto unknown grandchild. Mr. Wilson acted his part in a perfectly natural way.

Much credit is due Mrs. Hughes for her great interest in the preparation of the play, also for her kindness as pianist during the evening.

This play will be repeated in Hall's Bridge on Tuesday, 21st, and at Warsaw on Friday, 24th.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom, there is a constant retching, and the meals are frequently vomited. There is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is geneally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver, as it holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health.

Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines, N.S., writes:—"I had been a great sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several, so-called, catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which I did, and four vials completely relieved me. That was six yea.s ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble."

REPUBLIC IS THEME

De Valera apologized for not speaking in Gaelic, declaring that he desired every Irish citizen fully to understand the seriousness of the situation and to fully appreciate what they were doing. He declared that they were being asked to say that when four years ago they pronounced for a republic they were fools and did not realize what they were doing. If an election were forced upon them he added, he was sure that the citizens of Cork would do their part in proving to the world that they still stood for an Irish republic.

Mr. De Valera challenged the leaders of the Free State to frame a constitution proving their contention that they could give to Ireland perfect freedom and thereby let Ireland know what it is voting for.

"If they can make a constitution which the English King will not be in," said Mr. De Valera, "it may not be very difficult for us to agree with them."

Pointing to the question of an alternative policy Mr. De Valera asserted that his task was the task of any general with a stampeded army; he had to rally the people into a strong position ebhind the standard of the republic—the same strong position behind the standard If that were accomplished, the British would be as anxious to come to them as they were last July.

Dear Sirs,

The Semi-ready Company have always believed in the advertising adage that after you produce a good thing you should tell all the people about it. The hen is the quickest advertiser on record.

Not in thirty years have I encountered other than that which would enhance my faith in the efficacy of efficent newspaper publicity.

If some bright Editor could coin a new word which would expressly define "newspaper advertising" it might shake off the many barnacles which attach to themselves the name of "advertising." Many advertising managers would save their employers a lot of money if the counterfeits they buy were rejected.

"Advertising" means newspaper publicity. Newspapers give the only legitimate and profitable means of publicity. There may be some follow-ups that are worthy, but not one in fifty of the methods which usurp the name can qualify as worthy to be called "advertising."

Much money is wasted in advertising, but nearly every failure can be traced to lack of thought by the advertiser. Perhaps he has sought the royal road to wealth by hiring some man to do his thinking for him. We can cheer and elect even an able man to office, but when it comes to spending or saving other people's money that clever man often acts like an ordinary wastrel.

It is just as easy to analyze the causes of failure by some who have tried advertising as it is to relate the reasons for success of many millionaires through advertising. I don't include the politicians who have grown wealthy through deadhead advertising. They have a cinch.

Yours truly,

Semi-Ready, Limited.

Alfred Wood
Vice President.

Mr. Wood uncovers the reason for much waste in business when he says many advertising managers could save their employers a lot of money if they rejected the barnacles of publicity. The first and only great advertising medium is the Daily Newspaper.

Team of Huskies for Quebec Visitors

One of the chief innovations at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, in connection with the winter sports programme is the introduction of a husky dog team. In order to secure the genuine animal a representative visited the North Country to select dogs suitable for this purpose. Previous to the journey telegrams were sent to all important fur posts, north of the Great Lakes, but owing to the unusual conditions prevailing during the fall of 1921, little success was met with. A variety of replies were received — one Hudson's Bay Post sent word that owing to the lateness of the "freeze up," and poor travelling conditions, Indian trappers were still far in the interior with their dogs, and were not expected out till the New Year. Another factor replied that strange sickness, the symptoms of which resembled distemper, was affecting most of the dogs in his vicinity, and that he would not advise their purchase. Another wired that fish was so scarce, dogs were extremely thin and wicked, and weaker members had been sacrificed to provide food for the larger and more useful dogs. The value of husky dogs in the Canadian northern expanse is very high and prices reach surprising proportions in the fall when each man sets out to secure a string for his winter's work. Due to the heavy expense incurred in equipping and maintaining a team, the purse for the race has been raised this year to attract the most exacting trailers. Last year pups were selling for $200 for a string of five, whilst animals fully grown and trained brought from $75 to $100 each.

The district north and west of Nipigon promised success in securing huskies, as just before Christmas the Indians bring their fall catch into the posts, where they trade them for fresh supplies, beads, firearms, and other articles which they may require. The representative of the Chateau on arrival found some 15 to 20 dog teams, but they were a motley assortment, only a few running true to type.

Teams were constantly coming and going, and finally with a burst of speed, a fast young outfit approached the Hudson's Bay Post, and at the command of "Ho" from the Indian musher suddenly slowed up and came to a stop. The leader was a particularly young brown wolf-like animal, and was named "Nipmainghen," which translated means "Nipigon Wolf," and after various tests was selected as one of the proposed team. Finally the other four were purchased, as they proved to be one of the fastest teams in that part of the country. Exceptional care was exercised in the selection as they were to be used in the vicinity of the Chateau Frontenac, at Quebec, and naturally were bound to be handled and petted to a certain extent by the guests and spectators. Not having been trained together, considerable trouble was experienced at first. The Indian who assisted in breaking them in said, "Take away the harness and let them make friends." No sooner was this done than a regular pandemonium ensued, followed by a glorious rough and tumble fight, and it was with great difficulty they were separated. The Indian merely grinned and said, "They are all friends now," which seemed to be the case, because after a certain amount of sniffing and licking they were again tested and pulled much better. Ten to fifteen miles a day were made by the team without any individual loafing, and so fast were they that the Indian challenged a number of the other teams around to a series of races, and not once was the new team defeated. At last the animals were shipped by the Canadian Pacific to Quebec City, and arrived in excellent trim. The names of the dogs are somewhat interesting, being all Indian, and are as follows with the English translation:

Nipmainghen. .Nipigon Wolf
Wabus . . . . . .The Rabbit
Wabuska . . . .Whitey
Keego . . . . . .Fish
Muk . . . . . .From "Nakwa" meaning bear

WAS JESUS CHRIST DIVINE?

The text which Rev. R. Pogue, minister of St. Paul's Church, took for his sermon on the Deity of Christ on Sunday evening was Matthew xvi., 15: "Jesus said unto them, whom say ye that I am?" He said in part: This question of the Master's is a question for all time. Wherever Christ has been preached throughout the centuries this question has had to be faced. Men everywhere who hear about Him must ask themselves: Who is He? What is He? How and where shall He be placed? Is He One among the sons of men and nothing more? Or is He what He claims to be, the Son of God—God Himself manifest in the flesh, God come down to tabernacle among men

The question is fundamental. Everything in time and eternity depends on the answer men give to it. The whole future of religion is bound up with it. How then shall we think of Jesus Christ? That is the question which we shall endeavor this evening to answer. Of the many lines of enquiry which might be followed I shall take but one. I shall ask you to consider this question in the "light of His own claims about Himself." The line of argument which I shall follow may seem old-fashioned, but there is none better. It is to select from the Gospel record, from the story of His life as given us in the four Gospels, those sayings of Jesus about Himself, which refer to His nature, to His relation to the Father, and to His mission, and allow them to speak for themselves.

How Do We Know?

When one does this to-day, he is met in certain quarters by such questions as these: "How do we know what Jesus said? How do we know that the Gospels are trustworthy? How do we know that they deal with historical matters at all and that they are not pure inventions?"

There is not the space here to show at length that we have real historical records in these four Gospels. This much may be said, namely, that we are surer than ever — and for this we are indebted to historical criticism — that the four Gospels are veritable history and that they give us a trustworthy account of the matters with which they deal. Prof. Hamack says: "It may be taken for granted, as the result of the best criticism, that the first three Gospels all fall within the apostolic age." The best evidence for their trustworthiness is the character of the narratives themselves. That the writers were not writing fiction, that they were not inventing what they wrote, is evident, as Prof. Orr points out, from this consideration, that there were no minds capable of, at that time in the world's history, nor are there any minds today capable of, imagining a figure so unique and perfect as Jesus Christ or of inventing the incomparable sayings and parables which proceeded from His lips. Much of Christ's teaching is as high as heaven above the minds of men still.

The Divine Quality.

The line of argument can only be hinted at. It is this: Christ in the Gospels used Divine names of Himself, He exercised Divine attributes, and He filled Divine offices. For example, He frequently spoke of Himself as the Son of God, not a son in the sense that you and I are sons, but as the Son, the Son in an altogether unique sense. He used it in the sense that He was equal with God. This explains the bitter opposition He encountered from His own people, the Jews. There was no doubt in their minds as to the character of His claims about Himself. They understood Him to mean by what He taught that He was the Son of God.

Then He exercised the attributes of Deity. We see His omnipotence in His calming of the wind and sea in the storm on the Lake of Galilee. We read (Matt. viii., 27) that the "men marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this that even the winds and the sea obey Him?" Well, they might marvel. There is no explanation of His deeeds of power on the assumption that He was a mere man.

Then He exercises the attribute of omniscence. He knew what was in men, and not because He possessed some mysterious occult power of reading men's thoughts, which some people for themselves claim to-day, but because, as God, His eyes beheld and His eyelids tried the children of men. He knew, for example, from the beginning the thoughts of Judas. John vi., 64: "Jesus knew from the beginning who should betray Him."

Attribute of Eternity.

He claimed for Himself also the attribute of eternity. Two Scriptures may be quoted. John viii., 58: "Before Abraham was I am." And John xvii., 5: "And now, O Father, glorify Thou Me with Thine own self with the glory which I had with Thee before the world was."

One of the most convincing evidences for Christ's Deity is the fact that He did not hesitate to accept the worship of men. No other person either in the Old Testament or the New ever accepted worship from a fellow man. The most outstanding personality, next to Jesus Christ, in the New Testament is Paul. And yet Paul resents, with a feeling almost of horror, the worship which was offered to him. When the priests at Lystra would have offered sacrifice, believing Barnabas and him to be gods, he ran in among them and cried out: "Why do ye these things. We also are men of like passions with you?" Paul was horrified at the thought that he should be regarded as other than human, or that he should be worshipped. Yet Jesus not only claimed the worship of men, but accepted it. Why? Because He was conscious of His Divine Sonship and hence His equality with the Father. He accepted the worship which was due to God alone, because He regarded Himself as God.

Deity Dominates.

And so it could be shown that not only did Jesus claim for Himself Divine honors and exercise Divine powers and fill Divine offices, but that His Deity is the pre-supposition of every word of the New Testament. If one were to go through the Gospels and strike out every word and sentence in which His Deity is implied, there would be little of the Gospels left.

Take one incidental proof offered in the Gospels to which the late Prof. Warfield, a prince among theologians, refers. He finds it in the words, "His angels," found in Matt. xiii., 41; xvi., 27; xxiv., 31. In all three He speaks of Himself as the "Son of Man," and in al three reference is made to His majesty and power. "The Son of Man shall send forth His angels, and they shall gather out of His kingdom all things which cause stumbling and those that do iniquity and shall cast them into a furnace of fire." Who is this Son of Man, we ask, Who has angels by Whose instrumentality the final judgment is executed at His command? "The Son of Man shall come in the glory of His Father and His angels; and then shall He reward every man according to his deeds." Who is this Son of Man Who comes with His angels and has power of deciding the issues of life? "The Son of Man shall send forth His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together His elect from the four winds from the one end of heaven to the other." Who is this Son of Man Whose angels have the power of winning men and dividing the chaff from the wheat? He is none other than the Lord of men and of angels whom all created things obey harkening into the voice of His word: A closing remark may well be made in view of what has been said: If Jesus Christ be Divine, if He be the Son of God, if He came forth from God—came to reveal the Father — if He came forth from God—came to reveal the Father—if He came to be the Saviour of lost men—then how great is the sin, and how hopeless the position, of those who reject Him!

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this latter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

DON'T NEGLECT BRONCHITIS

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a cough which is dry, harsh and hacking, accompanied with rapid wheezing, and a feeling of tightness through the chest.

There is a raising of phlegm, especially in the morning after rising from bed. This phlegm is at first light color, but as the trouble progresses it becomes of a yellowish or greenish color and is sometimes streaked with blodd.

In

you will find a remedy that will stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucous, and help nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Mr. John H. Root, 40 Maple Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with bronchitis and had a very bad cough. I had it so long I was beginning to get afraid of other developments. I tried all kinds of cough remedies without relief. I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Wood's Pine Syrup, so I got a bottle, and it convinced me to believe that I had at last gotten the right medicine. I used several bottles and am practically well. ORGANDIE IS POPULAR

(BY MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—With the time for summer frocks and hats close at hand, organdie is coming very much into its own. It is found, combined with satins and taffeta, in some of the most delectable things —hats, frocks, blouses and exquisitely dainty underthings.

Organdie for undergarments is usually white, smartly edged with a vivid color. But for frocks and hats! There is no end to the tints, the tones, the shades!

Delicately beautiful peach bloom —a cross between pink and yellow— seems, at this early period, to be one of the really best tints for summer things. Peach bloom organdie is used for the fashioning of this Peggy Hoyt hat. The tiger lilies which ornament it tone from delicate peach to vivid flame.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

"TOE PRINTS"

"But I'm not taking any chances, Jen. I know that house like I know the inside of this room. What do you suppose I got that job as furnace man for? You don't think I like the work, do you? Just ten minutes—that's all I'll need. The safe's over in one corner of the bedroom and the combination's one I could work in my sleep. One of those old-fashioned affairs where you can hear the tumblers drop clear across the room.

"Besides," continued the man known to his accomplices as "Lefty Joe," and to the police as one of the cleverest second-story men in the business, "this'll be the last job I'll tackle. I promise you that. We'll sink the stuff down at Uncle Abie's and make a getaway before the bulls know the place and be cleaned out."

"It sounds all right," admitted the girl to whom the burglar was speaking, "but I've got a hunch that there's a slip up somewhere. You'll be careful to wear those rubber gloves?"

"Sure I will," answered the other. "Foro, or whatever he calls himself, ain't goin' to find any of my finger marks all over the place. No, nor any foot-prints, either. I tell you, Jen, this is a cinch. This time next week we'll be out in the sticks—somewhere where they don't know us—landin' a decent job with no fear of bulls. Hurry up with those socks, will you? Don't bother to finish 'em. It ain't the first time that I've worn 'em full o' holes."

Shortly after ten o'clock, anyone who might have been watching the fence which marked the end of the Phipps' property, would have seen a shadow balance itself for a moment, silhouetted against the dark gray sky, and then drop noiselessly inside the grounds. But, as Lefty Joe had been at some pains to discover, no one was watching that fence. The Phipps themselves were attending a dinner-dance. The servants were at the theatre. The house was dark and tenantless.

Moving cautiously, so as to avoid the burglar-alarm wires which he had previously charted, Lefty Joe crept softly toward the house. His feet made no impression upon the frozen ground, and his shoes had been left in the shadow of the fence so that no chance foot-print might betray him.

It was the work of a moment to jimmy open one of the windows on the first floor, and in almost less time than it takes to tell it, Joe was in the bedroom, spinning the combination of the wall-safe, his sensitive ears listening for the click of the tumblers as they dropped into position. Less than half an hour later he was back in his room, pouring his loot into Jennie's lap and reassuring her that he hadn't left a trace of his visit.

"We'll have to lay low for a couple of days or so," he informed the girl. "If the police find out that I've skipped they'll suspect me right away and try to frame up something. They'll have a hard time proving it, though. I had my gloves on and my shoes off and not a soul saw me. So we're safe, girl, and I'm through—at least, until I find another crib as easy as this one."

But even as Joe was speaking, Inspector Joseph A. Faurot, of the New York Detective force, was on his way to the Phipps' home. One of the servants returning early, had noticed the opened window and had notified Mr. Phipps. The latter, after a hasty examination of the rifled safe, had 'phoned for the police, and the mere statement that some $10,000 worth of jewels were missing, had been enough to bring Faurot, the finger-print expert, to the scene of the crime.

"Whoever broke in here knew what he was doing," stated the Inspector after he had examined the house and the grounds. "It wasn't much of a trick to open the safe, and our friend evidently took good care to use rubber gloves. No finger-prints anywhere about the house. Anything outside?"

"Nothing at all, Chief," replied one of the policemen who had accompanied the Inspector. "Wires all right and no foot-prints in sight."

"Hmmm," mused Faurot, his eyes fixed meditatively on the hardwood floor of the bedroom. Then he moved his head suddenly to one side, as if trying to catch a clearer glimpse of the light reflected from above. An instant later, he was on his knees, dusting the floor with a powder which he produced from his pocket—a combination of mercury and chalk. A few strokes of a camel's hair brush, to eliminate the surplus powder, and he photographed the smudge with a pocket camera which he invariably carried with him.

"This is an expert's job," he announced as he rose. "Round up every second-story man in town and give him orders that no one's to leave the city without my permission—anyone with a record, I mean."

One by one, as they were brought into headquarters, the suspected men were put through a strange ordeal. After removing their shoes and socks, prints of their toes were taken, precisely as their finger-prints had previously been recorded. It took the Inspector five seconds to order the release of each man, until he examined the prints of the sixteenth prisoner.

"Bring him in!" he ordered. Then, as Lefty Joe faced him defiantly, Faurot inquired mildly, "Where's the stuff you got from the Phipps' place last night, Joe? Oh, it's no use to register innocence. We've got the goods on you this time. You wore rubber gloves, but you forgot that the human toe leaves a mark just as individual and distinct as the fingers. Your right sock had a hole in it last night, so we found your visiting card on the floor of the house shortly after you had left."

TWO WORLD'S SKATING RECORDS SMASHED BY GLADYS ROBINSON

Toronto Girl Was the Sensation of the International Championship Races at Binghampton on Saturday — Broke 220-Yard Mark Twice in a Week.

Honors For Others, Too.

BINGHAMTON, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Four world's records were shattered in the international ice skating championship here Saturday. The sensational skating of Miss Gladys Robinson, Toronto, featured the meet. The international amateur woman champion broke two world's records, those for the 100 and the 200-yard dash. She skated the century in 11 2-5 seconds, or 3-5 second faster than the world's record, and the 220-yard dash in 22 1-5 seconds, or a full second faster than the previous world's record.

Arthur Staff, of Chicago, and Edmund Lamy, of Saranac Lake, skating a dead heat, broke the two-mile record of five minutes and 28 seconds, by three full seconds. The former record was made 12 years ago by Lamy at a meet in Cleveland.

Staff broke his own record for the 440-yard dash by one-fifth of a second, skating the quarter in 37 seconds flat.

Miss Robinson's feat of breaking two world's records is considered remarkable in view of the fact that it makes the second time within a week that the Canadian skating wonder has established a new mark for the 220-yard dash. On Wednesday Miss Robinson broke the 220-yard record at Saranac Lake. At that time it was 23 3-5 seconds. She skated it in 23 1-5. Her remarkable work in skating the turn, experts said, was responsible for her clipping a full second off the new record at Saturday's meet.

At the end of the first day, Arthur Staff, dethroned as national champion in Saranac Lake last week by Everett McGowan, was leading for the international title with 85 points. Lamy was second with 45; Bobby McLean, of Chicago, former world's champion, was third with 30 points, and Morris Wood, of New York, fourth, with 20.

Only five racers stood the pace in the two-mile feature event, Wood, Don Baker, of New York, and Clarence Carmen, of Boston, dropping out before the last quarter was reached. The real contest developed in the last lap when Staff and Lamy skated away from the crowd, with McLean about five yards behind. They breasted the tape together for the record.

The summaries:

400-Yard professional—Staff, one; Wood, second; McLean, third. Time 57 seconds. (New world's record).

One-mile professional—Staff, first; Lamy, second; McLean, third. Time, 2 minutes 42 1-5 seconds.

Two-mile professional—Staff and Lamy tied for first; McLean, third. Time, 5 minutes 45 seconds. (New world's record).

MORE NEW SPEED MARKS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Three new international amateur skating records were established here Saturday.

Leslie Boyd, of Lake Placid, lowered the 440-yard record by four-fifths of a second, his time being 43 4-5 seconds. Joe Murphy, of New York, lowered the 220-yard record from 24 1-5 to 23 4-5 seconds. Boyd also set a new record over the 12 lap mile course, his time being 3 minutes 22 3-5 seconds. The former record was 3 minutes 23 seconds.

There is a runner on third and one man out. The batter hits a grounder to the shortstop. The runner on third makes no attempt to go home. The player coaching at third dashed for the plate as soon as the ball was hit. The shortstop became confused and thinking it was the runner trying for home, made the play to the plate. The throw was wide, getting past the catcher and rolling to the grandstand. The bad throw enabled the runner on third to score and the batsman to reach second. What is the proper ruling on such a play?

The runner on third who scored should have been called out for interference on the part of the coacher which resulted in the short stop making a hurried throw to the plate that went wild. The batsman who reached second on the play should have been sent back to first.

BELLEVILLE WON FROM PETERBORO

Bay of Quinte Team Had the Edge on the Local Aggregation—The Score

Belleville High school boys won the basketball round with Peterborough Collegiate Saturday night by a win 34 to 13 points, making the total score on the round 77 to 32 in favour of the Bay of Quinte town.

The team trundled out by Belleville, made up of junior O.A.B.A. players, played fast basketball and at no stage of the game did Peterborough have any hope for a win. At the end of the first period the score was 31 to 5. In the second half the locals travelled faster, getting 8 counters to Belleville's three. Yeomans played a stellar game for Belleville, accounting for 15 baskets. Doughty and Young were Peterborough's scorers. Cowan did some brilliant checking.

The line-ups were:

Referee—Walter Smaill.

A large crowd of supporters turned out to cheer for Peterborough. The game was to have been played in the afternoon, but Belleville did not arrive in time and it did not come off till evening. Two Y.M.C.A. teams played in a preliminary game.

HOCKEY.

The Junior school games this week scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday are postponed till next week. Saturday's scheduled games will take place if weather permits.

A Little Sporting Gossip

The old, old story that some hockey players never seem to learn that the team which stays on the ice generally wins, was once more in evidence at Port Hope the other night, and as a result the Ontarios are out of the running, and the Belleville team are in the semi-finals. Port Hope had the score 5 to 3 at the end of the second period, and with twenty minutes to go, had a royal chance to win the round. But instead they elected to "get" the Belleville crew and Referee Bobby Hewitson and the rest. The Ontarios were short-handed all through the period, and Belleville ran in six goals. There are many queer things about hockey, but nobody has ever yet succeeded in scoring a goal from the penalty box.

The basketball feature of the season is announced for Friday night, when the Toronto West-End "Y" team will clash with the Peterborough Juniors in a Junior Ontario Basketball Association semi-final game. The local youngsters have been practising faithfully since their victory over Belleville, and are hopeful of treating the Toronto crew as they did the Toronto Central Juniors. It should be a sparkling exhibition of fast and clever basketball.

The City League second half honours hinge upon the result of the first game on Wednesday night, which brings together the Bankers and Lakeviews. A win for the former gives them the championship of the second section, while a Lakeview victory will cause a tie between the Bankers and the winners of the Hamilton-C.G.E. clash and necessitate a play-off. The Bankers, who have defeated Wm. Hamilton's and C.G.E. in succession, while the Lakeviews were dropping their games to the same outfits, are the logical favourites, but never can tell about a hockey game. In the event of a Banker victory on Wednesday, the Lakeviews and the Bankers will clash in a two-game series next week to decide the championship, goals to count.

Famous Words of Famous Men:

"If you think I can't come back, just keep an eye on the Rotary-Kiwanis game a week from to-night." —Chris. Graham.

If it hadn't been for the Lindsay Midgets who stopped the Bay of Quinte Juniors, those Belleville teams would have had a perfect average last week. The Belleville Intermediates tucked Port Hope away, the Belleville High School eliminated Peterborough Collegiate from the Inter-scholastic semi-final, and the Belleville basketball team also walloped the local students. Never mind—the Petes'll get the Belleville ball team without Freddy Goyer this summer, and extract some sweet revenge.

To-day's Happy Thought:

F. D. C.

Port Hope Intermediates play a benefit game for Pete Darch in Bowmanville Tuesday night. The Hopers have been invited here for a game and may come next Friday night, in which case the P.A.A.A. would put on a double bill. Campbellford ladies' hockey team will be here on that date.

The local L.O.B.A. team, by winning in Guelph on Saturday by 9 to 8, place themselves in a position to get second place in the Eastern group. That's good work. Toronto ladies are group winners as a result of their victory over St. Catharines by 16 to 13. They now play London for the championship.

CANADIANS LOSE SKI CHAMPIONSHIP.

New Hampshire Jumpers Were First and Second at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—L. Anderson, of Berlin Mills, N.H., won the international ski jumping championship here Saturday afternoon, defeating an entry list of 39, including his team mate, S. G. Michaelson, a lad of 16, who, however, finished second. The outstanding surprise was the defeat of E. O. Sunberg, holder of the Canadian amateur championship who could only finish in tenth place. Anderson made a jump of 97 feet, or a footshort of last year's record. N. Berger, of Montreal, finished third; B. Ivison, of Ottawa, fourth; D. Powers, of Ottawa, sixth; C. Iverson, of Ottawa, ninth; J. Charlton, of Dartmouth, 14th; Nansen, of New York, 17th; Labell of Otawa, 18th; Quesnel, of Ottawa, 22nd.

WINS TITLE NINE TIMES IN SERIES

By BILLY EVANS.

Baseball has its Ty Cobb,, football its Jim Thorpe, billiards its Willie Hoppe, but to my way of J H. Shoemaker, national amateur pocket-billiard champion, is an equally interesting character.

For the ninth time in succession Shoemaker has won the amateur pocket-billiard championship of the United States. In the old days they used to call the title just plain pool championship.

In the tournament recently staged by the Cleveland Athletic Club, Cleveland O., Shoemaker easily proved the class of the field. He always seemed to have something in reserve.

In these days the amateur in any sport is a rarity, as proved by the recent scandal in college football we take great pleasure in presenting J. H. Shoemaker of New York as the real thing.

Shoemaker is a New York business man. He represents a big belting concern. Pocket-billiards is his pet hobby, just as golf appeals to some, billiards to others.

Shoemaker is a credit to the game. It is a fine thing for pocket-billiards to have such a representative business man as its champion. It lends tone to the game.

The nine-time champion has no set rules to follow. He has no definite advice to give as how to develop into a champion.

Shoemaker is of the opinion that temperament has much to do with success or failure in pocket-billiards He says that he watches the temperament of his player as much as his game, particularly if he is playing his opponent for the first time.

Champion Never Worries.

"I can usually tell after an opponent misses an easy shot just how dangerous a player he is. Few games are more trying on the nerves.

I am fortunate in having a non-worrying disposition I feel that my temperament is half my success. I always make it a point to smile when things break against me.

Sometimes it is mighty hard to do, but I always manage to put it over. It's the psychological effect it has on your opponent. The moment I see my opponent fussing and fuming about some miss, I know his game is going to suffer.

Practic Is Important.

Practice of course is most essential Practice makes perfect in every sport. Pocket-billiards is no exception.

Then there is the power of concentration I have found that younger players have a habit of growing careless. Such a lapse oftens spells defeat.

Adapting your game to that of your opponent is also a necessity. You can't take chances with a fellow that is constantly playing you safe."

In nine years of competition for the amateur championship of the United States, Shoemaker has lost only three games in 60. Eddie Reynolds, Harry Osborne and Earl Patterson have been the only players to win a game from him.

Shoemaker has played seven exhition matches with Ralph Greenleaf, the present professional champion. He has won three and lost four matches with Greenleaf.

WALTER JOHNSON HAS NO USE FOR THE BEAN BALL

Famous Pitcher Has Never Resorted to Unfair Methods Over the Batter for Achieving His Remarkable Success.

(BY WALTER JOHNSON)

WHAT DO YOU THINK of the system resorted to by some pitchers of throwing the ball close to the batter's head in an effort to intimidate him and thereby make him much easier to pitch to?

* * * *

"Dusting the batter off," as such a practice is called by us players, has never had the slightest appeal to me.

During my entire career as a pitcher I have always been blessed with good control. It didn't take the batters long to realise that intimidating the batsman was not part of our programme. When they stepped to the plate against me they did so with confidence because they knew I would never resort to such tactics.

Players on my team, after some ordinary hitter would get one safe, would walk over to the pitcher's box and say to me:

"Dust a few of those fellows off, Walter. Don't let them get a toe hold. Throw a scare into them. If I had your stuff that lucky stiff wouldn't make a foul off me."

My team mates had no desire that I try to hit anyone. They simply thought I was giving the batter too great an advantage because he knew I wouldn't resort to unsportsmanlike condict.

Ever since I have started pitching, I have always thought if I couldn't win without throwing at the latter's head, I would quit.

A few years ago when Iwas having my troubles winning with my usual regularity, some of the boys insisted now was the time for me to dust a few of them off. They figured I was slipping and that I could prolong my career by such tactics.

There was never a fear on my part that I might kill a batter. With the great control that I have always had, I could have intimidated the batter without entailing any danger.

I have never used the "bean ball," simply because I don't believe in such tactics to win. After all, there is something besides mere victory in sport—the spirit of fair play.

JOIE RAY BROKE INDOOR RECORD FOR 3,000 METRES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Joie Ray, star middle distance runner, of the Illinois A.C., Saturday night broke the world's indoor record for 3,000 metres by running the distance in 8 minutes 31 2-5 seconds, at the annual games of the Wilco Athletic Association in Brooklyn. The old record, 8 minutes 35 seconds, was made by George Bonhag at the same games on December 16, 1911.

MILWAUKEE BOWLER SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

A new world's record has been established in bowling.

On February 4 at Madison, Wiscousin, in the singles event of the Wisconsin State tournament, Herbert Ewald of Milwaukee rolled a total of 738.

Previous to Ewald's performance the best score in state or national events was 737. This record was held by another Milwaukee bowler, Wally Swift who established his mark in 1919.

Ewald gave a consistent performance, getting 247 in his first game.244 in the second, and coming right back with 247 in the final game.

Ewald had only one break in the series. It came in the second frame of the second game, when he picked the number 5 pin off the number 9.

In the tenth frame of the final game a perfect hit left the 10 pin standing. That was the crucial moment of the entire series.

Ewald needed that ten pin spare to set a new record. Ha made it with ease. He proved that he had the nerve of a champion.

The City Hockey League, at a meeting on Saturday evening, voted in favor of a series of two games to decide the championship. Total goals on the two games will decide the winner. If Bankers defeat Lakeviews on Wednesday night, these two teams will enter the finals, and an effort will be made to have the two games played next week. A win for the Lakeviews on Wednesday will give Hamilton's and C.G.E. a chance to tie the round with Bankers.

THE WEATHER

Last Saturday in my weather note I mentioned that this part of Canada could supply many different varieties of weather in a short time, and the elements, apparently in order to keep up their reputation, performed a few acrobatic stunts Saturday and Sunday. Friday morning we had the coldest day of the winter with 22 degrees below zero. The next day at noon it was up to 41 degrees, a range of temperature of 63 degrees. On Sunday there was a range of temperature of but 5 degrees, or from 30 to 35. At night we had the unusual occurrence of a February thunderstorm. And it was not an apology for one either, but the genuine article. The rainfall totalled .25, or exactly one-quarter of an inch. A thunderstorm in winter is supposed to bring colder weather. Last night however the temperature went up to 43 degrees, about the highest this winter. To-day is colder again, but what is the next item on the programme?—W. P.

SAID ANTI-DRY BILL IS BEING PREPARED

TORONTO, Feb. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—An anti-dry bill is said to be in the course of preparation, and will be submitted to the Legislature by Secretary McNamara, Riverdale, and N. A. Smushen, North Waterloo. It will provide for an open sale of five per cent. proof spirits, and it is probable that a local option clause will be inserted. The Government's position in connection with amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act is to leave the bill the same in principle as it came from the people.

The Attorney-General stated today that it was not intended to make any changes that would fundamentally alter the bill.

The Ashburnham bridge, which was built because the Quaker Oats made it a condition of their re-establishing here after their fire, must be paid for by Public and Separate school ratepayers in proportion to their assessment, but absolutely no part of their school taxes, which a few years ago was $16,000, annually, comes to the Separate Schools.

I am satisfied that when these facts are known and considered in the light of justice as between man and man, citizen and citizen, it will be admitted that Separate School supporters as far as this city is concerned have been suffering a real injustice.

Now, as to Clause 1, of the Resolution of the Ministerial Association in regard to secondary education, I agree thoroughly with the hope for unity expressed by the Reverend gentlemen, but I am sure they will bear with me if I look elsewhere than in the Schools for the cause of division, if divisions there be, in our country. I turn at once to England and I find there the best national spirit of any country in the world. The late war gave unbounded proof of this solid united national spirit and yet no country possesses the same variety of Denominational Schools as does England. There are Anglican Schools Non-Conformist Schools and Catholic Schools all doing Primary, Secondary, Normal School and some University work. Notwithstanding this multiplicity of Schools there is arising to-day a set of Schools in which the unbeliever may educate his children.

Again, as regard Secondary education in Ontario, as provided for under Board of Education. I do not know anything in my life's work that I went about more earnestly or more sincerely, than that of securing for our children the educational advantages of the Collegiate Institute, and I do not know anything that I took up in which I was such an absolute failure. We had large numbers of our children pass the Entrance Examination and I gave them every encouragement to attend the Collegiate and to complete the excellent course which it afforded; but it did not attract them in anything approaching their proper proportion. I tried to find the reason and studied the case from every viewpoint. The school was conveniently situated, there was ample accommodation, the most modern equipment and above all the School was staffed by a body of sympathetic scholarly ladies and gentlemen. The cause of the non-attendance of our pupils, in any large numbers at the Collegiate, was not to be found, therefore, in the inefficiency of the Collegiate building or teachers, neither was it in the apathy of the parents who were most desirous to advance their children's interests; neither was it to be found in the indifference of the pupils themselves, as we have today in St. Peter's School doing secondary work 182 pupils. Considering everything I found only one explanation and that was that the Collegiate was administered by the Public School Board; it was in the hands of men who owed their election to Public School supporters only; they were in no wise responsible to the Separate School supporters who nevertheless paid their fair proportion of the cost of maintenance and who experienced in a most humiliating way what "taxation without representation' really meant.

True, the Separate School Board sent an appointed representative to the Board of Education; and, let me say, he was used most kindly and sympathetically by the other members. But because no Separate School supporter had any voice in the election of 9-10 of the Board of Education it could not seem otherwise, than that our Catholic pupils were attending the Collegiate simply out of sufferance, a condition which no democratic, liberty loving people could long tolerate.

Hence, while to-day we are paying a proportionate share towards the Collegiate, we are in addition paying for the secondary education of 182 pupils in St. Peter's School.

Considering the above, and the larger question of what we claim the British North America Act conferred upon us. I live in the hope that our claims in regard to secondary education may be sympathetically considered by our fellow citizens.

In conclusion let me again express my warm appreciation for the manner in which the Ministerial Association dealt with a question which is so dear to me and to which I have been bound very intimately for the past quarter of a century.

Respectfully yours,
M J O'BRIEN.

AT THE THEATRES

GRAND—"A Little Girl in a Big City," a startling sensational 4-act melodrama.

REGENT—Dorothy Gish in "Little Miss Rebellion." Also Geo. B. Seitz and June Caprice in "The Skyranger," and comedy.

CAPITOL — "The Conquering Power," with Rudolphe Valentino and Alice Terry. One of the biggest dramatic sensations in 12 months.

AT THE GRAND.

LITTLE GIRL IN A BIG CITY.

With many members of the original cast, and a brand new scenic equipment, the everlasting success, "A Little Girl in a Big City," will be presented at the Grand to-night, tomorrow and Wednesday, matinee and night.

Written by James Kyrle MacCurdy, one of New York's leading Actor-Managers, the play is said to teach a better lesson than many a one preached from the pulpit. In four splendid acts, teeming with thrills and love interest, it tells of a shrinking country girl's excursion into New York City, her battle for a meagre existence and the many trials and tribulations she has to undergo before happiness finally comes her way.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

How old were you when sixty years ago "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was first produced? Maybe your father and mother took you to see it; if so, was not the story strongly implanted on your mind? Remember, the same great interests exists to-day in the heart of the young people, as it did when you were thrilled by the scenes enacted by Joe Morgan, the drunkard, and the death scene of his little daughter Mary, and moved from tears to laughter at the antics of Sample Switchel and Mehitable, the cook. Here two parts played by Charles Reilly and Lucille Lennon, will alone repay you for the time spent in witnessing this remarkable play. The management of the Grand Theatre feel they are doing the public a great service in securing this attraction. It will be played for 3 days with matinee Saturday, starting Thursday, at prices to suit the times, 25c to $1, so as to give all a chance to enjoy this great old play. A play, not a picture.

IRISH EYES.

The charm of Walter Scanlan's singing made the presentation of "Irish Eyes" at the Grand on Saturday a notable event. This clever singer-actor, who made such a favourable impression upon his first appearance here last year, added to his laurels on this occasion, for his song numbers were a delight. "My Galway Rose," "Kathleen," "Judy," and the half a dozen other songs contributed by Mr. Scanlan would have carried any performance through to triumphal success. The play itself was an effective vehicle, especially in its scenes in old Galway, and Mr. Scanlan was supported by an able company. A well known former Lindsay girl, Miss Olive Meehan, was prominent in the cast and Pacie Ripple, who has frequently been seen here, did good work. Lida Kane was most effective as Judy. The scenic investiture was unusually striking, and altogether "Irish Eyes was a pleasing performance.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"4 HORSEMEN" STARS IN "CONQERING POWER."

Many of Cast in Famous Ingram Picture Appear in Balzac Film

In the cast of Rex Ingram's latest production for Metro "The Conquering Power"—founded on Balzac's "Eugenie Grandet"—are many of those who were prominent in his sensationally successful picturization of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." This latest Ingram picture is now being shown at the Capitol Theatre for three days.

Alice Terry, the Marguerite Laurier in the Ibanez picture, appears in "The Conquering Power" as Eugenie Grandet. Rudolph Valentino, the Julio Desnoyers of "The Four Horsemen" has the role of Charles Grandet. Bridgetta Clark, the Don Luisa of Ibanez, appears as Madame des Grassines; Mark Fenton, who did Senator Lacour, as Monsieur des Grassines; and Edward Connelly, who played the old lodgekeeper of the Desnoyers estate, as the notary Cruchot.

Others in the cast are: Ralph Lewis who won an enviable reputation as Stoneman in "The Birth of a Nation" as Pierre Grandet; Edna Dumary as Madame Grandet; George Atkinson as Cruchot's son, De Bonfons; Walter Lee Hall as the Abbe Cruchot; Mary Hearn as Nanon; Eugene Pouyet as Cornoiller; and Ward Wing as Alphonse.

The photography is by John F. Seitz, who was also responsible for the photography of "The Four Horsemen;" and Amos Myers, who shared with Joseph Calder the technical direction of "The Four Horsemen," has in "The Conquering Power" co-operated with Ralph Barton, the poster artist and illustrator, specially engaged by Metro as an authority upon the architecture of the France of Blazac's period June Mathis adapted it for the screen.

Besides this very special superb 7 reel production, to-days program includes the very best in short reel subjects, including the very newest two reel Jimmy Aubrey comedy, "The Messenger". No advance in prices. Capacity audiences will no doubt be in evidence for the next 3 days.

Charlie Chaplin may feel as "high brow" as he likes. He may allude to his meeting of H. G. Wells as an "intellectual holiday" and get away with it, but he still holds his appeal for the kiddies. The Capitol Theatre re-echoed their joyous laughter in great, resounding outbursts on Saturday afternoon, when a monster crowd of little boys and girls assembled to view their favorite in "The Idle Class." Incidentally, they succeeded in smashing the doublestrength plate-glass window in front of the boxoffice in their effort to get in all together.

—FAN—FAN

AT THE REGENT.

Today the Regent presents a good lively programme. First the lively little commedienne Miss Dorothy Gish in "Little Miss Rebellion". This drama was made for laughing purposes only, and if you know your Dorothy Gish you know what that means; next we have June Caprice and George B Seitz in a thrilling chapter of "The Sky Ranger". Episode 3, "In Hostile Hands". That lively fun maker, Mack Sennet presents, "Astray in the Steerage", and Monty Banks the little French comedian in "Where Is My Wife". Aesop presents the fable of the goose who laid the Golden eggs and a Rolin comedy entitled "Hobgoblins" This bill makes one of the best comedy programmes ever shown in the City.

AT THE ROYAL.

"IT CAN BE DONE."

Today's program at the Royal is one that will cheer you and make you feel that this old world of ours is not such a bad place after all. Earle Williams in the wonderful photoplay, entitled, "It Can Be Done," is seen at his best, and that is saying something! The play is unique in its character and tells the story of a successful author who was told his stories were impossible. He makes a bet that he can prove the truth of one of his best sellers by actually taking the place of a leading character he has written about. He chooses among his friends and acquaintances those who will take the parts of his drama of real life. His efforts win his bet and leads to the exposure and arrest of several profiteers and men who unfairly keep up the present high cost of living. As the present n.c.l. is a matter vitally affecting the pockets of every man, woman and child, this superbly staged play is of interest "right where you live!"

Then there is the eleventh episode of "Breaking Through," showing Bettina in more of her death-defying stunts. The feature picture, "Possession," taken from Anthony Hope's great novel, "Phroso," shows the exciting story of a girl rescued by Englishmen from Turkish bandits on the Island of Phroso in the Mediterranean Sea, near Turkey. Last, but not least, is that comic star of filmdom, Jimmy Aubrey, in the laugh-impelling play called "The Blizzard." If there is any truth in the saying, "Laugh and the world laughs with you," your friends will all laugh when you tell them about "The Blizzard."

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CHIMNEY WAS FOUL.

A chimney that needed cleaning badly, Fire Chief Grange said, was discovereed to-day, when fire broke out in the chimney of E. F. Mason's store, 425 George Street, on the third floor. The fire was located just below the roof, from which it was reached by the firemen. But only with great difficulty was a 16-foot pole thrust through the accumulated soot, the Chief stated, and 12 gallons of chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze. A line of hose from the hydrant on George Street, directly across from the store, was taken up into the upper floor, but was not required. The fire caused a great deal of smoke.

TWO GIRDLES THIS TIME

By Mary Pickford.

This informal evening gown of white chiffon, by Lanvin, has loops and streamers of the same material in a delightful shade of coral.

The gown has all the simplicity and charm of girlhood and yet it is gay enough for a little afternoon tea or a simple evening dinner.

People are wondering whether beads are passe. By no means. This little dress of dainty chiffon is ample proof that glistening, shimmering, iridescent beads are still liked as trimming; for the sleeve bands and the band across the blouse which gives the girlish yoke effect are made of dainty beads in coral shade, which blends happily with the artistic girdles which do so much to give character to the frock.

Like so many of the Paris frocks, the interest is centered in the girdle. In this case Mme. Lanvin has generously provided two.

The girdles as well as the band of the trimming across the front and around the sleeves are made of exquisite iridescent beads in coral and white.

They fall in long graceful folds down either side of the front of the skirt reaching to the very bottom of the hem line.

The round neck gives a pretty line which is both girlish and modest, and the tiny can sleeves are in keeping with the fad of the moment for very short sleeves.

MARY IN THE INFORMAL GOWN.

HOSPITALITY OF COURT PETERBOROUGH C. O. F.

Court Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, always noted for their hospitality, maintained their reputation Friday evening by putting on a progressive euchre party for the members, friends and lady friends. It being a regular meeting night, the business was rushed through in record time. Cards were then the order till 10.30, when the guests were asked to partake of the refreshments provided. During the luncheon prizes were presented to the successful players, namely: Mrs. Ed. Heap, first for ladies; Mr. Ed. Puttick, first for gentlemen; Mrs. T. Fredenburg, first consolation for ladies, and Mr. Geo. Dredge, first consolation for gentleman. The attendance was not as large as might have been hoped for, but everybody expressed themselves as having had a good time, and it is the intention of the Court to give similar entertainments in the near future.

"AT EVENTIDE IT SHALL BE LIGHT."

In nature's world on summer nights,
The birds curl in their treetop bed,
Twitter good night, and silence falls,
Just as the sun is sinking red.

What peace there is at eventide,
When low the sun hangs in the west,
The tumult of the day is o'er,
And we find time to think and rest.

Yes, too, the morn of life must pass,
Its noontide heat so hard to bear,
Oh, may then come at eventide
A great desire to sin no more.

To rest our souls in God alone,
And find the peace he promised there,
To drink the cooling water free,
And find our joy, our heaven there

To place one hand within God's own,
To trust that heart, that heart of love,
And seek to do our Fathers' will,
E'en as the angels do above.

So when the last faint streak of light,
Has vanished in the golden west,
We shall not find it dark at all,
For we shall then have found the best.

urday, and in the evidence of the officers that followed their having in their possession the bottles was brought out.

At this point the man promptly put in a plea of guilty.

On the evidence the Magistrate was inclined to amend the information, but after conferring with the Crown Attorney the plea was allowed, and one man fined $10.00, and $11.75 costs.

Owing to the number of times he had appeared in Court, the other man was asked to pay $25.00, and the same costs. A two months' term was the alternative.

Magistrate Langley informed these men, who are incidentally the first "drunks" that have graced the prisoners' dock since the new Magistrate took office, that next timethey appeared they would likely be sent to jail. Second offenders in any case will not receive the minimum penalty under any Act, and particularly nor under the O.T.A., he said. He intends keeping a close tab on all men who appear before him, and it will be impossible to slip by the second time without detection, he declared.
